Watch That Thumb: It May Be To Serious Trouble

Hitch-hiking, which is so brusque a process by many Michigan State college students, must have many causes, according to Dr. William J. Brink, head of the Department of Health, the University of Michigan. In an interview with the subject, Brink said that hitch-hiking was being done with great fervor. The hitchhiker must be aware of the law. If he is found guilty of any crime, he may be arrested and fined.

To the Editor:

As an individual, I am curious to know what has come to pass on the Michigan State campus. I, for one, have heard no reasons. Specific information has anyone else I have questioned save that the administration is keeping me enlightened. I wish to add that this is not news to the present students. The complete recovery. Plays have been performed to please a large part of the Michigan State college's enrollment. As we can see it, the students find their way to see this entertaining and enlightening piece.

That Does it!

By Mardie Hoxrel

A, chin... Chardon, boy, I shite! A hunter, and I, too! The rain, and the laughter, and the hail... Ah, and after all the hard work, we find ourselves on the road again. But the rain doesn't help. Our pursuers are hot on our heels, and we've had a bad run driving cars on campus, and the weather without any previous experience. Our car is finally rubbing the wrong way.

In 1959 the same problem and decision was at stake. Ignattia, too, strongly against the drive. Parking on campus was restricted, but the cars themselves were not.

With gasoline rationing and the high price of gasoline in World War II again the situation arises with a need for the duration placed on driving on campus. Cars were restricted and a self-imposed ban was kept by students to meet the shortage of public transportation. The number of students was reduced, but the cars themselves were not.

Public opinion has been running high, but the girl of the complaint seems to be in the query of why don't they say what they did.

All big and joyful motorcars, the ball, concentration in the Detroit Tigers' chances of leading to the Chicago Cubs for the world baseball championship, or the series starting tomorrow, and ignored strikes and the stress of strikes.

A capacity crowd of 35,000 for the stadium was expected, and that only Detroit itself could fill the motor cars was loaded to the point where it couldn't take much more. Detroit was just beginning to catch its breath from its tremendous and intense job when the series came along, and today a man couldn't buy or borrow a place to sleep because of the cutouts.

All bets were filled to the last room, and harried managers were dashing out of sight of the people. Two Great Lakes passenger steamers, pressed into service, were engaged at the foot of downtown Woodward avenue in the Detroit river taking on some of the overflow.

To relieve the situation further, the oil workers strike had turned into a transportation strike. Buses and streetcars were crowded as loads began coming from thousands of private cars with every possible tank was out of service.

Patton Removed From Third Army
To Direct Fifteenth 'Paper Army'

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, GERMANY, Oct. 2 (AP) — General Eisenhower announced today that he had ousted Commanding General Patton, Jr., in charge of a "paper army," as he had ordered.

The order, effective Oct. 7, followed complaints that the gold-packing, helmeted Patton had kept Bavarian Nazis in line, and was a blow to public just four days after the 58-year-old armored commander was called on to give a personal report to Eisenhower on his declassification actions.

Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, who commanded the Fifth Army in Italy and later headed the service army, will succeed Patton as commander of the Third army and administrator of the eastern military district.

In Censored General

During his drive across France and until the lifting of censorship after V-E day none of Patton's utterances were allowed to be published.

Patton's transfer followed his latest bout Sept. 22, when, rejoining to charges he was keeping Nazi officers, he defended his action as necessary to avoid anarchy.

He told a news conference that it might be necessary to keep some Nazis in office "to insure ourselves that sources, children and old men will not perish from hunger or cold this winter."

Patton removed from the Third Army to direct the Fifteenth 'Paper Army,' according to General Eisenhower. This was announced on October 2, 1945. Patton had been in charge of the Third Army, which was a 'paper army' as it did not have any real troops. He had kept Bavarian Nazis in line and was being reprimanded for this action. Patton's replacement was General Lucian K. Truscott. The order was effective on October 7, four days after Patton was first reprimanded.
