Baseball Squad to Play Last Home Game Today with Romulus

Spartans to Face Air Base Team on College Field at 3

Finishing up their home baseball schedule today, State will hook up with Rome Air Base. The game is the next to last game on the schedule, one contest will be played on old college field and will start at 3.

With the ill-fated array of decorum day still in their minds the team will be out there playing to reconcile themselves in the eyes of their fans. Only a last offensive burst deprived them of handed the boys a defeat in the first contest.

Romulus Wins Before

The Giers took the measure of the Spartans a few weeks back and the game was marked by many state instances, and many of the fleet runs were unerringly. Romulus has displayed seventy ball all season, and coming to State's last few obstacles they will be cast in the favorer's role.

A severe case of fashion maladie has plagued the Spartans all season, and Coach John Keane has been working to iron out this important factor in an effort to make a good showing in the last home feature.

LINEUP ENDSHERED

Unless last minute changes on our line-up will stay the game, with the exception of Romulus second sifker who has left the team, Bill York or Howard Workman will take Reid's place. In case Workman does with McDonald will move in from right field and York will start over first.

Dean Carter will be at short, Jack Edwards will be in on third, Warren Hennedy will be in left field, Lee Carter will be in center and McDonald in right.

Keane is undecided about his opening pitcher. Cowey, Kresta, in Turfing stand an equal chance of starting the game.
