Governor Says Heat Is Needed
Government Forum Opens

By MARGARET FURZE
Gay G. Menden Williams, governor of Michigan, took up the heat on the administration of Michigan State University, the Board of Regents, and themselves Wednesday evening before a packed house at the Old Red Building. Governor Williams said, "The present Board of Regents and the present administration of Michigan State University have not been as effective as they might have been."

As the governor was discussing the heat, one of the student leaders at Michigan State University, William A. Coleman, launched an attack against the administration of the university and the Board of Regents. Governor Williams was taken aback by the attack and expressed his views on the matter.

No Coeds in European Universities

Cultural, Not Practically Stressed in Foreign Schools

By CATHERINE RUSSELL

Michigan State University is the only public university in the state of Michigan that has a requirement for the study of foreign languages. The university requires that all students take a course in a foreign language as part of their undergraduate studies. This is done in order to promote cultural understanding and to expose students to a variety of different cultures.

'No Coeds in European Universities'

The European universities do not have any coeds in their student population. This is due to the fact that the universities are run by male professors and that the majority of the students are male.

Governor Williams thanked the present Board of Regents and the present administration of Michigan State University for their efforts in improving the university. He also expressed his hopes for the future of the university and its students.
To Be Cautious
Is to Be Alive

Accidents are preventable. They just don’t happen but are caused by the three Ts of the highway—impediments, illusory beliefs, and ignorance.

The total cost of accidents in 1953 for the country was $5,700,000,000. This total included a worker’s inability to work because of some accident. Medical fees and hospital expenses, administrative and claim settlement costs of insurance, property damage in motor-vehicle accidents, property destroyed by fire and property destroyed or production lost due to work accidents.

The 1953 Independence Day weekend saw 25 persons lose their lives on Michigan highways. During the month of July, 1953, there were 3,500 accidental deaths of these 3,500 involved a motor vehicle.

Circumstances that contribute to motor-vehicle accidents are speed, alcohol, and over-exertion. The speed of the vehicle has a direct bearing on its ability to stop. We are all familiar with the common saying that "it takes twice as long to bring a car to a stop when it is going twice as fast.

The National Safety Council says there are $5 million reasons why you should drive carefully on the Fourth of July. That is about the number of registered motor vehicles in the United States today, and adds up to 16.6 million reasons more to drive carefully over the Fourth this year than on Independence Day five years ago.

Auto mishaps always lead the list of Fourth of July accident death causes, but drowning also claims a high total on this midsummer holiday. In 1950, 264 persons died in traffic accidents and 180 in drowning. (Fireworks, then the cause of many deaths, killed only four persons last year.)

Be sure you’re driving somewhere over the Fourth, take it easy. Obey the speed limits, and keep your car under control at all times. End your need at intervals so you can stay within the range of your lights.

After you arrive, avoid over-exertion and never walk alone. If you must be alone, tie a sign on your car at the side of the road that reads "Have a safe Fourth." You may yourself the least of all that is peace with God.

You may find yourselves and others in similar situations as you drive. For instance, death and permanent injury comes to those who drive too fast to stop.

Peace With God

THE MICHIGAN STATE NEWS

Everyone reads the MICHIGAN STATE NEWS

It's a fact, isn't it? Every Thursday at 8 a.m. (and every weekday during the regular school year), every half-awake student on his way to his first class remembers to pick up a State News. The pile of papers in Berkey disappears awfully fast because all Spartans know their paper will be filled with the latest campus and national happenings. Their favorite merchants will be found advertising new goods and services. Yes, students rely on their newspaper. They know it is serving them well.
