Alert, Aggressive Danny Pajesky
Holds Down Guard Spot on Team

In most cases a basketball guard is smaller in stature and more aggressive in nature than his fellow teammates. Pulling his share of the key to Danny Pajesky, one of the guard on the basketball team, is a problem for many a team. In his first game on the team, he scored a high of 12 points and made six points as a substitute against the Wolverines.

Sam Portino and Bob Robichaud will start at forwards, and Matt Matta, John Cummins, and Bill Kroll will alternate at centers. Johnny Glemork, of Horn, and the Pajesky, Horn, is certain to see action on forward positions, while Dan Pajesky and Todd Waddington appear likely prospects to play the guards.
