

World War II: Another War Fought In Vain?

"To those who died
For liberty — and
Did not die in vain.

They counted light
Their loss that gave
The world eternal gain."
—New York Times,
Nov. 11, 1918

Tomorrow will mark the 27th anniversary of the armistice of World War I, when on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of 1918, the guns ceased firing on the western front.

Rejoicing resounded the world over. On that hour and day ended the greatest war in history to that time, a war fought "to end all wars." History now mocks that celebration.

American dead in World War II number five times the total of World War I. Former students of Michigan State college account for one tenth of one per cent of that number. How much more, then, should Aug. 14 than Nov. 11 be observed. More millions were slaughtered this last time, more of the earth laid waste.

Our rejoicing in peace this day is tempered by the thought that once before we believed that wars would be no more, and were proven false.

In less than three decades we have twice been given the opportunity to join with other nations in establishing an international organization that will be strong enough to maintain the peace.

Surely by this time we must have learned our lessons: that international unity in war should be carried over into the days of peace; that we should not separate ourselves from the problems of other peoples in the world, no matter who they be or where they live; that peace cannot be had by merely wishing for it.

Will we again break faith with those who died so bravely, and so numerous? Or will we have the courage, will, and intelligence to take up our role in world affairs, and go forward with the other nations in building a better, peaceful world where all men can live with a reasonable sense of security, unafraid, and free?

... Ashes to Ashes

Peter Gerns, P.G., Canton, Ohio, was phoning a member of the Wolverine staff when a voice answered: "Are you going to haul our ashes today?" Gerns played the game. "No, I don't think I'm quite ready for that yet." "Weren't you here last week?" "No, that must have been my partner." "Well, when will he be in?" "Call back in about five minutes."

... Egg Noggin

Poetic genius flowers under the oddest stimuli. Take that little ditty that was found in somebody's copy of Aristotle's "Poetics" which goes like this:
I wish I was a wittle egg
Away up in a twee.
I wish I was a wittle egg
As wotten as can be.
And when some ewaffy wolf
Has a dame out on a limb,
I'd from my wittle self away
And spatter down on him.

... Try Chaminade

In Prof. Alan Scott's advertising class yesterday he included in his definition of a good display advertisement—"it should have the qualities of a scarf dance." Mort Smerling, Detroit sophomore, didn't quite get the comparison and wanted to know what he meant by a scarf dance. Scott pondered a moment and then answered as completely as he could. "If you don't know what a scarf dance is—I'm afraid no one can tell you."

Students may exchange their preliminary tickets for "Blithe Spirit" for reserved seats at the Administration building beginning Monday, according to Kay Telfer, Owosso junior, ticket chairman.

Social Events Fill Weekend For Spartans

Dance, Record Parties, Openhouses Featured in After-Game Plans

Spartans' date books will career toward a pre-war level of activities today for five after-the-game events, one all-college dance, two openhouses, and several platter parties are heading the week end entertainmet program.

Sigma Kappas are taking their fathers to the game this afternoon and then escorting them back to the chapter house for a buffet-style dinner and "turnabout" program, according to Barbara DeGaw, Detroit junior and social chairman.

Dean S. E. Crowe announced yesterday that tickets for the Russian ballet will go on sale Monday. The dance group will present two performances but student books will be good for only one night. First tickets on sale will be fore the Monday, Nov. 19, performance.

Kappa Kappa Gammas will sit with their families at Macklin field, afterwards bringing them back to the chapter house for a coffee and program, according to Jayne Meier, Detroit senior, social chairman.

Michigan Speech Conference Meets Today at MSC

Approximately 70 persons are expected to attend the annual conference of the Michigan Speech Correction association to be held on campus today, according to Prof. L. M. Nesom of the speech department. Members from college and high school faculties, and also students from both Canada and Michigan will take part in the conference.

Dr. Harold Westlake, associated with the Northwestern university speech and hearing clinic will speak to the group in the morning. His subject will be "Trends in the Hearing Conservation Program."

In the afternoon Dr. Westlake will direct a panel discussion on the topic "How the Speech Correctionist Can Serve in a Hearing Conservation Program."

Members of the panel will include Hartley Wooden, supervisor of the Michigan school for the deaf; Harriett Dunn, instructor in speech at the University of Michigan; Kathryn Furbee, supervisor of speech correction in Saginaw; John W. Tenny, general advisor of speech education at Wayne university, and Gwendolyn Kline, recently with the hearing clinic at Borden general hospital in Chickasha, Okla.

Holmes Will Show Pictures on Utah

BURTON HOLMES

Land of the Mormons, of the great Salt Lake, of the world's largest copper mines will be only a part of tonight's lecture by Burton Holmes, "Rainbow Land of Utah." The talk will take place at 8:15 in College auditorium.

Holmes' lecture will be supplemented by color motion pictures of Utah's colorful scenery. A traveler and travelogue expert, Burton Holmes considers himself merely a "super tourist" for he expresses no ambition to explore unknown lands or break new trails.

Dean of American travel lectures, Holmes travels six months of every year, visiting strange lands and new places and ports. He is called America's greatest gadabout.

Foreign Students At MSC Total 58

Fifty-eight foreign students, representing 16 foreign countries are included in the student enrollment for fall quarter, according to Prof. Chang Lee, director of the Institute of Foreign studies.

At the head of the list is China with 17 students enrolled. Representing other countries are:

Honduras, one; Nova Scotia, one; Haiti, one; Peru, one; El Salvador, two; Colombia, two; Cuba, two; Panama, two; Mexico, two; India, three; Ecuador, three; Costa Rica, six; Brazil, four; and Canada, ten.

Nineteen of the students are taking courses in the graduate school.

For the second and probably the final time, the State Spartans will face the Great Lakes Bluejackets on the college field today at 2 p.m. In their previous meeting back in 1942, the Spartans pulled the surprise upset of the year defeating Great Lakes 14 to 7.

When State takes to the field, they will be facing a team that has come up almost as rapidly as the Spartans have. Losing three of their first four games, and tying the other, Great Lakes has since then piled up a string of three victories, and the last being Illinois, 12 to 6.

State on the other hand, is again in the position to turn out one of its best seasons. Losing their opening game, the Spartans have run up a tally of four victories, and one tie. The tie was with Marquette, a team that Great Lakes defeated 37 to 27 two weeks ago.

Motley to Star
Leading the training station team will be Marion Motley, 6'1", 210-pound fullback, who is rated among the nation's best. He is aided ably by Frank Aschenbrenner, former Marquette star, at the right halfback spot.

Great Lakes has developed one of the nation's finest pass combinations in quarterback George Terlep, and their 200-pound 6'4" end, O'Connor. These men are equally as effective on defense as on offense.

Coach Charlie Bachman, has voiced the opinion that the Spartans are probably up against the toughest team that they will have to face this year, and the game will be the real test of the power of State.

Terlep to Offer Trouble
In previous games, the Spartans have been faced with the "T" formation, and have been able to stop it effectively. However, State's pass defense will have its acid test today against the accurate throwing of quarterback Terlep.

One change has been made in the Spartan line, with the shift of Mark Blackman from the second string to replace Kent Esbaugh at the right tackle spot. See "T" FORMATION, Page 3

Weekly Letter to Men in the Service

November 10, 1945

DEAREST Johnny,
Another week rolls around and so I'll obediently bang out my letter to you, Big Boy. Not that I'm kicking, but I would like to get an answer to these epistles. But I should complain, I got two letters from you last month, even if one was written in French. Thanks for trying to impress me.
Homecoming is all over 'til another year and I'll be one of the happy graduates through then (if the brass hats will it). The Kappas walked off with the sorority decoration prize, and the AGRs with the fraternity. Both were very clever and I guess it just pays to have brains.
We're only getting one day off for Thanksgiving again this year so I'll barely have time to go home and gobble some turkey. Suppose it's too much venison. My dad has been going hunting for 14 years and has only brought back snipes.
Big game with Great Lakes today. Hope the weather freezes the bluejacket boys. Not that I'm radically opposed to the navy, but today I'd like to see them sunk.
Elections are in full swing for junior and senior class officers and Thursday 57 were nominated to run. The nominations were very much in order and I guess everyone's happy about the results. Preliminaries will be run Nov. 21. I'll let you know, as I well remember when you were running for fire warden of the freshman class, and as a campaign duty you volunteered to kiss all the babes.
Term play tickets for "Blithe Spirit" are going like fire. Ought to be very good since it's all about ghosts and ethereal triangles.
IFC touch football is winding up and the ATOs, Phi Deltas and Sigma Nus are going to fight it out for the championship. Don't understand the principle of the touch part, but I guess it must be exciting because crowds have been turning up for the games.
Told you I'd let you know about the car ban. Well, they've modified it a little and that makes a lot of people happy. But you'd still better leave your jeep in the city of wine, and more song.
Much love,
DEE.

Formation To Be Used By Bluejackets

Although halfback Russ Reader is favoring a bruised leg, he will probably start the game.

Many of State's hopes are pinned on Reader. Since his arrival on the squad, he has been the sparkplug behind the Spartans passing attack. In five games he has completed 33 out of 57 passes for a percentage of .579. These passes have netted the Green and White 346 of the Spartans 472 yards in passing, as compared with State's opponents aerial net of 328 yards. He also leads the Spartans scores with 25 of the 73 points scored to date.

Breslin, Contos in Game
To do the power driving for the afternoon State will rely on Jack Breslin, and shifty Steve Contos. Bob Ludwig, who has returned to the line-up following an injury, will be used in place of Reader, when the time comes. Rated on a par, the two teams are likewise weighted equal with the State line edging the Bluejackets, 200 to 197, and all even in the backfield at 184 pounds per man.

High School Boys To March Today

The 76 piece Central high school band of Flint will be the guest band for the Great Lakes game this afternoon. Robert P. Richardson is the faculty drill master of the band. Edwin J. Merrill is director, and Bob Treat is the band's drum major. This all-boy band is known for precision in marching and drilling. The band won first place in high school band marching contests held at Michigan State college in 1941, and at Ann Arbor in 1942.

Coach Considers Boxing Material

The 1946 MSC boxing team has at the present 12 candidates with Charles Oalkins, 160-pound Lansing senior, the sole returning veteran, Boxing Coach Leon Burhans stated yesterday.

At present he has no definite announcement to make about the 1946 boxing schedule. He expressed hopes, however, for its completion by January.

The main item in boxing at present is the intra-mural tournament scheduled later in the term. All amateurs are eligible for this tournament, Burhans stated, and are urged to come to Jenison gym Monday through Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. He also stressed that at least five workouts are necessary to qualify for the intra-mural classic. Burhans expressed the hope that additional material for the varsity boxing would come from the intra-mural tournaments. Heavy weights and 120-pounders are noticeably lacking.

Chinese Reds Halt Chiang's Advance On Manchuria

CHUNGKING, Nov. 9 (AP) — Chinese communists issued a blunt "stay out" warning today to nationalist troops waiting ominously by the thousands on Manchuria's southern border, along the historic great wall near American-guarded Chinwangtao. The Reds cancelled abruptly a scheduled afternoon peace talk in Chungking and said they would oppose entry of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops into Manchuria or any other "liberated areas."

The government, they charged, is using 49 armies aggregating 127 divisions—nearly 1,000,000 men—for "this civil war," plus 350,000 puppet troops. Forty-nine of the government divisions are supplied wholly or partly with American equipment, they asserted.

Chiang's troops, pouring from American transports in the American-secured north China "strong communist forces" along part of Chinwangtao, are facing the great wall 10 miles to the north—ready for the main round of China's undeclared war, Associated Press correspondent Richard Berholz reported from the scene.

A Chinese Red spokesman asserted that many airplanes were massed at Peiping, ready to carry government troops to Changchun, Manchurian capital.

State Team Cops First in Meet With Wayne

The Michigan State harriers copped the dual cross country meet here with Wayne yesterday by the score of 19 to 38.

Walter Mack, running for State, set a new meet record by cutting 4.6 seconds from the record set last year by former Spartan Bob Price.

Behind Mack, in the order of their running, came Walter Kalmbach, Don Thaden, and Wayne Finkbeiner, all of State; James Williams, Bert Richardson, Irving Goldberg, and Lawrence Middlemas, of Wayne; Howard Phillips, Lawrence Johns, and Paul Steadman of State. Twelfth and thirteenth places went to David Shurgin and Jack Kelm both of Wayne.

The final run for this season will come Nov. 24, when State will play host to the National Collegiate Championship meet.

With the lack of contestants the annual "Turkey Trot" will not be held this year, Coach Lauren Brown stated.

Former State English Instructor Tells GI Teachers' Viewpoints

This letter was received from Warren L. Fleischaver, now teaching at Biarritz American university in southern France. He is instructing at the GI university and is a sergeant. Fleischaver was an English instructor at State from 1939 to 1942. His letter follows:

"It was in the spring of 1942, that depressing first year of the war, that three of my academic colleagues and I sat in a coffee-shop in East Lansing and discussed the problem of education in the postwar years, which, it then appeared, would arrive no sooner than 1949.

Dr. L. C. Stevens of the foreign language department at Michigan State was relating the anecdotes of his classes of shell-shocked veterans of World War I, but the question which none of us asked and which was, I am certain, on our minds was: 'But in what way will the war change these students looting about the campus now in their last year of college for God knows how many years?'

Wondered at Results
"Purely from a professional view, as college professors and instructors, we would like to know the reaction to a college text on grammar, for example, of men who have been under enemy fire and whose minds have been conditioned to the stimulus-response kind of obedience so dear to the hearts of the 'brass hats' and so necessary for the preservation of the greatest possible number of lives under the stress of combat." I confess I had misgivings.

"Those qualms were in no way diminished by the kind of publicity I had seen prior to my appointment as an instructor here at the Biarritz American university . . . the usual 'cheese-cake' shots of beautiful mademoiselles basking on the Grande Plage, the luxurious hotels which would house the soldier-students, the sidewalk cafes, and the dance bands.

"In the six weeks I have been here, however, these misgivings have been dissipated and the question that troubled me back in 1942, that must still be a source of apprehension to those college faculties in the United States who are now preparing to receive the first influx of veterans, has been answered to my own satisfaction as I am confident it will also be answered to theirs also.

Speaks From Experience
"The classes are small but representative; they are drawn from all ranks and grades in the army . . . all branches. The air force captain in my literature class is preparing for his M.A. comprehensive examinations at Columbia university and the inquisitive Negro corporal in my freshman composition class, a high school graduate, is receiving part of what will be his first year of college education.

"All of these soldier-students have in common the one qualification necessary for college students . . . intellectual curiosity. Use What They Have
"Our philosophy classes here have no text books but I am assured that the GI logicians can shave a philosophical hair as fine as William Occam. Lacking the scholarly paraphernalia of a large college library, my literature class is completely reliant on the texts and the results have been most edifying and salutary.
"I find it difficult to account for this very apparent intellectual curiosity unless it be that even as a soldier's tongue craves the taste of fresh milk after a long diet of the powdered substance that goes under the alias of milk in the army, so does his mind after three or four years for the knowledge not circumscribed by field manuals, military exigency or the inflexible ideas of superior officers.
Soldiers More Mature
"One other characteristic of the soldier-student, as evident as that of intellectual curiosity, is maturity of judgment, and this quality is even more strange, for a military career is of necessity a suspension of individual judgment.
"It has been the fear of many civilians that the faculty of judgment of soldiers may be altogether atrophied. Strangely enough, it is not.
"These men are generally older than the average college student. But the experiences they have endured, the hardships they have surmounted, the foreign countries they have seen, have all been responsible in no small way for the mature estimate of the world in general.
Question Answered
"The past six weeks, then, has been the story of an answer to a question that disturbed the minds of four men of the faculty of Michigan State college three and a half years ago. But it is also a question . . . in what way has the war changed him . . . that must have occurred to all teachers everywhere in the country, to the parents, the wives, relatives and friends of almost every serviceman.
"The answer to that question, granting that intellectual curiosity and maturity of judgment are good things, is that I see no reason for educators to despair at the prospect of a GI exchanging his M-I for a book, nor for anxious relatives to wonder."

'Ike' to Arrive In States Eisenhower Plans Meetings Soon In Washington

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 9 (AP)—U. S. headquarters announced today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would leave "within a few hours" to testify before Congressional committees in Washington and authoritative sources predicted his trip was a prelude to an assignment to succeed Gen. George C. Marshall as army chief of staff, perhaps late in December.

The official announcements said Eisenhower would return to Europe Nov. 23 after testifying in the capital and appearing in Boston and Chicago.

But rumors have long been current that Eisenhower would become chief of staff, and they have been given credence by the slow exodus of officers of his command into war department positions where they could carry out his policies. It was said unofficially that Eisenhower would stay in Europe only a short time after Nov. 23 to wind up his command in Germany and Austria.

It was learned that Eisenhower's trip home had been requested by the war department. The famous American commander is expected to advocate to Congress the consolidation of armed forces into a National Department of Defense.

If Eisenhower becomes chief of staff, sources here expect he will be succeeded as commander in Germany by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, former U. S. commander in the Mediterranean theater.

Assistant conductor is Rudolph Ringwall who has been connected with the orchestra for 21 seasons. He acts as conductor of Cleveland's summer "Pop" concerts and others.

Ringwall was born in Bangor, Maine, and comes from a distinguished line of musicians and actors.

Ringwall was a graduate and later faculty member of the New England conservatory in Boston.

Blood Donors Needed In County Campaign

Students will still be able to make appointments Monday and Tuesday for blood donations to the Ingham county blood bank which is being sponsored by State by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Total donations at 5 p.m. yesterday totaled over 100, according to Hoby Belknap, East Lansing sophomore.

Student blood donors are furnished transportation to and from the blood bank clinic in Lansing.

There is an urgent need for this blood and all students are urged to make an appointment for a donation in the lower deck of the Union Building, Belknap said.

INFORMATION

GAMMA DELTA

Gamma Delta members, Lutheran students, will gather at Christ Lutheran church in Lansing at 6 p.m. tomorrow for a supper meeting and informal social evening, according to Emergene Ernst, Saline senior.

INTERNATIONAL CENTER

There will be a fireside chat and sing at the International Center, Sunday evening at 8 p.m. Armistice day will be celebrated with appropriate recorded music. The story of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, whose birthday anniversary falls on Nov. 12, will be briefly told. The program will be conducted by Shirley Wood and Prof. Shao Chang Lee of the language department.

Post Game Gathering Open to All Students; Will Feature Games

The Interfaith council will sponsor its first function of the year this afternoon when it will play host to all students at a social get-together in Demonstration hall. The affair will begin immediately after the football game, and games and community singing will be the theme of the afternoon's entertainment.

Interfaith council was organized on campus in 1941 with its aim being to promote better understanding and further cooperation among the various religious groups on campus. The council is composed of two representatives from each of the religious organizations represented at State.

This year's officers are: Harold Dachtler, Charlotte senior, president; Jean Harrison, Detroit sophomore, vice-president; and Ruth Kangas, Hancock senior, secretary-treasurer. Serving as advisor is Rev. Earl McCullough, assistant pastor of Peoples church.

Niagara Falls originated seven miles north of its present location.
