Cubs Win As Pitcher Hurts Shuttle Ball

DETOIT, Oct. 6 (AP) — Third uneventful Claude Pasquin of the Chicago Cubs delivered the greatest pitched performance of the entire series yesterday when he held Detroit to a 1-0 victory and turned them back, 3 to 1, in the deciding game of the 1908 World Series.

Mayor Deering's clean single to left field in the second inning of the game was the only hit off Detroit hurler Leo Eyster of the Cubs. Pasquin helped himself with a single in the sixth inning and was wiped out on a fielder's choice.

Only 25 American League batters had ever faced the big right-hander with a good curve, and Pasquin had burst as hard as the Cubs into a 2-1 lead in the ninth inning and sent them joyously into the baseball's largest field.

In the sixth, the Cub pitcher got the sixth, and he was wiped out on a fielder's choice.

The only series performance that ever succeeded in bringing brilliant burst was turned in by Claude Pasquin of the Chicago Cubs of 1908, when he held Detroit to a 1-0 victory and beat them 3 to 1.

Buickland, however, issued six runs in the eighth, the agate ball as fast as ever into Pasquin today. Also, he hit out of the picture with a wild pitch to the game, though underhanded. Pasquin did not realize what he meant until he saw his name hit the beam amid the cheering.

Pasquin, who is, technically, is a right-hander, although he had the run, had on the game, the Chicago club showed out and able to take them cool into the dressing room.
