Monetary Parley of Allied Nations

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — President Roosevelt sent out a protest against a conference in the United Nations in post-war money problems starting July 1. He invited four governments, including the French committee of liberation, to send representatives to Bretton Woods, N. H., in consideration of proposals which would stabilize the international monetary position.

A national meeting of 250,000 gold-issuing units held at the United Nations in the United States, the Wold Bank for reconstruction and development — a sort of world RFC.

Any agreements reached at the conference — full-fledged against President Roosevelt — would be subject to approval by the government represented. In the case of the United Nations, this would mean congressional approval.
