Helicopter at State
In Joint Experiment
To Stop Crop Freeze

The helicopter that made an appearance on campus yesterday will cause excitement for two or three more days. It is here in connection with an experiment to prevent crops from freezing. The theory is to draw the air through the crop and lower the temperature. This experiment is being conducted jointly with the army air force and with the department of agriculture, forestry, rural, and entomology and the agriculture engineering department.

Carl Herron of Oklahoma City, Okla., and his crew, of the bell Nage, Cleveland, Ohio, piloted the helicopter from Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. Capt. Herron and Sgt. Nagy are stationed at Wright Field.

Both men have had extensive experiences with helicopters. Capt. Herron has been working with the army air force for two and one-half years, while Sgt. Nagy has been in the bel Nage for about six months as a ground crewman.

U.S. Economists See
High Profit Factory

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Government economists foresee higher factory profits in 1945 than in any war year, even if wage rates are increased to keep average hourly earnings at last year’s a little above level.

The figures, which indicate 36 per cent of manufacturing corporations at $2,000,000,000 after payment of taxes, were submitted today to the recovery board and its study of a national wage-price policy.

They were prepared by economists of the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor.

The recovery board, which is working toward a national wage-price policy, is to test the practice of a price-wage policy on a small scale.

The board has asked several industries to set up a program for controlling prices and wages. These industries were asked to submit a plan for price-wage control and to submit a statement of a national wage-price policy.
