Congress, Hurst Argue Over Show Cancellation

Executive Action Protested

In a session of contradictions and chaos Wednesday night, Student Government president Bill Hurst "three rung of the States' House of Representatives"; and the student government's president, Richard Marshall, told a special session of the Student Senate that he would not vote on the bill. Hurst's stance was based on the fact that the bill, which had been introduced by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was a "bad" bill, and that the student government should not support it. Hurst's position was supported by the student government's vice president, Robert F. McDonald, who argued that the bill would "detract from the effectiveness of the student government." The bill was ultimately passed, however, by a vote of 11 to 10.

House Passes Funds For Flint Branch

A bill appropriating $10,000 for the opening of a branch of the University of Michigan at Flint was passed by the House of Representatives on Wednesday night. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert F. Kennedy, was passed by a vote of 11 to 10.

The proposed Flint branch would offer a two-year associate degree program in engineering and technology, in addition to a four-year bachelor of science degree program. The branch would be located in the Flint area, and would serve the needs of the local community.

Tolerance Is Not Enough

The next three weeks will see a series of dinners sponsored by YWCA and PanEd for College Democrats students on campus with their classmates at State.

Part of the International Week program, the dinners are an attempt to create a feeling of fellowship under the "Middle Kingdom" banner.

It is too bad a special part of a special program has to be devoted to the integration of our foreign friends on campus.

America is a melting pot. In our cities the spoken word of 40 or more nations blends with the common language of the people. In our villages and towns the plantation, the plantation and the corner restaurants are vivid evidences of this.

One of the concepts that has grown in this melting pot is the idea of tolerance.

Tolerance is not enough.

If we are to effectively use our melting pot principles to prevent our actions in world affairs and in utilizing the visiting foreigners among us, our integration program must be a 52-week-a-year project.

YWCA and PanEd are to be commended for the steps they have taken toward a greater understanding in the world.

The year isn't over at the starting block, however. Understanding all over the world is breaking down.

In England arrangements for the annual exchange of students with the Soviet Union have suddenly been cancelled on the Flinny excuse that the Russians are too busy.

The International Union of Students meeting in Denmark on world economic problems, at which the world famed Swedish Economist Gunnar Myrdal was to have presented the keynote paper, has been called off "because it will not have the objective discussion hoped for by the contrary political views of the Americans and Russians." More than 1,000 American students now studying in the Netherlands are being sent home or removed to other countries to complete their studies.

Somewhere in the world a fresh start must be made toward a step-by-step plan.

Michigan State would be a good place, but it is a 52-week-a-year job.

Officials' Proposal Advocates Ousting Chief of State

RAGUN, South Viet Nam (AP) — Seven hundred VIPs and provincial officials from all parts of South Viet Nam Wednesday to demand the ouster of Chief of State Bao Dai should be stripped of his powers.

The move, if carried, would mark a major step toward the ouster of Bao Dai, the puppet ruler imposed by the United States after its withdrawal from the war in 1975.

The move was prompted by a series of anti-Bao Dai demonstrations throughout the country.

The Vietnamese government has not responded to the demands.

Michigan Dream

More than a year and a half of hard work for a dedicated group of artists is nearing an end. On May 13 and 14 the Auditorium will be the scene of the world premiere of "Michigan Dream," an original two-act musical about Michigan pioneers in the 1870s.

Although fictional, the plot makes use of real places and events to depict a segment of pioneer life. The cast includes more than 100 students in the orchestra, chorus, dance groups, soloists and actors.

A blending of Broadway musical comedy and folk music, the score is the work of H. Owen Reed, member of the music department and noted contemporary composer. The book and libretto were written by John Jenson, a former member of the Michigan State speech department.

Based on the sale of public lands in the 50s in accordance with the Land Grant College Act of 1862, the production is believed to be the first of its kind about the state of Michigan.

Staging of the show will result in a new high in stage operation technique for the hop cast and crew.

Full use will be made of the classic stage extending into Falchetti.

Special effects include a unique dream sequence from which the production derives its name.

In setting the book to music, Reed employed several "test" folk songs, one of them a nonsense, catchy melody that can be traced to the time of the musical's setting.

He has also attempted to match the vocal expressions of the period by following, in the recitatives, the natural vocal intonations of the characters' spoken words.

Festival songs in the show range from love ballads to novelty numbers including the production number in the dream sequence, "Peter Houseman the Millionaire."

Other numbers include, "You're a Rare One," "All Through the Day," "I'm Going to Be Happy," "Tell Me I Hate the Row!," "Come on Tigers," "Dream of the Lumberjack," "On Empty Ground," "Little Mother," and "Blind Time."

Michigan is featured in such numbers as, "Michigan Moon," "Twist Statique and Charley-Gan," and "Down the Tipisakan River."

In another song, "Never Will I Promise You to Obey," Reed was provided with an interesting musical challenge. Noting that the line wouldn't fit into 4-4 time he rejected the idea of removing a syllable from the title.

Instead he wrote the measure in 4-4 cadence.

Under director Lewis Goof of the speech department, a number of different schools and departments are represented in the cast.

In addition to being an original work, the show marks the first time many of the students have appeared in a production combining a number of the arts.

Choreographer for the show is dance instructor Maria Eastman. Set and scenery is by Virgil Godfrey, costumes are by Ralph D'Arche and lighting and special effects are by Joel Davis, also of the Michigan State speech department.

Reed will conduct his own unit at both performances.

Curtain time is 8:15 both nights. Tickets, obtainable at the Union Ticket Office, are $1, $1.50 and $2.
