Michigan Composers to Sponsor Concert

Today's Campus

To Pin On Her PJs

If about 400 Mason hall coeds were yawning in their 8 a.m. classes the other morning, it might be because they failed to get their usual quota of sleep the night before. Mrs. E. C. Slye, the housemother, was suddenly awakened the other night at an hour when most coeds are asleep by what was obviously a serenade. In addition to the songs, Mrs. Slye was presented with an orchid. She is leaving soon for Alabama to join her husband, Lt. Col. E. C. Slye, who has just returned from overseas.

... Man's Work

The sight seen through the door of one of the foods laboratories yesterday might be considered prophetic of man's place in the post-war never world. All the women in the class were gathered around the instructor leisurely examining some object with the greatest interest while two men students, garbed in white uniform, were busily washing dishes. Of course, it might be that the women had already washed their dishes and were waiting for the hour to end.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Nazi major Japanese air fields on Kyushu, the southernmost island of the Japanese homeland, were pounded today (April 21, Japanese time) by more than 150 Marianas-based Superfortresses.

'Rendezvous in the Rain' Highlights List of Weekend Social Activities

"Rendezvous in the Rain," the campus term party, featuring Gene Deane and his band, will take place from 9 to 12 this evening. Open to both North and South Campbell women and their invited guests, the semi-formal affair will center around the "Morella" theme, with a mural setting the stage for April showers.

Prof. and Mrs. Joseph Menchinger and Mrs. Paul Morrison, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Fee, and Prof. and Mrs. Walter Abell are the patrons for the evening and will be the guests of both dormitories.

Mason Entertains
Pinetum will be the scene, this evening, for a scavenger hunt and winter coast sponsored by room 3 of Mason hall. After the outing, the guests will be taken back to Mason for dancing in the lounge. The patrons will be Prof. and Mrs. Charles Carr and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carforth.

House presidents and housemothers, of both the dormitories, clubs, and sororities are to be entertained at a Sunday afternoon tea at the Alice Cowles house, which is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m.

Sunday Tea
Potter house is also giving a tea. Inviting department heads of the college, housemothers,

Presenting music by Michigan composers the MSC music department and the Michigan Composers' club will sponsor a program tomorrow afternoon at 4 in the music auditorium.

The program will be a part of the annual spring meeting of the club. Although some of the club members make music their business, for many it is just a hobby. Among the members are a newspaper man, an English professor, and a housewife who began composing to entertain her two children. All the compositions are quite recent, having been performed within the last two years for the first time.

Piano Preludes

The program will open with three preludes for piano by Clark Eastham of Royal Oak. The second part of the program will feature a group of songs, one of which was composed by Prof. Romeo Tata of the MSC music staff. His song, "Desert Dusk," which realistically catches the mood of the desert was inspired when Tata was teaching in Arizona.

"Recitative and Aria for Viola and Strings" by Dorothy James of Ypsilanti will follow. The composition is unique in that the viola represents a voice with the strings in accompaniment.

Choral Work

Dr. Owen Reed's "Song of Praise," a composition for a seven part choir, will be heard as the fourth part of the concert. Dr. Reed, whose composition was first heard at Millikin university in 1943, is a resident of East Lansing.

"Vance Inn" by Dr. J. M. Barbour of the MSC music staff, will conclude the program. The composition refers to an historic stone inn in Pennsylvania. Using an unusual combination of flute, clarinet, violin, and violoncello, the variety and change create an added interest.

Annual MSC Art Mart Scheduled To Open for May 6 Showing

Plans are now underway for the annual Art Mart to be held from May 6 until the end of the term. This affair is sponsored by the MSC art department every spring and offers a display of all phases of art work done by State students during the year.

In the late thirties the first show was held in an outdoor setting with the display set up on the lawn in front of the library. Two years later it moved into the Union where it was housed until the art gallery in the basement of the new music building gave it a home.

The event gained its name Art Mart from the early history of the show. In former years a great number of works were displayed, with numerous pieces offered for sale. Last year no prizes were awarded in an at-

Students Give 1,125 Pounds Of Clothing

Students contributed 1,125 pounds of clothing to the National Clothing drive, sponsored Thursday on campus by the Student council, topping the 1,000 pound goal by 125 pounds according to Charlotte Forsythe, Lansing freshman, publicity chairman. Dormitories and sororities contributed approximately 939 pounds.

The drive, under the chairmanship of Sally Sietert, Grand Haven senior, was supported by all the sororities and women's dorms on campus. Admission to dinners sponsored by Williams and Mayo dorms was old clothing.

Help is needed in the clothing drive headquarters in the basement of Peoples church between 8 and 12 this morning to load seven tons of clothing to be sent overseas. Anyone with a spare half hour or more is asked to volunteer his services.

ing, and cooperative houses also featured an old clothes party.

All donations have been taken to Peoples church where they will be washed, mended, sorted and shipped to New York. Those who still wish to contribute may take the clothing to Peoples church.

Sorters, menders and packers are still badly needed. College women who have any free time from 10 to 5 Monday through Friday are urged to volunteer at the basement of Peoples church.

Spanish Groups Will Show Mexican Film

La Cofradia, Spanish honorary, together with the foreign language department, will sponsor a Mexican movie on Thursday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Fairchild theater. No charge will be made for the performance, which is open to all students.

Johannes Sachse, instructor in the department and in charge of arrangements, has announced that the picture is a prize-winning Mexican film based on an ancient Mayan legend and is entitled "La Noche de Los Mayas." The film has English subtitles.

Club Dedicates Tree to Roosevelt

A tree grows on campus dedicated by the Forestry club to the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The tree, a six-year old tulip-poplar tree, is said to be the late president's favorite, and is the third presidential tree to be planted at MSC.

Pres. Bill Baumgart, Bloomington, Ill., senior, gave a simple dedication speech in which he called Roosevelt a great conservationist. "Roosevelt not only privately practiced conservation on his own estate, but his ideas of conservation were reflected throughout the nation in his policies and national legislation."

He added that the result will be prolongation of years to

Gen. Eisenhower Declares German Armies in West Near Defeat

Russian Army Advances, Fighting Seven Miles From Blazing Berlin

LONDON, April 20. (AP)—Moscow revealed tonight that Russian tanks had broken 38 miles across Berlin's southern escape corridor within 18 miles of Dresden and 58 miles of American troops while the Germans said the Red army had breached Berlin's inner defense ring and was only seven miles from the blazing German capital.

The Russians were at the "very gates" of Berlin, one German report said, and a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman declared the yard-by-yard Russian advance "in a hell of fire, steel and blood" was deciding the war. Peace riots were reported in the capital.

Moscow's communique said that Russian forces, advancing on Berlin and Dresden on a 100-mile front, had seized eight major strongholds while wave after wave of Russian armor lapped at a dozen other fortified towns and villages within Berlin's shattered defense ring east of the city.

Before the capital's eastern approaches, the German defenders of the American and British-bombed city still were fighting after 150 hours without sleep.

The Germans said that masses of Russian tank, infantry and big guns still were pouring into the battle, possibly the greatest in history; claimed that 1,300 Red army tanks had been destroyed, and disclosed that the Red army was 29 miles beyond the Oder river after five days of fighting.

Religion and Life Class To Present Lecture By College Leader

Dr. Harrison H. Ferrell, dean of West Virginia State college, will speak to the religion and life class at 9:30 tomorrow morning in the east student parlors of Peoples church on the subject, "A Great Time to Be Alive."

Dr. Ferrell, a native of Chicago, earned the distinction of being the youngest negro in America to hold a Ph. D. degree when he was graduated from Northwestern university in 1928. He has held his present position for 20 years and has gained a rich background of experience in working with students.

All students are invited to hear Dr. Ferrell speak. Tomorrow morning's meeting is a part of the regular program of the religion and life class of bringing outstanding leaders to the campus.

12th Army Lines Reach Within 45 Miles Of Soviet Lines

PARIS, April 20. (AP)—General Eisenhower declared tonight that German armies of the west were "tottering on the threshold of defeat," and giant peace demonstrations were reported in Berlin and Munich as three Allied armies struck 23 miles south toward Hitler's last stand in the Alps.

The Nazi party city of Nuernberg fell on Hitler's 56th and blackest birthday, the French were 30 miles from Lake Constance—western bulwark of Hitler's Alpine retreat—and Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th army group headquarters reported American lines were 45 miles from the Russians.

Slave Laborers
From Supreme headquarters went sensational broadcast to Russian and Polish slave laborers in the Reich to stay where they were for "in a few days the gap between the armies of liberation from the west and from the east will be closed."

A battle dispatch declared the Germans no longer manned a cohesive western front, that the enemy was broken into pockets for the victory assault and the last stand in the north was also under attack.

The British second army battled a mile from the suburbs of German's second city and greatest port of Hamburg, and shared it off from Bremen with a 20-mile outflanking sweep against the latter river port.

Brink of Defeat
Eisenhower's statement that the Germans were at the brink of defeat in the west came in an order of the day in which he called the great Allied victory in the Ruhr a fitting prelude to the final drive to crush what is left of the German army, once the terror of all Europe.

The Germans said the U. S. ninth army, steadily bolstering its five-mile deep Eibe river bridgehead 52 miles southwest of Berlin, was about to join the Russians in the grand assault on the flaming capital.

Speech Students To Present First Reading Hour

The first reading hour of spring term will be Tuesday afternoon at 4 in room 49 of College auditorium, according to Mrs. Monroe Compeze, speech instructor.

Carol Jean Reihmer, Grand Rapids sophomore, and John Swank, Eaton Rapids freshman, will read poems which they will present in the state prose and poetry contest on May 4.

Miss Reihmer's poems are "Full Moon" by Hal Borland, "Fine Morning" by Winfield Townley Scott, and Leonara Speyer's "Birthday Cake." Swank's selections are "Tomorrow You" by John Holmes, "Dunkirk" by Robert Nathan, and "Lincoln" by John Gould Fletcher.

An adaptation of the humorous book, "This Little Pig Stayed Home" by Willie Snow Ethridge will be given by Joyce Chapman, Lawrence sophomore. It is the story of a Louisville, Ky., family which finds life on the home front difficult and different.

A Study in Black and White

Michigan State is a haven for paradoxical situations. Here are a few: Whoever makes the rules governing student behavior devotes all their energies to keeping the coeds under their thumb while the males are unhampered in their quests for entertainment.

Either the lawmakers consider the coeds capable of more immorality than the males or they are not concerned whether or not the male students degenerate morally or academically. At any rate they ward off evil with their right hand and beckon to it with their left.

Secondly, they allow women to wear slacks on campus and then they immediately reverse themselves and regard it as bad manners by forcing the coeds to wear finger-tip coats to hide the slacks. They glare at bad manners with one eye and wink at them with the other.

A third situation is one brought about by those students who hauled off and took a verbal smash at Pres. John Hannah for failing to observe in appropriate fashion the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In my estimation they were about three weeks late.

They should have rolled up their sleeves after Good Friday, when the anniversary of the death of Christ was also unobserved. The three most solemn hours in the history of the world were spent in attending classes, which, as one professor termed it, was "sufficient mortification of the flesh." — F.R.

LETTERS . . . . . To The Editor

To the Students.
In recent issues of the State News have appeared three letters from students expressing regret that no formal memorial services for President Roosevelt had been held on the campus and inferring a lack of interest on the part of the college.

As is usually the case, there are at least two sides to all questions and sometimes three or more.

First, the administrative officials of Michigan State college are sincere admirers of the late President and the ideals for which he stood.

The death of the President was announced at 5:48 Thursday evening. Within two hours several students had telephoned me inquiring if there would be any classes held on Friday. The interest was not in a memorial ceremony but in the dismissing of classes.

Friday morning, President

Truman designated Saturday as a day of official mourning, but urged all business to proceed as usual except for an appropriate pause at four o'clock Saturday afternoon. Later, Governor Kelly officially set the hour from four to five on Saturday as a period of pause and appropriate memorial services.

On Friday morning I called together a group of deans to discuss the advisability of an official college service. It was felt that if the funeral services had been arranged for a time when classes were scheduled and the college was functioning, there should certainly have been arranged a suitable memorial service in lieu of the regularly scheduled classes.

It was felt that (1) any service held on Saturday afternoon would be very poorly attended. (2) The appropriate agencies to conduct such a service were the churches of the community that were making individual arrangements. (3) The most adequate tribute to the great, dead President was a personal reflection on the part of each individual upon the ideals for which he fought and a personal please to continue the fight for them.

(4) Public display and public weeping was beneath the solemn dignity of the real grief the nation was experiencing. (5) The radio programs were more eloquent and stirring than any public tribute that Michigan State college might originate, and they were available to every student and person in the community.

And finally it was felt that an adequate memorial service should be held at a later date dedicated to all our war dead including the "Commander-in-Chief" with special emphasis on the more than 200 Michigan State college men who have paid the ultimate sacrifice in this war.

Two dates have been suggested as appropriate for such a service: Monday, May 14, which would be Founders day as well as the official birthday of the college, and Tuesday, May 29, the day before the Memorial holiday.

I am suggesting to the Student Council and other all-campus groups that they give this matter some thought and if possible come to an agreement of the type of program or service, the date, time, and place for, vice-president, and Jane ... would be preferred by the Walker, Rochester, N. ## Weekly Letter to Men in the Service

April 21, 1945

DEAREST JOHNNY, Students may not be the only ones around here to take a beating at midterms and finals. A faculty committee has thought up a new scheme of student evaluation of professors. It's a rating scale on which instructors will be given a going-over as to all sorts of things—mannerisms, ability to arouse interest, presentation of subject matter, and so on through a list of 13 items. It sounds like a worthwhile plan and one that will keep the mess off the faculty.

Lily Pons made her concert this week at State, her first since her overseas tour with her boy Andre. Even non-opera enthusiasts were impressed with her voice, of course, and her dress and light stature. Next week the San Carlo Opera company will present "Aida," so we're having a musical time lately.

This afternoon the baseball team will take on Wayne for the season's first home game. Our luck hasn't been too good so far, but maybe the feel of home soil will help. Our home opener will coincide with that of the Detroit Tigers.

I'm sure that you and your friends were sorry to hear about Ernie Pele's death. I remember your writing about his visiting you in Africa and how he impressed the boys with his sincerity.

Senior activity plans are peckin' right along for spring dances, swimouts, and a picnic. I hear that all the dances are still in the bag for both sexes, so it sounds as if Wednesday night is my take on all the aspects of Sadie Hawkins day.

The campus' smoothest glamor gals have been lined up for Mardi Gras queen candidates—yes, we're finally having one. Eight will be selected for the final race which will of course eventually be narrowed down to one.

Speaking of narrowing, I decided that a spring slimming would be just the thing. Yesterday I clouted my way around the golf course with much better success than last year. I reduced my strokes to 11 on the first hole so I am much encouraged. I haven't noticed any reducing along another line, though. Still hopefully.

Fireside Discussion Scheduled for SCU Convocation Tomorrow

What are the Christian students of the various denominations doing on other campuses? What has the church done and what does it plan to do to bring about world cooperation? These are two of the questions which will come before visiting denominational leaders and student members at the Fireside discussion of the Student Christian Union meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the student parlors of the Peoples church.

Leading the five denominational speakers will be Dr. Ralph T. Andron, executive secretary of the Michigan Baptist convention; Rev. Russell Meyers, pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church of Lansing; Rev. Frederick G. Poole, secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the Methodist church; Rev. Arthur Campbell, pastor of the Mason Presbyterian church, and Dr. N. A. McCune, pastor of Peoples church and counselor for the Christian Student Foundation.

Dr. Ralph T. Andron will speak on "The Church Faces the World" at the vesper hour at 6:15 p.m. A fellowship supper will precede it at 5:30 p.m.
