14 Day Offensive Cracks German Line in Italy
American Troops Fight to Clear Out Nazis at Rekkelburg

ALIENED HQ, NAPLES, May 23 (AP)—Americans of the Anzio beachhead forces, joined with elements of the main Fifth Army, launched a noiseless, unannounced and unheralded meeting in the Pontine marshes yesterday and continued 14 days of a whirlwind offensive that has cracked the German defenses in Italy.

United States infantrymen rammed German positions into the howling of machine guns, the shrieking of mortars and the wailing of siren calls will be heard within a few hours.

Close In

Tonight the United Fifth Army entered the Italian front with a mile-flank of the hard-pressed German zones, which had relinquished the entire west central sector of the Molletta river, only a score of miles north of Rome.

Allied warplanes were pounding the huddled German positions continuously, increasing a terrific toll of enemy casualties.

Talke Few Days

A circle of the beachhead, which had raged intermittently for three and a half months along the line of the Hitler line, which required no official declaration of end, and, the final decisive battle in this sector of the Italian front.

Official reports indicated that the Allies have captured new points for new conturers. With the United States, Italy under Gen. Mark’s W. Clark’s threat began with the opening of Lt. Field Marshal Albert Herbert’s assault plan. The general advance and bombers were able to regain the half of their reserves. In two days, 1,000 tanks were said to have been SEEN ITALY, Part 2

Journalists Pledged to No Biased Reporting

Six women were pledged to Theta Sigma Phi, national jour- nalists honor society, according to Pres. Rosemary Howard, local chapter president. The women will serve their pledge until their term as the end of the新闻记者 will be ceded.

THE ROAD TO ROME

This week in American history, the Axis powers faced the Axis forces in northern Italy. The German forces, led by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, had invaded France and Italy in a bid to secure control of the Mediterranean Sea. The Allies, led by General Dwight D. Eisenhower, had been planning for months to invade Italy, and the stage was set for a major battle.

Still unconditional surrender

Prime Minister Churchill in an exhaustive review of the war situation, reiterated that Germany might never have been defeated if the war had not been fought on the mainland. He also emphasized that the key to victory was to keep the peace.

The road to Rome

The Axis forces had advanced through the mountains of Italy, taking three to four weeks to break through the Italian defenses. The Axis forces had been driven back, but the war was far from over. The Allies had their sights set on Rome, but the Italian Army was proving to be a formidable foe.

The war in Italy

The war in Italy continued to rage, with the Allies making slow progress. The Axis forces were heavily equipped and well-armed, and the war was proving to be a long and costly one for both sides.
Buffalo Superbore to Present Last Revival of Term

Little Weber, Buffalo soprano, will make a farewell appearance in a concert that evening at a revival in the Buffalo Central Library and the last revival of the term.

The organ of the Buffalo Philharmonic, along with the Buffalo Symphony, will present Weber in a performance that will feature the works of Handel and Mozart, among others.

State’s Prominent War Activities Shown in Movie

A 20-minute, color movie, "WWA at War for Peace," will be shown Saturday night at 7:30 in the U.S. Post Office. The movie describes the many ways in which State has contributed to the war effort.

The movie, even with the filmroll, shows how the agriculture department and the U.S. Office of Education have helped to prevent spoilage in the depleted foods sent to the Allies.
