New School Created by State Board

Education Division Elevated in Status

MSC's Division of Education will become the School of Education July 1. The change was approved by the State Board of Control yesterday, in its monthly meeting in Lansing, and will take effect July 1.

Args in Debate

Most of the arguments in the debate centered around the question of whether the division should remain as it is, or be elevated to school status. The latter view was advocated by a number of board members, who felt that the present division was too small to handle the growing number of students seeking education and training in the field.

Athletic Aid — In the Open

A lot of new rules and resolutions have been passed lately to deemphasize athletics. The American Council on Education, the U.S.A., and the National Association have passed decrees of varying effectiveness with this end in mind.

But the drive toward deemphasis has missed a point as far as the top brass in athletics is concerned. The maximum allowance for the normal public desire to see college-level sports. Colleges and universities have become hamstrung as the sponsors of great amateur athletics. But these schools have tried to turn their amateurists into professionals to provide an even higher caliber of athletes. They have gone too far. The result has been combat and the money scandals which led to this deemphasis program.

There is no need, however, for the pendulum to swing to the other extreme. The balance of athletics under a strictly academic program would be very low. In fact, it would seem silly to maintain it at all.

What colleges need is a program which will give athletes the chance to realize their capabilities, the same thing it would do for the education of our other students.

The underclassmen in a program that most colleges try to keep their professional athletes on an amateur standing can't help but be discouraged. A certain amount of outright legal aid could be regulated. Even the amateur athletes should be made to realize that some type of aid to athletics is inevitable. Bringing it into the open with hypocrisy will only keep them in.

An athlete who is serious about his ability and wants to keep up his studies, too, is not capable of supporting himself with an outside job. Athletes who need financial help should get it. Not the converted-with-heard-rumors type, but enough to pay the freight without causing hardship.

While colleges are looking for athletic ability and not mental genius, perhaps athletic scholarships could be a little more liberal. A man who has been given recognition for his athletic exploit should not be looked on as a second rate student, but his possible ability should be shown to be a junior Einstein as well.

Know-how-needed

With the opening of a new era for far as class officers are concerned, the challenge of new responsibilities and work for the coming senior class. The works of this year's Senior Council are an example of a job not completely done, but a job that can be improved upon in years to come.

A class president is shouldered with extensive work that should be delegated to responsible people, particularly when the president himself is to be a graduating senior. In the case of this year's senior class, work delegations were not always carried out in the best manner.

The variety show which was scheduled for last week never was able to find how to become a reality because of the lack of enthusiasm and of the non-college-wise students where an event is planned it should be carried through or else not scheduled as planned.

The present program of events for the senior class would be a good model for the Sinister of other classes. To borrow one of his ideas, some traditional affair, Seniors should plan for a dance which will be the last dance of the season. In order to have it, Seniors should have to start planning early in the fall.

The most important thing which has to be done and the Seniors have which has so far this year been a flop table tennis. Work has been started, but it's too late to bring it to a horse and disinterested class. Such affairs should be the center of a well-planned and social event.

In conclusion, the Senior class can gain a lot in this situation, and will, after the event is run, be a great opportunity for the college to show what it can do with the proper people to the leadership.

Arrangement, about the right people is necessary for the success of any self-organized series of activities. However, there is always the possibility of some success without publicity. The two go hand in hand.

Mat Show to Raise U.S. Olympic Funds

Del Thoma, Michigan State physical education instructor, who will wrestle for Uncle Sam in the Olympics this summer, will headline a special wrestling show in Lansing next week to raise Olympic team funds.

The show will feature several outstanding wrestlers from various wrestling schools, including Del Thoma's brother, Larry Fowler, and John Schlademan, assistant coach of the University of Michigan wrestling team. The show will also feature a special performance by the University of Michigan's own team.

Del Thoma, who is currently training for the Olympics, will wrestle in several matches during the show. His performances are expected to draw a large crowd, and the proceeds from the show will go directly to support his Olympic dreams.
