Shoe Rationing Ends Today, OP 14 Administrator Reveals
Boswell Forecasts Outlook As Favorable

WASHING TO N Oct. 28

The end of shoe rationing was declared Dec. 12th.

A program which was in effect from Oct. 4, 1943, OA

P.D. Agreement, can be lifted because manufactured shoes have increased in production since V-J day.

While Boswell said that "customers may not be able to buy the styles they desire," he added that "the situation can be corrected.

The War Production Board and the OPA have agreed to this pinterhal shoe production until tomorrow morning." A statement was made by the War Production Board and the OPA about the agreement.

THE WOMEN'S WORLD

By HELEN GOVER

If we go again, this week comes a brief respite from the harsh, unrelenting struggle that has been the norm for the past few weeks. Performance. The latest edition of "Footlight Flashes," with the engaging title of "Fishboy and the Flapper," was released along with the usual bulletin of the week's happenings. But the excitement of the bulletin was made up of intrigue, rumors, and stories of campus.

So more is the fall term pressed upon us by the appearance of the RECTOR DEPARTMENT of MICHIGAN STATE college staff who acts as a staff newspaper for the YBTC. It was quite an impressive experience to see the calves on the field in regulation with the silly hats and costumes that were part of the program. But don't think the campus in the fall is all about the college; the program is not for the water; the program is for the water.

In this week's bulletin, the usual features of the program, including activities, are highlighted. The farm and garden club is trying out new methods of crop cultivation. The drama club has started rehearsals for their upcoming production. And the music department is preparing for their annual concert. So be sure to check out the bulletin for all the latest campus news.

Spartans Expect Battle With Missouri Tigers

Football Squad to Rely on Passing Attack Against Opponent's Superior Strength

Bill seeking to find a combination of running and passing as coach Charlie Bachman searched his second and third string for more power with which to hold when they meet them on the gridiron.

The meeting with Missouri will be the sixth renewal of the series started in 1938 of which the Spartans have been the underdog, winning two of the five games played. Never has either team won by a large margin, the largest being by Missouri in 1941 when they took the Spartans by a score of 19-7.

The two teams have always produced pitch battles, but of all previous games none carried as much meaning for the Spartans as did the 1944 contest at Columbus. The Tigers came from behind to nip the Spartans 13-17 in what turned out to be the State's lone defeat of the year. Playing Missouri in that game was Capt. Paul Brown, who entered the game as a substitute to sever both touchdowns in the second half.

YMCA

Members of YMCA with their dates will be guests at an open house tonight at the residence of Rev. Earl McCullough. The open house, informal get-together will last from 7:30 to 9:30 at the former home of Peoples church.
