Breslin to Play With All-Stars

By BILL PAGE

Once again Fullback Jack Breslin has been honored with an invitation to play in the annual East-West all-star football classic on New Year's day. Each year many of the outstanding players from eastern colleges travel to San Francisco to play against a similar all-star lineup from western colleges.

This is the second consecutive year that State's big captain has been picked to participate in the event. Breslin received a telegraphic invitation yesterday and has said that he will accept. The invitation came from Bernie Eberman, head coach at Minnesota, who will have charge of the East team this year.

Extra-curricular Activities

Although Breslin's name has become familiar to State students chiefly through his athletic

Farm Conference Meets at State

The first annual Farm Building conference will take place in the auditorium of the Music building today and tomorrow.

Attending the meeting will be material dealers, factory representatives, local builders, county agricultural agents, 4-H club agents, farmers and others interested in this field. These men will discuss farm building problems and try to establish permanent facilities for developing a sound progressive building program for rural Michigan.

Dean E. L. Anthony, of the school of agriculture, will present an address of welcome at the opening of the conference this morning.

A banquet will be held in the main dining room of the Union building this evening. Toastmaster will be Jim Hayes, assistant professor in dairy extension work.

UMW Attacks Truman Plan To Curb Labor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers opened an angry attack today on President Truman's program to curb big strikes, while in the house plans were announced to rush action on the legislation before Christmas.

The UMW issued a statement calling the Truman recommendations a "foolish bill to revamp and strait-jacket American industrial relations."

"General MacArthur," said the statement, "has ordered an end to enslaved labor in Japan by ordering the repeal of an anti-strike law passed in 1938, sponsored by the Jap military authorities. Mr. Truman proposes to transplant it here."

Legislation

The President called for legislation which would create fact-finding commissions to inquire into major disputes. Work stoppages would be barred while the boards were operating.

The President also announced he would name shortly fact-finding boards to look into the current General Motors strike, and the threatened steel strike. He called on the CIO United Auto Workers to go back to work, and appealed to the CIO steel workers not to strike.

erations was expressed by H. W. Anderson, personnel vice-president of General Motors corporation.

On Capitol hill, acting chairman Ramspeck of the house labor committee told reporters a bill embodying the Truman request will be introduced tomorrow. Hearings, he said, will be held to a minimum, with witnesses to appear for organized labor, the national association of manufacturers, the chamber of commerce and the labor department.

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Phillip Murray of the CIO tonight rejected President Truman's proposals for ending strikes and charged that the federal administration has "completely ignored human rights" in the current industrial problems.

AWS Changes Sunday Rule

AWS judicial-legislative council ruled at its meeting last night that women students will be allowed to use late permissions on Sunday nights, according to Pres. Sue Averill, Birmingham senior.

Revoking the ruling banning Sunday night permissions that went into effect this fall, last night's decision makes it possible for coeds to have 12 midnight permission on Sunday as well as other nights of the week. The privilege, however, is "to be used with discretion, and any infringement on the midnight curfew will be dealt with severely." Each coed is allowed only six late permissions per term.

AWS council, employing a trial and error method, revoked its original ruling because it proved unsatisfactory. The council recognized that emergencies can occur on Sunday as well as on any other night of the week, that house-mothers must stay up until midnight anyway for women with working permission, and that women coming in late from out of town are apt to remain out all night if late minutes accrue after 10:30.

Union Board Lists Activity Schedule For Winter Term

At its final meeting of the term last night, the executive council of Union board concluded its fall term activities and announced a schedule of events for winter.

Opening winter term will be two weekend parties. Friday Frolic, which includes record dancing and games, will be held Jan. 4, followed by a date dance Saturday night in the ballroom of the Union.

"Spartan Varieties" will come to life again starting Jan. 19, when it will be broadcast from Party-Party, regular Saturday afternoon entertainment feature.

Another regular event will be a student-faculty coffee hour to be held each Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Union lounge. The board decided to make the coffee hour a weekly affair following the success of the first one which was held last week.

The council granted a leave of absence to Ginny Collins, Grosse Pointe junior, and appointed Sue Littlefield, Eaton Rapids sophomore, secretary to take charge of art and posters for Union board during Miss Collins' absence winter term.

Final action of the board was a decision to retire senior members at the beginning of spring term, so that the new executive council may become oriented under the supervision of retiring members.

Five Senior Women Sign WAA Honor Roll

Over 100 women attended the Women's Athletic association fall term banquet last night, at which honors were awarded to those women who have earned the required number of WAA points. These points are acquired by participation in WAA activities and athletics.

The privilege of signing the honor roll, for which 100 points are required, is the highest honor which can be gained in WAA. Five senior women attained this goal. They are:

The first award presented is the "S". Fifty-six women received this honor, given after attaining 100 points.

The intramural volleyball plaque was presented to South Campbell by Miss Dorothy Parker, associate professor of physical education for women. This is the first time a dormitory has won the plaque in several years.

The banquet program was based on a Christmas theme, with Pat Bolander, Lapeer junior, acting the part of Santa Claus.

Hits the Spot

Is the world a safe place to live? That's the question that seems to be bothering Drew Broder, Detroit freshman, who found himself the victim of circumstances yesterday.

While waiting for a friend in the speech and drama office at the auditorium, Broder's face at the auditorium, he saw two chunks of sound proof ceiling suddenly broke away from the upper regions and fell on his forehead. Along with the catastrophe, a fluorescent light fixture also found its way to the same target. Broder's condition is reported to be improving.

Lost and Found

A round-up of white rats took place in the Home Ec building after some unknown and sympathetic admirer released them from captivity. The rats were being used for experimental purposes in laboratory tests.

One remaining white rat is still reported missing but authorities are aware of its vicinity and capture of the varment is expected within 24 hours.

Award Presented For Achievement To Ruth Koffel

Climaxing the Ellen H. Richards reception in the Home Economics building last night, Ruth Koffel, Kalamazoo senior, was presented with the Borden award which amounts to $300.

The award was made by Dean Lane Dye "to the senior who has made the most outstanding achievement during her college years."

Prior to the presentation, Miss Dye gave a brief sketch of the life of Ellen H. Richards to an audience of more than 300 students and faculty members of the school of home economics. She related some of Mrs. Richards' many accomplishments in the field of home economics and chemistry, as well as her philosophy of teaching which was "We would teach not how to make a living but how to live."

At the close of Miss Dye's talk, Miss Maude Gilchrist, first dean of home economics at State, related her last meeting with Ellen Richards and the inspiration which Mrs. Richards left for furthering the study of home economics.

President of the Home Economics club Pat Easley, Trenton senior, acted as mistress of ceremonies. Refreshments were prepared and served by a special team in fancy cookery which was sponsored by Miss Beatrice Bant, associate professor of nutrition.

This Is No Time to Quit

When the battle is three-fourths won, it is no time to quit. That may sound like a platitude for, of course, no general and no soldier ever thought of retreating on the road to victory. Even when the going is tough, the soldier keeps on, ever mindful that one step backward means two hard steps to push forward again.

The soldier and the general know: But what about us? There has been a battle going on in our community for 41 years, a battle in which each of us should be participating. It is a battle against a disease, the battle against tuberculosis. The soldiers in this battle are volunteers, who have "signed up" because they want to serve humanity.

Forty-one years ago a group of these volunteers, both laymen and physicians, formed the National Tuberculosis association for the purpose of conquering a disease which at the time was the first cause of death in this country.

Today the National Tuberculosis association has 2,500 affiliated state and local associations, each with a well-planned campaign for attacking the enemy in this country — on home territory. The campaign has so far met with a large degree of success, for the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut 75 percent. Still, TB today kills more people between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease.

The battle is three-fourths won, but victory is not yet attained. The forward march must continue, and it will continue if we, you and I, support the organizations which are directing the campaign. We can do this by purchasing our full quota of Christmas seals. These seals furnish the ammunition for the battle against tuberculosis, and they are the sole support of the local tuberculosis association which is fighting for the health of this community.

The sale of stamps which is being sponsored on campus by the AWS activity board, needs and deserves the cooperation of every MSC student, for in buying the seals we are saying, "You've done a good job. Keep it up until final victory."

Breslin is also Union board president, a member of Student Council and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Active in football, he is slated to play as a representative of State in the East-West all-star game this year. He captained last year's team and was elected the most valuable player.

Vice-president

Miss Fox, new senior vice-president, is vice-president of Mortar Board, a senior representative to AWS, and is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Incoming secretary, Miss Johnson, member of Alpha Phi sorority, has been a junior representative to AWS and a freshman orientation leader.

Jack Carrier is president of Sigma Nu, a member of the swimming team and Porpoise swimming honorary. He is a past president of Interfraternity council.

Junior President

Newly elected president of the junior class, Bob Carrier, is an air corps ex-bombardier, a member of Sigma Nu, varsity club and track team.

Miss Matte is a member of the Big Sister council, a freshman orientation leader, and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She has worked on the State News and Wolverine staffs.

Betty Middleton, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, is co-chairman of freshman orientation and a member of the Big Sister council. Miss Cade was a member of Tower Guard, has worked on the Wolverine staff, and is treasurer of Town Girls club.

Football Past

Breslin's football record at State is very impressive. In 1944 his teammates voted him the most valuable player on Spartan team. He was also recipient of the governor's award for American achievement, and coveted Croix de Guerre, was presented to him by the major general at the annual ball dinner.

Breslin's steady running and line backing were a feature of numerous State games this fall.

MSC Faces Great Lakes In Opening Home Season

Powerful Bluejacket Team To Challenge Spartans Tonight in First of 11 Home Games on Jenison Fieldhouse Floor

At 8 tonight State's basketball quintet will take the floor against the powerful Great Lakes Bluejackets. The game is the first of the season for Spartan home fans.

Following the Bluejacket team, other strong cage squads will come to Jenison fieldhouse for a total of 11 home games on the Spartan 21 game schedule. Opponents include Michigan, Ohio State, Minnesota, Kentucky, Notre Dame, and Wisconsin.

Although defeated in their first start by Wright field, 64-51, the Great Lakes team will be favorites tonight when they meet the Spartans. They will start an experienced five built around Mel Riebe, former professional star and high scorer.

High Pro-man

Last year, playing with the Cleveland Allmans, Riebe rolled up 606 points in 30 games, to set a new National Professional League scoring record. Continuing this red hot pace against Wright field, he scored 24 points to lead both teams.

Paired with Riebe at the other guard will be Ned Grable; at the forwards will be Lloyd Pettit and Tony Orlando; and 6'5" Jack Pfeiffer will start at center. Pettit and Pfeiffer both had Big Ten experience before entering the service; Pettit at Northwestern, and Pfeiffer at Ohio State.

Great Lakes Leads
The Great Lakes team will take the floor tonight in an attempt to make it three out of four from the Spartans in the last four years. State won 33-31 in 1942, but the sailors came back to win twice in 1943, 38-34 and 56-39. Over this same period the Bluejackets have won 130 games while dropping only 16.

Starting Teams

Opposing these navy men, Coach Van Alstyne will start nearly the same team which played Michigan last Saturday night. The one exception is that Gilbe White will start at guard, paired with Pat Pepler. White

Alert, Aggressive Danny Pajesky Holds Down Guard Spot on Team

In most cases a basketball guard is smaller in stature and more aggressive in nature than his fellow teammates. Fulfilling these characteristics is Danny Pajesky, one of the guard on this year's Spartan cage squad.

Pajesky stands 5'11" and plays an extremely aggressive game, both on offense and defense. Compared to the majority of the college cagers, Danny is not particularly large, but he makes up his deficit in height by his alertness and speed. An adept ball handler, he uses his speed to advantage by bringing the ball down in the fast break system utilized by the Spartans. Danny is of Polish descent and is 23 years old. A war veteran, he served for a 12-month period in the European theater and was involved in the "bulge" of last December. Back in 1942 he was a member of the Spartan cage

Three Men Take Top Honors In College Wrestling Bouts

Finals in Meet To Be Held This Afternoon; Heavyweight Class Match Holds Interest

In the second day of the current wrestling tourney, four all-college champions were crowned. The crowning of champs in three divisions will await the finish of the eliminations at 4:30 p.m. today.

Newly crowned mat kings include: Kenny Kleidon at 165 pounds, Ralph Strouf in the 145-pound weight, Alex Schmidt, 136-pound champ, and Bill Covey in the 128-pound class.

Heavyweight Bout

Champions are yet to emerge from the light-heavyweight class, the 155-pound division, and the heavyweight bracket. Today's action will bring together Harold Dachtler and Bob Maldegren for the heavyweight championship of the college. Maldegren has the advantage in weight and speed. However, Dachtler is the more experienced.

Light-heavyweight Jack Ivory meets Tom Pappas for the crown in that class. Both of these men has shown speed and aggressiveness in previous bouts. Frank Carey engages Ed Bobit for the 155-pound prize.

Yesterday's Champs

Last night spectators in the wrestling room of the gym saw heavyweight Harold Dachtler and Bob Maldegren triumph over Reid Pierce, and Maldegren forced a pin on Fred in four minutes and 57 seconds.

Third place in the heavyweight division is to be decided today. Competition for third place includes Arnel Rowman, Bill Fred, John Ruppel and Reid Pierce.

A thrill packed bout saw Kenny Kleidon take a hard earned decision over Frank Stubbs. Frank Carey emerged triumphant over Bob Elmeridee for the right to wrestle Edward Bobit in another 155 semi-final bout. Carey put a speedy pin on Elmeridee in one minute and 21 seconds.

145-Pound Class

Action in the 145-pound class saw Ralph Strouf take a hotly contested decision from Eugene Parker. By defeating Parker, Strouf became the 145-pound champion. In the finals for third place Bob Wilkinson was on the pleasant end of a 5-2 decision over James Crenander.

Mike Walker dropped a decision in the finals for 136-pound honors to Alex Schmidt. This weight bracket also saw Lee Fullman take a 5-4 decision over Bob Hewitt for third place. It took Fullman three minutes of Bill Covey came out on the long end of a decision over Jack Kreiner. In winning, Covey became ruler of all 128-pound men. Harry Haight took a third place overtime to accomplish the feat, win over Leslie Belknap in the 128-pound class.

Tonight will decide the three remaining championships in question. Also a lot more light will be shed on the subject of "Who's Who on the MSC mat."

SHOPPING SORTIE

"HIM AND HER" CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

By PAT DELAHUNTE

NOW'S the time, guys and gals, to drag last year's Christmas spirit out of moth balls and heed that old proverb, "Shop early for Christmas."

The shops can supply almost anything for those lucky persons on one's shopping list, but it's first come, first served.

For the gal who is pondering what to get roommate Sally, here's something that hasn't been seen since before the war. Leibermans are featuring the jiffy coin purse, with a metal zipper. Of real stuff, calf-skin with a leather lining, this handy gadget comes in red, green, blue, brown, and black.

Because it can be attached to a coed's notebook ring, or tucked away in her purse, it is a hard-to-lose money guarder. The price is $1.50 plus federal tax.

There's more than one way to warm a girl's heart this season. The Mademoiselle shop suggests gloves or mittens of hand crocheted wool, and reverses the old saying to "warm hands, warm heart." No matter what one's favorite color may be, it can be found in this selection of cold wind chasers. In plain styles, or with peasant embroidery, the mittens, $4.00, gloves, $6.00.

As advice to the love-trapped man whose dream gal wants so many things he can't narrow it down to one item, he should stop in at Jacobson's and see the Helena Rubenstein Heaven Scent and Apple Blossom sets, consisting of dusting powder, perfume, and cologne. These lovely luxuries range from $2.00 to $4.00.

For the big man on campus whose exam-muddled brain can't produce a gift idea for side-kick Slug, Sam's is offering a complete new selection of Botany Wembley neckwear in solid colors and new patterns, at $1.00.

Any fellow would be glad to get a sharp imported cashmere scarf. Hurd's are showing these in maroon, yellow, and camel, ranging from $4.35 to $4.90.

The perplexed coed who's one-and-only won't give out with a glimmer of a gift hint, will want to see the compact cigarette lighters at Small's. The rectangular mercury is made of doll metal alloy and is priced at $4.59.

Well worth mentioning to the family as a gift reminder are the reptile traveling cases, fitted with Beauty Counsellor cosmetics, in red, black, green, or brown, which sell for $18.00.
