World Student Service Fund Drive To Aid Prisoners, Refugees, Students

By JO DELP

"How wonderful to know that we have not been forgotten" is the refrain of hundreds of letters that pour into relief offices in Europe, China, and North America.

These letters are in praise of work done by the World Student Service fund for men in prison camps, student refugees, and Chinese, European and Russian students trying to continue their education.

The World Student Service fund will begin its drive at State next week. WSSF is the North American equivalent to the European Student Relief fund, the National Student Relief committee of China, and the World Student Relief committee of Britain. Relief goes on almost everywhere in at least 25 countries on five continents.

WSSF is the first organization in America to see the importance of meeting not only physical needs but also the intellectual and spiritual needs of students and professors.

Dr. John Finley Williamson, leader and conductor of the choir, has led his group in over 1,100 concerts in that country and many throughout England, France, Germany, Russia, and almost all the other nations of Europe. Dr. Williamson has been acclaimed by experts for the perfect intonations given by his choir.

The program usually presented includes not only classic works of the church such as Bach and Brahms compositions, but also well-loved folk songs of our own and other nations. American Negro spirituals and Indian songs are among the included.

Nation's Best Defeated As State Tops Kentucky With Score of 66 to 50

Inspired Spartans Surprise Kentuckians; Rapchak, Fortino Rack Up 20, 19 Points; First Five Puts in Full Stint

By JOE HEAGANY

A fighting Michigan State basketball squad rose from the underdog role to valiant heights last night as it upset Kentucky university 66 to 50 before 1,600 hysterical fans. The Wildcats were currently rated the nation's best, but just bumped into five inspired men last night and the issue was never in doubt after the first 10 minutes although because of the tension the game was uncomfortable at all times.

Eighth Army Head Leads Invasion

Gen. ROBERT L. EICHELBERGER (above) is commander of the U.S. eighth army which made an unexpected landing on the west coast of Luzon from 120 ships.

Last night's game will go down in the annals as one of the sports upsets of 1945. Previously Notre Dame eked out a 59-58 win over the Kentuckians, but never was there a thought of a 16 point defeat at the hands of the underdog Spartans.

Bill Rapchak and Sam Fortino led the way via the scoring route with 20 and 19 points respectively. Rapchak was a constant threat with his bewildering takes while the why Fortino accumulated just three points in the first half. In the last half Sam hit his stride and came through with 16 more. It was Fortino's one hand push shot that ended the game away in the last few minutes.

Rapchak and Fortino Star

These two men were by no means the whole team. Robin Roberts garnered 11 points and played superb ball under both boards. Joe Beyer and Nick Hashu came through with their best efforts of the year controlling the ball flawlessly and each racking up eight points.

Jack Parkinson, Kentucky all-American nominee, made his press clippings good by pouring in 17 points most of which came on beautiful long shots for which he is famous. Wilbur Schu also helped the cause with his tip ins and backboard work.

Kentucky jumped out to a 4-0 lead at the outset, but with Beyer and Rapchak hitting the hoop the Spartans took the lead at 7-5 and never relinquished it. The score at the half was 33-22 in favor of the green and white. At one time mid-way in the final stanza the Spartans had an 13 point lead but the blue grass boys whittled this down to seven points only to have Fortino begin to hit and that was the ball game.

LETTERS To The Editor

To the Editor:
In regard to the 11:30 p.m. curfew in the dormitories, we would like to raise the question, "Is nothing to be done about it or can nothing be done about it?" MSC coeds are not in sympathy with the ruling and are not satisfied with the reasons that have been given for the lights out regulation.

Maybe those who are keeping the rule in effect do not realize that the situation really is from the student's standpoint.

Last year when living conditions were overcrowded and three women were living in rooms intended for two, the rule of being out of bed by 7:30 p.m. and having lights out by 11:30 p.m. was necessary and plausible to us.

Now we may sleep through our eight o'clock classes if we want to, but still there is a time limit for lights in our rooms and we can find no excuse.

No one, if she participates in any college activity, has the time to finish studying every night of the week by 11:30, and when she can't study in her room where does she go? We have tried to study in many places. If we will not be more than half an hour, we sit in the hall, which is drafty because someone always has a window open.

If we study longer, we may choose one of several un conducive-to-study places.

One is the small lounge off the living room of the dorm. There is room for four women to gather around the yellow glow of a lamp. Two is the main dining room, not more than 60-watt lamp.

In the company of 50 tables and 350 chairs with the air drafts sending out squeaks and grumbles from the machinery in the basement, a person who is the least bit timid would not accomplish very much. The dining room is also drafty, but it strikes your feet the most.

Three is the helps dining room, but if more than three of you choose this place, no one accomplishes anything.

The fourth and last possibility is the study hall provided for those living in the dormer room. There is one extra desk and we are grudgingly allowed to use any of the others, but the room is stuffy, noisy with the fan on, and we prefer other assemblies than the noise from the motorator room across the hall.

It has been said that the lights out ruling is advocated by the college hospital as a health measure. We feel that the conditions in which we are forced to study are anything but ideal. The lighting is poor. The draft is terrible. We can study much better in our own rooms.

Last year when the air exchangers were stationed here, and there was a great deal of the sound, no college student could enter the hospital unless he was on his last legs because the exchangers' health came first. Why the sudden interest in us?

Another reason that has spread around campus is that the college wants to cut down both the light and heat bill. Our radiators are on full blast at all times because even when they are shut off the hot air puffs out.

The light bill would be cut down if we had no light limit because many women would be in bed before 11:30 p.m. At this time, hardly anyone goes to bed before that time because it is too late until then so we would as well stay up as lie in bed awake.

We believe that something could be done if those in authority would only realize the unsuitable accommodations for late students.

After all, when a person goes away to college it is taken for granted that she can brush her teeth and put herself to bed at the proper time.

Why do you tick us in?

In Campus Quarters

By DOTTIE La MONT and NAN TRABUE

COLD weather and mid-terms seem to go together this time, and we've got them both. Burning the midnight oil is serving two purposes . . . one for the books (rather for the profs) and one for the warmth.

Shirley Tubbs, Alpha Xi Delta, won't be worrying about mid-terms for a while anyway, 'cause she and Ens. Lloyd Rivest, 43, were married Saturday in Cambridge, Mass. Ensign Rivest is from Ovid and was a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering fraternity. The couple are now living in Boston.

When the dinner bell rang in practically the middle of the night at the Theta house Saturday, everyone was somewhat confused as to its cause. Their sleepy eyes were opened when they entered the dining room and it decorated for a party announcing the engagement of Peggy Sims, her fiance is R. O. Jack Highfield, who is stationed in Florida.

Big things were happening at the ATO house last weekend with fraternity brothers invading the abode from Albion, Adrian, U. of M., and Hillsdale. The main attraction being the dance Saturday night and Sunday and Eld Sunday.

Results of all this activity and pack Hobart, Hillsdale freshman, are an active. They from state taken initially away was from the city of Detroit. Hillsdale, Michigan, and George South, Highland Park freshman.

The Greek alphabet starts with "A" so we're keeping it that way, bringing the Alpha Phis to mind. Pledging took place at said house resulting in five more pins to dot the campus. Those responsible are Joan Bates, Toledo, Ohio, freshman; Trudy Hamilton, Bay City freshman; Joan Cloude, East Lansing freshman; Doris Geener, Bay City sophomore; and Mary Ann Wrenn, Pontiac sophomore.

Sigma Kappas have also been busy at this pledging business and have presented their badge of pledgeship to three freshmen: Lucille Coolman, Dearborn; Marcella Kraft, Houghton; and Barbara Van Stone, Detroit, are looking forward to becoming active one of these days.

Not only have the SAEs been invading, but new officers have been installed within the past few weeks. Bob A. Elton has been replaced as president by "Doug" Hind.

Working with him are John Titus, vice president; Harold Henry, recording secretary; Bob Jewell, corresponding secretary; John Bender, treasurer; and Bob Mullen and Brooks Thomas, social chairmen.

The four new initiates include freshmen Warren Cardwell, Lansing; Bill Balen, Edmore; Bob Mullen, Dowagiac; and Jake Milliken, Fenton.

A lengthy list of new full pledged Gamma Phi Betas has been added to the books since last weekend. Proudly displaying their active pins on campus are freshmen Garry Bart, Royal Oak; Ann Davis, Grosse Pointe; Jean Welch, East Lansing; Eleanor Thompson, Huntington Woods; and Ruth Strong, Glen Rock, N. J.

Others include freshmen Ruth and Mary Lake, East Lansing; Barbara Stover, Grosse Pointe; Charlotte Forsythe, Washington, D. C.; and juniors Pat Beechler, Charlotte, and Peggy Annas, Grosse Pointe.

Florence Trappensee, Detroit sophomore, left school at the end of fall term to marry Capt. J. William Reed, army air corps and pre-med student. They will be married when Reed, who is stationed in Santa Ana, Calif., receives his next assignment.

Don't be a tradition breaker—no smoking on campus.

Third Army Forces Way Through Nazi Westwall

Bradley's First Army, Entirely Inside Reich, Seizes Control of Vital Roer River Dams In Slow Gains North of Third Army

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—The battle for western Germany took on a more ominous aspect for the enemy today as the U.S. third army fought all the way through the westwall in one sector and knocked out a key bastion before Prum and the first army to the north seized control of the vital Roer river dams.

Matmen Take Two Matches, Stay Unbeaten

State Suffers Injuries in Saturday's Meets; Hampers Success

Michigan State's wrestling squad remained among the nation's undefeated teams with its defeat of Ohio State, 18 to 13 in Saturday's competition in Jenison field house. This was the second win in two days for the Spartan squad which came out ahead of Indiana last Friday.

The Spartans defeated Ohio State 23 to 11 in their first encounter at Columbus, Jan. 20. Suffering some casualties from its match with Indiana, State was not able to make as clean a sweep on events Saturday.

State men won their bouts in four classes, two of them by fall. Ohio State took one class, by a fall, won two decisions. The 136 pound class ended in a tie.

In the 121 pound class, Dick Payne, Ohio State, defeated Cliff Fletcher, 8 to 3. Gordon Cole defeated Bernie Snyder of OSU 6 to 5 in the 128 pound class. Bill Denmore and Al Borkowski wrestled to a 3 to 3 tie in the 136 pound class.

Gale Miles threw Al Kosh of Ohio State to win his bout in 4:11. Jim Grams outpointed Sam Schmittle of OSU, 6 to 0 to win the 155 pound class.

Finning his man in 2:32, Don Anderson, defeated Seymour Wed of OSU to win the 163 pound class. Steve Kohn defeated Doug Brown of MSU, 10 to 4 to give Ohio State the point in the 175 pound class.

Ohio State's Haman, Oregon, 34-pound, George Holt threw Harold Daehle in 1:20 seconds to win the heavyweight class.

State's next match will be in two weeks, Saturday, Feb. 10, when Coach Fendley's College grapplers meet Wheaton college in a return engagement. They will be hampered by the loss of 170 men.

136-pounder Al Borkowski is expecting his draft call early in February and Jim Grams may have to return to his farm. A post graduate taking work in agriculture, Grams is a farmer. Holt and his red man is about to be inducted.

State Swimmers Lose Meet To Detroit By Three Points

Indiana Buckeyes Score 13 In Triangle Event

By JOE HEAGANY

Michigan State's swimming team inaugurated its first war-time campaign in two years last Saturday when it played host to Detroit Tech and Indiana university in a triangular meet held in the college pool. Indiana won the meet with 47 points, the Spartans amassed 44, while Detroit garnered a meagre 13.

The meet was nip and tuck all the way and either State or the Hoosiers could have won it with breaks. All-around team balance was the determining factor. Indiana garnered five first places and picked up a host of second and third. Indiana picked up eight points in the 440 free-style event which salted the meet away. The Spartans' best effort was three points.

Another big factor was the defeat of Tommy Barber, State diver, who was counted on for valuable first place points. Barber was beaten by 4.2 points by Bill Simpson of Indiana.

Detroit Tech tried to give a boost to the Spartan cause by walking off with the first two places in the backstroke, but the best Bill Jensen, Spartan back-paddler could do was to take a fourth. Fred Stillman, veteran sprint man, took a second in the 100 yard freestyle.

Bright spot in the meet was Joe Maeller, a new swimmer for Coach Charles McCutcheon who promptly proceeded to walk off with the 50 yard freestyle in the good time of 28 seconds. This was as close as anyone got to breaking any of the pool records.

Another cheering factor was the 300 yard medley combination of Bill Jansen, John McGrath, and Bob Byerly for the green and white. They started the meet off in fine style by walking away with the event. Jansen's leg was not close, and McGrath gave Byerly a lead that covered almost a length of the pool. Byerly continued to lengthen this lead by a couple of yards.

Coach McCutcheon charges will next take on the Ohio State team March 2. Swim the Buckeye teammen at Columbus. After this, State will rest till the big meets later in the spring.

Intracollege Boxing Will Start Tuesday

Intercollegiate boxing competition will start next Tuesday, according to Coach L. D. Burnham.

All students are eligible, including men in the armed forces.

Those holding a letter in boxing, or anyone who has placed first in a collegiate tournament will be ineligible, however, Burnham said.

Those coming to register may do so until noon Saturday at Jenison fieldhouse.

Philippine Divisions Seal Doom for Japs Trapped In Fallen City of Manila

Liberating Yanks Free More Internees, - Close Possible Enemy Escape Routes To Bataan Peninsula and Corregidor

MANILA, Feb. 6 (AP)—As a three-way trap doomed any Japanese within the city, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today hailed "the fall of Manila" where liberating Yanks have added 1,350 Allied prisoners held at filthy Bilibid penitentiary to the more than 3,700 saved at Santo Tomas.

A triumphant proclamation of the five-star general made it clear the liberation is, in the broadest sense, already accomplished with three Yank divisions "rapidly clearing the enemy from Manila." He said destruction of all surviving Nipponese is imminent.

The 11th airborne division of the eighth army, in a forced march of 35 miles, drove into the city from the south after the first cavalry had penetrated from the east Saturday night, followed by the 37th division from the north.

The 37th division seized vermin-infested Bilibid, 10 blocks south of Santo Tomas whose internees were saved by the first cavalry.

The three-way push left the Japanese no avenue of escape other than in the direction of Manila bay, an area under the constant bombsights of American planes.

The three-way push left the Japanese no avenue of escape other than in the direction of Manila bay, an area under the constant bombsights of American planes.

Two of the main bridges spanning the Pasig river through the center of Manila were blown up by the enemy. These were the beautiful Quezon bridge and a structure named the Ayala.

Three New Dorms Planned to House 1,340 More Post-War Students

Fuel Superintendent Warns MSC Students of Coal Shortage

Michigan State college has a coal shortage—the coal supply is the lowest it has ever been, according to E. E. Kinney, superintendent of buildings and utilities department, and if a blizzard comes, the steam heat which heats all buildings on campus may go off.

With the coal pile practically gone and only 180 tons expected this week, and with 125 tons of coal burned daily in cold weather by the college, it becomes increasingly necessary to not waste light and heat, Kinney stated.

"For example, if the lights are left on in room 111 in Olds hall for one hour, the 28 lights would use up 14 kilowatt hours, which is equal to burning 500 neon signs for one hour, he pointed out." Neon signs for outside use have been ordered to be out unless necessary.

Windows should not be opened in dorm rooms unless the heat can not be turned off at the radiators to conserve fuel and power, Kinney emphasized. Students and faculty should be careful about wasting electricity also, he said.

MSC Engineer Tells of Days In Philippines

The country in which American men are fighting in the Pacific is well known to Prof. Carl B. Andrews of the MSC civil engineering department. Luzon, Langayen gulf, Pampanga province, Manila, Bataan, Corregidor are all names that bring him memories.

Andrews was born in Hawaii and worked there for many years as land surveyor and assistant county engineer, chief engineer for the Oahu Railway and Land company, and eventually as professor of engineering at the University of Hawaii.

This central plain of Luzon through which American troops drove from the Langayen gulf beachhead, he said, is some 40 miles in width and criss-crossed with canals.

Andrews pointed out that the Yanks should find the weather pleasant enough in Luzon at this time of year, for the temperature averages 75 degrees from November through February. Sunny mornings with rain in the afternoon is the norm, he said. In June the typhoon season is due.

Many of Andrews' friends are Filipinos in Pampanga province. He has not heard from any of them since the Jap invasion, so doesn't know how they made out under Japanese rule.

"The natives of the island were friendly toward the people of the United States at the time I was there," Andrews said. He said they didn't think of the Japs as a menace, and that the Nipponese were not numerous on Luzon at the close of the last war.

"Filipinos are normally a quiet, peace-loving people," the engineer said, "but are dangerous fighters when aroused." He believes they have sufficient cause to be aroused now and will take care of any Japs that U. S. troops happen to miss.

Senator Outlines Allied Peace Plan

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) urging his plan for an immediate treaty against future Axis aggression, declared tonight it would help cure the differences now dividing the Allies.

Attributing those differences to one-nation actions affecting the interests of all, he said such moves are being made by Allies in fear of the Axis of the future and ignorance of where their friends — particularly the United States — will stand.

"Unless and until they know that they can depend upon America to join effectively in keeping Germany and Japan demilitarized, they will continue to go their own way," he added.

The commitment he proposes, Vandenberg said, would give us the right to demand a voice in settlements and revision of any that have been made unilaterally in conflict with our and world interests.

He adopted the language of the Atlantic charter which he called "the bone and sinew of our flaming forward march."

With an increased student population expected to reach 12,000 by 1950, MSC is now planning for housing facilities. Three new dormitories will be constructed as soon as materials and labor are available, according to Karl H. McDonel, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture. Veterans under the free education program, men who have been out of college since 1941, and women students are expected to enlarge the present enrollment.

Two women's halls will be built as soon as possible, McDonel said. These dormitories, which will be very similar to Mayo, Williams, and Campbell, with improvements, will be erected between Alice Cowles house and the Union building, where the home economic's home management houses now stand. The buildings will form a quadrangle with the other women's residences, and will house 250 women each.

Identical to Mason-Abbott halls, another unit will be constructed to accommodate men. This structure will be located just south of Mason-Abbott, where the tennis courts are now, and will house 250 men.
