Russia Declares War on Japan

Truman Releases News Of USSR’s Declaration

Announcement Not Unexpected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Pres. Harry S. Truman announced today that Russia has declared war on Japan.

Atomic Bomb Explained

When a bomb of T. N. T. or other high explosive goes off, all that takes place is a violent chemical reaction. The fuser the reaction takes place, the more diverse the bomb can do. A chemical reaction, however, is merely a reaction of atoms.

Before it explodes, the charge in an ordinary bomb consists of certain molecules, for example, molecules of T. N. T. These molecules are made up of atoms of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen.

In the fraction of a second in which the bomb is going off, these molecules rearrange themselves into a new set of molecules, including simple ions like H2O and CO2, and during the process a remarkable amount of energy is released which heats up the gas.

Truman declares war on Japan. Mr. Truman made the momentous announcement to a hurriedly summoned news conference.

He said he had only the simplest statement to make, but it was important and he could not delay.

Then, with a broad grin, he declared “Russia has just declared war on Japan, that is all.”

The disservice that the Soviet Union at last had pitted its enormous might alongside Britain and America against the hitherto Pacific enemy had not been unexpected.

LETTERS . . . To The Editor

The Editor

In the editorial in the June 6, 1943, issue of the News, Mr. M. H. Shadna, who has been the executive editor of the The Michigan State, the periodical that has been the country's leading organ of information, has warned us of the dangers of the war. He has called for a greater effort by all Americans to defeat the Axis powers. He has said that this is a war of life and death, and that we must all do our part to win it.

I agree with Mr. Shadna. The war is not just a battle for territories, but it is a battle for the future of mankind. We must all work together to defeat the Axis powers, and to save the world.

The editor of the News has also said that the war is a war of ideas, and that we must all be prepared to fight for our ideas. He has said that we must all be ready to fight for democracy, and for freedom for all people.

I agree with the editor of the News. The war is not just a battle for territories, but it is a battle for ideas. We must all be prepared to fight for our ideas, and for the future of mankind.

Sincerely,
