Hannah Receives Honorary Law Degree from Michigan

President Advises Youth to Plan for Future

Jesse A. Hannah received an honorary law degree from Pres. Alexander G. Ruthven of Michigan, Feb. 19, after he addressed the Michigan graduating class of 1944.

"We must get down to business," he said in the gymnasium, where the guests sat at wooden tables and the students at round tables. "We have all met the same landlord," he said. "Let us move on up and get away from him."

Dr. EMILY KALLOJ

For the last four years, Dr. Emily A. Kallio has been an educational staff member at Babson. Last spring she was named the recipient of Babson's first honored head staff member. The honor will be presented to her at the annual meeting this summer.

"I have been aware of the many educational achievements that have been made in Michigan," said Dr. Kalloj, "but I have been most impressed with the progress that has been made in the field of education."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS

In Campus Quarters

By SCOTIE McNEAL and EO HOWLAND

When a fellow student of mine for the first time mentioned the well-known Pine (Michigan State University's monthly), I thought it was another of those non-interesting publications that I often pass over. However, my roommate's enthusiasm for this monthly newspaper was so convincing that I decided to get a look at it. I was surprised to find that the Pine was a well-written and well-organized publication. It has a wide variety of articles, ranging from news and sports to opinion pieces and feature stories.

I was particularly impressed by the quality of the writing. The articles are well-written and engaging, and the layout is clean and easy to read. I also appreciated the inclusion of student artwork, which added a touch of creativity to the publication.

Overall, I would recommend the Pine to anyone looking for a quality monthly newspaper. It is a great way to keep up with the latest news and events on campus, as well as to stay informed about the activities and organizations on campus.
