After Wilson's Visit
Emmons Foresees End of Prohibition

By Jack Blake

Hugo was raised Wednesday by Dean Emeritus Lloyd C. Emmons that the recently involved over-the-counter prohibition in Michigan State by the Big Ten would be lifted before the end of the state's present term.

Dean Emmons presented his views as a conference with Big Ten commissioner, Kenneth E. K. Smith. The conference was attended by the committee on middle and lower classes of the Michigan State faculty.

Sororities Call Off Parties
Avoid Discrimination by Race

By BETTY BUSH

Two sororities decided last week to end their parties scheduled for this weekend rather than face a possible racial boycott.

The sororities are to cooperate in the area of organization of sororities to maintain a social fraternity. The cooperation, which requires the approval of the student-faculty committee on social fraternity, was decided on by the faculty and the student-faculty committee on social fraternity.

Four parties had been set up for the weekend, but two of them were cancelled last week. The two parties are scheduled for this weekend. The sororities are to cooperate in the area of organization of sororities to maintain a social fraternity.

Reds Indicate Intention To Free More POWs
Agree to Include Recent Captives

WASHINGTON—At a meeting last week, the Communist Party indicated an intention to release more Americans than scheduled originally for the historic first prisoner exchange of the Korean War.

Senator John F. Kennedy, chief of the American delegation of the Communist Party, told the conference on the prisoner exchange that the POWs agreed to include recent captives.

Joiner Calls Ibsen 'Essential' to Drama

By DRUM ELAMAN

New York—The New York Times

All roads in Ann Arbor led to the Michigan Theater for a reading of the works of the Swedish playwright, Henrik Ibsen, by his assistant, Wednesday evening.

Dr. D. L. Mendel, a professor of drama at the University of Illinois, told the audience that Ibsen's works are a predecessor to the plays of Shakespeare.

Time for Action

The Interfraternity Council has elected a new slate of officers—one of the most representative it has ever elected. This at the annual button sold a spirit of enthusiasm and optimism for the future that was very evident.

We hope that the new officers will continue, and that the IFC will not simply sit back in a morass of vague plans and much talk. With enthusiastic and practical leadership, the IFC could be a vital force in strengthening and expanding the fraternity program.

A strong program of this sort would be true to the tradition in Michigan State College, by providing outlets for creative energy.

Congratulations, brothers. We’ll be looking for bigger and better things from you.

Voting on a double ballot, Hillsdale College students rejected their student government constitution, thus failing to pass a new one. As a result, all student government-sponsored activities, including the school paper, are considerably hampered.

Commented one student leader: “We’re committed politically.

Interpreting the News

Dr. J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The problem presented by the stories of returning Americans from Chinese prisons comes, indicating that Community is operating the exchange with no more concern than that in which the world has become accustomed to them, can highly complicate the prospects of a full flare to Korea.

The widespread story is that the Communists have chosen to negotiate for repatriation with any group of prisoners, and that they declined to list many who were most badly off.

It is to be presented and the Communists have only themselves to thank if the world believes the war, that they are retreating, and that they are in worse physical conditions and stories would make the worst propaganda for the Reds.

The agreement was that all sick and wounded would be exchanged. Allied authorities quickly labeled the small number offered by the Communists as “incredible.” But the Allies have gone ahead with the deal on the grounds that half a loaf is better than none.

Rep. Harry Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, already has suggested that the Communists be required to open up their prisons and make a full inspection of the prisoners prior to any further plans for repatriation of general truce talks.

As Senator Cooper, a former member of the United States delegation to the United Nations points out, the Allies will have to make some extensions to the Communists, in the absence of a military victory, before there can be any real progress.

He asks that the public permit the administration to do so without criticism or attempt, though agreement is one sense of the world is certain what he has in mind. He expects, of course, that the Allies will be required to do some appearing, too, especially in the way of guarantees that any terms and open shall be a valid one observed by both sides.

The Korean Army went into the prisoner exchange on something of an unspoken basis, too, accepting the fact that one of electric reparation without attempting to check.

All the indications are that there will be a lot of heartburning before it is over, and the immediate matter would be bettered, under the circumstances, if it was seen.

Just About Anything

Royal Loyalty

By PHIL GURSEY
State News Staff

Sometimes, we Americans can't quite understand why the British think so much of a royal family which actually rules them.

Then something happens which shows us.

In the latest event, the death of Queen Elizabeth, it is very little people were ever aware of the age of youth standing.

I read the obituaries in the London papers on the announcement of her passing. I've never read a more poetic thing like them. They praising the young people they loved their own country. The young people who were loved.

The Queen was a symbol of devotion to her people. She was not 21 for all the stories and understanding that kind of loyalty that says: I will not rest until all is well for my people.

The theme of her strict code of conduct, but the tales of her gentle name for Queen Elizabeth—the way she told that she was a lot, but not much. She was 120 for a lot of people.

It is the best description of her Elizabeth. She was a queen, and every person is a person. It was the best description of her age of youth that we say do we adore her. But she was a lady. She was Her Majesty. She was her Majesty. And may a lot of other people. It is a royal life that is lived. It is a royal life that is lived. It is a royal life that is lived.

The theme of the royal life is not a life of servitude. It is a life of service. It is a life of service. It is a life of service. It is a life of service. It is a life of service. It is a life of service.
Term Parties, Dances Top Crowded Weekend

Spartan Nine Faces Three Road Contests

Ohio State, Illini to Toss Top Hurlers at Kobsmen

By BRUCE MILLER

The baseball team will have tonight on a crucial three-game road trip on which they will encounter the first obstacles in their paths to a possible Big Ten championship. Coach John Kobs has had nothing but worries this year. The team had one of its worst records on southern trips, losing eight out of nine contests.

The team was in search of an experienced pitching staff.

After the game in Chicago, the Spartans will hit the road for the big game and play Ohio State on the same field. Kobs will remember all the bad luck his team had with the Illinois game.

This will be a key battle for the team, with the team coming off a tough loss to the Illini. Kobs will be counting on his pitching staff to come through.

The team will be tested in a big way, with the Illini boasting one of the best pitching staffs in the Big Ten.

In one of the games against the Illini, the team came out on top. The team was able to gameplan more effectively, and it paid off.

Big Leaguers Next?

Spartan Shortstop Carries Big Stick

By ROY SMITH

At least three major league baseball clubs will have to take their time before they turn to senior stars, Barry, Harper, and currently the team's leading hitter, Heflin, to finish his college career before giving the play-for-pay game the college try. And Green and White rotter are not complaining about his decision.

The team's two seniors, Barry and Heflin, were both drafted by major league clubs. Barry was taken by the San Francisco Giants in the 11th round, while Heflin was selected by the New York Yankees in the 12th round.

Turner missed a circuit deal in 1964.

The team's shortstop, who is expected to be a first-round pick in this year's draft, left the team during the off-season to pursue a professional career.

Barry and Heflin are both highly talented players, and their departures will certainly affect the team's performance.
