Lantern Night Set For Sunday

50 Senior Girls To Win Awards

Lantern Night, the traditional honor ceremony for 50 senior girls, will be held this Sunday at the Union at 8 p.m.

Miss Hathaway, wife of the secretary of the annual Friday night, will preside over the program.

The event will feature a lantern parade, music, and a variety of other activities. The girls will be seated in the Union Auditorium, facing the stage, and will be illuminated by lanterns held by their escorts. The lanterns will be decorated with various designs and themes, creating a festive atmosphere.

Following the lantern parade, a group of senior girls will present a dance with music provided by a band. The dance will feature popular songs and dances of the era.

Guests include notable figures such as President Hanson, who will deliver a speech highlighting the importance of community and school spirit.

The evening will conclude with a finale featuring songs and dances performed by the senior girls. Attendees are encouraged to wear formal attire and participate in the festivities.

Michigan State's hopes of repeating as Big Ten basketball champions will be dashed this weekend as the Spartans journey to Ohio State and Indiana for key games of the conference season.

The Spartans ended a three-game losing streak with a 100-76 victory over Wisconsin and a 106-74 win over Northwestern. The season record stands at 22-3, 8-2 in the conference, and 9-1 at home.

With 3-1 records in the conference, the Spartans are tied with Ohio State and Indiana for the lead. A win over either team will give the Spartans the outright conference title.

Paul Kepple will pitch this weekend for the Spartans against Bob McDonald and Edie Christensen.

The Spartans have a favorable schedule, as they face Michigan State, the only team with a perfect conference record.

This weekend, the Spartans will play against Ohio State and Indiana, both of which have strong conference records. A win over either team will solidify the Spartans' position as conference champions.

The Spartans will need to win both games to secure the conference title. A loss in either game could drop them to second place in the conference, with Ohio State and Indiana still in contention.

The conference season is winding down, and the Spartans have a chance to solidify their status as conference champions. A win over Ohio State and Indiana will put the Spartans in a strong position to claim the conference title and ensure a deep playoff run in the NCAA tournament.
There is no solution to which may be said to be the cause of this, but it seems that the whole of the trouble is in the way in which the system works. The system works on too many fronts. The system is too complex. The system is too expensive. The system is too inefficient.

There are several ways in which the system could be improved. One way would be to simplify the system. Another way would be to reduce the cost of the system. A third way would be to increase the efficiency of the system.

In conclusion, the system needs to be improved. The system is too complex. The system is too expensive. The system is too inefficient. The system needs to be simplified. The system needs to be reduced in cost. The system needs to be increased in efficiency.
