Mr. Truman announced at a news conference that he had appointed Dr. John E. Steelman to his special assignment, to be used in any capacity he saw fit. Steelman, former head of the U.S. & consultants service, has been widely regarded as the most effective peacemaker in the labor-industry field.

The President also made public the anti-strike labor-management conference being set up under the aegis of U.S. Steelman, chairman. The conference will begin discussions today.

Grin and Bear It
By Jacky Hough

Reminds me of the time I woke up dreaming of sunny Michigan and the blue skies of California. It looks like the weatherman and his weather map have gotten it wrong on our end. As soon as we string the schedule, we should be able to make the move to the school and begin the winter our students have been waiting for. The weatherman and I are in the same boat, and he hasn't an almanac to refer to. It's time for us to begin. The weather is starting to be a little cold, and we should be able to do our part. Bathrooms are no longer a novelty in East Lansing's personal pavement.

Another criticism that recurs just about every nineteen years is especially close to my heart. It's not a tip, but I'm reading it in the letters:

"We can list this stuff from a previous emergency as a war material. Major—" I believe adequate countries for this weapon have been developed.

Sic Semper Tyriannus."

International justice was dealt out again this week to the Viedon Squad, after his plea for mercy to the highest tribunal of his country went unanswered. In a three-week trial the prosecution had accused the defendant of conspiring with Hitler and other German agents months before the invasion, urging them to invade England.

He was also held responsible for the deportations and the suppression of the Nazis of his country led to their deaths.

Quisling's defense was that he acted solely in the interests of Norway. Often during his trial he represented himself as "saviour of Scandinavia" and "martyr for Norway." But his treacherous conduct left no doubt of his guilt.

The name of Quisling is unique among the war criminals that it will be remembered, not because of his crimes, but by virtue of some strange philological phenomena, and incorporated Quisling in our vocabulary as a verb.

He rests in infamy.

This is a letter from the editor regarding the desirability of publishing letters. The letter is not desirability of publishing letters, which have been criticized.

The single exception, a valuable pleasure house for our needs, I must to the kindly offices of some gentleman, who managed it to get it for his brother-in-law, a married man without children, who was urgent in a very different way, indicated his intention to block off his own pleasure house for a barber, and offered me a place to use in his own home for the next few months.

I wish to extend a sincere invitation to all students, faculty and staff to enjoy the reasonably cool evenings in our pleasant quarters located among the courtyards north of the pavilion, four houses north of Lake Lansing. Those who will not find the lounge enjoyable, a quiet room just outside, a seat with a view of the building, a place to relax, and perhaps a companion with whom to converse.

In the meantime I hope my students will be generous in their somewhat erratic attendance. My classroom duties.

Marquette, State Get Equal Strength Rating
Bachman Gives Spartan 11 Stiff Workout on Blocking Practice; Calls Elbow Blocking Inferior

Despite the fact that the Spartans and Marquette are rated equal in strength, Coach Charles Bachman is taking no chances in his game, and is giving the Spartans a stiff workout in all the branches of the football.

These boys of ours must start against Michigan, and their shoulders, and not their eggs. Bachman states. All boys besides being inactive, is illegal, and cost us over $400 in penalties last weekend against Wayne. We are taking a much stronger team this week and we can't afford to lose ground on penalties.

Lacing Returns
Although the team was boosted to its original strength with the return of Dick Ludwig, fresh, passing and running star, and Don Engstrom, the other backfield, and Dick Massiah, the punter on the Spartan practice drills have been lacking in accuracy and endurance, and Bachman was very nearly at the point of saying that the team wasn't ready.

There was a reason behind all of this lack of practice work. Last year at the same time, the weather was warm and sunny in a similar position and the players were still in the same form; enthusiasm was at its peak.

Line-up Changes Predicted
With the appearance of Lad-ing and the return of the backs, there may be some changes in the backfield. Coach Massiah will stick to his plan of getting the team in action for the Wayne game, but he will make some moves in the line. Duard in the same way, as has been the case between end and center, and has been the case between guard and center in the past Saturday.

Bachman has been out in the past three State games with a stiff schedule. He has been thinking about going back on the field, he isn't sure if the backfield will be divided or if it will stay the same. But he will continue to do his best, and he is sure that the team will be ready for the game.

Score Board
When State faces Marquette this Saturday, it will be the eleventh meeting of the two teams. The State-Marquette series was inaugurated in 1933 and was continued through the 1939 season, except for 1937, when State was held to a tie by Penn State.

In the last two games the State won five and has also been defeated once. The last time the teams met was in 1932, when Michigan scored 14 to Marquette, 10 to 0.

Previous scores are:
Marquette State
1933 0 6
1934 0 0
1935 0 11
1936 0 0
1937 0 12
1938 0 0
1939 17 14
1940 7 6
1941 14 0
1942 27 7

Last year when State routed Marquette in the second game, it was late in the year, thus making it impossible to place Marquette on our schedule. However, this year Marquette is again on the slate.

And all pre-game dope figures that Michigan's offense has been one of the finest in the country, and that the long and colorful season between the two schools.

Secretary of State Reveals Negotiation Over Jap Control
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. today predicted that the United States will be the leader in the negotiations with Russia over the question of setting up an army control council to run Japan.

A department statement issued with the secretary's authority and in clarification of an announcement which Byrnes made at a press conference yesterday spoke of "recent diplomatic exchanges" on this subject.

The department said that these exchanges "indicate" that Russia is not now insisting on a military rule on making decisions for the future council which would Byrnes is known to oppose vigorously.

Some authorities say in this regard that the State Department has been "cooperative" over the control of Russia's contribution to the control over the military, which would cause a greater degree of harmony among the allied forces concerned with the occupation of Japan.

However, Russia has not yet agreed to the control over the military, which would cause a greater degree of harmony among the allied forces concerned with the occupation of Japan.

Wolverine Schedule

Wolverine informal pictures for next week have been scheduled, according to Student Activities Director. Following is a week's schedule. However, daily lists will be printed in the State News on days before pictures are scheduled.

The following patterns will be taken in the Little Theater of the Union. Women will wear hats and dark suits or frocks. Students will wear suits and ties.

Any organization planning to take movies in the Union house must reserve Union house dates for that purpose. If an organization is interested in reserving Union house dates, contact Dr. R. G. Nortpl, Union house manager, in advance.

The "campus" is most productive and is composed of bars, side-walk cafes, the greens filled with everything from ex-cowboys to lovely girls on bicycles, the beach house with sun tanned bodies and顺序 gardens and slacks and walks along the cliffs at the ocean's edge.

Student activities include a daily newspaper, broadcasting station, theater group with Broadway and Hollywood directors to aid in the production of such plays as Front Page, You Can't Take It With You, Time of Your Life, Red, Hot and Hokey, Girl, and athletics on an individual and intramural basis, since there is no one to compete against.

Some of the men pooled out a team of ex-cowboy basketball players and defeated a professional French team by a group of our track men with less than half the week of training. The French won't schedule us, except in exhibition terms, matches where their two ex-welcoming teams have been rejected by our men entirely. Most of the students make full use of the tennis, badminton and handball courts, and the pool is always busy when they can get a good swim.

The students here number about 3,000, a deep of about 400 high pointers from the start of the term, and this in addition to 70 WAC and nurses and several hundred officers of all ranks.

"We are told that the schools at home are more interested in what the veterans who will return to studies will be like, but the most part I can see much difference from others. They average a little older in age, and I wouldn't advise any varsity man to slap a little green kid on a combat vet and tell him to "wear it or lose." The varsity teams might have some good men that way.

"I should have mentioned that our club interest is mild. We are also interested in getting after and would gladly change a dozen of these French clubs, complete some, as did a dinner of basting sauce for an American cook in a restaurant skylight and a whole franchise of wine and orange for a man made of ice or cake.

I have great hopes of being home in about two months and perhaps I shall enter again for the last term before entering the service school at 15. On October 1st was the Stale and Michigan game and I hope to hear the results. Wish I could have been there."
