Backfire

Just a word of reminder to all students, AVE doesn't stay that way. They haven't been forever, or will they ever. That was of exactly the same sort you couldn't write a word that that wasn't the same sort you couldn't write a word that.

Cello Master Gives Concert

The state at 115 the beautiful young woman, was the master of the cello in the Michigan State Auditorium. Perhaps the most brilliantly on the cello today was Donald Field, of Detroit. Donald Field is a particularly lovely visitor from Detroit, and particularly lovelier in his playing on that instrument with which Tchaikovsky was particularly affectionate. Mr. Field is accompanied by Vanda (Vanda) Gates, who does the cello playing of music of Boccherini. Mr. Field is a member of the State Auditorium orchestra. Mr. Field played without comment on the stage. Mr. Field's name is Boccherini, and the program consists of music written by a cellist of the same name. Mr. Field's name is Boccherini, and the program consists of music written by a cellist of the same name.

Detroir, Nov. 20-R.—B. Thomas, president of the University of Michigan, today called a strike of the 355,000 employees and students of the University. The strike was not named the name of the United Automobile Workers, but it was called a strike by all employees of the University. Minn: Nagle, German, No. 1—Twenty top-flight North German masters of Europe, all in a small, oak-paneled classroom today and listened to a five-hour recital of war crimes for which the University will answer.

The Michigan State News will be published with this issue until Tuesday, December 4, 1945, and the University of Michigan will resume, according to Managing Editor, John Donald, University."
THOUGHTS FOR THANKSGIVING, 1914.

Our prayers of Thanksgiving say a year ago have been answered. We shall, indeed, have to remember that a world-wide basis has ceased for the present. We bring not only the sacrifice of our sons, our grandchildren, and our fathers, but the sacrifice of those who fought, but were not killed.

"Killed, wounded, missing in action," families of our soldiers, brothers and sisters, husbands, wives, and children, who have lost their loved ones in battle.

The price for peace in an unfettered world has been paid. But this does not mean that we should not remember those who have died. We should, and we must, and we can.

Let us pray for strength and wisdom that we make this a better world to live in for our coming generations.

Miami to See Final Spartan Football Game

Charlie Buckman and his Spartans will close their 1945 football season this Friday night with a tilt against the University of Miami. The game will be played in the Orange Bowl, home stadium for the Miami team, and will start at 8:15 p.m.

Both the Spartans and the Hurricanes have chipped up impressive records and can be expected to produce a game well worth the attention of the fans

Miami alone will be enough to attract a large crowd, and both teams have fine cards for their fans in their coat check bags.

The Spartan defense this year can be attributed to the work of coach A. G. Church and Tom Benson, the team captain. Church is a former head coach of Illinois State, and Benson was a star halfback for the University of Illinois. Benson has earned the respect of every competitor he has entered against.

The Spartan offense is led by Dick Wicks, the tailback, and the fullback, who is also an outstanding halfback. Wicks has been a star all year, and is expected to lead his team to victory.

The Miami defense has been strengthened by the addition of Alvin Jones, the former Ohio State star, and the Miami offense has been bolstered by the arrival of Don Smith, the former Michigan State star. Smith has been a star all season, and is expected to lead his team to victory.

The game is expected to be a close one, and both teams will be giving their all to win. It is not expected to be a high-scoring game, and the fans can expect a hard-fought battle.

Inter-City Lines Add Modernized College Coaches

Shuffling will be more plentiful in college lines because of larger windows in the six new coaches that will be provided to the four-state public, according to James A. Clark, president of Inter-City Lines.

Six buses have been replaced by the Lakewood-Lotus route by General Motors coaches of the latest design.

Wound-up seats of plaited leather accommodate 38 passengers, which is an average of nine passengers other type buses used by the line.

Four of the buses are being used by the line this year, while the other two will be used next year.

The coaches will be used in the four-state area, and will be a big improvement over the old buses.

The new buses have room for 38 passengers, and are equipped with a large luggage compartment.

The old buses had room for only 30 passengers, and were not as comfortable as the new ones.

The new buses will be a great improvement for the passengers, and will be a big help to the line.

The line has been in operation for 20 years, and has always been a popular way to travel.

Ballet Theater Offers O'Henry's 'Gift of the Magi' As Theme

O. Henry's better known short story, "Gift of the Magi," has been transposed into ballet and will be given Tuesday night by the Ballet Theater.

"Gift of the Magi" has been called one of the most beautiful ballets from a personal point of view. The setting is a New York street with glimpses into an early 20th Century American city filled a beauty shop and a pawn shop. The plot is built around a young, husband and wife who wish to give each other a most desired Christmas gift and their sacrifice to make it possible.

Another dance to be presented is "Isadora." The next creation, "Interplay." This number is danced steps of formal ballet and counterparts them with a contemporary spirit. A series of children's names is the basis of the ballet with Martha Gould's "American Concertante" as the music.

Comedy in ballet is displayed in "Gershon" which tells of the musical domain of King Belshe, педe da's daughter and is termed the "flirt in the lavatory." The stag is a young woman, his wife, who is a daughter of King Belshe, pede da. The plots are told through the eyes of her son, who is in love with a beautiful maiden. She is discovered by the king's messenger, the son, and by Blackbird who is hunting for a wife.

As Blackbird's prisoner, the princess persuades him to save his wife, who has been married to Prince Suppler.

Cultural member of the evening is Martha Petri's "Sleeping Beauty" and "Prince Aurora" suite.

The setting represents the great ball in which the awakened Princess replaces her brother and marries Prince Charming.

"WE'RE MOVING RIGHT ALONG"

... BUT THE JOB HAS JUST BEGUN

Telephones equipment for civilians is beginning to flow from the factories. Michigan Bell's $10,200,000 expansion and improvement program is off to a good start, with projects costing over $5,000,000 already under way.

We've begun to install telephones in those areas where only limited wire and instruments are needed to provide service. By next spring, we expect to clear up virtually all orders of this type - more than one-third of the 125,000 waiting applications.

We are already taking other orders, cable must be produced, placed and spliced; complex switching equipment must be engineered, manufactured and fitted in with existing apparatus. In many cases, new buildings must be erected.

This work is being rushed. But the job is no big that it will be 1947 before there is a phone ready to serve everybody who wants a telephone. That means we must still ask your understanding and patience.
