Reds Approach Pskov in Push Toward Front

Soviet Troops Capture 17 Towns, Railroads on Way to Key Center

LONDON, March 25, 1941 (AP) - A Red army column advancing into Pskov from the south crossed to a forested area only five miles from the town and took Sverdlov, a key communications center today with the center of Minsk, Furman announced.

This represented approximately a decisive advance in the Russian and Soviet struggle in the central west as to the lines.

The Red army also captured seventeen towns and over six hundred miles of railroad. The number of Soviet troops on both sides has now reached the hundred million mark. A massed column of Red army units entered Brest from the south, and a similar force reached Brest from the north. Brest, the key to the southern West, drew back with 15,000 men and 200 tanks.

The advance across the plains toward the Ukraine is reported to be a general advance in all directions. Three large units, including a heavy cavalry division, entered Kharkov from the north. The Red army also entered the key towns of Poltava and Kharkov.

The Red army troops are reported to be in good condition and well equipped. An advance train which reached Brest contained 300,000 tons of supplies. The Red army is said to have crossed the frontiers of Poland between the 19th and 20th centuries.
