Truman Suggests Plan For Military Training

President Warns Atomic Weapons Need Manpower To Insure Peace

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Truman recommended military training for all young Americans today to show any future war maker that the United States intends to remain tough and strong.

"Peace must be built on power," the President told a joint session of House and Senate in a half-hour speech urging adoption of a universal training law.

Here is what Mr. Truman proposed:
1—A year's military training for all young men when they reach 18 or when they graduate from high school, whichever comes later. In any event a youth would have to enter training before his 20th birthday. If a boy missed high school in his 17th year, he could enter training, with his parents' consent.

2—A continued "small professional armed force."

3—A greatly strengthened national guard and organized army, navy and marine corps reserves.

4—Establishment of a "general reserve" of all men who have passed through the universal training system.

One Horse Show

Booths and Songs Entertain Women At Co-ed Carnival

Glowing with bright lights and decorated with crepe paper, Demonstration hall last night played host to the Co-ed Carnival and the women of MSC.

Playing a one night stand, the carnival was well attended by freshmen and upperclassmen alike. This affair, under the sponsorship of the AWS activities board was originated in an effort to get the women acquainted with activities on campus and at the same time provide amusement and entertainment.

To entertain the funseekers booths were opened in which all types of activities took place. In a typical carnival theme was the fortune teller, who told prospective BWOCs just how to get into honoraries, and the freak show with its bearded woman.

Breslin Starred

One of the more spectacular and popular features of the evening was the sideshow which starred Jack Breslin, Battle Creek senior. Breslin's part in the show was to give away candy kisses to all women that could ring a coke bottle.

Another hit of the evening was the make-up demonstration under the auspices of the speech department with Prof. C. H. Nickle adding the last touches.

Saxophone Solos

The main show of the evening featured Milton Haitema, East Lansing sophomore, as master of ceremonies. See CARNIVAL, Page 2

Truman Names Royall To Help Patterson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Kenneth Claiborne Royall, 250-pound, 6-foot-5 former North Carolina lawyer and state senator, was nominated today for undersecretary of war.

President Truman chose him for the number two spot in the department made vacant by promotion of Robert P. Patterson to secretary.

Royall has been a special assistant to Patterson since April. He is 51, a native of Goldsboro, N. C., and took degrees at the University of North Carolina and Harvard.

Servicemen Enrolled Reaches 650 Mark

The Servicemen's institute, which was organized in the spring of 1944, now has a total enrollment of 650 members, according to Prof. Tom King, director of the institute. This term 350 new members enrolled; of this number four are former WAVES* and one is a former WAC.

The primary function of the Servicemen's institute is to offer refresher courses to three classifications of veterans. In the first class is the veteran who has had only an elementary education and needs a high school foundation before attempting college work.

Korjus. Moscona to Sing Tonight

Mozart's, Verdi's Duets Featured By Opera Stars

Opera stars Miliza Korjus and Nicola Moscona will present a joint concert tonight at 8:15 in College auditorium, Dean S. E. Crowe has announced.

Among the numbers to be sung by Miss Korjus are Mozart's "Arlucina" and aria from "Norma" by Bellini. Strauss' "One Day When We Were Young" and "Vienna Woods" from the "Great Waltz" will be included among her songs.

Nicola Moscona will sing Handel's "Silent Worship" and "Thanks be to Thee," and serenade from "Faust" by Gounod.

Duets from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart and from "Rigoletto" by Verdi will combine Moscona's bass voice and Miss Korjus' soprano. Pianist Glauco D'Attili will play a solo number, Sonata Op. 36, No. 3 by Clementi. "Great Waltz"

Miss Korjus, a native of Warsaw, first became known to the general American public when she starred in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's the "Great Waltz." Previously she toured Germany, Switzerland, Finland and Austria.

In the western Hemisphere she has given concerts in Mexico, South America and the United States.

Miss Korjus' beauty and ability may be reflected by excerpts from New York World-Telegram which stated "the first fact to stare you in the face was her beauty . . . the second fact, just as plain . . . was the beauty of the voice."

Debut in Athens

Greek-born Moscona made his debut at the National Opera house of Athens in 1931. He was given a scholarship by his government to further his studies in Milan. While here he was invited to appear with the Metropolitan company as Ramfis in "Aida."

Since then Moscona has sung many times under the baton of Bruno Walter at Carnegie hall and has been soloist for Arturo Toscanini 12 times.

Flute obligatos for Miss Korjus will be played by Henry Bove.

Reading Hour Will Be Held By Compere Next Week

Contrary to the story which stated that the lecture-recital by Mrs. Moiree Compere of the speech department would be given tonight, it will be presented next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Music auditorium, according to Prof. Paul D. Bagwell of the speech department.

International Tongues Fly Freely Among Students Who Know How

By CAROL SMITH

A babble of many tongues—and all of them strange—is the first thing to be heard when the door of International house is opened. A rapid flow of Spanish leads to Alex Voliente, senior from Salvador, who is majoring in veterinary medicine. When Vali* ente first arrived in the States, his English vocabulary was very limited. In trying to order a breakfast, he chose No. 5 on the menu and was very surprised when the waitress served him a huge steak.

Frank Briggs, sophomore from Brazil, didn't have the troubles Valiente did because he knew English before he came to the States and can speak it without a trace of an accent. The freedom of American women amazes him, and he believes Brazilian women should imitate this freedom.

From China

From South China, comes Yuan-por Huang, a freshman in the veterinary school. Huang likes State and thinks the people are very friendly. His one wish is that his professor's would speak more slowly and lessen the ordeal of note-taking.

Pao Tse Yang, graduate student from Shanghai who is studying chemistry, agrees with Huang that American people are friendly and very understanding with foreigners. He still is not See INTERNATIONAL, Page 4

Week's Furlough Granted ASTRs

The members of companies A and F of the ASTRP units on campus will leave on Saturday for a week's furlough at home, according to Col. G. B. Egger, commanding officer.

The men of company F will not return to State at the completion of their furloughs but will report for active duty. About 225 men in company A will return to resume their studies.

No new men will replace those who are leaving, and when the remaining members of company A become 18 years of age, it is expected that the ASTRP military training program will be terminated at Michigan State.

Lt. Francis Finn, supply officer who underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis two weeks ago, left last Saturday to begin a 21-day convalescent furlough.

Today's Campus

False Pretenses

After an afternoon's practice tossing rings over coke bottles, no hearing that Jack Breslin, star of the gridiron, would offer prizes to ringer-winners at the carnival last night, Sally Miller and Marjie Pullar, Detroit freshmen, left Dem hall exclaiming excitedly, "and all we got was candy kiss."

A Case of Hit and Run

Two other co-eds, freshmen Betty Fuller of Lansing and Gillis Smith of Bellaire, were a bit unhappy at the end of last evening. Having submitted to the weird "make up" given them by the speech department and having examined the same for most of the evening, they found their good relationship unimpaired. The speech department went home and left its subjects no way of knowing their reformities.

Vigilance Is Price of Freedom

Universal military training is President Truman's answer to how the United States can maintain its leadership in the world. The preservation of our national security and freedom demands that we be ever strong and able to crush any aggressor nation that may rise up in the future. This should not indicate that we have a lack of faith in the United Nations organization but rather that until machinery for keeping the peace is functioning adequately, the people of the United States are prepared for any eventuality.

It would be supreme folly to disband our armed forces, now the most powerful in the world, without making provision for the years to come. There will be no time to prepare for the next conflict, if and when it comes. Weapons like the atomic bomb leave no time to train and arm for war.

We must be prepared, on guard, and ready, day to day. "ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF FREEDOM!"

ceremonies, who introduced Marian Greene, Minden City junior, who played three saxophone solos. Miss Greene chose selections which were favorites of all. These included "I Surrender Dear," "Star Dust" and "Deep Purple." She was accompanied on the piano by Gwen Gorsline, Lansing senior.

Following on the program was Joan Peters, East Lansing freshman, who sang "Estrellita." "One Kiss" and as an encore, "It Might as Well Be Spring."

Radio Workshop
Experimental Radio workshop then presented a short comedy entitled "If Men Went Shopping as Women Do." Introduced by Joyce Chapman, Lawrence junior, the skit starred Pat Hudson, Plymouth junior; Jack Halladay, Grand Haven freshman; Don Dargo, Renova, Pa., freshman, and Hobart Belknap, East Lansing sophomore.

Rounding out the evening's program was Gordon Stocking, Cadillac senior, and his performing horse, Musawi. Stocking did several complicated rope tricks and put his well-trained horse through difficult paces. —H. G.

Faculty College Club Makes Social Plans

Social activities for the College club have now been mapped out through spring term, according to Dr. Cecil V. Millard, general social chairman.

Faculty members responsible for the parties includes: October, stag party, Ray Hutson; November, ice-breaker dance, H. M. Byran; December, Christmas party, R. A. Runnels; between quarters, club night, C. V. Millard; January, winter dance, C. H. Nickle.

In February, old school night will be organized by L. C. Price; March, box social, E. A. Gee and C. O. Prickett, co-chairmen; April, spring dance, C. E. Hinchey; May, picnic, C. C. Sigerfoos.

Workshop to Give Norman Sax Play On Radio Station

Radio workshop will present Norman Sax's noted fantasy, "John Whiffle Concentrates," today at 4 p.m. over station WKAR.

The theme of the story concerns a middle aged man who tires of his usual work and pleasures and decides to escape by concentration. He so succeeds that he changes into a bird.

Reactions of Congress To Training Bill Vary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Truman's recommendation of a year's military training for young men ranged from outright disapproval to wholehearted endorsement today.

Several legislators interviewed said they favored the principle of military training but thought it could be done in schools and colleges, without interrupting the young man's normal life.

That Does It

By MARION HECKEL

A lot of the fuss and stew of the past few weeks has been credited to the lack of knowledge concerning Michigan State traditions, not only of the ever faithful "no smoking" variety but also of the lesser known and more infrequently heard of variety.

These aren't all traditions in the strictest sense, but they are things that have been done at State for years, many starting way back when.

Just at a stray glance, there is the courteous and obvious custom of standing when the president of the college enters a meeting or a room full of people. It isn't much to ask, but it has been forgotten too frequently.

Another minor item is the accepted fact that no women should sit in the lower lounge of the Union, near the desk . . . don't ask me where that one came from, but I know from experience that it "jest ain't did." Naughty-naughty and a shake of the finger is also directed at the wearing of high school sorority and fraternity jewelry and letter sweaters in college, any college at that. They are probably mighty sharp to look at, but for rustier students of the Greek alphabet they're downright confusing.

Comes spring term, competition in colors sets in with the tapping and initiations of numerous campus honoraries. Most of the organizations require high honor in their field, and the lucky stiff who gets the nod from one goes around supporting a key and ribbons of various and sundry shades. Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary and the group behind those tricky keep off the grass and no smoking signs; Blue Key; Green Helmet; Varsity club as well as clubs from places like the speech, English, art, soc, bus ad, journalism and language departments, to mention only a few, are included in this list. Honestly, I haven't lost my train of thought, because recognition by these organizations is an integral part of every college tradition.

Now, skidding into the more strictly State stuff again, comes that old story about no women in the Smoke shop. They always have the latest issue of Mademoiselle and Glamour too, darn it, but the gals will just have to snag a convenient male to do the shopping inside of Charley's place.

Right along about here should be mentioned the Beaumont collection of traditions. That stray bench on the direct walk between Beaumont and the ad building is strictly verboten for ordinary strollers. Engaged couples only are the exceptions. Or, maybe this should have come first — a coed at MSC is the gal who has been kissed under the tower at midnight, at least that's what the keepers of the past tell us.

Gas rationing is gone and car rationing has come, so the old Spartan thumb exercise of hitchhiking is still with us. One of these days some worthy organization might get around to re-issuing the "Sparty cards" of the past, which thanked the driver and gave him a thumbnail sketch of the college on the winding Cedar.

This could go on forever, but the typesetter might get bored, so let's decide here and now that the most indestructible of State's traditions is whipping into the grill for a coke. That needs no explanation and I'll meet you there at two.

Navy Cuts Points; Marines Hint Reduction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) — A new cut in the marine corps' critical point score was reported imminent today.

Officials said shipping space home for men overseas continues to be the big bottleneck and probably will remain so until the first of the year.

The navy announced a further reduction in the critical point score for aviators on flying duty. Effective Nov. 1, the scores for naval reserve aviators in such duty in rank of ensign will cut from 36 to 20 and in high ranks from 44 to 39. The score for the latter group will be cut to 34 on December 1 and to 30 on Jan. 1.

Also effective Nov. 1, the navy announced the critical score required for release of navy nurses will be cut from 35 to 32. The point cut, plus previously announced release of all married nurses, will make some 2,700 nurses eligible for demobilization by Jan. 1.

Spartan Squad Prepares To Smash Marquette 'T'

Bachman Fears Loss of Contos to Army May Cause Spartans to Utilize Supply Of Reserves in Right Half on Grid Soon

Coach Charlie Bachman may have to reach into his supply of reserves soon to find a new right halfback to replace Steve Contos, if the Toledo draft board finds that this player is what the army is looking for.

Contos has been out from practice for the last two days, as he was reported for examination at his home draft board.

Meanwhile the rest of the Spartan eleven have been preparing for the coming smash with Marquette here Saturday. Offensive plays, both running and passing have been on the bill for the gridmen, as State has apparently found a suitable defense for the "T" formation.

All Used "T"
The first four of the opponents to face the Spartans have used the "T", and since the Michigan defeat the Spartans have been in the victory splurge. Both of State's next two opponents, Marquette and Missouri, run from the versatile "T".

Coach Bachman stated that, actually we would rather play against the "T" than any other formation because all our defensive experience has been against that system.

Dangerous Team
Spartan football scout, Coach Carl A. Schlademant, reported to Bachman that Marquette was a "dangerous" team. The Hilltoppers have scored on all of their opponents so far this season. They have scored a total of 180 points against their opponents' 111. Against Purdue, Marquette dropped a close one, 14 to 13. Last weekend, Purdue defeated Ohio State 35 to 13.

Marquette's coach Tom Stidman reported that several of his top linemen were out from daily practice as a result of the recent Great Lakes defeat. In all, four linemen and one backfield man were injured in the game. It is the first time this season that injuries have changed Marquette practice plans.

AVMA
A student mixer, with Dr. C. Cairry acting as master of ceremonies, will be given by upper classmen for the Jr. AVMA tonight at 7:30 in room 310 in the veterinary clinic. Pre-vets are invited to attend.

TRUMAN

tion now while the memory of Pearl Harbor is still fresh, while the ravages of war still can be seen. Moreover, he said, the country now has the facilities for the big program.

Mr. Truman said it wasn't his idea to show lack of faith in the United Nations organization to keep the peace. He asserted the United States would use all its moral and physical strength to back up that concept. But, he added, "we must face the fact that peace must be built upon power, as well as upon good will and good deeds."

All the atomic weapons in the world, Mr. Truman said, wouldn't do the United States any good without the manpower to get them somewhere. He declared that modern mechanized warfare, as General of the Army George C. Marshall said, requires more manpower than ever and it must be more highly trained than in the past.

"In any future war, the heart of the United States would be the enemy's first target. Our geographical security is now gone—gone with the advent of the robot bomb, the rocket, aircraft carriers and modern airborne armies."

Brooklyn Engages Negro Ball Player

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 (AP) — The first Negro player ever to be admitted to organized baseball was signed tonight by the Brooklyn Dodgers for their international league farm club, the Montreal Royals.

Jackie Robinson, one-time USLA halfback ace and recent shortstop of the Kansas City Negro Monarchs, put his signature on a contract calling not only for a regular player's salary, but also for a bonus for signing.

Robinson signed up in a history-making huddle with Hector Racine and Lt. Col. Romeo Gauvreau, Royal's president and vice president, and Branch Rickey, Jr.

"Mr. Racine and my father" said young Rickey in making the surprise announcement, "will undoubtedly be severely criticized in some sections of the United States where racial prejudice is rampant. They are not inviting trouble, but they won't avoid it if it comes. Jack Robinson is a fine type of young man, intelligent and college bred, and I think he can take it too."

Japs Start Dissolution of Monopoly

Industrial Executives Try to Break Power Of Zaibatsu Firm

TOKYO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Executives who directed Japanese war industries expect to hang onto their key jobs through the partial dissolution of Nippon's multimillion dollar family corporations.

This was clearly indicated today by Harunosuke Suzuki, managing director of Mitsubishi company, Ltd. As top administrative official for the giant holding company which dominates more than 70 corporations, Suzuki is pioneering the way for breaking up the monopolistic Zaibatsu's stranglehold on Japan's industrial life.

In sharp contrast with the attitude by Suzuki, executives of the influential newspaper Asahi agreed to take responsibility for what they did during the war.

May Be Reorganized

Directors of Mitsubishi have taken initial steps toward ending the holding company's control over industrial subsidiaries. But they haven't decided whether to completely dissolve the holding company or reorganize it with the 11 principal subsidiaries.

Whatever the decision, Suzuki indicated, present executives expect to remain in control. He said the corporations would probably follow Mitsubishi tradition for at least a generation.

The parent company and satellites have a total capitalization of 2,301,690,000 yen, or $153,446,000 at current exchange rates. Directors have not decided how to dispose of the holding corporation's 15,000,000 shares of stock, now held by 13,000 Japanese.

Baron Iwasaki

The president of the Mitsubishi holding company is 66-year-old Baron Koyota Iwasaki, one of Japan's richest men and son of the late Yaonsuke Iwasaki who in 1895 founded a mining company which grew into one of Japan's three largest industrial houses.

Action taken so far by Mitsubishi, Mitsui and other wealthy clans have been without specific directives from either the government or occupation authorities.

Administration Adds Short Courses; High Veteran Enrollment

Two new short courses have been introduced this term. They include a course in farm machine service and sales, and a course in landscape and nursery management. The farm machine course is a one-year course and the landscape and nursery course a two year course. Seventy per cent of the students enrolled in these courses are returned veterans.

An interesting and practical feature of these courses is that half of the time is spent in placement training. This gives the students valuable experience along the lines they are studying. The farm machine service and sales course is being directed by Prof. Murrel L. Bailey of the agricultural engineering department.

The landscape and nursery management course is being directed by F. L. O'Rourke of the horticulture department. O'Rourke, who is new at MSC, left a position as plant propagator with the U. S. Soil Conservation service at Washington, D. C.,

E. DeForest Appointed to English Staff; Reveals Interesting Past

MSC boasts the addition of a new instructor E. L. De Forest, whose duties are in the written and spoken English department of Basic college. De Forest is also doing work in the speech correction clinic, and has been with MSC since the start of fall term.

In the summer of 1939, after he had obtained his bachelor of science degree from the University of Boston, De Forest embarked by boat to England where he spent the summer studying at Cambridge.

Held as Spy

With his course at Cambridge completed he was visiting friends on the isle of D'Oleron, on the coast of Brittany, when Germany declared war on France. By means of a French fishing boat he made his way to the French mainland where he spent seven days traveling over a few hundred miles of land that was normally a few hours' journey. After reaching his destination, Dieppe, the situation was no brighter, for there he was suspected of being a spy because of a German camera he had in his possession.

Convincing the French authorities that he had bought the camera a few weeks earlier while traveling in Germany, he was released. The time that ensued while he was held for questioning nearly cost him his safe passage to England, for the boat he caught was the last one leaving France.

In England he secured a passage on an English freighter heading for the United States to pick up cargo. His passage consisted of a bunk in the hold of the ship and some very unappetizing food.

When De Forest returned to the United States he attended the University of Southern California, where he got his masters degree. After teaching a short while in a California school he accepted an appointment to MSC.

Honolulu Junior

A junior studying chemistry, Annie Tom hails from Honolulu. She had heard about the beauty of the Michigan State campus at the University of Hawaii and was not disappointed when she arrived here. Miss Tom is looking forward to winter, because she is anxious to have her first look at this strange substance called snow.

Sometime during an evening at International house some well-hit boogie-woogie notes will go bouncing through the air. Producer of these notes will be Ricardo F. Salazar, senior from Panama, who is an engineering major. State must be tops with "Dick" because he is reluctant to graduate and would like to stay here longer.
