Annual Banquet Highlighted by State News, Veterinarian, Wolverine Appointments; Certificate of Merit Awarded to Six

State News, Wolverine and Veterinarian staffs for the coming year were announced last night at the annual Publications banquet held in the main dining room of the Union.

For the third straight year, women will hold the top positions on the first two* staffs, while a woman will serve as editor on the Veterinarian for the first time.

The almost completely feminine staff of the State News will continue the daily publication next fall, after becoming a weekly during the summer, Jan Hopps, Ypsilanti junior and newly appointed manager, announced.

Miss Hopps said that staff appointments would be made now for next fall term only, and that each term the list would be revised.

Assistants Named

Assistant editors for fall term were announced by Marion Heikel, Detroit junior, whose appointment as editor was recently made.

Two juniors who have served as assistant editors during the past year will continue in that capacity. Dee Dearing, Pontiac, and Barbara Jones, Glen Rock, N. J., will hold the two positions of seniority.

Juniors Jean Jarvis, from Detroit, and Jeanette Nixon, of Royal Oak, will take two more night editorships. The third vacancy will be filled by Bonnie Essert, Grosse Pointe sophomore.

Advertising Manager Leone Seustrom, Geneva, Ill., junior, announced that Jane Walker, Rochester, N. Y., junior, will continue to serve as circulation manager for the coming year. Other appointments for the advertising staff will be made next fall.

Dorothy Englehardt, Lansing junior, announced the three appointments in her capacity as re-

Today's Campus

... What Is Life

Charles Danforth, instructor in Basic College biology, asked his lecture class this week to write an unsigned opinion of the course and the in-structors. Since on coed a wife? summed up the whole situation by writing, "Darling, you're wonderful." Danforth has been staying with friends until his wife cools off.

... Wondrous Wilson

Hospitality is the word in the 11 to 12 o'clock Spanish class of Omar Wilson, foreign language instructor. Upon noticing a coed waiting in the hall for his class to be excused, he graciously opened the door and asked her into the room. He remarked to the coed that she didn't have to stand waiting out in the hall for her friend, but could come in and make herself comfortable, until the end of the hour.

Council Elects Helen Fisher President

Bud Smith, Anne Cowan Get Other Officer Posts at Dinner

Helen Fisher, Grand Haven junior, was elected president of Student Council at the organization's dinner meeting for all old and new members, held last night in the Union, according to retiring Pres. Ed Wallace. Miss Fisher is the second woman to head the council. Peg Burhans was president in 1942-43.

Other officers chosen at the meeting include Bud Smith, Dearborn junior, vice-president, and Anne Cowan, Detroit junior, secretary and treasurer. Miss Fisher has held the latter position for the past year.

Jim Bibbins, Snyder, N. Y., who was graduated winter term, vacated the presidency at that time, and Wallace, then vice-president, moved up.

10 Members

Under the revised provisional constitution, the council will be composed of 19 members next year. Miss Fisher was elected at the last council meeting to represent the science curriculum of the school of Science and Arts.

Smith was chosen as the representative of the school of Veterinary medicine, and Miss Cowan is Home Economics representative. Women's cooperative and dormitory representatives, and the member from Interfraternity council, have not been announced yet.

Truman's Cabinet Reorganizes For Home Problems

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—President Truman shook up his cabinet today by naming three new members and signaled a new, streamlined attack on the nation's No. 1 home front problem—food shortages.

The new cabinet members are: Attorney General Tom C. Clark, succeeding Francis Biddle. Clark, 55-year old Texan, is now assistant attorney general.

Secretary of Labor, federal judge Lewis B. Schleddenbach, former Democratic senator from Washington. He succeeds Miss Frances Perkins.

Secretary of agriculture, Rep. Clinton P. Anderson, New Mexico Democrat, succeeding Claude R. Wickard.

Truman disclosed that Anderson also will become war food administrator when Marvin Jones steps out of that position June 30 to resume his position as judge of the court of claims.

Wickard, the retiring agriculture secretary, has been picked as rural electrification administrator, the president also disclosed at his news conference.

The President indicated that today's cabinet changes may be the last for some time.

He stated that he had not received any new offer or resignation from Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury, and added that he would not have accepted it if the latter had made the offer.

He also said he did not plan any changes in the state department, presided over by Secretary Edward R. Stettinius, Jr.

History of Comprehensives Calms Frosh

By MARIAN VANDALL

"They say they're flunking 50 percent of the freshman class." "They say they're the toughest things we'll ever hit." (They say they'll be MSC's funeral.

These are only a few of the rumors which frantically cramming freshmen are hearing as the day approaches for the first freshman class to take comprehensive examinations at MSC. However, the history of comprehensives should soothe the nervous freshmen's fears.

Comprehensive exams, as they are known today, have been given in this country since 1900. They were first used chiefly to determine whether college seniors would graduate and if they would receive honors. Covering a period of several days, the exams were both written and oral.

Chicago First

The University of Chicago in 1931 was the first to incorporate the objective comprehensive test into its program. At that time, undergraduates were required to pass comprehensives before they could continue with upperclass work.

Gradually, other colleges began to recognize the value of comprehensives and plan their curriculum to include them. At the present time, many eastern colleges including Swarthmore college and Harvard university require their students to take comprehensive tests, and Yale plans to alter its undergraduate program so that by next fall it will be similar to MSC's Basic College.

Advantages Told

Many freshmen are asking what the advantages of comprehensives are, and why they must last six hours. Long tests are necessary in order to obtain a fair and large sample of what the student's attainment is.

They are also an excellent indication of how well the student can apply his knowledge to specific and general problems, rather than how much he's memorized the night before the test.

General Election Will Follow Dissolution of Parliament

King George Asks Churchill to Form Temporary Government During Election Period; Labor Party Girds for Fight

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill forced Britain's first general election in 10 years by resigning today as chief of the nation's wartime coalition government in the midst of an old-fashioned slugging political campaign.

WINSTON CHURCHILL ... out after 10 years...

Hopkins, Davies Leave On Special Missions To Moscow, London

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The White House announced today that Harry L. Hopkins, has left on a special mission for President Truman to Moscow. There he is to converse with Marshal Stalin on mutual U.S.-Soviet interests.

Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Moscow, also will undertake a special presidential mission to London.

Davies will discuss with Prime Minister Churchill and other officials "certain matters of common interest" to the United States and Great Britain arising out of the war.

Hopkins, who attended many international conferences with the late President Roosevelt, left for Moscow today accompanied by Averill Harriman, U.S. ambassador to Russia.

King George VI, to whom the 70-year old premier formally tendered his resignation, appointed Churchill to form a temporary "caretaker government" to serve until after the elections, which promised fireworks between the aggressive Labor party and the long-dominant Conservatives.

At Churchill's request the king announced that the present parliament would be dissolved by royal proclamation on June 15, the next step toward calling a general election, probably on July 5.

Servicemen to Vote

The result will remain locked in the ballot boxes for 20 days, until the servicemen's vote has been tallied.

At the hour Churchill was breaking up the wartime cabinet he formed in Britain's darkest days in 1940, his Conservative party was undergoing a sparring attack at Blackpool by two Laborite cabinet ministers, Ernest Bevin, minister of labor and Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister.

Addressing a convention of the Labor party, Bevin—a possible successor to Churchill as premier—blamed the Conservative party for the suspicion which he said was growing in British-Russian relations and bound the Labor party, if elected, to correct the situation.

Laborites Hold Meeting

Bevin said he always had believed that the tragedy after the last great war was the failure to invite Russia to Versailles.

Attlee, joining Bevin in outlining the Labor party's policy, declared the problems of peace could be solved only by "building up international organization." The convention overwhelmingly adopted a resolution charging that:

"British government policy, now and for the future of certain liberated countries in Europe, particularly Belgium, Greece, Italy and Poland, was more concerned with the preservation of vested interests than for the welfare, liberty and equality of social security of these peoples."

Suggestion Refused

The Labor party has given its cabinet ministers a clear-cut mandate against participating in Churchill's "caretaker government" or taking any part in the administration until after the election.

Churchill, whose suggestion that the coalition government function until the Japanese were ended was rejected by the Laborites, turned in his resignation initially at noon.

Four hours later he returned to Buckingham palace through a violent electric storm to accept the task of forming a stop-gap government.

Spartans Win Home Match From Wayne

Tartars Absorb 10 to 6 Defeat From Couey On College Field

Playing for the first time on the college field, the Spartan baseball team whipped the Tartars from Wayne university, yesterday by the score of 10 to 6. Darrell Couey, Detroit junior, went eight innings, and was taken out in the Wayne half of the ninth in-

The game started out in a big way for State as the Spartans pushed two runs over the plate in the first inning. Vanar Kostegian, the new third baseman, singled to center, and then stole second. He was followed by Martin Hansen, who walked. Both runners advanced on a passed ball, and scored when Breslin singled to right.

Breslin Errors
In Wayne's half of the second inning, the first two men went down easily, but the third man to bat got on base on error by Breslin, and pitcher Couey walked the next three men, forcing in one run. The next Wayne run came in the fourth inning when two consecutive doubles put another man across the plate.

The fifth and sixth innings for the Green and White saw five more runs chalked up. In the fifth, Rudy Castellani scored on a single by Hansen to center. Ben Hudenko singled in the sixth for the start of a four run rally. Going to second on a bad throw to first base, Hudenko scored on Mineweaser's double to left. Lee Grant singled to center and Mineweaser went on home. Don Schuler knocked out a one-bagger, but Couey's bunt forced Grant at third. While tossing the ball around the diamond, both Schuler and Couey advanced one more base.

As the Wayne pitcher started his windup, Schuler stole home, and in the confusion that followed Couey also slid home safely. Wayne again loaded the bases, but Hudenko grounded out second to first.

Spartans Get More Runs
Three more runs were scored in the eighth inning for the Spartans. Both Castellani and Kostegian walked, and Castellani

Green Splash Will Present 'Alice in Waterland' at Percy Jones, June 4

Green Splash, women's swimming honorary, will present its swimming pageant entitled "Alice in Waterland" at Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek on Monday, June 4, at 9 p.m.

Having already given the production twice at State with great success, the women have undertaken to enact it before 300 servicemen, despite the difference in swimming pools at Percy Jones and State.

The acts will have to be somewhat revised since the Battle Creek pool is 30 feet longer than State's and has the shallow section in the middle instead of at one end.

The Red Cross has volunteered to take the entire swimming cast to Percy Jones in the afternoon to enable them to practice in the pool. All stage properties and equipment will be carried by army trucks.

Sharing the lead during the performance will be sophomores Ann Shontz, Columbiana, Ohio, and Jean Procter, Detroit. Miss Shontz will be the first scene "Alice" and Miss Procter will swim as "Alice" during the second scene.

Dinner Will Honor Frank Mitchell

Frank Mitchell, chief electrician at the college for the last 46 years, will be honored at a testimonial dinner tonight in the Union ballroom, according to Edward E. Kinney, superintendent of buildings and utilities and program chairman for the event.

Keenly interested in all campus activities, Mitchell has taken active participation in athletic events by either sitting on the bench with the team or running the score board. At the age of 67, Mitchell is the oldest employe of the college in point of service and will retire on July 1.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Guy H. Hill, assistant professor of education, and Dr. John A. Hannah will speak briefly.

James G. Hays, extension assistant professor in dairy, will be the principal speaker, and the guest of honor will give the response. Music will be furnished by the Songmasters' Barbershop quartet of Lansing.

Superforts Blast Tokyo Industries, Railroads

Marianas Based Planes Rock Important Target With Deadly Incendiaries As Fire Campaign Progresses

GUAM, May 24 (AP)—Striking before dawn, more than 550 Superfortresses today dropped 4,500 tons of bombs on important Tokyo industrial targets, the greatest load of destruction hurled on the Japanese capital to date.

The target area included the highly important Shinagawa sector. The railroad marshalling yards there, through which a third of Japan's rail traffic passes, was a key objective.

A spokesman for Maj Gen. Curtis Le May, commander of the 21st bomber command, pointed out the Shinagawa area provided "one of the happiest combinations of inflammability and congestion" that could be found for the Superfortresses.

Aim at Industrial Area

Taking off from bases in the Marianas, the B-29s carried thousands of pounds of deadly fire bombs to be hurled on flimsy Japanese residences. It was estimated probably 750,000 Japanese lived in the Shinagawa area.

This area has more small producers of light machine, aircraft precision instruments and technical aircraft component parts than any other Japanese district with the exception of Nagoya which, too, has been heavily hit by the Superforts. Nagoya is Japan's principal aircraft center.

Tokyo Suffers

Wave after wave of the big war birds struck at a target area which extended from the Tama river on the south of Tokyo to a boundary only three miles south of the imperial palace.

Tokyo has been a lucrative target for the B-29s since they began their incendiary campaign against Japanese key industries. Prior to today's assault 32.8 square miles of the Nipponese capital were burned out in previous fire bomb raids.

In addition, 8.37 square miles in greater Tokyo and adjoining Kawasaki, south of the Tama, have been destroyed.

scored on a single by Hansen. Breslin followed by poking out a one-bagger to the right fielder, scoring Kostegian. While the Wayne team was throwing catcher Hudenko out a first, Hansen crossed home plate for the third run.

Wayne staged a big four-run streak in their half of the ninth. Couey walked the first man, followed by a single to left and the first man scored on another single to left. At this point Coach John Kobs took out Couey and placed Bill Page on the Spartan mound. Three more runs were scored before the end of the game.

Today the Spartans journey to Detroit to play the University of Detroit. There will be another game between Detroit and State tomorrow.

Council Sets Goal Of 800 in Drive For Big Sisters

Big sister recruiting campaign which has as its goal approximately 800 women students, will continue its second day today.

Sign-up sheets have been placed in every sorority house to facilitate the signing-up of sorority women. Women students may also sign up with big sister council members in dormitories and co-operative houses.

A sign-up desk has also been set up in the lower deck of the Union where council members will register women from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. throughout today and Friday.

According to Betty Satterlee, Evanston, Ill., sophomore, at least 800 women students will be needed to serve in the capacity of big sisters because of the expected increase of 150 percent over the record women's enrollment to date. The goal for big sisters has accordingly been set high, and upperclass women are urged to support the program.

U.S. Infantrymen Turn Japs on East Coast Ridges of Okinawa

GUAM, May 24 (AP) — Seventh division infantrymen in adverse weather turned the Japanese left flank on Okinawa for another 1,000 yards Wednesday along east coast ridges from which artillery can pound enemy supply lines in behind the "little Siegfried line," a fleet communique reported today.

The seventh, which on Tuesday swung through captured Yonabaru for 1,000 yards, plunged on southward yesterday to seize a hill south of Taira.

The Yanks already have cut the east-west road from Naha on Okinawa's west coast to ruined Yonabaru and presently are seizing heights from which guns can blast vital supply roads to fortress Shuri in the center of the line.
