Salt Shooters

Don Quixote says that a man must eat a peck of salt with his friend before he knows him. Maybe so, but the women who ate Syracuse, N. Y., junior Gerry Strong's cake last night are gunning for her. Gerry mistakenly put two tablespoons of salt instead of sugar in the whipped cream.

Current News

Professor Daugherty, of the physical science department, really gets a "charge" out of his lab sessions. Experimenting with positive and negative electricity, he demonstrated a small lightning bolt by using his thumb as a conductor. The teacher-rating scale would certainly credit him with a lot of spark.

Art Department To Display Books in Music Gallery

An exhibition of the 150 best children's books will be staged by the department of art on Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Music building gallery.

The complete book display will be sponsored Sunday afternoon only. However, the books found in the display cases and those colored illustrations which are featured on the gallery walls will continue to be shown through Sunday, Dec. 16.

This complete display has been loaned by local book-stores and libraries.

Outstanding Artists

Particularly significant in this display are the colored illustrations by such outstanding American artists as: Doris Lee, Rojanovsky, Vera Bock, Tenggren, Leinaid Marsh, James Dougherty, Wanda Gag, Woodi Ishmael, George Rey, Portinari, and Art Schaffner.

The subject matter is widely diversified. Among the multiplicity of themes are such imaginative ones as "Millions of Cats" and "Peter and the Wolf," Shakespeare's "Under the Greenwood Tree," Stevenson's verses and lively documentary accounts of people in other lands, illustrious figures in American history, art and music history, and of course an infinite variety of presentations on the theme of the Christmas story also will be presented.

Dr. Yen Stresses Change in China

By MORTON SMERLING

"Out of the last eight years of war in China a new people has been born," Dr. James Y. Yen, director of Chinese mass education movement, told the audience in Fairchild theater last night.

"They have a new sense of responsibility and dignity, an incorporated national conscience in the liberation of their long pent-up energies," he declared.

"Literacy is a crime against man and God when nothing is done about it," Dr. Yen postulated. "What the Chinese people needed was not brains, but opportunity, and have proven themselves both able and eager to learn. The Chinese people have been re-discovered," Yen asserted.

The speaker outlined the four fundamental difficulties in China: ignorance through illiteracy, poverty, disease, and misgov-

Student Council Sanctions Closed Parties in Lansing

Student council approved closed parties in Lansing during winter term last night, providing they are held at the Olds hotel, Porter hotel, YWCA, Woman's club, or at the Masonic temple in Lansing or East Lansing, according to Helen Fisher, Grand Haven senior, president.

Miss Fisher warned that all rules, including the car ban, pertaining to closed parties must be enforced or further parties of the organization will be suspended.

Car Ban Rule

The car ban ruling specifies that cars may be driven only to open formal dances on campus. Transportation may be provided for parties in Lansing through the bus company by chartering a bus, or previous arrangements may be made with the Michigan Cab company.

Setting next Tuesday as the final election of junior and senior class officers, the Student council also declared that voting will take place in the Union from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Men Vote

At the same time all men students are eligible to vote on the question of semi-formal or formal dress for all college dances winter term.

Miss Fisher added that the Student council wants suggestions from the student body for the revision of the constitution. These suggestions can be about any general or specific point that the student feels should be in his student constitution. Students may put any suggestions in a box which will be placed at the Union desk by the end of this week.

News in Brief

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Demands for an investigation of United States foreign policy swept Capitol hill today as legislators vigorously debated the charges levelled by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley against some of America's professional diplomats.

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 28 (AP)—British authorities in Bandoeng, replying to an Indonesian request for a truce, issued an ultimatum today that any Indonesian found in the northern half of the summer capital after noon tomorrow would be shot.

ernment, and illustrated how the mass education movement has gone ahead to deal with them. Looking to the future of China, Dr. Yen warned that "an industrial reconstruction unaccompanied by social and educational reconstruction would be a curse to the Chinese. China would become a gigantic sweat shop," he predicted.

"Thousands of China's best young people have drunk deep at the fountain of democracy in the United States, and are now leaders in various walks of life in China today. The American and Chinese republics both believe in the same way of life, and together can bring peace to the world," he stated.

"Let us make our victory in war a crusade for a better world, and not a crime, as we did after the first world war," Yen concluded.

Schuster to Direct College Orchestra

Concert to Stress Varied Themes

By BEATRICE WILSON

Alexander Schuster, professor of music, will direct the MSC symphony orchestra in a concert to be presented tonight at 8 in College auditorium.

The four compositions to be played, two of which are familiar to many, were written by four of the "giants of music" and are particularly beautiful, each in its own way.

Porpoise Queen, Court to Reign At Jenison Pool

Queen of the Aquatic Victory Parade of 1945 will be announced by members of Porpoise, men's swimming honorary, tomorrow night at 7:15 at the crowning ceremony at Jenison pool.

Porpoisemen will escort the women to Jenison pool where they will appear in formal evening gowns to "add glamour to the show," according to Coach Charles McCaffree.

During the show the women will be seated on a stage, and the queen will award prizes to winners following the competitive swimming events of high school swimmers.

Tickets for the aquatic program may be obtained from Porpoise members or at the Union desk.

Beethoven's overture to "The Men of Prometheus" is a ballet, and the only work of its type written by him. It was presented as a special compliment to Empress Maria Theresa in 1801. The Prometheus music is historically interesting in that it contains a theme which was later used for a contredanse, for variations in E flat, and for the finale of the Eroica Symphony.

Six Suites

Bach wrote six suites for unaccompanied cello, from one of which "Prelude and Fugue in C minor" is taken. Gomer L. Jones, of the music department, following Bach's structural plan, has composed additional parts so that the prelude appears as a toccata, and the fugue as a vigorous four-part form.

The whole composition is an example of the baroque music. The score is dedicated to Alexander Schuster and was first performed by him and the college orchestra in 1942.

Schubert's Work

The essential lyricism, the simplicity and sincerity, and the gift for inventing beautiful melody are displayed as the chief qualities of a romanticist, Schubert, in his great Symphony No. 8 in B minor, better known as the "Unfinished."

Unlike Beethoven, Schubert was not a brilliant craftsman, but though his symphonies suffer from a lack of compactness and structural integration, they contain irresistibly haunting melodies and are inspiring because of their warmth and tenderness.

The Overture-Fantasy "Romeo and Juliet" by Tschaikowsky does not outline the story of Shakespeare's great tragedy, but

LETTERS To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — All letters to the editor submitted with the intention of being published, must be signed by the writer. If he does not want his name to appear with the letter, it must be indicated. No letters will be considered for publication unless the writer is known. The opinions expressed are those of the writers and not necessarily those of the editors.

To the Editor:
From recent copies of the State News that occasionally drift in, I have become aware of another tempest brewing in MSC's teapot. On my last day as an ASTPR at MSC I bit the hand that was supposedly feeding me by expressing my opinions about the unwarranted "death" of The Spartan. And once again I'd like to say my piece and be gone.

This time I have no intention of being as vitriolic as I was in that other letter, despite a strong feeling that a 25 year old ex-navy pilot, and any other college student for that matter, is capable of safely, safely, and properly operating a motor vehicle. If I know all the facts behind the automobile ran I might be prompted to rant again, but for now I should like to point out these facts:

Michigan State college is potentially one of America's leading state colleges. It has a physical plant comparable to some of the more heavily endowed and privately supported schools in the country. Academically, MSC presents an agricultural department, a physical education department, a chemistry and engineering department that are recognized and respected by acknowledged authorities all over the United States. These are plain and simple facts of which the student body and the taxpayers of the state can well be proud.

But can these taxpayers and students be proud of an institution and its faculty, that, with apparent unconcern for opinions of a student body, take such reactionary and high handed action as has been taken in the cases involving the automobile ban and the demise of The Spartan?

It's not just a matter of an unorganized student body idly sitting by, muttering obscenities between its teeth, while watching their rights and privileges being stolen, but a matter of a faculty entering into something with which it should have but little concern.

Student activities and organizations, so long as they are not detrimental to the reputation and functioning of a school, should be of secondary importance to a faculty primarily concerned with academic pursuits.

Can MSC's faculty honestly state that a few raucous or even lewd cartoons in The Spartan, and the student operation of cars, hinder the school's operations or taint its reputation? Can MSC faculty members claim primary occupation with academic problems when the ASTP language program met with far less success than army records might lead one to believe?

I am an outsider so far as MSC is concerned, and by choice I wish to remain so. But out of fairness to a student body that has taken it on the chin from the high and mighty since 1942, and as one who took it along with that body for nine months, I feel that this opportunity must be taken to ask the college faculty to return to its caps and gowns and wholesome relationship with the minds that it molds to a very large degree; and to permit the student body a return to the normal, comparatively unrestricted, college life which so many left in order to fight a war.

Sincerely,
Harry L. Hampton, Jr.

certain parts of it symbolize the sympathetic Friar Lawrence, the dramatic contact between the two great families of Verona, the Montagues and the Capulets, and the beautiful love scene with two of Tchaikowsky's most poignant themes, one of which was made into the popular song "Our Love."

Though "Romeo and Juliet" was one of Tchaikowsky's early works, it remains one of the most vigorous, intense, and moving of all his compositions.

MSC Wrestling Match Slated to Begin Monday

All-College Tournament to Discover Hidden Talent in Preparation For Varsity Team; Two Lettermen Form Basis of Squad

All entries for the 1945 MSC all-college wrestling tournament must be in to Fendley A. Collins, MSC mat coach, by 8 p.m. tomorrow. The elimination contests will begin at 4:30 p.m. Monday and continue until Wednesday. The events will be staged in the wrestling room of Jenison gym.

According to Collins, each weight division should possess at least four men in order to make the tourney highly successful. One or two more entries are badly needed in the 128 pound and 136 pound divisions.

Inexperienced Men
Experience is not a prerequisite. All men are eligible except those who have won the tournament previously. Inexperienced men need not fear competing against lettermen or those who have taken laurels in previous tourneys.

Coach Collins asserted "this annual all-college contest provides great opportunity for the student and for the varsity team. Four members of the present varsity were participants in last year's affair. Most successful perhaps was Gale Mikles, Shiavook, Okla., sophomore, who not only won a place on the varsity but also went on to win the NAAU championship at 145 pounds."

Daily Workouts
Workouts for contestants and varsity are held daily in the wrestling room of Jenison gym from 4 to 6 p.m. The wrestlers are working hard and progressing satisfactorily, according to their coach.

Two men have been nursing injuries recently. Jack Orr, 165-pound former letter winner from Birmingham, is still favoring a neck injury and Jack Ivory, Detroit, seems to be almost fully recovered from a back injury that has kept him from heavy workouts the last two weeks.

Coach Collins has Burl Boring, Penca City, Okla., letterman, and Gale Mikles working out with each other at present. The coach remarked, as he watched them at work, "great wrestlers develop in pairs. Gale and Burl are fortunate to have each other to work with."

Officer of Indianapolis Faces Court Martial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd commissioned officer of the heavy cruiser Indianapolis lost in the Philippines sea, will face a general court martial here beginning Monday.

Former MSC Man to Play For All-Stars

The sixth annual renewal of the classic All-Star World Professional Champions basketball team will be presented tomorrow night before a capacity crowd of 22,000 persons in the Chicago stadium. The All-Stars are pitted this time against the Fort Wayne Zollner team and it will be the outstanding event of the basketball season.

One of the contestants in the game will be Lt. Tom King, Jr., freshman at State in the fall of 1942. King played with the Michigan team when he was stationed at the university with the marines. A Big Ten scoring leader last year, King once scored 109 points over a span of eight games. His father, Tom King, is the present Dean of Men at State.

Fifteen of the finest athletes in collegiate and service basketball last season form this year's All-Star squad. For the sixth straight year Arthur "Dutch" Lobberg, Northwestern's head coach will direct the team. He will be assisted by Hank Iba, who led his team to the National Collegiate Athletic association championship in 1944.

Members of the All-Star squad include Eddie Ehlers of Purdue; Bruce Hale, Wright field; Tom King, Michigan; Arnie Ferrin, Utah; Harvey Boykoff, St. Johns; Paul Cloyd, Wisconsin; Milo Komnich, Wyoming; Bob Kurland, Oklahoma, A&M. Other players are Sid Tanenbaum of N.Y.U.; Don Grate, Ohio State; Freddie Lewis, Eastern Kentucky; Dwight Eddleman, Illinois; Eber Simpson, West Point, and Murray Menderchall from Rice Institute. A starting line-up of five that would average over 6' 3" tall could be chosen from this aggregation.

Studio Theater To Give Three Plays Tonight

Studio theater will present three plays tonight at 7:15 in room 49 College auditorium, according to Paul Geisenhof, advisor for the group.

"Sparkin'" will be directed by Helen Kroll. Included in the cast are: Audra Hatch, Marshall sophomore; Lee Kirkby, Lansing sophomore; Muriel Peabody, Marshall sophomore; and Duane Watkins, Osseo freshman.

June McNutt will direct the second play, "Indian Summer". The cast includes: Marion Cannon, Toledo, O., sophomore; Dave Broderick, Grand Rapids freshman; Peter Cole, East Lansing freshman; and Verlene Parent, Grand Rapids senior.

The third play, "Nobody Sleeps", is under the direction of Robert Wall of the written and spoken English department. Members of the freshmen cast are: Wayne Norton, Newberry; Frances Reilly, Decatur, Ga.; Lucille Miller, Detroit; Joan Trangmar, Douglaston, N.Y.; and Marilyn Pierson, East Lansing.

Don't forget to remember Christmas gifts for the Yanks who gave.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

TONIGHT the intramural volleyball tournament rounds its last lap. The tournament was composed of 45 teams, which now have been narrowed down to two, the Alpha Phis and South Campbell dormitory.

The semi-finals, which were played off Tuesday night, displayed some of the fiercest playing of the tournament.

Reverting to the block play-offs, Block 1 winners, Precinct 1 and 3, were bowled over by the score of 59 to 14 by the Alpha Phis, Block 2 winners. The Chi Omegas drew a by and rested while the Gamma Phi Betas, Block 4 champs, overwhelmed the Pi Beta Phis, Block 3, by 42 to 18.

South Campbell's score of 30 to 19 cancelled the Kappa Alpha Thetas' opportunity for the top position in the block. Because of a tie the two teams battled each other twice.

The four teams left for the semi-finals were the Chi Omegas versus the Alpha Phis, and the Gamma Phi Betas against South Campbell. In one very exciting hour the Alpha Phis took top honors by downing the Chi Omegas by a margin of six points, 28 to 22.

Ending up on the same side of the fence as the Phis was South Campbell. Forty points went to the independent girls, while 11 points were piled up by the Gamma Phis.

Tonight the Alpha Phis and South Campbell battle for the final victory. The winning team will be the champion of the tournament. The game is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. in the Women's gym.

With the volleyball tournament nearly at an end, other sports are about to take its place. Those students interested in playing badminton may practice at the Women's gym from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Five sports will occupy the interest and time of State coeds next winter term. Bowling, one of the major ones, is expected to get a good start before the end of fall term.

The first tournament scheduled is the National Telegraphic meet which begins Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Spartan alleys. Today is the deadline to sign up. Those interested may sign up in the Women's gym or call Lou Coolman.

Sociologists Set Discussion Date

The fall meeting of the Michigan Sociological society will be held at Michigan State college tomorrow, Dr. Charles P. Loomis, head of the sociology and anthropology department, announced.

The opening session will begin at 9:45 a.m., with Dr. Charles R. Hoffer, associate professor of sociology on campus, acting as chairman.

A luncheon and business meeting will be presided over by Henry J. Ryskamp, social science professor at Calvin college, Grand Rapids.
