Bouncing Back

From Fame to Famine
For Football Fortunes

"Fame to Famine" might well be the theme of the 1951 Spartans football team. But the team is certain—spirit and will to win are what it takes to blow the Spartans out of the golden行列; the famine will be of short duration. It's not easy for a new coach and his team to click together their first year in any league—but to mention the Big Ten, touchdown of all.

Puffy Duckeyes and the team have made mistakes, but they have been first to admit their shortcomings. If they can profit from these errors, if the poor season can be thought of as an "investment," then there is no reason why there can't be successes in East Lansing next year.

Speaking of success—Congratulations! These are in order for Ohio State's Buckeyes, who overcame tradition and a powerful Michigan team to earn the Big Ten title.

A Rose Bowl trip and a possible national title. "Go, Ohio—45-4," a strain of the Buckeyes' fight song exemplifies the good luck which came from the other Big Ten schools to Ohio State as it stirred the conference banner in Pasadena.

But maybe the Buckeyes should heed the bit of advice from the Spartans—"Enjoy yourself; it's farther than you think." Anyway, Ohio has seen all too regularly scheduled games and the Big Ten title, and has a good chance to add the national title and a Rose Bowl win.

The Spartans had experienced all of this—enough to cause the crush. It was the Buckeyes wish the Spartans success, and at the same time give warning of the pitfalls that lie ahead.

And to themselves, the Spartans whisper these words of encouragement, "Wait till next year—well—we'll back..."
