'The Mothers' March on Botts'

TUESDAY.
NO, MONDAY!
NO! THURSDAY.

The Michigan State News

Editorially

Unfortunate Incident

Each week, when announcing the March of Bots and the Campus Court, it is probable some of the most unfortunate events are to take place on this campus.

The case can be used as a dissertation example when covering some of the regulations of campus living.

The whole idea goes out of the question of whether it was permissible for the Mary of Bots to collect donations.

Past behavior, as we have learned, has been a reason why these events have been discouraged.

There is a Board of Administration that intends to regulate these activities on campus and to stop the activities that are the focus of the regulations of those who are interested in the March of Bots.

We are customary to the manner in which the entire area was handled. Involuntary action was done by the Thieves of the Pique Bots and for the operation of the college. This type of action is not permitted, and the college has decided to not go ahead with it.

Buildings Here Depict Two Styles
Campus Features Gothic, Modern

By JOHN VAN RAGANA

The contrasting styles of architecture mark MSU's vast building program. For your college Gothic is patronized as state's traditional style of the past, while modernistic blueprints are often employed.

Wrestlers Win, 23-3; But Gymnasts Fall

Penn State’s Depth Smothers Spartans

With 11 team members figuring in the scoring, Penn State swamped the Michigan State gymnasts, 70-17, at James Fieldhouse Friday. It was the fourth straight defeat for the Spartans.

The Nittany Lions literally smashed the Spartans with team defeat. Only five of the Penn State squad failed to contribute to the total.

The victory, however, was considerably less than it looked in the final score. The Penn State dominance was largely due to depth, as the Spartans’ team competed with only two events, 131 varsity performers.

The Penn State depth was exemplified by its performance in the floor exercise. There, the Nittany Lions galloped ahead with a score of 32.8, compared to 16.8 by the Spartans. In the high bar, there was another demonstration of the Penn State edge as 14 athletes from the Lions squad competed, compared to only seven from Michigan State.

The only event in which Michigan State had a definite advantage over Penn State was in the balance beam, where the score was 10.9 for the Nittany Lions and 10.2 for the Spartans.

Armstrong’s Fine Play

Pleasant Surprise for Newell

Four days before he scheduled to depart for England, Lt. Col. Merritt F. Armstrong, Jr., returned to the Michigan State basketball team as an interim replacement for the injured John Newell.

Armstrong, who has been in the Army for five years, has seen extensive action in Europe and the Middle East. His return to the team was a pleasant surprise for Newell, who has been handling the guard position for the last few weeks.

This Week

Monday, Feb. 6 - Swimming, 5 p.m. vs. Buffalo

Friday, Feb. 10 - Basketball vs. Indiana

Saturday, Feb. 11 - Basketball vs. Purdue

Michigan State’s season is on the line this week. The Spartans are facing a crucial weekend of games that could determine their NCAA tournament eligibility.

The Spartans need to win both games against Indiana and Purdue to stay in contention for an NCAA bid. A loss to either team would virtually eliminate Michigan State from the tournament.

Wrestling Summary

Dr. Keith Miller

Dr. Keith Miller

The last three weekends have been a whirlwind for the Michigan State wrestling team. After a grueling stretch of conference matches, the team finally got a break last weekend.

The Spartans competed at the Big Ten championships in a new arena. The venue, which was built specifically for wrestling, provided a unique atmosphere for the team.

Despite the changes, the results were consistent. Michigan State claimed its fourth straight Big Ten Championship, confirming its dominance in the conference.

Gymnastic Summary

Missy sci, the team’s top performer, led the way for Michigan State. Sci notched a total of 31.3 points, including a 10.0 on the balance beam. Her performance was a testament to the depth and talent of the Michigan State gymnastics team.

Swimming Summary

The Michigan State swimming team continued its strong showing this weekend. The team posted a total of 131 points, securing a comfortable victory over its competitors.

The highlight of the meet was the 200-yard freestyle relay, where the Spartans placed first with a time of 1:32.3. This was a testament to the team’s speed and coordination.

Season Half Over

Home Stretch Ahead For Big Ten Cagers

The Michigan State men’s basketball team is in the midst of its season half. With a 6-4 conference record, the team is looking forward to the home stretch of the season.

The team has had its ups and downs, but has shown resilience and determination under coach Tom Izzo.

The focus now shifts to preparing for the Big Ten tournament. A strong performance in the conference will have significant implications for the team’s NCAA tournament hopes.

Ring Card Headed by Tournament

The Michigan State men’s basketball team is ready for the Big Ten tournament. The team is currently seeded fourth in the conference, but anything can happen in such a high-stakes event.

The team has a tough draw, facing a team from the second seed. However, the Spartans are confident in their ability to make a run in the tournament.

Stackhouse Paces Victory

By NATHAN MILLER

"His best game of his college career," were the words Coach Pete Newell used to describe Keith Stackhouse's brilliant 20-point performance against Minnesota in Saturday evening's 72-66 game at Michigan Fieldhouse.

The 46th victory moved the Spartans to a third place in the Big Ten and a good edge behind Illinois.

The State opener was a win this time, mainly because of the steady basketball ability of Stackhouse, a 24-year-old junior.

Stackhouse, who was 5'10" and 185 pounds, had 15 rebounds. The 20 points he scored was the most he has scored in one game.

"It was a thrilling battle for the Spartans," he said. "If we had gone into league, I would have retired."

Stackhouse is a sure shot, and he scored for the Spartans before the half, leading 15-12. The second half was a rout for the Spartans. Stackhouse took 15 points, 14 of which were in the second half, and added to the lead.

With less than a minute to play, Stackhouse ended the evening's win total with a three-pointer from the Ohio State. With five seconds left, the Spartans were up 21-12, and it was over.

The defeat was the first of the season for Michigan. The Spartans won 31-21 and are now 1-0 in the Big Ten.

Only Two Home Events Slated for This Weekend

In the next two weeks, the University of Michigan will host two events. The first will be on Saturday, September 12th, and the second will be on September 19th.

The first event will be a women's track meet against Ohio State. The second event will be a women's tennis meet against the University of Illinois. The match will be played on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The women's tennis team is currently on a five-game winning streak and is looking to keep it going against the strong Illinois team. The Michigan women's tennis team is currently ranked number two in the nation.

The women's track meet against Ohio State will be a close one, as the Buckeyes have been playing well this season. Michigan, however, has the upper hand in terms of experience and quality.
