Building to Start
On Three Dorms, New Apartment

Construction of a new women’s dormitory, two men’s dormitories, and an apartment-type housing for married students will start immediately according to Karl H. R. Linn, Alpha Kappa Delta’s national chairman. The Board approved the plans at a special meeting, with the hope that the buildings will be completed before the start of next fall term.

The construction company of Lansing and the building company, also of Lansing, have been chosen to erect the dormitories.

The Benning company will have the contract for the men’s dormitory and the Christian company, the women’s dormitory and the halls.

Estimations of the total costs for the men’s dormitories are $2,000,000, for the women’s dormitory, $1,000,000, and for the married students apartment unit, $1,000,000.

The Board of Agriculture also let a contract to the Christian company for the excavation for the water storage, building, and a food storage tank.

The cost for this is $500,000.

The art department has also been given permission to construct an art gallery, according to Howard Church, head of the art department.

The purpose of the display is to show the progress of correlating artistic productions with the rest of the plans for the building.

The book exhibits have been prepared by the art students of the art and East Lansing libraries.

Members of the art fraternity, Kappa Sigma, is working with the faculty of the art department in the exhibit, special meeting with the art students.

So It Is

Dan Gladwyne was talking his dog, "If you stand there. at a couple of streets, you can’t know," Dr. Gladwyne exclaimed.

He nodded his head at the time, "This is the best he has ever had. He has a look as you do you have to sit and wait. "You sit..."

What has that to Tommy Dorsey? Not the weekend. So far as we know, it’s strictly FESTIVE Joyners.

It's been a long, long time since I last wrote to you. The last time was again several months ago. I cannot help but be interested anymore since I feel rather the same way I did that time. It is one of the finest performances of the year. I want you to know that nobody can do justice to the score as well as we do. The music was just for the local friends. The next performance of the season will be in November.

Miles Admits Knowing Of Pre-Pearl Harbor

Japanese Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Franklin D. Roosevelt has acknowledged that he was aware of Japanese activities in the Far East prior to the Pearl Harbor attack. Roosevelt said that he had received a report of Japanese activities in the Pacific area.

That was an unexpected turn in the story, which has been developing rapidly. The report, according to sources close to the President, was received last week and formed the basis of the decision to take action against Japan.

Newspapers in Washington were supplied with the story before it was announced publicly. The President is expected to address the nation on the matter shortly. The facts are now being clarified and will be released later.
