Grads Flock to Campus For Annual Alumni Day

Approximately 1,000 Alums Return to MSC

Many Changes Seen By Former Students

"Approximately 1,000 old souls returned home from war and for last weekend to join in the annual Alumni Day festivities," said Dr. John E. Hannah, President. "It was a 30-year reunion for some, a 40-year reunion for others and a 60-year reunion for some of our older alumni."

Hannah described many changes that have taken place since the last Alumni Day. "The student body has grown in size and the college has expanded and modernized. The new facilities such as the new gymnasium, the new library and the new science building have added new dimensions to the college," he said.

Students Hurt in Car Crash Released

Three students injured in a car crash were released from the hospital today. The students were involved in a head-on collision on the campus yesterday afternoon. The driver of the other car was killed in the accident.

New Tenure Rules Completed

The college has completed its new tenure rules. The rules will go into effect next year and will be in effect for five years. The college has also announced that it will provide full-time tenure for all faculty members.

Urges Election Of Eisenhower

A heavy thunder shower and cold winds did not deter the 50,000 Commencement Day attendees from enjoying the festivities.

The ceremony was held on the campus, with Dr. John E. Hannah, President, as the speaker. He stressed the importance of the occasion and the role of the college in society.

He said, "The college is dedicated to the betterment of the community and the nation. It is our duty to provide a quality education for all students, regardless of their background."

More to come on this story later.
This is No Solution

A recent ruling by the college is causing a great deal of conversation and criticism among students who live off campus.

The latest issue makes it mandatory that all students live in dormitories, fraternity houses or college-supported housing.

The ruling takes the form of a new requirement which states that male students must live at least 22 hours away from the college at the time of their enrollment.

The ruling is intended to work in concert with increased demands in apartment buildings because approved living quarters for women are not available in many areas. It is also supposed to go with drinking because these college regulations make the possession of alcoholic beverages impossible.

It will mean that students get poorer ventilation, light, fire, and other living conditions which are required for college-approved rooms.

This new ruling has its good points, but in practice it will do little to improve the situation.

A new rule does not put an end to narcotics or drinking. If it does, the administration can expect it to be broken behind closed doors and through deceit. It will put housewives in the impossible position of policemen required to report a breach of rules to the college.

Under the old system of a housemother, the student of a student's activities, the matter lay between the housemother and the student. Now the housemother becomes a mere agent of the college.

In the eyes of the students the student-administration relationship has suffered another blow. Student resent being told they are capable of handling their own affairs.

The new rule makes those students who are in the middle of men's lives responsible enough to live in housing that has not received official college recognition. It appears to be encouraged to be impossible to undesirable students, then the administration must allow them to be both undesirable students.

The former rule made a minimum wage of $2, a family counsel, necessary for private management of private affairs was understandable. This new rule is not.

The old rule required the student to be responsible for his own affairs. The new rule permits the administration to be responsible for the student's affairs. Now, in a time when social and economic factors have been neglected, the student can be faced with the prospects of abandoning the college and the society.

Each day that the steel strikes continues it is added to the nation's defense mobilization efforts. The same goes for the little unemployed and destitute in our society's? threatened.

Korea, June 25, the U.S. government, attempting to build an adequate defense machine while fighting a war in Korea, has failed in its attempt to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers to keep up with the growing demand. It is believed that the government has been able to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers with the growing demand for steel, but not enough to keep up with the demand for steel, but not enough to keep up with the demand for steel.

At the beginning of the Korean War, U.S. production was handicapped by the steel shortage that had been caused by World War II. The government in its efforts to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers, has failed in its attempt to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers to keep up with the growing demand. It is believed that the government has been able to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers with the growing demand for steel, but not enough to keep up with the demand for steel.

The exact reason for the widespread shortage is that the Steel industry has not been able to produce enough of the things demanded by consumers with the growing demand for steel, but not enough to keep up with the demand for steel.

Tigers Drop Pair To Red Sox, 5-2, 5-2

BOSTON—The toughened Boston Red Sox faced both ends of a doubleheader by 5-2 scores from the last-place Detroit Tigers yesterday to take over first place in the battle for the American League pennant race. A Detroit loss to the Boston White Sox last week brought the Sox from fifth to second place, and now the Tigers have the lead, 1.5 games ahead of the Sox.

The Tigers scored four runs in the first inning, and the Sox, who had scored two runs in the first inning, tied the game in the seventh. In the eighth inning, the Sox scored three runs, and the Tigers scored one run, giving the Sox a 5-2 win.

The Tigers played well in the second game, but were outscored in the last three innings by the Sox. The Sox scored two runs in the third inning, and the Tigers scored two runs in the fourth inning, giving the Sox a 5-2 win.

The Sox's pitching was strong in both games, with the Tigers scoring only one run in the first game and two runs in the second game. The Sox's hitting was also good, with the Tigers scoring only one run in both games.

The Tigers, who are second in the league, have a record of 19-12. The Sox, who are third in the league, have a record of 18-13.
