Shoe Rationing Ends Today, OPA Administrator Reveals

Program Lifted As Production Increases, Bowles Forecasts Outlook As Favorable

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30

(P) — The end of shoe rationing was ordered today, effective at 12:01 Wednesday.

Terminating a program which began on Feb. 8, 1943, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said rationing can be lifted because shoe production has increased substantially since V-J day.

Some trouble spots can be expected for a while, Bowles said, adding that customers "may not always be able to buy the styles they want."

No Hardship

But both the War Production board and the OPA have agreed that no general hardship should result from the discontinuance of shoe rationing.

The OPA chief reported that shoe output climbed from 20,000,000 pairs in August to around 28,000,000 pairs this month.

Outlook Hopeful

Bowles said the outlook for November and December is for 29 to 30 million pairs of shoes each month. This, he added, would be equal to demand before the war.

OPA called on shoe merchants to give preferential treatment to returning servicemen and women.

Today's Campus

Liquor Laughter

Prof. Harry D. Kimber frequently injects into his history lectures a little subtle humor and annoyed no end when his little puns fall on the deaf ears of an unappreciative class. Wednesday his 9 a.m. lecture Professor Kimber hit the jack pot and it rained off with a round of hilarious laughter from the class good when he told the following joke.

It seems an ardent bride never was asking a friend if he knew where he could get a "fifth" of brandy and the ignorant friend replied "you don't need a fifth of brandy, a pint will do."

Workshop to Air Caterpillar Story

Radio Workshop of the Air will present "My Client Curley" over station WKAR today at 4 p.m., Director Paul Geisenhof announced.

The play is a Norman Corwin story of a theatrical agent who meets a small boy, Stinky, and his dancing caterpillar called Curley.

J. D. Davis of the speech department will play the part of the agent and Yvonne Pessel, Detroit senior, will play Stinky. Other members of the cast are: Doris Guth, Ovid senior; Ken Hemmeyer, Saginaw junior; Ted Brink, Grand Rapids sophomore; Floramae Fisher, Detroit junior; Dawn Demont, Detroit freshman; Dorothy Dye, Birmingham senior, and Helen Gover, Mt. Pleasant junior.

Music will be handled by Sue Averill, Birmingham senior, and the harmonica solos will be presented by Jean Doherty, Grosse Pointe freshman. Sound effects will be done by Carol Sanford, Grosse Pointe Farms junior, Maxine A. Eyestone, Lansing graduate student is assistant director for the play.

Farmers to Convene At MSC Dec. 5 and 6

Pre-fabricated structures, farm kitchens, and construction will hold the center of interest at the first annual farm building conference on Dec. 5 and 6, according to Prof. A. W. Farrall, head of the agricultural engineering department.

This is the first phase of farm building improvements in a new program of the college and build-agencies, Farrall explained.

The main objective of the conference will be to aid farmers and rural residents in construction or remodeling of their homes, he added.

The recently-appointed Michigan Farm Building committee and the college agricultural engineering department are making arrangements for the meeting.

Halloween Revives Witches, Gremlins

By MARJORIE LANDKAMMER

Since ghosts, goblins, witches and black cats are included in the list of few things that are not supposed to be bigger and better in our postwar world, the same old ghosts, goblins, witches and black cats may be expected to emerge as soon as the sun goes down and to begin stirring about the dead and dusty leaves in the same old manner.

However, hope still runs high that some potential wizard will develop a pumpkin with three heads. An extra pair of eyes or two would add that needed terrifying touch. Even the little kids think those orange things are something to laugh at.

Forestry Show

Engineers Meet To View Modern Power Invention

The members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers were the guests of the forestry department in the forestry cabin last night. The object of the meeting was to introduce to the engineers the equipment owned by the college forestry department and to impress upon them the need for power machines in the forestry field.

A demonstration of power saws was given by Dr. R. C. Johnson of the forestry department. The saws, driven by a gasoline engine, are capable of cutting through an inch of wood per second. Power saws are comparatively new despite the fact that they were invented in the early thirties.

A tree planting machine, developed by the forestry department, was also on exhibition. The planting machine was finished last July after six months of designing and experimentation.

The heads of the forestry department are hoping that the engineers will use their knowledge of mechanics to develop more machines that will prove useful in the forestry program.

Contemporary U.S. Music Enjoyment Group Will Meet Twice Per Month

A Symposium of contemporary U. S. music is a new feature sponsored by Dr. Owen H. Reed, head of music theory, and held on the first and third Tuesday evening of each month at 7 in the staff room of the music building.

Reed said the purpose of the meetings will be to hear contemporary U. S. music and become familiar with the composers and their works, as well as learn contemporary ideas and philosophies of modern composition.

Anyone interested in U. S. contemporary music will have the opportunity to listen to records and also attend personal performances of such music. In addition a list of music will be available which will evaluate U. S. contemporary music as to grade and difficulty, said Reed.

Dr. Reed emphasizes that the Symposium of U. S. contemporary music is not a club, but an informal get-together for students, faculty, and townspeople who are interested in hearing or playing contemporary music. All

Truman Reveals Wage Policy President's Plan Permits Wage Increase Without Price Raise

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30

Theta Sigma Phi Honors Majors

Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honorary for women, held a reception last night at 7:30 in the Spartan room, for 21 women journalism majors, according to President Jeanette Nixon, Royal Oak senior.

The reception was held for junior and senior women to create a greater interest in journalism.

Also present at the reception were Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Apple-

Tickets for the annual homecoming dance will go on sale at the Union desk today, according to Jesse Woodring, dance chairman. This is to be an informal dance.

Leone Seastrom, Geneva, Ill., senior, and Dorothy Arrigo, Kenmore, N. Y., senior, were co-chairmen of the affair. Peg Durbry, Detroit senior, and Barbara Jones, Glen Rock, N. J., senior, were in charge of refreshments.

There will be a meeting Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. in the staff room of the music building.

Kermit Smith, assistant registrar, announced that the following students should report their East Lansing addresses to the Registrar's office at once: Robert Albertson, Keith Farnner, Frank Foster, Robert Gleffe, Robert Hagerty, James Herman, Rollin Lamphier, Ralph Lipps, Robert McLaughlin, John Moran, Raymond Stanton, Bernard Strong, Robert Swarts, Barbara Wendt, John Wessel and Deforest Wright.

Shirley Ryan, South Haven senior, will play some U. S. contemporary music on the harp, and discuss the composers of the selections.

(P) — President Truman liberalized administration wage-price policy tonight in an order which he said would permit business as a whole to grant increases in wages without requiring price increases.

At the same time, he told the nation in a long awaited broadcast that "labor has a stern responsibility to see that demands for wage increases are reasonable."

New Yard Stick

The President's new yard stick was disclosed as a modification of his Aug. 18 executive order under which wage increases which did not affect the price structure got his backing.

Without mentioning any percentage of wage increases, the President issued simultaneously an executive order authorizing stabilization administrator John C. Collet to approve wage increases under three classifications in which the war labor board has found increases necessary to correct "maladjustment" or "inequity."

This would permit raises (A) where the percentage increase in average straight time hourly earnings since Jan. 1941 has not equaled the increase in the cost of living between Jan. 1941 and Sept. 1945.

Correct Inequities

(B) Where necessary to correct inequities in wage rates among plants in the same industry or locality, "with due regard to normal competitive relationships."

(C) Where necessary to insure full production in an industry designated by the stabilization director, as essential to reconversion "in which existing wage rates or salaries are inadequate to the recruitment of needed manpower."

The latter classification, some persons thought, might be made applicable to the steel and some building industries.

Averill Directs Play For Studio Theater Tomorrow Evening

Studio theater meeting will be held tomorrow night at 7:15 in room 49, College auditorium, according to Paul Geisenhof, advisor for the group. "Some Women Were Talking," a play directed by Sue Averill, Birmingham senior, will be presented at this time.

The cast of "Blithe Spirit" will put on a rehearsal from the play for Studio theater members.

by dashing madly down a flight of stairs, like a first-rate dive on a Stuka. Gus will probably have to settle for something like tying all the witches' brooms together which really would be an awful mess and witches abhor company. They most likely wouldn't have a bit of fun.

Prayers will undoubtedly be going heavenward for low visibility tonight. This will force the witches into some low flying and will make the lives of all hitch-hikers just a little improved. Brooms may even become the new thing in transportation, and eliminate such bothersome things as stop lights and "no left turns."

As for the black cats—they can parade around campus! Nobody will care with midterms merging into the past. In fact by now, everyone's back to feeling good again, and if the fine moods prevail, the gay old ghosts will have some stiff competition.

That Does It

By MARION HECKEL

OFF we go again. This week comes a brief highlighting on half a dozen habits and customs that just aren't around the campus now. Like, for instance, the annual variety show sponsored by Green Helmet and SWL, which kept the campus in stitches for weeks before the performance. The last one came up in April of '43, with the engaging title of "Foxhole Follies," and was proof that times do change because the bulk of the audience was made up of aircrew cadets stationed on campus.

That same year the college water carnival didn't appear for the first time, and thus another campus "annual" disappeared. During spring term, and especially senior week, the carnival kept things hopping as half the organizations about town planned floats for the water parade. Highly decorated and arranged, the floats were the feature of the program, but don't think the canoe racing, canoe tilting and log rolling entries were lacking in admirers.

No more is the fall term pepped up by the appearance of the Michigan State coeds who act as corps sponsors for the ROTC units at MSC. It was quite an impressive ceremony to see the cadet officers in full regalia with the lucky ladies in formals as they paraded about the floor of Dem hall. Maybe one of these days the strength of the ROTC will come bouncing back, and the cadet colonel will shine once more.

The mention of the RO's also brings to mind days way back when visiting bands weren't an absolute necessity for entertainment between halves at home football games. Once upon a time the MSC marching band was tops, and Director Leonard Falcone assures us that it will be again in the very near future. At least they'll know how to play the Alma Mater so that the singers can hesitate properly between M . . . S . . . and . . . C.

That reminds me. Is serenading still a custom around here, or are some of the sorority houses just too far out? Midterm week note: That extra sleeping might come in handy right now. Does anybody have any suggestions as to how the weekdays could be lengthened to include more work? Cramming at 2 a.m. is tiring.

In Norton, Va., it is against the law to tickle a girl.

Spartans Expect Battle With Missouri Tigers

Football Squad to Rely On Passing Attack Against Opponent's Superior Strength

Still seeking to find a combination of running and passing, Coach Charlie Bachman searched his second and third strings yesterday for more power with which to hold back the Missouri Tigers when they meet them on the college field Saturday in the annual homecoming game.

Repudiating his statement before last week's game that the team was "down," Bachman said that the team was now coming along pretty well. The Spartan running and passing attack will still have to be sharpened for the clash with the Tigers. Missouri is reported to be the biggest team in college football this season.

Old Pass Scrimmage

Further indication that the green and white will rely on their passing attack to whip the tigers was seen in the lengthy pass scrimmage the team went through in yesterday's practice.

Russ Reader, the surprise package from Michigan and one of the big reasons why State has lost a game since the opener, is the prominent chucker in practice, along with Bob Ludwig, who has returned to the team.

Defrey Out With Injury

The possible loss of guard Bob Defrey for the rest of the season from an old knee injury was alleviated by the expected return of tackle Dan Goldsmith, and Ludwig's appearance on the field.

Spartan running backs spent considerable time running several new plays, involving precision timing and efficiency in handling the pigskin. The Spartans will bring the new plays against Missouri in the homecoming game.

The coming game with Missouri will be the sixth renewal of the series started in 1936 of which the Spartans have been the underdog, winning two of the five games played. Never has either team won by a large margin, the largest being by Missouri in 1941 when they took the Spartans by a score of 19-0.

PAST RECORDS

Year	State	Missouri
1937	2	0
1938	0	6
1944	7	13

The two teams have always produced pitch battles, but of all previous games none carried as much concern for the Spartans as did the 1944 contest at Columbia. The Tigers came from behind to nip the Spartans 13 to 7 in what turned out to be State's lone defeat of the year. Pacing Missouri in that game was Capt. Paul Brown, who entered the game as a substitute to score both touchdowns in the second half.

YMCA

Members of YMCA with their dates will be guests at an open house tonight at the residence of Rev. Earl McCullough. The open, informal get-together will last from 7:30 to 9:30 at the first house west of Peoples church.

State Will Meet Drake Saturday In Four-Mile Run

The all-college cross country meet ran last Friday evening, was won by Walter Mack, with the time of 24.43. He was followed by Don Thaden and Walter Kalmbach in second and third place. This is the first time in the season that the four-mile course has been used.

Coach Brown announced that the cross country team is scheduled to run against Drake next Saturday at 10:30 a.m. The men will start the four-mile run on the military drill field. The Drake team will be paced by Fred Siler who is also the national collegiate champion.

If State's team can defeat Drake this will, possibly, compensate for the defeats suffered at the hands of Ohio State and Indiana university.

Coach Brown revealed that the best place to watch the end of the race is from the top of the football stadium.
