Advice Offered Students Facing Military Service

From the editorial page of the St. Louis Star-Times comes word to young men expecting to enter the armed services. The editorial is directed primarily at young men in high school and college who are discouraged and adopting the "What's the use?" philosophy. Yet, the better side of youth are tried not to read this fear of choosing uptake.

YOUNG FRIENDS,

We understand well your feelings, ignorance over the project that your country is engaged in, America's part in it. We understand that you are afraid to join the armed forces. But you fear to do nothing. They say that if you do nothing, you are no better than the traitors.

We are going to try to explain to you why you need to join the armed forces. There have been no peace terms that haven't been fulfilled. But it is a good plan—no you for now, then to do a lot of good to the world to be made for you and your future.

This is the condition of your country and the world. You are faced with a choice: to join the armed forces, to be trained, to help defend the world, or to be left out of the solution. It means that you are faced with a choice: to be free from the people who have misled and injured you, or be free from your country.

Advice to Students:

1. Join the armed forces: It is the only way to prevent the world from being dragged into another war.
2. Train yourself: It is the only way to prepare yourself for the future.
3. Avoid the draft: It is the only way to avoid being drafted.

News Editor Says Passage Of Law Would Avoid Mistake

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON — The so-called "great debate" now facing the Senate and the House on the Foreign Aid bill has developed, in the main, around the question of how much money should be channeled to foreign governments. It was revealed here today that a provision in the bill which would provide for the sale of surplus goods to foreign countries in return for foreign aid has been dropped. This provision was included in the bill at the request of several foreign governments, which had expressed a desire to have surplus goods made available to them at low prices.
