35th Spartan-Wolverine Battle Rages Today

Spartan Spirit Unbeatable

Today's the day, and State has been waiting a long time for the first post-war gridiron struggle with the Wolverines, and that clash, no matter what the outcome will probably go down in football annals as the battle of the Michigan bulge.

And not only will the "big 11's" of each team be straining at the bit, but a whole stadium packed full of 50,000 cheering fans will be watching the progress of a good clean American game. The war veterans on the field and in the stands will deeply understand the difference of a friendly competitive battle and a bloody one.

At MSC, enthusiasm is high. Maybe because it's the return of the Michigan-Michigan State rivalry, or maybe because Spartans are tired of being the underdog team and they feel confident that something will be done about it. True, State hasn't returned victorious from many of these battles, but it is hard to be defeated in spirit and this time with the whole student body standing behind those 11 Spartans it's going to take a super human effort to take the ball game out of reach of State.

Breslin Heads States Heavy Defense

By DICK FRAZIER

When Coach Charlie Bachman leads his Michigan State college Spartans into Michigan stadium this afternoon to pry the lid off their 1945 campaign, five members of the team will be starting their first college game.

At the beginning of fall practice four weeks ago, Bachman was relieved to know he could fill every position except the tackles with veterans from last year's team, but since then several freshmen have shoved these lettermen off their first team berths.

Ludwig, who owns a passing arm which any opposing team would respect, replaced the veteran Bill Maskill in an effort to inject aerial power into the offense against the Wolverines.

In 37 previous meetings with Michigan, State has come out on the long end of the score only six times. The string includes three tie games. Some consolation, however, can be gained from the fact that the Spartans have won four of the last nine games and could even the record of the last ten years by winning today.

The worst beating ever handed Michigan by State was the 25-6 lacing in 1935. The 1902 MSC "Aggies" absorbed a 119-0 defeat from the Wolverines.

State won four games in a row from 1933-37 until H. C. "Fritz" Crisler was employed as Wolverine coach. In five games since then, the Spartans have scored only five times in losing all five tilts.

If the pep and school spirit at the game this afternoon resembles that of the pep rally on the State campus last night, then the Spartans should be successful in initiating their 1945 season.

Bachman Gives Pep Talk At Rally

Coach Charlie Bachman expressed confidence last night at the Michigan State college even will be in there with all

All students planning to attend the game this afternoon should be sure to take activity books with them. No student will be admitted without an activity book. MSC students will be admitted at gate number ten only.

They have got at Yost Field in Ann Arbor today.

Beef for

East Lansing weather, even at its worst, was no stopper for the pep rally last night, as the big crowd overran the lobby of the Union to give the team a loud send off. Biggest laughter came when Master of ceremonies introduced player Bill Vezmar, Detroit, and the 170-pounder said "there'll be a lot of beef on the field tomorrow so let it fall where it may."

Falstaff

Donors are still leaking out concerning freshmen and registration. First prize goes to Jean Livingston. Grand Rapids student, who confided to her roommate, Janet Hill, Flint, sent that "Boy, is this prof ever going to get tired of me." To which the inevitable question came: "Why?" "Because I've got to be for two hours in a row and two different classes." The prof questioned further, "What is his name?" "Come the innocent boy, His name is Staff."

compared the events of fall, 1934, to the present. The Detroit Tigers were on their way to a pennant, the weather was rainy, and the Spartan football team came through with a victory over Michigan. It is his hope that the same sequence will be repeated this year.

Members of the State squad including Jack Breslin, Brady Sullivan, Bill Siler, Walter Vezmar, Danny Goldsmith, Fred Aronson, and Bob Ludwig also spoke to the crowd of more than six hundred students that overflowed the Union. Red Schneider, Lansing junior, acted as master of ceremonies.

Pacific Troops To Come Back At Faster Clip

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (AP) — The allied command embarked today on a two-fold program to get 1,490,000 Pacific veterans home within seven months and to shield prostrate Japan from famine and disease.

General MacArthur granted the Japanese permission to use raw materials for critically-needed civilian goods, including trucks for transportation, but banned such luxuries as silk and passenger automobiles.

Replacements Being Sent — A new schedule of landings was announced which will place 265,000 American troops on Japanese soil by October's end.

An announcement by MacArthur's headquarters said the war department had advised that shipping would be available to return troops to America at a rate beginning with 120,000 in October and rising to 280,000 in April.

Some Coming Now — The 43rd division, relieved of occupation duties, already was loading at Yokohama for the homeward voyage.

Weekly Letter to Men in the Service

Sept. 29, 1945

DEAREST Johnny,
Well, Big Boy, we're back grinding away at education again and this week has been a mixture of registration, rain, standing in line to buy books, rain, classes, rain and as I peer out of the window I see we still have the rain with us. If I get one more letter from you raving about sunny France, I'm going to unconditionally surrender my degree and take to raising chickens in Florida.

Enrollment figures have matured to the ripe number of 4900 students with 200 more expected. Of that juicy total, 1,583 are men so you can relax because I'm as safe as being on a desert island with Bugs Bunny. It's a wonderful thing though to see all those shiny discharge buttons but the day you come marching home with your's I'll know the war is really over. Don't mean to sound eager, ya know.

Things are starting off with little or no red tape. Biggest thing everyone is interested in right now is the Michigan-Michigan State game today. Last night they had a pep rally and snake dance and this being the morning after my muscles are screaming from being pulled in three directions at the same time. So much enthusiasm was shown that we ought to be able to pull a second atomic bomb and wipe the University of Michigan team out with our rays of faith.

And that ain't kidding because we've had our football fight under a bushel for the last two years and this game means a lot to us old fogies. Well I remember the year you knocked yourself out on the gridiron. And talking about football, remember Johnny Pingel? You must, because you used to allah him everytime he walked past. Well, he's back as assistant football coach and that's another reason why we'll win.

Speaking about friends of yours, Lt. Bill Barclay dropped down here the other day to look the situation over. He used to be a night editor of this rag (just to remind you in case you've forgotten that there were once men on the State News) and he said while he was in Gay Paree he saw you and "Fifi" parked out in front of a sidewalk cafe. He hastened to assure me that Fifi was your jeep. In any case, you'd better leave Fifi in Paris as the board of Agriculture has restricted cars on campus, and if Fifi is what I think "it" is, you'd still better leave it there because I've restricted competition!

Love,
DEE

TO the Editor:

Many students strongly feel the loss of Prof. James Caswell and we think it would be fitting to have one of the new buildings on our campus named in his memory. Thus it would serve as a constant reminder of the kindness and help that he graciously gave to all those who either came in contact with or had heard about him.

Certainly no one could have a more fitting memorial for his twenty years of guidance of college students than this which we propose.

O'Neill Plays It Cagey As Win Looms Closer

DETROIT, Sept. 28 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill, chief strategist of the Detroit Tigers who stand just one big hop away from the American league pennant, doesn't intend to be caught without his pitchers if the Tigers are forced into a post-season playoff with Washington for the title.

Having a complete weekend rest, Detroit can sew up the pennant by beating the Browns in either game of a Saturday-Sunday weekend series at St. Louis.

But O'Neill wants to have his best available flinger on tap to serve 'em against the senators in a Monday playoff game here if the Tigers can't put over the pitcher sooner.

Steve's original plans were to send out Vergil (Fire) Trucks, left-hander released this week from the navy, to oppose the Browns Saturday and use Hal Newhouser, ace left-hander with 24 victories, in the final game of the regular season Sunday.

Realizing that such a pitching order would not leave Detroit in position to send its best hurler against the Senators in a possible playoff, the calculating Tiger manager reversed his field today and declared that Newhouser would take his regular turn on the mound Sunday.

"We'll have him ready for rest as a stopper in case we get ahead in either game against the Browns. Otherwise, if St. Louis could beat us twice we'll have 'em fresh for the big one against Washington," O'Neill explained. The Tigers went through their final practice paces before leaving their St. Louis train.

Trucks, who won 30 games in his last two seasons as a Tiger while joining the navy in February of 1944, still was O'Neill's choice to oppose the Browns Saturday.

Cannibalism Crimes Told at War Trial

LUENEBURG, Germany, Sept. 28 (AP) — Hunger-crazed men at the Belsen concentration camp ripped vital organs from human bodies for food, a German doctor testified at the Belsen war crimes trial today.

Dr. Fritz Leo of Dresden, who as a prisoner in Belsen treated the inmates, said the cannibalism started in a compound where 1,600 men had been jammed in a single block.

"I have seen bodies with livers removed for food," said the bespectacled doctor. "I have seen many bodies with the ears cut off, parts of cheeks, shoulders, arms, back and even parts of sexual organs cut off for food—either eaten raw or cooked later."

"But the SS did not hesitate to throw in thousands and thousands of more prisoners," he added.

Sparks of life on the hockey field indicate potential competition in the tournament to come. Class teams will be chosen after practices held every Tuesday and Thursday, Mondays and Wednesdays at 4 p.m. Soccer practices are to be staged.

Persons with fencing interests are requested to note practice hours posted in the Women's gym.

Next Thursday at 7 p.m. the winner and runner-up in last year's volley ball tournament will meet for an exhibition match with Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma the two teams in competition.

SINGAPORE, Sept. 27 (Delayed) (AP) — Maj. Gen. L. D. Gracey, British commander of allied forces in southern Indochina, reported today that the riotous native uprisings in Saigon had subsided somewhat but the senior French officer there accused the Japanese of supplying arms to the natives and with participating in the disorders in disguise.

Gracey flew here today for conferences on the explosive situation.

Patton Still To Keep Job In Bavaria

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Sept. 28 (AP) — Summoned by his chief, Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., reported personally on the de-Nazification program in Bavaria today in a conference with Gen. Eisenhower lasting two hours and 20 minutes.

Jovial and smiling, Patton emerged from headquarters with Eisenhower and posed for pictures. Eisenhower said he had no statement to make, and remarked there was "nothing unusual" in his conferring with one of his army commanders.

Informed officers declared that reports (not carried by the Associated Press) that Patton might be relieved by Eisenhower were unfounded "gossip mongering."

Patton, in charge of the military administration of Bavaria, was called to report in person after telling a press conference Saturday that he believed it might be necessary to keep some former Nazi party members in responsible positions for a while to "insure ourselves that women, children, and old men will not perish from hunger or cold this winter."

Freshmen Women Get Expert Help From Orientation

To acquaint students with campus traditions, honoraries, and activities, and to give them a general view of MSC, are the main purposes of freshman orientation.

Starting off this year's crop of 1189 freshman women with two separate group meetings in Fairchild theater, held last Tuesday and Thursday, co-chairmen Betty Middleton, Birmingham junior, and Virginia Fellows, Birmingham senior, introduced a skit on dormitory life, directed by Pat Beechler, Charlotte senior.

Small group meetings of twenty-five freshmen will start Tuesday. Each group will be led by an upperclassman and will be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday alternating with large group meetings which will be held in Fairchild theater every other week.

A list of freshman women has been posted in the Women's gym giving them their seat number in Fairchild and the classroom assigned for the small group meetings.

Physical education cuts will be given for absences at any of the orientation meetings, according to Meg Stanton, Birmingham senior, chairman of attendance.

On September 20th, 1945, the State Board of agriculture passed legislation whereby 21 students enrolled at MSC could not and would not be entitled to drive a car on campus of East Lansing, except under special jurisdiction, which is so limited it is pathetic.

Driving an automobile is an American institution, as every form of society. He fought to return to such a life and has won. He shall also be victorious to regain the prerogative he has lost here at MSC.

This piece of legislation was passed without any explanation whatsoever. Are we, a free people, to be treated in such a manner?

As commander of the American Legion Red Cedar post at MSC, I request a full explanation as to why this law is enforced. Then it should be brought to a student vote.
