Churchill Back at Desk
After 10-Week Absence

Preparations for Large Push Underway as Prime Minister Awaits Eisenhower, Bradley, Montgomery Conference

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill, looking bearded and fit after his recovery from pneumonia, returned today from a 10-week absence in the Middle East and Europe and quickly plunged into a series of urgent conferences with the new Cabinet chiefs and high military leaders, looking toward zero hour for the Allied invasion of western Europe.

Churchill said he could not be expected to make statements on the main military problems of the war during the next few days. But he said he was confident that the war would be won by the Allies in 1944. He also rejected the idea that war may have to be prolonged.

#has long distance ever said to you:

"Please limit your call to 5 minutes?"

SHE SAYS THAT only when the Long Distance line you want is extra. But that's pretty often nowadays, with calls from soldiers, war industries, government agencies and civilians seeking the other.

You can help keep telephone lines clear for vital war use if you make only urgent calls to a busy center. And the operator if you have to limit your call, please cooperate.

That will help everywhere for everybody.
