McCarthy Blast
Unwarranted

Joseph R. McCarthy, the controversial junior senator from Wisconsin, returned to Washington Wednesday and beclouded his reappearance with an unwarranted attack against the President and the Republican party. The attack is the latest in a series of scathing outbursts of which Senator McC·Carthy is noted in the Senate.

McCarthy later said he did not feel perturbed by McCarthy's latest vitriolic attack. Mr. Truman fell ill and doubled his efforts to win him over.

Senator George W. Smathers, chairman of the Republican Senate campaign committee, said that he regards McCarthy's attacks on the GOP as an attempt to salvage his party's image in the South. President Eisenhower had refused to respond to McCarthy's charges.

Each of McCarthy's slashing attacks on the Democratic party is now being met with a barrage of rebuttal from the Democratic party officials. The Democratic party officials are now planning to counter McCarthy's charges with a campaign to win back the South.
