Madame Koo Tells Of China's Defense

By JOE HOFFMAN

State News Staff Writer

In the question of surrendering Makou and Guanyi Island in the China-Sea area, the main topic of the lecture given by Madame Wellington Koo at the American Association of University Women in New York, the focus was on China's defense preparations.

The lecture was delivered in the presence of Mrs. Robert M. Morgenthau, who is one of the prominent women in American society and a prominent figure in the field of women's rights.

The lecture was well received by the audience, who were impressed by Madame Koo's knowledge and dedication to the cause of China's defense.

The lecture was a call to action, urging the American public to support China's defense efforts and to stand firm against any threat to China's sovereignty.

The lecture was a success, and Madame Koo was applauded by the audience for her eloquent and powerful speech.

The lecture was a fitting tribute to the heroic efforts of the Chinese people in their struggle for freedom and independence.

The lecture was a reminder to the American public that China is a significant ally in the fight against global terrorism and that the United States should support China's efforts to maintain its sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Merrill and Oklahoma still are the nation's
No. 1 teams, but the Southeastern Conference
now could be considered a three-team race.

Wisconsin, ranked No. 17, upset No. 12
Michigan 21-13 Saturday. Missouri, ranked
No. 9, upset No. 6 Arkansas 12-0.

Wisconsin now is 8-1 and could jump to a No. 1
rating with a win over No. 11 Purdue next week.

The Southeastern Conference's top three in the current standings are Merrill, Oklahoma and Notre Dame.

In a future meet, Merrill will play at Notre Dame and Oklahoma will play at Arkansas.

The No. 11 team, Wisconsin, also is favored to win the Big Ten by a majority of sports writers.

Wisconsin has the strongest schedule of the three teams, facing No. 6 Michigan and No. 11 Purdue.

WISCONSIN WILL PLAY MERRILL AT MADISON NEXT WEEK.

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman says that when he fired Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce in 1946, he feared Wallace would "knowingly or not" lend himself to supporting "the sinister ends of the Reds and those who served them."

"I am the first member of his cabinet, appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who ever fired a cabinet member," the 78-year-old Truman said in a prepared statement. "I fired Wallace because I feared he would go back to his old Communist ways and get us into another world war."

Truman said he fired Wallace two days after he returned from a trip to Europe and the Middle East.
