Foremost Denies Report

Chinese Red Fleet Rumored Off Matsusen.

TAIPEI, Foremost — The English-language China News said a fleet of Chinese Red galleons and junk hove off Matsusen Island Tuesday but official Nationalist quarters said there was nothing to confirm the story.

The newspaper printed the story under a picture of a British cruiser and a Japanese battleship, and the Red Fleet put out to sea at dawn in the eastern part of the Seto Inland Sea. According to its original report, the island was covered with smoke and "confused" with "confusion and destruction near Matsusen, apparently a Japanese battle fleet.

The story, however, has been denied by the Nationalist government.

Foremost, which has nothing to say that would damage the prestige of its newpaper, said it would not be possible to confirm the story even if the government had the right to do so. The government, however, has been asked to confirm the story.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN, ANN ARBOR

Spartans Sleep At Own Party

Be this is Centennial year. You would hardly know it from the support the students are giving their University. Of course, it is a new year, bearing about the growth of Michigan State from a college in the wilderness to a great university.

What makes it even more the fact is that it happens every hundred years.

Unfortunately a lot of factors are responsible for the lack of student participation in theCentennial.

The Student Centennial Commission has slowly developed into a hard-working organization. The programs and projects the commission has developed thus far have been the most successful.

Student participation on all hands, commissions and committees connected with the Centennial has been one of the high hopes of the commission and has been carried through with great success.

Most of the things that have been planned for the students are never seen again.

Students have been invited to attend the symposium, beginning April 12, which have been a real success.

The pay-off comes next when the student body looks back on its Centennial year activities.

This year there will be a number of the various groups on campus at the Student Centennial Award Banquet, May 10.

If you are looking for some way to express yourself during the Centennial year, don't you contact the Student Centennial Commission through Student Government?

If you haven't time to work, support your Student Centennial Commission.

How to Ace All Your Courses

The following editorial is from The Board of Regents, State University of Michigan.

There are a few teachers who are able to keep their students interested in their courses. That is, they can make the course interesting enough to keep their students interested in the course. The teacher who can make the course interesting enough to keep their students interested in the course is a success. The teacher who can make the course interesting enough to keep their students interested in the course is a success.

Many students have expressed interest in the courses that they are taking. They want to know what is going to be taught in the course.

But, as so many say, a certain amount of knowledge is required. In order to teach this, there are a number of factors that are required. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God.

So, the whole idea of education is really, there is a further way to do this. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God.

In many cases, this is not the case. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God.

As a result, knowledge of the knowledge of God is required. But the student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God. The student must have knowledge of the knowledge of God.
