... Haven't We All?

W. H. Combs, professor of public administration, has a time system of his own despite the legislature's plans. When his municipal government class got all confused as to what time future classes would meet, Professor Combs added to the confusion by announcing that he had three time systems. "At home," Combs explained, "we have Republican time, Democratic time and a helluva time."

Lecturer Tells Of Art Cycles To Present Day

Using the cycle theme, Walter Abell, professor of art, in his lecture last night in the Music auditorium on "Modern Art in the Light of History," essayed that modern art was the last departure of art from the fullness of expression achieved during the Renaissance.

Abell contended that the great art cycles are composed of five cumulative phases. In order, the phases may be designated as abstract design, fantasy, ethical expression, realism, and sensuous appeal.

In the agricultural cycle the Renaissance paintings of Titian typified the height of the cycle. As the cycle unwound these additions were thrown out until abstract design was the remaining motif of the artist. The modern artist represents the end of a cycle and the beginning of a new one.

In conclusion, Abell prophesied that the cycle upon which we are now entering would not reach its height until the problems of the industrial world were solved.—AJH

Lily Pons, Guest Singer of College, Began As Pianist

Lily Pons, opera and concert singer, who is appearing on campus Tuesday, is among the world's most famous coloratura singers.

Born in Cannes, France, April 3, 1903, Miss Pons, daughter of an automobile engineer discovered ability on the piano and was enrolled in the Paris Conservatory. At fifteen years of age she graduated from the Conservatory shortly after the armistice. Wishing to serve her country in some manner, Miss Pons entered Parisian hospitals playing the piano for wounded soldiers. Often she was requested to sing as she played and soon discovered that her singing was more greatly appreciated than her playing.

Russians Thrust To East Suburbs Of City of Vienna

LONDON, April 11 (AP)

The Russians hurled the Germans from all of Vienna west of the Danube canal yesterday and thrust within three and a half miles of cutting the rail escape route from the narrow port district and eastern suburbs still held by the enemy.

Heavy fighting raged in the strip between the canal and the Danube river, a space three miles long and less than a half-mile wide. Soviet artillery from three sides raked the district, which includes Prater and the commercial areas of Leopoldstadt and Brigittenau.

Ukrainians Hold City

All the main portions of Vienna, including the old city bounded by the Ringstrasse, were in the hands of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's third Ukrainian army, while Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian forces drove west along the Danube's north banks to the city limits of Vienna.

Malinovsky's men seized a dozen suburbs including Deutsch Wagram, in the middle of the Marchfeld plain and less than three and a half miles from the Nazi escape railroad that leads northward from Vienna to Brno (Brunn) in Czechoslovakia. The entire gap remaining to the Germans, from the Danube north of Vienna eastward to Deutsch Wagram, was but 10 miles wide.

The Germans were struggling desperately to hold their escape bridges across the Danube and the railway line leading to Brno.

Simultaneously other units of Malinovsky's army slashed ahead on a broad front in Slovakia northeast and north of Bratislava, taking the city of Trencin on the east bank of the Vah river and Barel 30 miles from Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's fourth Ukrainians driving down from the north.

Dr. Kiang to Lecture At All-College Banquet

Kiang Wen-Han will be guest speaker tonight at the all-college banquet at Peoples church from 5:30 to 7:30.

Dr. Kiang has worked with students in his native country of China, aiding them in obtaining an education while the world about them was engrossed in war. He is also executive secretary of the National Student Relief committee of China.

For banquet reservations call 8-2573 before noon today.

Home Ecs to Attend Convo

Dr. J. Lita Bane, head of the department of home economics and vice-director of home economics extension at the University of Illinois, will speak at the annual home economics convocation today at 2 p.m. in Fairchild theater. Dean Marie Dye announced. All home economics students are excused from classes to attend the convocation.

After discussing the opportunities for home economists in the post-war world, Dr. Bane will be honored at a tea on the first floor of the home economics building from 3 to 5 p.m., where she will answer informal questions. All junior and senior home economics students are invited to attend the tea.

The $300 Borden home economics scholarship will be presented to the senior student with the highest average as an additional highlight to the afternoon's program. Although the convocation is primarily for home economics students, anyone interested may attend.

Dr. Bane is chairman of the advisory committee to the U. S. Department of Agriculture bureau of human nutrition and home economics, and a member of the committee of the association of land-grant colleges now drafting a bill for research in housing and farm structures.

Pan-American Music Begins Celebration

In honor of Pan-American day Saturday, La Cofradia, Spanish honorary, and International club are presenting a musical program tonight in the Music auditorium at 8. In addition, International center will hold open house Sunday.

The program tonight will commence with Teresa Gadaleta, soprano singing three songs accompanied by Ligia Simons Quiroz, Colon, Panama, junior. Miss Simons and Humberto Ruiz, Lima, Peru graduate student, will dance Tango Argentina, El Choclo. Their accompanist will be Marilyn Miller, Dearborn freshman.

Instrumental Trio

Portia Treend, Detroit sophomore, with a violoncello, Virginia Brightup, Rockford, Ill., sophomore with a violin, and Bethyne Bischoff, Grand Rapids sophomore, at the piano will play several pieces. Mary Jane Guchess, Detroit senior, will sing and be accompanied by Mary Goodell, Lansing freshman.

Following this number a Mexican dance, Jarabe Tapatio, will be executed by Elba Malavassi, Costa Rica graduate student, and Nancy Wyngarden, East Lansing sophomore.

Americans Sweep Beyond Hannover To Brunswick

PARIS, April 11 (AP)—The U.S. ninth army, in a neck and neck race with the American first army toward Berlin, quickly topped Germany's 12th city of Hannover yesterday and swept on 28 miles into Brunswick's outskirts at a point only 110 miles from the Reich capital.

While tank units of the ninth also overran Salzgitter, site of the Goering steel works, 10 miles southwest of imperilled Brunswick, U. S. first army troops in a 40-mile advance on the south smashed into Nordhausen and likewise struck within 110 miles of Berlin with the seizure of localities near Auleben, 45 miles west of Halle and 57 miles from Leipzig.

Reach Erfurt

Farther south the U. S. third army, capturing 285 members of the German foreign ministry at Muehlhausen, rolled on and reached the outskirts of Erfurt and Coburg, 50 miles from the Czechoslovakian frontier in the swelling drive to split Germany.

Thousands of Allied warplanes were aiding the explosive advances into the heart of Germany and destroyed 377 German planes during the day.

Cross Weser River

In the north the British second army sent tank columns across the shattered Weser river north of fallen Hannover, a city of nearly a half-million population, and reached the Aller river at a point within 60 miles of Hamburg, great German port. Berlin said units of this army already had crossed the lower Aller and were only 50 miles from Hamburg.

To the west the Canadians plunged within 25 miles of the seaport of Emden in their race to close the last corridor leading into Holland where between 100,000 and 200,000 Germans are pocketed. Other units fought deeper into Holland itself.

It's Spring Cleaning in Europe

This is the spring cleaning season and no better time could be appointed for the United National Clothing collection. Every closet and drawer in every college residence should be turned upside down in a search for usable garments.

Henry J. Kaiser, head of the national drive, has asked for a million and a half pounds of used clothing to be sent to liberated countries, where almost as many civilians have died from exposure as from starvation.

Conditions brought about in these countries by Nazi and Japanese occupations have grown steadily worse over a period of a least five years. A typical report comes from Belgium where there is one shirt in a family of seven. In Holland the shoes which the children are forced to wear are deforming their feet and causing permanent handicaps.

In addition to the aspect of health and life, these needy people need adequate clothing so that they can regain their self respect as members of the post-war rebuilding program. They must have the confidence in themselves necessary for putting themselves back on their feet as citizens in a new world at peace.

That jacket or shirt which has not been worn more than twice all year isn't worth the hanger that holds it up if it is not turned immediately over to the drive so that a needy family can use it.

The drive is continuing through the month of April. The East Lansing headquarters is located in the Peoples church, where Mrs. Thomas Osgood and her committee have offered to mend, wash and repair any garment in need of such service. Donors are urged to give reasonably clean, whole articles, however.—BAJ

Must the Dumbarton Oaks Plan be Amended?

BY ROBERT P. ADAMS
 THE question on "The Road to Peace" over WKAR Sunday was, "Must the Dumbarton Oaks plan be amended if the United Nations organization is to succeed in preventing war?" Taking part were Prof. Harrison Hunt, head of the zoology department; Brent Allinson, Basic College social science department, and Robert P. Adams, chairman.

Adams: What are the most essential amendments which will be called for at the San Francisco conference late in April? It seems obvious, already that no matter what changes are made in the United Nations plan, as outlined tentatively at Dumbarton Oaks, the resulting charter will not wholly please the United States or any other nation.

Certainly a sure way to doom the United Nations organization at the outset is to insist that unless the plan is perfect, the United States will stay out. Such withholding of United States support would be a major step toward World War III.

Now is certainly the time to consider the needed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks proposals. The question really is how to the United Nations. After that, the job will be to make the charter work in practice.

Hunt: If the Dumbarton Oaks charter as it stands is the best that can be had, then I will support the United Nations organization based on this charter. That would at least be a beginning on collective international action for peace, while the alternative, is international anarchy and more wars.

Right now, however, one amendment to the Dumbarton Oaks charter is more essential than any other. The charter itself should, if possible, be made more readily amendable. As it is, changes would be more difficult to bring about than changes in the United States constitution. The Dumbarton Oaks plan allows any one of the big five nations to vote any change, although that change may have been voted by two thirds of the assembly and by all other members of the security council.

The importance of the vote power within the permanent members of the security council can easily be exaggerated. If the big five are able to compromise their differences and reach working agreements, the vote will not be used.

The charter can and should, however, be improved as soon as possible so as to reduce dependence on force as the main means of keeping peace. The assembly and the international court of justice should be given more power to legislate and deal under law with international disputes as well as with peaceful economic and social change.

SO it's warm out, so everyone is happy, so the birds are the first thing to be heard in the morning, and so cotton clothes are replacing skirts 'n sweaters. Well, it still doesn't explain why the news wires have slowed down when it comes to reporting who's marrying whom and when. The same situation reigns for pins and rings. In view of the situation as it is, here's what we know. We're not bitter, just warm—see you again when it's cooler.

News of the marriage of Pauline Grate who worked in the vet office, and Pete Butth, AGR, '44, found its way to our desk today. It seems that they were married Friday night in the chapel of Peoples church, and are now living in Grandville.

An added sparkle to the eye and third finger, left hand, is enough to say that Glenna Van HERN is partial to one in the USNR. Namely, A S Bill Martin, stationed at the University of Michigan. Glenna is a Pleasant Ridge freshman.

Although the swimming season isn't officially open, before many days have passed some coed may find herself in ice cold water. Reason is the recent addition to the jewelry collection of Ann Stahlsmith, Hartford City, Ind. It is the Phi Tau pin of Bill Robbins.

There's been lots about elections in the news lately, so following the course of events finds the K.D.s with a new slate for the coming year. President is Peg Rogers, Flint junior; Barbara Elliott, Royal Oak sophomore is vice-president; Harriet Wilcox, Eau Claire, Wis., junior will be secretary, while Shirley Erickson, Lansing sophomore is the new treasurer.

Other activities at the house on the hill lately have included a special initiation for Chris Gies, who is a transfer from Lawrence college.

ATOS officers for the previous year have relinquished their duties in favor of those who will now be making the decisions. They are: president, Ed MacFarland, Owosso junior; vice-president, Bill Garrison, Lansing sophomore; secretary, Stew Hellwell, Royal Oak junior; and treasurer, Bob Buckenbizer, Detroit sophomore.

Not to be caught napping, the AGRs have been busy drawing up a new slate of officers. Results find John Foley, Fon du Lac, Wis., sophomore out ahead as president; Richard Hubbard, Huntington Park, Calif., sophomore, vice president; Joe Lewis, Poseyville Ind., junior, is now secretary, and Max Decker, Port Huron junior will be the treasurer.

Five new members are now wearing Sigma Chi pins as a result of initiation Sunday. They are freshmen Ted Kolbe Detroit; George Lawley, Detroit; Dan Goldsmith, Flint; Bob Dodge, Detroit; Pat Kornweitz, New York City, and sophomore Harvey Hunyday, Lansing.

Spartans' First String Catcher Withdraws From School

Coach John Kobs and the state baseball team were greatly taken back today by the announcement that Don Brown is leaving school.

Brown was, up until now, the first string catcher of the Spartans. Brown was starting, what appeared to be a successful career for State behind the plate. This was his first year on the team since he returned from the navy where he served six months as a Seabee.

Not Complete Surprise

The announcement of Brown's withdrawal from the team was not a complete surprise to Kobs. Brown had previously hinted that he might have to leave and return home to Battle Creek.

Family illness necessitated his withdrawal, Brown stated. He had searched in East Lansing for a home to house his family in, but was unsuccessful and now must return home. He will return to his wife and son in Battle Creek.

Hudenko Takes Over

Kobs has been prepared for this move, and has groomed Ben Hudenko, a Wyandotte junior, along with Brown. Now Hudenko will advance to the first position in the lineup. Falling into the vacancy left by Hudenko will be Bob Buckenbizer. The latter was chosen for Southeastern high school in Detroit before coming to State.

The team, despite these changes, is preparing to meet at the university here on April 12.

Coed Swimmers To Compete In State AAU Meet

State women will compete for the first time with leading women swimmers in the Michigan Amateur Athletic Swimming meet on Friday at 8 p.m. in the Women's City club in Detroit.

Having already placed first in the 75-yard medley relay in the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic meet, Jean Procter and Edna Hartman, Detroit sophomores, and Doris Peck, Grosse Pointe sophomore, will double the distance and enter the 150-yard medley. These swimmers also set a new timing record for the 75-yard medley relay during the inter-class meets.

This swimming team with the addition of Betty McDonald, Lansing junior, will race in the 200-yard free style relay. These women also took the winning time in the 200-yard free style relay during the inter-class meets.

Jean Procter, Edna Hartman, and Ruth Burnmeister, Shelby freshman, will enter the 50-yard free style race.

MSC Athletes Write College Of Adventures

Several former State athletes have sent notes to this college telling what they are doing in all theaters of war.

Ed Maté, a Walter C. Mack, cross country letter winner in 1941, is anticipating a fifth operation on a heel injury received in the Pacific theater action.

L. G. A. Pusch, a member of 1942 golf team, says the biggest improvement he has seen in Italy, is plumbing. Lying in a house made out of salvaged war materials, he claims that he has all the comforts of a $100 a month apartment.

Cpl. Dan Pleskey, graduate of 1943, is convalescing from injuries received while fighting in Germany. He was struck by shrapnel in the right hand, the upper arm, and in the neck.

Lt. (jg.) Chet Ambushon, all American basketball guard selection in 1939-40, is stationed in San Francisco. His home is in Gary, Ind.

Lt. Michael N. Miketenac, guard on the 1942 football team, has been awarded the bronze star for gallantry in action. As a leader of a mortar section in France, Lieutenant Miketenac moved to an exposed position under observation of the enemy to direct the mortar fire of his section. This action enabled the attacking company to accomplish its objective.

Lieutenant Miketenac has received the purple heart and one oak leaf cluster for being twice wounded in action.

INFORMATION

PUBLICATIONS JOBS

Paying jobs mailing out college bulletins are open in the Publications office in Ag hall today, tomorrow, and Friday, according to Lloyd H. Geil, head of the department.

Any student interested is requested to report at the bulletin room during free hours, preferably for two or more hours at a time.

HOLMES ENTUSIASTS

Students of the Sherlock Holmes stories may be interested in the proposed organization of a Michigan State Sherlock Holmes society, according to Prof. Robert P. Adams of the English department.

Those interested in becoming associated with a chapter of the Baker Street Irregulars, are requested to call 8-4192 after 7 p.m. and ask for "Mycroft".

PLACEMENT OFFICE

A representative of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons Inc., will be on campus Monday to interview seniors for permanent positions with the firm, according to Prof. Tom King, head of the placement service.

The company is interested in men and women who have majored in chemistry, zoology, bacteriology, accounting and business administration and liberal arts department or home economics. Students who are interested should call the placement office for an appointment.

STUDIO THEATER

Regular Thursday meeting of Studio theater will be postponed until next week, according to Prof. Paul Geisenhof of the dramatics department.

SENIORS

Seniors may now order their caps and gowns at the Union desk or Hurd's. A deposit is required for the order.

WAA LETTERS

New WAA letters may be picked up at the Women's gym today or tomorrow from 4 to 6 p.m. according to president of WAA Isabelle Firth, Jackson junior.

Seniors Schedule First Midweek Dance May 2

Wednesday night dances for seniors will be held on May 2, 16, and 23 in the Union ballroom from 8:30 to 11:30. Mac Cronsey, president of the senior class, announced yesterday. Women will receive 12 midnight permission for these dances and may invite any college man regardless of his class.

On May 10 Pres. John Hannah will address all seniors and class alumni officers. Seniors must wear caps and gowns to this senior swingout. President Hannah will also hold a reception for seniors in the Union ballroom on May 31 at 7:30 p.m.

Other senior activities include commencement dance, June 2; baccalaureate service, June 3 at 3 p.m. in the auditorium; college sing, June 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the band shell; Lantern night, June 5; senior picnic, June 6, and commencement exercises, June 9 at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

President Hannah has suggested that seniors also wear caps and gowns to their classes on May 16 and 23, since it was a former senior tradition.

Coach Anticipates Season Of Lively Swim Sessions

-By BOB BYERLY

Last Wednesday was a red-letter day at the Jenison gymnasium pool. A group of Charles McCaffree's swimmers were gathered before their coach in self-conscious reverence, it was the end of the swimming season, and they wanted to show their appreciation of what their coach had done for them.

Jack Kasten, free-styler from New York city, came forward. He was holding, well-wrapped in MSC towels, a large object which it was quite evident, was a token of the esteem of Kasten and colleagues for their coach. As Coach Mac proudly accepted this gift from his boys and prepared to open it, he was subconsciously overlooking two very significant factors: (1) the unique quality of the Kasten sense of humor and, (2) the Simon-Legree-like idealism which said swimmers, in playful moments, had been wont to ascribe to their coach.

Prize Package

So Mac, in this innocent frame of mind, characteristic of swimming coaches, proceeded to uncover a fourteen foot, king size, professional lion tamer's whip. Astonishment on the part of the coach mixed with boyish hilarity on the part of the swimmers followed.

The effect of this incident should not be limited to the joke the MSC swimmers had with their coach on Wednesday, nor to the wholesale fun that both coach and team are having with their new toy, a product of the mind of one Jack Kasten. No, indeed, in fact, it is undeniable that an institution has been started at Michigan State; a new team has been formed and, it is predicted that the coach will have next year's team "whipped into shape" in no time.

A Skilled Trainer

The coach, it has been noted, is pleased with the gift and has taken the acquisition of skill in manipulating it quite seriously. It is rumored that already he can kill a fly, or maim a beetle at forty paces.

The value of this implement to the team is quite easily recognizable. Its effect on the team, too, seems fairly predictable. For instance, a news item five years hence might read:

"Coach Charles McCaffree, his whip, and swimmers have won another victory. Although the swimmers performed very well, the coach was the real star. See - COACH - Page 4"

Speaking of Operations!

An invasion fleet of several hundred warships uses some 43,000 telephones—from 1,500 on a battleship to 10 on a motor torpedo boat. That's as many as are used by most cities of 160,000!

Our fighting men are using telephones, wire, switchboards, and other communications equipment in huge quantities. And Western Electric workers, peacetime suppliers to the Bell System, are busy meeting those needs.

That is why there are not enough home telephones right now. But we are looking forward to the day when the Bell System can again provide telephone service to anyone, anywhere, at any time.

British Open Major Italian Battle

Veteran Eighth Army Crosses Senio River In Campaign to Wipe Out German Armies

ROME, April 10 (AP)—The veteran British eighth army, opening what will probably be the last major battle in Italy, crossed the Senio river today on a wide front in a campaign to annihilate the German 10th and 14th armies before they can retreat into the mountain fortress of southern Germany.

The eighth, with a brilliant record reaching back to El Alamein, moved into action last night after a six months' lull behind a murderous artillery barrage and the greatest coordinated aerial assault ever carried out in Italy.

Aerial Assaults
The barrage, which opened at 7:30 last night, was preceded by an aerial assault by U. S. 12th and 15th airforce and RAF warplanes. All three air forces resumed the assault today with a great force of heavy bombers from the 15th blasting a path through German defenses for the attacking eighth army.

Shortly before noon 3,400 100-pound high explosive bombs and 180,000 fragmentation bombs had been dropped in front of the British.

Initial objectives were gained against relatively light opposition and the tommyes continued to press forward over the swampy terrain, interlaced with numerous drainage ditches.

Enemy Strength Unknown
There was no immediate indication what proportion of the enemy strength in northern Italy—estimated at 25 German divisions and six Italian-Fascist divisions—has been massed in the path of the eighth army.

However the cream of the Nazi fighting units—notably the veteran first and fourth parachute troop divisions and the 26th and 19th panzer grenadiers—have been concentrated mostly in front of the eighth army.

New Students to Take Make-Up Examinations

New students who have not taken the required entrance exams must write them this week, according to Paul S. Dressel, chairman of the board of examiners.

Today's exams are literary at 3 p.m. and English at 4 p.m. Those tests to be given tomorrow are social science at 3 p.m. and natural science at 4 p.m.

These appointments take precedence over classes, laboratories, and all other activities.

Music Staff To Present Program

Presenting a program of Gabriel Faure's music, five MSC music department professors will appear in a concert Sunday in the music auditorium. The concert will be given at 4 p.m. and the public is cordially invited.

Professors Maurice Dumesnil, pianist-commentator; Alexander Schuster, cellist; Julius Stulberg, violinist; Romeo Tata, violinist; and Roy Underwood, pianist, are those who will take part.

Student of Saint-Saens
Born in South France, Faure studied under Saint-Saens at the Ecole Niedermeyer in Paris. This began a lifetime friendship between the two during which Faure was greatly influenced by his teacher.

Personal inspiration and refinement are evident in all of Faure's music. Although he follows the classicist form, his use of harmonic innovations and modulations make him somewhat of a modernist.

Organist and Educator
Acclaimed not only as a composer, he is noted as an organist and educator. The organ at the cathedral of Rennes, in Brittany, was his post for several years. From 1905 to 1920 he was director of the Paris National conservatory, having previously taught a class in composition.

Sunday's program comprises some of his loveliest works. The program will open with the suite "Dolly" for one piano, four hands. "Elegie" and "Sicilienne" for cello and three of his solo compositions for piano will follow. His beautiful "Piano Quartet in C minor, Op. 15" will conclude the program.

OFF-CAMPUS WOMEN
All off-campus women who wish to vote in the primary election for representatives to AWS will meet in the Spartan room of the Union today at 5 p.m., according to Gayle Oviatt, Washington, D. C., sophomore.

Chinese Guest To Lecture on Modern China

Dr. Y. C. Yang, president of Soochow university and director of the speakers' bureau of the Chinese News service, will speak in the lecture room of the chemistry building tomorrow night at 8.

Lecturing under the auspices of the institute of foreign studies, Dr. Yang's talk will concern present day Chinese conditions.

Now on leave from Soochow university where he has been president since 1927, the Chinese educator has been special lecturer at the University of Hawaii, Duke university and Ohio Wesleyan university and visiting professor at Bowdoin college and Lake Erie college. At present he is faculty visitor under the sponsorship of the Association of American Colleges.

Also a prominent diplomat, Dr. Yang has worked in the government service since 1915. During this time he has been a member of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Chinese Consul-General in London, and senior secretary and acting director of the Department of International Affairs. Yang has been decorated three times by the Chinese government.

During his stay on campus, Yang will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Shao Chang Lee at the International center, 3 Faculty Row. While at MSC, he will make a study of the college and wishes to meet anyone interested in China.

FACULTY ROW

Force alone will never prevent World War III.

The provisions for membership seem reasonable enough. Under the plan at present, Germany, Japan and Italy may be eligible only after indefinite years of probation, and after they have shown good faith and their desire to develop peacefully.

Allinson: The best thing to do with the Dumbarton Oaks proposals would be to replace them with a genuine plan for world government under law. As I see this plan, unless it is radically amended, the United States is being high-pressured into lending our national strength to what is no better than outright military alliances with Russia, Great Britain, France and China.

When you consider that half of Europe and most of Asia will not even be represented at San Francisco, it becomes clear that the Dumbarton Oaks plan is intended to preserve the present military agreements of the great Allied powers in order to continue the war indefinitely by keeping the defeated down by force. I do not consider this to be a plan for a peace organization.

If the Dumbarton Oaks plan is not to be replaced, but only to be amended, I agree that the most essential of all amendments is one to make possible changes in the charter itself after the United Nations is organized.

This must be done unless the organization is simply to preserve the status quo at the war's end. At present, any one of the big five can veto any change. I suggest that changes be made by means of a two-thirds vote of both the assembly and the security council.

Membership in the United Nations outright, by charter, to be a right of all sovereign states willing to accept its principles and obligations. At present, membership is a matter of favoritism. Only peace-loving states may be present at San Francisco, but to be deemed peace-loving they must have declared war on Germany and Japan. Russia can at present veto the naming of Switzerland, one of the most peaceful states of Europe, but not belligerent.

COACH

admirably, the victory is usually credited to the coach from the sidelines gave encouragement of a "snappy" nature as was necessary to the victory.

Everything's Whipshape
And farther down the page "In five years Coach McCaffree has developed (in what his 'suggestive' method is the crack of the whip) what is believed to be the quickest conceivable means of correcting faults in swimmers. In explanation of his method he has written another book, "The Evenness of the Whip as Applied to the Backstroke", and he finds time to tame several swimmers as well as his swimmers on the side."

Yes, great things are predicted for Coach McCaffree, and his swimmers. At what they'll be good if they're what they're "cracked" to be.

Doing a big job and doing it well

Courteous, calm and competent is a particularly good description of the telephone operator these days. She has a big job to do and she's doing it well.

She appreciates your help, especially when you're on a crowded Long Distance line and she must ask you to "Please limit your call to 5 minutes."
