Terror Strikes

All East Lansing was petrified with fright last night when eight masked, minute but ferocious desperados stormed through the city singing weird chants and striking terror into the hearts of all in their wake. Further investigation revealed the gang to be composed, not of Ku Klux Klan members, fifth columnists or striking MSC students, but of a number of thrill-seeking kindergarten, a few irresponsible second graders and one or two upperclassmen of the third grade.

Senate Suggests GI Bill of Rights Revision Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Revision of the G. I. bill of rights to make it easier for veterans to go to school at government expense or get loans in buying homes, farms or businesses was recommended today by a senate committee.

It proposed:
1. Extension until 10 years after the war the time in which veterans may apply for government-guaranteed loans. Present law allows only five years after the war's official end.

2. Authorization for loans on farms or businesses to include not only the value of real estate but also supplies, capital and inventory.
3. A 35-year period, instead of 10, for repayment of loans on farms.

4. Authorization for loans based on the "reasonable value" of the property. The present law sets "reasonable normal value."
5. Opening of the educational program to veterans irrespective of age. The present law applies to those whose education was interrupted by reason of war service and says this is presumed to be the case for men inducted before the age of 25.

6. An increase from $50 to $65 the monthly living allowance for single veterans attending an educational institution and from $5 to $90 for those with dependents.

7. Authorization for the veterans administration to enter into an agreement with state institutions on payments for tuition of veterans without regard to the usual tuition charges.

Spartans Plan Snake Dances For Pep Rally

"Back in step with Spartan pep," the homecoming pep rally will get underway tomorrow at 6:45 p.m., according to Red Schneider, Lansing junior, chairman.

Several cheerleaders will go to each dormitory to start snake dances. After winding around Sororities, fraternities, and other groups wishing winter term formal dances should turn into the office of the counselor for women, Union building, by Thursday, Nov. 15, a request for a date to be acted upon by the Student-Faculty Social committee, according to Isabelle Gonon, counselor for women. This request should list three dates, in order of preference, on which the organization would be able to hold the dance, and also the place in which the event is to be held.

campus, the various groups will meet at the west entrance of the Union at 7 p.m.

Leonard Falcone, associate professor of music, will direct the 60-piece Michigan State band at this time.

Members of the football team will be on hand, and it is tentatively planned that Joe Holsinger, backfield coach for the past 10 years, will be here.

After the old spirit is captured, a march to the Red Cedar river will be conducted where "Missouri," appropriately laid in a casket, will be started on its float down the river.

Walter Vezmar, Detroit freshman, as Missouri, and Dick Beals, Birmingham freshman, portraying State, will also put on a skit.

Highlighting the weekend will be the homecoming dance Saturday from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

The dance will be held in the combined ballroom and main dining room of the Union. During the intermission local talent will be displayed and a door prize will be awarded, according to Jesse Woodring, Lansing junior, chairman and president of the fraternity.

U. S. Knows Russia's Policy

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes declared tonight that the United States is "fully aware" of Russia's "special security interests" in the countries of eastern and central Europe and will never join in intrigues against them.

Eisenhower Reports Trouble

Cynthia Accompanies Singer Faithfully to All Concerts

Cynthia will be on campus with Paul Robeson for his concert at 8:15 in College auditorium Monday night. She is a faithful companion of Robeson and is ever present during his concerts.

Few people know about Cynthia for she is always behind stage where the audience cannot hear or see her.

Cynthia is a speaker connected with a small microphone on the stage which is invisible to the audience. By her aid Robeson's voice is picked up and is thrown back to him from the wings.

Enables Hearing

In this way he can hear his own voice and yet it does not interfere.

With this device Robeson can hear himself sing and can thus control the tone in a large auditorium where otherwise he would have to force his voice to fill the space because of the inability to hear himself.

The same result that Cynthia accomplishes may be had by cupping the ears. This is a trick used in rehearsing in large halls by opera singers.

Originated In England

The idea for Cynthia was originated in England by the acoustic research department of the British broadcasting corporation in London. She was built by Harold Burris-Meyer theater sound-research director at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J.

Cynthia became prominent at Robeson's first New York recital in Carnegie hall.

MSC Legion Post Opens Drive For New Members

Veterans are urged to join the American Legion Red Cedar post No. 402, post vice-commander, Chester Wesley, Beaverton sophomore, announced yesterday.

Launching its first membership drive on campus, the student veterans' organization has set up a booth on the lower deck of the Union to serve as an information center.

Membership in the legion does not conflict with other veteran organizations such as Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wesley asserted. The campus legion post is to concern itself with student affairs and problems peculiar to veterans, he added.

Tower Guards Hold Initiation

Mrs. Isabelle Gonon, counselor of women, was initiated as an honorary member of Tower Guard last evening with two active members, Margie Moon, East Lansing sophomore, and Irene Drobnak, Detroit sophomore, at a candlelight ceremony in Beaumont tower.

It is a custom of Tower Guard to have honorary members. Among others are Mrs. John Hannah, Dean Marie Dye, and Mrs. R. P. Noll.

Gives Talk

After the meeting, Mrs. Gonon gave a talk on France. She described difficulties the French have undergone during the German occupation, and present conditions of lack of food.

A sophomore honorary, Tower Guard maintains a counseling service for Freshmen women, tutors girls, and reads to the blind.

Presents Scholarship

Each year it presents a $50 scholarship to a deserving Freshman woman, the funds for which are raised by a party.

Requirements for initiation into Tower Guard are a 2.1 all college scholastic average, recommendations from the faculty, activities on campus and service to State.

Library Locks Rare Books In Its Recesses

By MARIAN VANDALL

In keeping with a Sherlock Holmes atmosphere, the library is sporting two locked rooms deep in its recesses, hiding there—no, not skeletons—but a collection of rare books, first editions, and other valuable works.

Students are so accustomed to passing by the room marked "Rare Books" that they never stop to wonder what it might contain or how the collection came to be there.

Group Formed

During the spring term of 1943, a group was formed at the invitation of President Hannah to investigate means of developing a more adequate library. This group, comprised of faculty members and local alumni soon became organized under the name of Friends of the Library.

At the end of their second meeting, the total membership was 64 with a capital of $537. Membership has since jumped to 160, and it is impossible to evaluate the work done by the group, as many members have donated valuable books.

The organization's first purchase was a first edition of "David Copperfield," published in 1850. Later a collection of sketches done by Dickens himself was added to the collection.

Thomas Paine

A more recent acquisition, one of Thomas Paine's items published during the American Revolution, showed a need for a colonial USO.

One paragraph says, "The Commander-in-Chief, in the most pointed and explicit terms, forbids all officers and soldiers playing at cards, dice, or at any games except those of exercise... Nor will anything offer more solid amusement than to devote vacant moments to the study of military authors."

The collection also contains a letter written by Paine to Washington accusing him of being a treacherous impostor.

Specialized Books

The "Friends" have also attempted to build up a collection of unusual books in certain specialized fields. For example, one member donated his collection of rare old books on bee-keeping, while another suggested that a set of books dealing with early lumbering and logging days would be valuable.

The Friends of the Library welcome suggestions and donations from all students and faculty members, and insist that even duplicates and books of only comparison rarity will be welcome in any one of 45 or more different fields.

*General Warns German Unrest Increases Daily

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 31 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower told Washington in a grave report today that there was dangerous unrest in Germany which was "just one step" from organized resistance.

Some U. S. troops already have been attacked by youths and returned German soldiers, he said.

He also reported that "no real progress" had been made toward setting up central administrative machinery for Germany and that a "disappointingly" small number of problems had been settled by the Allied control council because of failure to obtain unanimous agreement.

Other Developments

Other developments mentioned in his third monthly report:

The problem of handling thousands of displaced persons continues to be serious. "Cases of murder and organized looting occurred at an unpleasant rate," and the German populace has become increasingly bitter as a result of the increased lawlessness.

The food and fuel situation was growing worse as winter approached. "There will be practically no coal for German civilians," and extensive plans are now being made for mass feeding of Germans in the American zone.

Free Politics Fall

The failure of the German masses to respond to free political movement was retarding any program to restore self-government. Political movements, he said, have been limited to a few leaders rather than the masses, and only the communists and social democrats have shown much life in the American zone.

"It is apparent that a long and political education will be necessary before the German people can safely be entrusted with complete control of their government."

President Truman announced in Washington that he had set June 1 as a goal for transferring the German government from military to civilian hands.

Again . . . We're Missed the Boat

Must apathy abide in our midst? The victory bond drive started this week, yet no student group had foresight enough to lay any plans for it beforehand. There might be a stirring of conscience in some, but no organized effort for selling bonds has thus far been made.

What's the matter? Issues of personal concern, like the recent car ban, bring out the enthusiasm of every man and woman. When matters of national importance like supporting the victory loan drive come up, we languish. Is our standard of values distorted, or is a lack of planning and leadership indicated?

We should endeavor to win the peace as strongly as we fought to win the war. Buying victory bonds and stamps contributes to that end.

This is no time to forget what has gone before, so let's stay on the ball.

LETTERS To The Editor

To The Editor:
 Many students on the campus would like to see the Spartan revived, also a new literary magazine started.

There is a definite need for both humorous and artistic expression, and we believe that a great deal of good talent is going to waste here.

We suggest that the Spartan be converted into a variety magazine which would contain among other things, a cover by the art department, poetry, journalism, essays, short stories, criticism, clean humor, and cartoons. If it is financially and mechanically possible some original compositions from the Music department could be printed.

We have been informed that as soon as students show evidence that they can publish a worthwhile magazine they will be permitted to do so.

Let us lose no time in talking this over. Will those who are interested in formulating a policy and working on the staff of such a magazine meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday, organization room 1, Union.

Those unable to attend call 2-1920 evenings.

Yours sincerely,
 J. Judd
 D. Berberian

To the Editor:
 This being the Thanksgiving for real reunions, we, the undersigned, ask that all classes be excused the Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving. Isn't it true that the majority of students cut classes that Friday? And wouldn't the instructors like a well-deserved rest at this date in the term?

State to Oppose Heavy Tiger Eleven Saturday

Coach Stresses Defense Tactics To Block Strong Missouri Team

Coach Charlie Bachman and his staff have gone all out in their efforts to whip up a defense that will stop the powerful Missouri Tigers when they invade East Lansing this Saturday for the annual homecoming game.

The Missouri team will take to the field the heavier of the two squads by at least 10 to 15 pounds, and will feature a powerful line that boasts of a 330-pound tackle, Jim Kerkeris. This "Man Mountain of the gridiron" is also an able fullback and has been used in that capacity several times in recent games.

Scouting Coach

Coach Karl A. Schlademan, who has been scouting the Missouri team for the Spartans, said that the Missouri Tigers were the largest team, both in number and size, in college football today, and that any team would have considerable trouble stopping them.

Missouri, like all of State's previous opponents, run from the T formation, however, they do use the man in motion. Instead, they concentrate on the center of the line and a lateral running attack.

Lateral Play

Schlademan stated that "the fans will probably see the ball tossed about a lot, but not forward, as their attack is built around a fast lateral play."

He also added that the Missouri left halfback, Bill Delastations, was one of the finest backs that he has seen so far this season. Missing the first two games of the season because of an injury, Delastations returned to the line-up along with a discharged seaman named Stewart, who starts at the center spot.

After losing the first two games Missouri came back to defeat Southern Methodist university, Iowa State, Kansas State, and Nebraska university, to give them four consecutive wins.

Finest Painter

Delastations is rated as one of the finest painters in the league and an equal match with State's star fullback, Jack Breslin. During the game kicking for the Tigers will be Bill Kerkeris, who is also among the best, and can either put them in the end zone, or kick in the air, as he chooses. In an effort to halt the weight of the Tigers, Bachman will undoubtedly start his heavy line men, 240-pound Bill Pagel at center and 240-pound Walt Vezmar at tackle.

Special Training Given Brazilian Student at MSC

A Brazilian, Miss Aracoeli G. Moreno, of Soa Paulo, is receiving special training at Michigan State college that will prepare her to become director of one of four home demonstration centers being established in Brazil.

During her stay in East Lansing she is living at the home of Professor and Mrs. H. A. Cardinell. Professor Cardinell, research associate in horticulture at MSC, became acquainted with Miss Moreno during his recent work with the Brazilian extension service while on leave from the college. He was influential in getting the Brazilian girl to come to the United States for study.

Receives Training

Miss Moreno is one of four girls from Brazil who are getting a year's training in home demonstration work in this country. Prior to coming to Michigan State she spent one month in the Webster school studying English, six months at the University of Maryland studying home economics and agriculture, and three months with the North Carolina home economics extension service.

Attends Merrill Palmer

She is spending four weeks at Michigan State, receiving instruction under the guidance of Miss Rachel Markswell, state home demonstration leader. While here she is specializing in school lunch programs and public and industrial feeding projects.

A part of the time is being spent at the Merrill Palmer institute at Detroit.

Miss Moreno will return to Brazil next month, after two weeks of additional study in Washington, D. C.

Former Spartan Describes Horrors of German Camp

Cpl. William M. Adams, Phi Delta Theta and member of the class of '44, has just arrived at Biarritz American university to take an eight-week course in journalism. Cpl. Adams has been overseas 18 months, joining a field artillery unit of Patton's 10th armored division.

This outfit met stiffest opposition and saw hardest combat at Bastogne, defending the city of Luxemburg during the "bulge," the siege of Metz, capture of Trier, and the fierce fighting at Craulshelm. They were at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, scene of the last Olympic game, when the war ended in May.

Since then, for a brief time, Cpl. Adams was stationed at Dachau, and has written the following letter describing his impressions of the infamous concentration camp.

Occupied By S.S.

"We are quartered in houses the S. S. occupied who were running Dachau. The houses are quite new, well built, and the size of our Phi Delta house in East Lansing. Quite a sinister 'national' used to hold its 'chapter meetings' here, though.

"Right in back of the house is a high concrete wall, and beyond that the camp extends for a mile and a half—mostly those low, barracks-like structures just like you saw in the news reels, high towers with high voltage still going through the maze of barbed wire, only now the S. S. are on the inside.

Crematory Area

"There is the camp itself, and in the middle of that, enclosed by another high wall, is the 'crematory area' where most of the organized murder was committed.

"The old crematory had two ovens, but a new one had to be built which could accommodate five more unfortunates at a time. High chimney with a good draft, I imagine. There was also the gas chamber with 'Brause Bad' over the door. Shower bath, that means, and they used it so victims wouldn't get balky and panicky.

"In the large oven is a wash bowl for the 'stokers.' Over the wash bowl hangs a picture, and under it I could read the legend, thanks to my German at MSC. It said 'Cleanliness is necessary in this business. Therefore do not forget to wash your hands.' The picture is one showing men handling some dirty pigs.

Shooting Done

"Outside are two corners in the wall where the shooting was done. You can still see the rock marks and stains where the bullets and blood hit the wall. There is also a big pine tree with rope parks still visible around the lower branches where the hangings were accomplished. Only picked S. S. men were allowed within the walls of the crematory area, and any inmate who went in never came out alive.

"There is one grassy plot of ground that the U. S. army has set aside, and a shrine will be erected and dedicated there to the 238,000 persons who lost their lives in this small enclosure."

Bill sent greetings in his letter to all his old friends "who have beaten me back to the wadding Cedar" and hopes to "sit in Mr. Applegate's class for coming term."

Women's Sports

By TONI EBNER

SPORT enthusiasts are in the middle of a heated volleyball tournament as teams scramble for the champion's title. Kappa Alpha Theta tallied a second winner after the game against Precinct 6 with a final score of 21 to 17.

A team still blazing an undefeated trail is Mason Hall's Precinct 1 and 3 who again stepped forward to claim another victory from Zone 1 and 3 by a 36 to 24 margin.

East Mayo emerged victors after trampling on their Delta Gamma opponents 43 to 12, and in the game with Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta won 26 to 17. Ewing-Benson was defeated 44 to 10 in the match with North Campbell and Precinct 14 took the match from Taft House 25 to 20.

Other scores chalked up in this week's round of the volleyball rally are: Kappa Kappa Gamma, 37, and Alpha Omicron Pi, 22; Pi Beta Phi, 32, and Mason Nine, 26; Robinson House, 39, and Taft House, 11; West Mayo, 45, and Zeta Tau Alpha, 7; Zeta Tau Alpha, 35, and Shaw House, 19; and Gamma Phi Beta, 30, and Sanford House, 13.

The competition fostered in Wednesday night's games brought in the following final scores: Mason Hall Precinct 4, 27, and Mason Precinct 17 and 18, 24; North Williams, 31, and Precinct 13, 22; North Williams, 31, and Mason Precinct 13, 22; South Campbell, 40, and North Hall, 23; South Campbell 24, and Kappa Delta, 22; and North Hall, 37, and Mason Precinct 10, 22.

Young Invites Local Merchants To Join Homecoming Spirit

In the spirit of State's annual homecoming game, Ralph H. Young, director of athletics, has extended an invitation to the merchants of East Lansing to enter into the spirit of the festivities by displaying "S" flags and window decorations on the day of the homecoming game.

Lansing merchants, through cooperation with the Downtown Coaches club, have carried on a similar venture with much success by displaying State flags on the days of home games.

The "S" flags may be obtained from Vandervoort's sporting goods store through the courtesy of the college.
