Help Spread Christmas Cheer

It seems that almost everyone wants to help service men but no one knows quite what to do. Particularly at Christmas, the spirit just isn't there when one can do something for those who deserve it most.

Do you know of a State school in a way which is most real and close to home? In the hospitals of south central Michigan, there are 3,000 men who have no family or relatives to remember them on Christmas. These men must not be forgotten, after what they have suffered.

In answer to this call, the East Lansing Red Cross is planning to fill Christmas boxes for these men. They are asking for donations of stationery, handkerchiefs, toilet articles, or any other articles that come to the people of East Lansing and THE STUDENTS OF MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE.

Donations of money or services in packing the boxes will also be helpful. The boxes will be packed from 1:30 p.m. on Thursday in the gym of People's church. Certainly this is one time that a list of men could not fail J.W.

Count Your Many Blessings—You

This is a good time of year to stop and reflect upon our peculiar position as students of MSU and try to capture a portion of the appreciation which should go along with our opportunities.

The opportunity to attend college is perhaps more precious today than it has been for many years. With our country alreadv in a war with the entire world, striving to get a grip on itself, the item to pursue higher learning is an easily remembered blessing. Attending an institution which is open to all, which provides a privilege and a real obligation.

By being able to attend Michigan State college, we feel greatly magnifies the significance of the opportunity to attend college. Find the best that modern education can offer—here the facilities are such that we cannot only acquire a familiarity with knowledge itself, more than that we can reach those additional values that go along with college life at its best.

Most of all it is the friendly atmosphere of a genuinely friendly college that we can build the friendships which will enliven our lives long after we leave college—E.R.

' NEW RADIO RELAY SYSTEM
FOR TELEPHONE AND TELEVISION

Tiny radio waves, shorter than any used before in commercial "jump-jump" relay system for the transmission of telephone speech and television programs.

These waves travel in straight lines like beams of light. Because of the earth's curvature, the distance is limited in a series of straight-line jumps between transmitting stations above the earth's atmosphere.

The Bell System plans post-war improvements in this, to extend its nationwide service by providing more distant telephone facilities for wartime needs.
