Call for "New View"

Duty to Man

The responsibility of creating a better man in a better environment was turned over to a committee of educators Saturday night at the second session of the School of Science and Arts Centennial symposium.

Stakman Calls for "New View"

Librarian's Outlook

"The best man in the world," said Stakman, "is the man who has a clear, lucid, and complete view of the world."

Stakman's views on the world have been significantly influenced by his experiences as a scientist. He believes that the key to creating a better man lies in developing a "New View" of the world. This "New View" should be based on a deeper understanding of the fundamental principles of science.

In two United Nations sessions today from 2 to 4:30 and tonight from 8:15 to 9:30.

Books have an arduous public with the comings and goings of the day. But the Gaylords will be among the greats. Anyone is invited to attend the lectures. Prices of the tickets are $1.50, and may be picked up at the Union Ticket Office this morning.

All schools in the university have been asked to arrange classes so that students may attend the afternoon sessions of the UN Day program, according to William Barry, director of the Student Continental Commission.

A few hours this afternoon and evening in the Auditorium Sessions in the Two Discussions among Tai-Panadas from Australia, Australia, Canada, France, Great Britain, India, Indonesia, Japan, Liberia, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the United States and Yugoslavia will be valuable additions to the student's knowledge of world affairs.

What better the students planned with the afternoon sessions is opening. They are having a Luncheon Hour on Old College Field. Very good food, music, speeches.

The Luncheon Hour, which is really two hours, from 12:30 to 2:00 p.m., to be sure to make the usual coffee hours. This is indeed setting a brilliant example for fresh, soph, juniors and seniors to stay out of the Auditorium.

It can only be hoped that the seniors will think twice and attend the UN sessions, and that the rest of the student body will take advantage of a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to sit in on two United Nations sessions.

Books for Asia

A "Books for Asia" drive will open on campus today to help spread democratic ideas to a communism-saturated Asia. The book program will continue through Saturday, May 28.

The "Books for Asia" program deserves the full support of Michigan State faculty and students. It is a perfect opportunity to help contact the communist world with democratic ideas.
