Sex, Sadism Uncovered In 'Spartan'

To the Editor:

I recently read a copy of your tabloid magazine, "The Spartan," published by a small student organization within the University of Michigan. I was disturbed and interested in discovering the level of artificiality exemplified within this publication. I feel that the college students of today have been brainwashed by the mass media to the point where they cannot even express themselves truthfully or accurately. The "Spartan" is a good example of this type of mass media. I believe that the administration should initiate some type of action to remedy this situation.

Yours sincerely,

Coach Fears State

Bob Williams, Michigan State's football coach, anticipates St. Cloud's Minnesota State team to challenge Michigan State. Williams believes there will be no difference between the two teams and Michigan State will be the victor in the game.

BOXING INVESTIGATION OPPOSED

Overconfident?

ANN ARBOR (AP) — No one wanted to see another fire for tennis championships. Eastern Michigan, St. Joseph's College and Dartmouth are all teams that have been identified as possible candidates for the title.

DISSONANCE

The squad voted in a definitive way. At no time did they give any indication of being upset over any governmental group.

The sport can be properly conducted if the players cooperate instead of trying to compete against each other. However, the more the players cooperate, the less the game will be the same to the fans. It is a question of the game to be played by the fans and how the players cooperate in playing the game, according to Dr. John C. W. Johnson, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at the University of Michigan.
Foundry Reopens Under Martial Law
Skeleton Crew to Resume Full Production Today

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP) — A skeleton force of 6 workers reopened the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry Tuesday while about 1,000 National Guard troops enforced martial law in three cities.

Refocusing National Guardsmen marched onto the fire alarm plant in North Central Indiana. The troops were assigned to the foundry as part of a 200-man unit and were later expected to be replaced by a larger group.

The plant was closed last week after a strike involving 1,000 workers.

Newcastle factories, including the Perfect Circle plant, have been closed for two days.

Newcastle police said at least one man was injured in a shooting incident at the plant.

Assistant Fire Chief Harry J. Johnson said the man was shot in the leg and taken to a hospital.

The plant reopened after negotiations with the National Guard.

The workers are expected to return to the plant Thursday.
