College Lifts Unapproved Housing Ban

Scraps Regulation

By HENRY BELLE

A regulation requiring all new students to live in dormitory-approved residence halls is being eased. According to Dean of Students Tom King, Monday, a change in college housing regulations means that new students will be permitted to live off-campus during the year, as long as they are in college and in good standing.

Women students over 25 have been living off-campus for several years.

Under the new ruling, new students will be required to live in dormitory-approved residence halls for a minimum of one year, but will then be permitted to live off-campus during the next academic year if they wish. In addition, a change in regulations governing the admission of freshmen means that they will not be required to live in dormitory-approved residence halls during their first year as long as they are in college and in good standing.

Information: The new regulations will take effect immediately, and all new students will be required to live in dormitory-approved residence halls during their first year, regardless of age. However, the regulations will be eased for new students over 25, who will be permitted to live off-campus during the first year if they wish. New students under 25 will be required to live in dormitory-approved residence halls during their first year, but will be permitted to live off-campus during the second year if they wish.

The Illinois Department of Health has announced that it will begin to distribute bilingual educational materials to schools in Illinois. The materials will be distributed to schools in Illinois, and will be available in both English and Spanish.

The announcement follows a recent report by the American Medical Association, which found that many Illinois residents do not have access to bilingual educational materials.

The Illinois Department of Health will begin to distribute the materials to schools in Illinois beginning in the fall of 1972. The materials will be distributed to schools in Illinois, and will be available in both English and Spanish.

Petition Now
Union Board Posts Open

Every think you'd like to have a hand in running the Union and its many activities?

Or have you ever thought it might be fun to help plan something like the Rose Bowl special trips or a European summer trip?

If you have, now is your chance.

Those are just a few of the jobs handled by members of the Union Board, one of 100's major governing bodies.

And petitioning for the board is now open. It won't close until Friday. Petitions are available in the Union Board Office, first floor of the Union, now.

It certainly wouldn't be hard to qualify for a place on one of the major committees. All you need is an atttude and a heart.

Of course, you'd have to be willing to work. But even that wouldn't take up too much time. Estimated average number of hours per term board member is only about 40 a year.

The eight committees and petitioners can choose which one they'd like, any personal, social, student, faculty or governmental. The work of these eight divisions is coordinated by a 14-man Board of Directors consisting of executive vice president, student body president, the president of each of the committees and three members-at-large.

After all petitions are in on Friday, new members for the Union Board will be chosen by this year's personal committee and Board of Directors.

Chairs will be made following that meeting on Feb. 26, 27 and March 1, 2 and 3. Each petitioner will receive a postcard telling him which of the eight boards he is to attend.

Then, if you're one of the chosen few, you'll start your year of work start tomorrow. And by the end of the winter term your job would be done unless, of course, you stood out as a Director.

Myra Hess Calls
Pianos 'Husbands'

Dame Myra Hess, the "first lady of the piano," will perform a concert of the classics in the Auditorium, Wednesday, 26th.

Ticket distribution will begin today at 9 a.m. in the Union Ticket Office.

The celebrated British pianist was heard with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra Sunday afternoon and was also intermission panelist. She is celebrating her third year with the orchestra.

In the informal interview, Dame Hess said that she regards her job as her "husband." She said she has a "husband" in London and another in New York.

She is still quiet about being a piano last year. And being a piano next year.

Dame Hess intimated that a railway company lost her piano which she was going on tour. She had to use an emergency piano to finish the season.

And breaking down the mutual concert of artists, Dame Hess said that pianists often attend each other's recitals.

She came to America in 1922 as the request of the man who is her husband, Caesar Schragger. Her first appearance in this country was as pianist for the last of Annie Freberg.

The Dame Hess will perform at the Edmondson Festival, Sept. 3.

She is decorated by King George VI with the Order of the British Empire for her work entertaining the troops and the home front workers during World War II. At that time she organized the famed noon-time concerts of the National Gallery, giving concerts to thousands of Britons.!

Iowa and Illinois both turned in wins Monday night at the upper end of the Big Ten basketball rankings.

The Hawkeyes continued a startling Brevin Bowman tear, 80-71, as the senior forward poured in a career-high 33 points with 13 from beyond the arc. Bowman, who had 21 in Iowa’s win at Wisconsin last Thursday, has scored at least 30 in six of his last seven games.

Indiana’s All-American center, Trayce Jackson-Davis, outscored personal foul and sat out 10 minutes before the midway mark, and ended up with a total of 21 points and 11 rebounds.

Minnesota’s Marcus Carr scored 32 points and dished out 10 assists in a 77-74 loss to Maryland. The Gophers scored 86 points in the first half and came back with a 10-point lead in the second, but the Hawkeyes made a late surge to win.

In the women’s game, Michigan State defeated Ohio State 77-64.

Commences

Air conditioning units, parakeets and machine guns, generally thought of as products of a modern age, are part of a 15th century show which opened Monday in the MSC Museum.

The program, a 1 1/2 hour, mod-dle-adapted, from the ideas of Leonardo da Vinci, fifteen century inventor, artist, engineer, and amanuensis. The program, "The" Vinci's manuscript, the "Mona Lisa" and "The Last Supper" are all attributed to him as one of the great artists of the Renaissance.

His entire talent often overshad-dowed his work as an inventor. His air-conditioning unit, a primitive clock and a printing press, are all put on display under a tarp, and all made with materials that date back to the Middle Ages.

Another area, and an area of concern, is featured in "The Fighting show." A flying machine, made by Korean prison constructors, is made from the original da Vinci plans.

A portion of the da Vinci inven-
