Allies Crush Nazis' South Redoubt

Von Rundstedt Captured As Seventh Sweeps Through Bavaria

ROME, May 2 (AP) — Nearly 1,000,000 German and Italian fascist troops made the first unconditional surrender of the war in Europe today, yielded without a fight the mountainous heart of the Nazis "national redoubt" in the Alps and exposed the south flank of the fragments that remain of the exception being one of Bavaria and this under control by U.S. third and seventh armies.

The surrender documents, ending a bloody two and one-half year Italian campaign, were signed Sunday at the Royal palace. See ALLIES, Page 3

... What Am I Bid?

Creds in Williams dorm are going all out for the Mardi Gras queen project. To provide an added incentive for parting with their money six bus boys agreed to being auctioned off for an evening. So, last night, Marilyn Hand, Detroit junior, won highest honor by bidding $12.25 for the company of Jerry Janson, Baldwin, Wis., senior. It was a big price, but the money went for two good causes.

... How Dry Is Mud?

Dr. Kimmel pleaded with his inspired a cappella choir to catch the mood of Mendelssohn's "Elijah." However, in this musical story of a people stricken and distraught by three years of drought, the sopranos just didn't depend seem to feel the anguish of a prolonged famine. He begged them to... "think how hungry you would be, how cold your clothes, how sore your lips, how sore your feet, how the mud in your hair would be slipped there, when you were with him with, "But how dry is mud in your hair when it rained for three

Festival Committee Heads Set Saturday, May 26, for Event

International Festival committee heads held a meeting last night and set the date of the festival to be held in Fairchild theater for Saturday, May 26. Arrangement of the numbers and the technical details involved were discussed at the meeting. General Chairman Gregory Dean, Detroit sophomore, announced. Other chairmen are: publicity, Alice Knott, Niles junior; decorations, Nancy Van Halteren, East Lansing sophomore; programs, Toby Goldtias, Detroit freshman; and technical adviser, Shirley Caswell, East Lansing junior.

AWS Appoints Orientation Chairmen

Barbara Bennett, Detroit junior, and Marilyn Moseley, junior from Beltsville, Mo., were appointed by the AWS activities council last night to head the women's freshmen orientation program.

Miss Moseley, who was assistant chairman of freshman orientation last fall and winter terms, and Miss Bennett, who was an orientation group leader during the same time, will assume complete responsibility for orientation immediately.

As in previous years, the program consists of a series of lectures and group meetings for freshmen women. Credits receive credit in physical education for the course.

Miss Bennett, a psychology major, was on the Big Sister council this year and is affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Miss Moseley, related arts major, is on the home economics planning board and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

The co-chairmen will select their group leaders from petitions submitted to them on the basis of individual qualifications. All such petitions must be in the AWS office by noon this Saturday.

Queen Candidate Eliminations End Tomorrow Night

Eight candidates for Mardi Gras queen will run in the final competition, next week after eliminations are made tomorrow night. Tickets, available at the Union desk and the accounting office, will go on sale tomorrow morning.

Beginning Monday and running through Friday noon of next week, final voting will proceed with penny ballots. No limit has been set for the number of votes cast by one person.

Blue Barron is scheduled to play for the semi-formal dinner at College auditorium May 11. Crowning of the queen will highlight the evening when Pres. John A. Hannah will preside.

The Student Victory Loan fund benefits from the penny votes. The profits obtained will be used for war bonds which will in turn be cashed at maturity to provide for scholarship after the war.

Originating in the fall of 1941 the Mardi Gras, an annual event since its founding, will be spring term for the first time. Difficulties in securing a hall delayed it from fall term and the winter term social calendar was considered heavy without the addition of another semi-formal dance.

Chinese Professor Foresees Peace Conference in Poem

The very heaven bends its sides
 To meet the vast Pacific fides.
 That spread their gifts to East and West
 And make the ocean's little best
 Japetic bridges span this bay.
 Fleetly guard its golden entrance way
 Yet better far are friendly hands
 Stretched over the sea from foreign lands
 Bridging with golden rays of peace
 Ten thousand years of common bliss

This poem, composed by Dr. S. C. Lee, professor in the Institute of Foreign Studies, might well have been written in honor of the San Francisco Conference. However, Dr. Lee wrote it July 18, 1939 before the war had broken out.

At that time Lee was visiting the University of California and lecturing about future conditions. Surprisingly enough, he gave the same speech that he delivered then last Sunday night at International Center at the University of Michigan.

Bidu Sayao, Brazilian coloratura soprano, and Nino Martini, Metropolitan tenor, will appear at College auditorium in a joint recital Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. S. E. Grove, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

Miss Sayao first won fame in her native country Brazil, and in Europe where she sang at the Paris Opera Comique, the Royal Opera and Milan's La Scala. Toscanini introduced her to New York as his soloist in Debussy's "Benedicte."

Miss Sayao was given the acclaim for her performance with the Philharmonic Symphony in 1936. Later she was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Nino Martini is a well known tenor, also of the Met. Martini started his concert and operatic career in Europe where he was "discovered" by Jesse Lasky and brought to America where he performed both in the United States and in Canada.

Martini first gained recognition in radio and motion pictures and then with the Philadelphia Opera company. Later he joined Metropolitan.

LETTERS To The Editor

Editor's note: The following letter was received a short time ago from Sgt. Tom Riordan, sports editor of the State News in 1942-43.

TO the Editor:
With the 45th division of the seventh army, France, March 20—At long last the army has finally recognized the talents of its most famous member from the garden spot of Michigan, namely Detroit, by placing Sgt. Tom Riordan (please note promotion) on the staff of the veteran 45th division public relations office.

Sergeant Riordan gained the coveted spot of rewriter for all articles turned in by division correspondents in the field; after 10 months with a rifle company. He was recommended to the PRO by the editor of the 45th Division News, to whom he's been turning in hot tips for several months.

It has not as yet been determined if the recommendation was made so the harassed editor might be rid of Riordan, or because the Detrouer is such a good fellow. It is undoubtedly the latter, Riordan himself says. It's a little strange for the former editor of sports on the Michigan State News, fabulously famous midwestern collegiate mouthpiece, to be writing features that have nothing to do with the field of athletics, but he's doing a grand job (so he told this reporter).

Equally strange for the former mortarman is the fact that he lives in a second story room, with stove attached, electric lights, and almost all the conveniences of home after nearly a year as a cave man residing in fox holes, with falling dirt the only added feature and lights only when a shell exploded a little close.

Now that he has a typewriter all his own, Sergeant Riordan feels he will be able to fulfill the many, many requests he's had to do articles for publications all over the world, such as Super Comics, Boys' Life and the like. He also admitted that it just the right approach were made he might concede to do some stirring articles for his old employer.

Incidentally, has anyone a pocket dictionary for sale cheap? Sergeant Riordan would like to know.

Back in the south,
Hermie.

While at State they were roommates and upon entering the navy they were stationed in the same barracks in the Naval Academy Preparatory school at Bainbridge, Md. It was hard to believe when they were recently seen roaming campus grounds. It seems they drew leaves together and the beautiful friendship goes on and on.

Judging from the V-mail scrawl of the boys, the shock of seeing each other will be plenty to recuperate from.

Terrific Street Fighting

Those armies, commanded by Marshals G. K. Zhukov and Ivan S. Konev, had jumped across the Oder 16 days previously, and on April 21 fought into Berlin. They encircled the sprawling city, which already had been wrecked by American and British bombers, and tore the remains to bits in some of the bitterest big-scale street fighting of all time.

Thus fell the once mighty capital which Stalin described as "the center of German imperialism and heart of German aggression," and which Hitler had proclaimed as the seat of his "thousand-year Reich" empire—the empire that in less than six years died as it had been born, in blood and suffering.

The U.S. stand became evident while Russia was throwing her support toward a voting formula.

Breslin Clouts Double Homer In Detroit

DETROIT, May 2 (AP) — Michigan State college won its second baseball victory in four starts today by downing Wayne university 6 to 2 in a battle of home runs.

Jack Breslin, Michigan State's first baseman, clouted two homers, one with nobody on base, and Ronald Teasley, Wayne first baseman, drove in both his club's runs with a homer in the sixth inning.

The Spartans sewed up the verdict with three runs in four hits in the fifth, shortstop Martin Hansen providing the feature blow—a two-run single.

Keith Steffee, Spartan hurler, gave out four hits and struck out 14 men.

Final box score: State — 000 231 000—6—7—1 Wayne — 000 002 000—2—4—2 Steffee and Hudenko, Chamberlain, Messenger and Filipiak.

Gen. Eisenhower in Paris told his armies to keep on pressing south, mopping up all resistance, although the surrender order yielded up the chief objectives of his U.S. seventh army and part of those of the U.S. third, which was closing on Salzburg.

The U.S. third and seventh armies raced through cracking enemy lines and virtually completed the subjugation of Bavaria.

In the final hours of a dying Reich, the seventh army flushed the biggest military captive taken yet—Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, most skilled Junkers general of his age and architect of the Ardennes breakthrough, the last German bid for victory in the west.

The surrender swept clean of resistance all northern Italy and western Austria up to and including Salzburg province and its capital of the same name, which was the eastern bastion of the Alpine retreat.

Thus the Allies a mass of the south were free to march unopposed to within 30 miles of Berchtesgaden, where Hitler had his mountain hideout and which being in Bavaria is not included in the surrender order.

Spartan Nine Reveals Power

Saturday's game with the inmates of Jackson prison brought out the real power of the Spartan nine. Playing a team composed of seasoned veterans, the Kobsmen displayed the results of the long days of practice, by handling the opposition a trouncing to the tune of seven to one.

The first inning of the game was typical of the type of ball played during the whole nine innings. Rudy Castellani, left fielder for the Spartans, led off with a single to center. This was followed by a double to center by Nick Gregory. Through a series of Jackson errors and bad throws, both Gregory and Castellani scored. This accounted for two of the seven runs.

In the second inning Boy Hudenko walloped a double down the left field line, scoring Don Schuler, who already was on base.

Jack Breslin arrived on first base in the fourth inning, having been hit by a pitched ball. A sacrifice hit by Lee Grant, the center fielder, advanced Breslin to second. Don Schuler beat out a single to center scoring Breslin. Hudenko went one better when he came to bat by hitting a long triple to right, scoring Schuler. At this stage of the game the score was five to nothing.

The sixth inning brought State another run as Schuler again scored on another double to left by Hudenko. The seventh round of the game brought the final Spartan run, as Nick Gregory scored on a double by Martin Hansen. Here Jackson decided that seven runs was enough and switched pitchers. The final Jackson run came in the fifth inning.
