Letter Writing A Student Plan

State Senator Harold D. Tripp acceded to the Michigan State Planning Commission's recommendation inviting students to bring pressure on the state legislature with the writing of letters. The letters should be informed of the facts. The letters were run off by the Student council and the ROTC-revised or, on their own initiative.

The attitude that college students are children incapable of individual, intelligent, thought aside, appears to be a popular misconception among the old folks.

Trade Barriers Peril ERP

The European Recovery Program is designed to provide the essential raw materials, foodstuffs, and equipment which the European countries need in order to produce their own products. To popularize it is based on the fact that if it is designed to enable the European countries to produce and expand their industries and grow themselves in a position to trade with each other and the rest of the world.

Without a lowering of world trade barriers, however, these countries cannot get back to their feet and contribute to world economic recovery. Without export, they will be unable to pay for ERP aid, or for materials for future manufacturing. And the manufactured goods for export mean less imports; a situation which would spell the end of the advantages gained by putting the ERP in motion will spell the end of the present world trade controls.

"No Debts Allowed"

By Pat McCarthy

The chances of putting the "No Debts Allowed" program into effect is still not too bright. A typical attitude was expressed in a letter to the Student council from Sue G. Ehsed Dencer, an MTS alumnus.

The letter acknowledged a "number of letters from alumni, saying the passage of the capital nation bill will affect the present trusteeship of the bill caused by students, which were planned on the bill by the House administration, to come as news to the old-timers, who wonder the state does not have.

The House members, says the writer, should be studying the Senate rather than the Senate should be studying the House.

So the Senate Finance Committee, which is the gatekeeper of the economic "No Debts Allowed." The policy of the committee means that, if the letter is not to be ignored, then the committee members will have to get on with this business.

The students are expressing views as individuals rather than as health officers of the administration.

Most of the students at Michigan State College have not been observed as eligible voters. Student affairs here have not been so regular in their official capacity in writing their views to the students of the Michigan Senate and House.

Pays off the ROTC

Tripp is backing up the house tree, instead of compensating, about student lobbying by mail, he should accept those letters as an expression of dissatisfaction among his constituents.

It is up to the United States — the "front of the economic world" in accepting the responsibility of leading others to work for a more prosperous, and more peaceful world. American industry will benefit because parts will increase in the importing countries are able to pay for them. It is because of the growing importance of world trade that this work has been designated "World Trade Work."

The World Agreements are made by the United States representatives and those of one or more other countries to work out an agreement on the measure of trade. This agreement, in turn, leads to the exchanges of trade rights, essential to world economic stability.
