Monday morning dawned bright and clear for 13 junior and 35 freshmen who were tapped into Marine Guard service. Fortunately, our customary rain held off during the impressive ceremonies, which must have been well worthy of getting up for.

Pitt-Whitney, still on the lookout for clever women—and who isn't up 14 more comes this week to wind up a slip-stick and T-square from here on in. It's a mighty opportunity for those who aren't completely baffled by such impressive instruments.

Out of the Masses started their season with a bang by soundly outnumbering Wayne university 12-3 last Saturday. Moreover, the Pressmen did a double on the performances when they met, saw, and conquered the Coast Guard in Detroit Thursday.

The Coast Guard was evidently guarding the coast rather than its baseball prestige, since our team trundled home with a 17-11 with nearly wrapped up.

The Women's Glee Club presented its first spring concert last night under the direction of Prof. William H. Bos. The concert was beautifully given and featured an original composition directed by Dr. N. B. Johnson.

The State News underwent its annual change in administration this week with Barbara Dennis continuing her cultural duties under the title of editor. Barb Pearse will twist mer¬chants arms and the serious student. Maudelline character will be kicking around as general manager and as¬sistant pencil-sharpeners.

The social situation perked up this week with North and South sending some of an exciting-sounding "Two Thang Swing." It sounds like the opportunity of a lifetime. Several fraternity men have also planned big events.

In a fraternal mood.
