Ike Readies Congress Keynote

Congress to Hear Budget Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—

President Eisenhower and his cabinet today reviewed the contents of his state of the Union Message, which he'll deliver in person to Congress today, and the budget message which goes to Capitol Hill next week.

This session capped stepped-up preparations for laying the administration's 1957 program before Congress, and for inaugurating Eisenhower for a second four-year term. Other developments included:

1. The White House changed plans and postponed the message, photographers, officials and diplomats would be invited from the private ceremony at which Eisenhower and the President Nixon will take their oaths of office on Sunday, Jan. 20.

2. Newsmen protested the decision, which Press Secretary James F. Hagerly said was taken because the crowd would be unmanageable.

3. When the traditional inauguration day falls on Sunday, the ceremonial public oath-taking will be held a day later.

Hagerly said there has been "some talk" of naming Nixon to the influential post of chairman of the Operations Coordinating Board (OCB) during the administration's second term. Hagerly said no final decision has been made on this possibility.

The OCB was created by Eisenhower to see that high national security policies are carried out. It is now headed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Secretary of State, the retiring Herbert Hoover Jr.

3. Informed sources said Eisenhower will ask Congress for a record budget of more than three billion dollars for the Welfare Department in the fiscal year that begins next July 1. Most of the increase reportedly would be earmarked for aid to school construction and expansion of medical teaching facilities.

Hagerly said Eisenhower's State of the Union Message will contain "several legislative requests, primarily in the domestic field." He gave no clue as to their nature.

Hagerly dodged the question whether the message might outline a program for aiding the drought-stricken areas of the country which Eisenhower will inspect on a flying three-day trip starting Sunday.

The bulk of the President's legislative requests will be contained in a special section of the budget message which will be sent to Congress Wednesday, Hagerly said.

Eisenhower reportedly agreed to deliver the State of the Union message in person only at the urging of congressional leaders. He was reported somewhat reluctant to make another Capitol appearance so soon after addressing the legislators Saturday on the Middle East situation.

This report jibed with a White House announcement yesterday that the address would be trimmed to essentials and would last only about 30 minutes—half as long as customary—in delivery.

Hagerly had announced earlier that the affair would be open to all news media, including live television.

It would have been larger than the inaugural, he said. Hagerly said he did not know who would administer the oath, which will be given immediately after the Eisenhower returns from Sunday morning church services. Hagerly said that probably would be about 10:15 or 10:30 a.m.

Seniors Must Finish Activity Cards Soon

Seniors who have become members of activities, in addition to those already listed on their activity cards for the yearbook, are asked to come to the Wolverine office any afternoon this week to complete the cards. Anyone who failed to fill out a card at all is also urged to go to the Wolverine office and do so.

Carol Heiss, women's world ice skating champion, Bruce Heiss, eastern novice champion, and Nancy Heiss, national junior women's champion, will appear at the AUSA "Silver Blades" ice show in Dem Hall Jan. 19. Tickets are on sale at the Union Ticket Desk or the Ice Arena.

Party Heads Co-Sponsor Resolution Anti-Filibuster Plan Proposed in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders joined forces today to offer a "middle ground" method of curbing filibusters: the legislative talk-show.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, announced he would cosponsor a resolution—drafted by Sen. Knowledge of California, his GOP opposite number, to limit filibusters by a two-thirds vote of those senators present and voting.

In order to limit debate under the present rules, 64 votes, two-thirds of the Senate's full membership, are required.

Johnson said the Knowledge resolution appeared to him as being based upon the middle ground which is the strongest to stand upon.

"It would permit an orderly change of the rules but would require that the rules are not subject to change because of a temporary gust of political wind," he said.

Any effective check on filibusters could improve the chances of civil rights legislation at this session of Congress. Southern senators have frequently filibustered against civil rights bills and succeeded in talking them to death.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) announced earlier in the day that he and a non-partisan group of colleagues were introducing 12 civil rights bills headed by a measure to provide federal protection of voting rights.

Humphrey called on the new Congress to assert "a claim on history" by passing the first meaningful civil rights legislation in 80 years.

The Knowledge substitute for the present disputed rule 22 would, in addition to reducing the number of votes required to limit debate, strike out a provision forbidding any time limit in debate on changing the rules. The substitute also provides that the Senate's rules would continue from one session of Congress to the next.

Group to Hold Panel on Italy

The MSU chapter of the International Relations Research Association will meet tonight at 7:30 in the second floor Union parlors.

The program will consist of a panel presentation of "Research Done in Italy" by Dr. Henry Clay Smith, professor of psychology, will discuss "Employee Attitudes in Italian Companies" and Dr. Joseph LaPajombara, associate professor of political science, will present a talk about his "Research in Italian Trade Unions."

Following the presentation there will be an opportunity for discussion and questions from the audience.

The meeting is open to executives, union officials, government officials, professors, grad students and others interested in industrial relations. It is not necessary to be a chapter member for attendance.

Eden Resigns Suddenly As British Prime Minister

Britain, France Ask New Talks

Irked at Egyptian Delaying Tactics

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—

Britain and France, irked at what they complain are Egyptian delaying tactics, were reported Wednesday pressing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for new talks at an early date on a Suez settlement.

Christian Pineau, French foreign minister who saw Hammarskjold, is said by French sources to be especially angry at alleged delays in clearing the Suez Canal. He was reported to have insisted that new talks be held even before the Canal was cleared for its first voyage, now scheduled by the UN for some time in early March.

The British top delegate here, Commander Allan Noble, conferred with Hammarskjold regarding the method to be used in the new talks, a British spokesman said.

The two high diplomats met Hammarskjold before the resignation of British Prime Minister Anthony Eden was announced. Informed sources here said, however, the resignation made no difference in the British-French view that talks must be held soon on the Suez Canal.

Despite objections to the talks voiced by Cairo officials, Hammarskjold was reported considering new talks in three stages. First would come conferences with the opposing parties in separate rooms. Next he would get them together in the same room. The third and final stage would be a conference of Egypt, Britain, France, Norway, Italy and Ceylon to work out a settlement.

Pineau made an appointment with Secretary of State Dulles at 3 p.m. Friday for a far-ranging conversation on all Middle East problems.

It was reported that Pineau will urge Dulles to do his best to get Hammarskjold started on new Suez talks. However, diplomatic sources said the United States likely will let Hammarskjold decide when to start the conversations.

Pineau also is expected to ask what impact the Eisenhower Middle Eastern doctrine will have on Egypt, how it will be implemented, and how Israel's borders can be guaranteed against attacks.

The Egyptian Foreign Minister, Mahmoud Fawzi, had nothing to say on the Eden resignation nor on the possibility of Suez talks. But Egyptians here and in Cairo continued to insist they will not negotiate directly or indirectly with the British and French because, they said, of the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The Asian-African 1954 heard Fawzi ask for an early assembly session on the Israeli withdrawal.

Asks to 'Seek Out Truth' in Hungary

U. S. Ignores Soviet, Calls for UN Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States disregarded requests for information today and demanded creation of a special UN committee to seek out the truth on the Hungarian situation.

The Soviet Union blamed the United States for what it called "provocative efforts to sow strife in Hungary" and criticized Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for allegedly taking sides with the West.

It was the Soviet Union that attacked Hammarskjold in a major issue. The Secretary General had recommended the appointment of a special UN committee to seek information on Hungary.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. called on the Secretary General, Assembly and Security Council to investigate the situation in Hungary and to report back to the Security Council.

A. Matthew Baker, General Counsel of the State Department, said he would personally handle the proceedings because of friendship with one of the two men charged with conspiracy.

There was immediate comment from O'Donoghue. He asked Monday for the one-man grand jury probe to be conducted by Chief Judge Michael Garland of Chicago.

Under questioning O'Donoghue's connections with James W. Wadsworth, a former Democratic state congressman, accused with James Barrow, 35, of making police payoffs to protect gambling.

Wadsworth and Barrow are awaiting a hearing Jan. 16, 1956, were among 69 persons subpoenaed as witnesses before the grand jury.

To Select New Prime Minister

LONDON (AP)—The Queen alone officially selects and appoints the Prime Minister of her government. But the man she chooses must command the greatest following in the House of Commons. With the Conservative Party now holding a 58-seat majority in the 630-seat House, the man who will be summoned to Buckingham Palace will be the one she is advised. Conservatives want as their new leader. Once he is named by the monarch, he will form a cabinet and ask a vote of confidence from the House. No new elections are necessary. British governments are elected for five years. The conservatives have a mandate to govern the country until May 25, 1959, five years after the date of the last election. But if the Conservatives stay in power during those five years, they will not have a majority of votes in the House of Commons on any major issue, the government is usually bound to resign and call for a new general election. The party in power also must wait at any time and call for a new general election. This is politically strategic only when the governing party has a slim majority which it feels it can increase considerably because of new popularity. The new prime minister will take over the Conservative government at this juncture, and it is unlikely to change an existing one.

Butler Considered Likely Successor

Sir Anthony Cites Health As Explanation for Move

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden, choosing lack of health as the explanation for his resignation as Prime Minister, said today that his health prevented his continuing.

Richard Austen Butler, Conservative Party leader in the House of Commons, seemed to most politicians to be Eden's likely successor.

Ike Wishes Sir Eden Good Health

He's an Old and Good Friend

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday voiced hope that his "old and good friend" Sir Anthony Eden, who resigned as British Prime Minister Wednesday, soon will recover and enjoy many useful years of happiness.

Eisenhower said in a state news item reported by Press Secretary James C. Hagerly. "I have just been advised of the official announcement of the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden as head of the Majesty's government in the United Kingdom."

"Sir Anthony is an old and good friend of mine. During the days of World War II and since, we have been true friends who have shared many of our joys and sorrows. I am glad to hear that he will be able to enjoy many useful years of happiness."

Eden's resignation was announced in a broadcast from the White House. "Sir Anthony is an old and good friend of mine. During the days of World War II and since, we have been true friends who have shared many of our joys and sorrows. I am glad to hear that he will be able to enjoy many useful years of happiness."

'57 'Sno Ball' Tickets Now At All Dorms

'As You Like It' Theme of Dance

"As You Like It" borrowed from a Shakespeare production, has been announced as the theme of this year's annual "Sno Ball" by the Men's and Women's Inter-Residence Hall Council.

Tickets, priced at $1.00 per couple, go on sale today in all dormitories for the Jan. 18 all-dance.

Brody Hall's spacious lower floor will be the scene from 9-12 with Bob Eberhardt's band providing music. Intermission entertainment features the Kappanians.

The "Sno Ball" will not follow the dress pattern of former years, the committee said. In previous dances the dress was semi-formal but this year it will be just "dressed," they said. The committee felt that the more semi-formal during the term would be too much for the crowd.

The theme, despite its Elizabethan suggestion, is not 17th century in intent. Last year's "Sno Ball" was held during spring term so the planners decided to capitalize on that warmer and plan decorations with a spring and winter effect for the 1957 dance.

Legal pledging is scheduled for noon Jan. 20 at the houses. Rushes will be given stamped cards at this time to verify formal pledging. Cards signed before Jan. 20 will be valid, according to Hedges. Anything written before this will not obligate a rusher to pledge a particular fraternity.

Georgia Governor Calls Militia

Griffin Fears Violence Over Bus Segregation

Six Negro Ministers Launch "Love, Law and Liberation" Move

ATLANTA (AP) Gov. Marvin Griffin Wednesday night put the state militia on a standby basis shortly after six Negro ministers launched an organized attack on segregated seating on Atlanta city buses.

Griffin told a hastily called news conference he was instructing the Adjutant General of Georgia to hold his forces ready to put down any riots, insurrection and breaches of the peace at a moment's notice. "I shall not hesitate to utilize the full powers of the Governor as commander in chief of the armed forces of the state to the end that human life shall be preserved and property protected from destruction," he said in a statement.

The Governor said it had been called to his attention that the public peace and domestic tranquility in the city of Atlanta are now threatened by provocations arising from utterances and incitements of out-of-state agitators.

Atlanta Mayor William B. Hartsfield declined to comment on the Governor's standby order. He repeated an earlier statement that city police would "if this issue is forced upon us, uphold the state law."

City police do not go on bus as unless they are asked to do so by the transit company. They have not yet been asked, he added.

Earlier Wednesday the ministers began the first phase of a so-called bus, law and liberation movement when they boarded a bus at a downtown stop and took seats in the front section normally reserved for white people.

While they sang, prayed and read the Bible, the vehicle operated by the Atlanta Transit Co. pulled over to the curb and reported out of service due to mechanical difficulty.

The Governor said in his statement that "Under powers conferred by the Military Forces Reorganization Act of 1955, the Governor is vested with authority in cases of the breach of the peace, riots or insurrection, or other grave emergency, to call into service all or any part of the organized militia."

Accordingly, I have this day instructed the Adjutant General to alert his forces in a standby status subject to call on a moment's notice. Riots, insurrection and breaches of the peace will not be tolerated in any part of Georgia, whether emanating from out-of-state agitators brought in for the purpose of promoting racial strife and discord, or whether such circumstances arise from domestic sources.

The Rev. William Holmes Borders, pastor of the Wheat Street Baptist Church and leader of the campaign against segregated bus seating, said, "We will do something else." He said the next move will be planned at another mass meeting of Negroes at his church.

He indicated the campaign, emphasizing non-violence, will continue until "they let us ride in peace," or the issue comes to a showdown.

Meanwhile, state and city officials commented cautiously on the movement in the Georgia capital, a stronghold of segregation.

Georgia laws require white and Negro races to be seated separately on city buses.

N. Y. Newspaper Hit by Reds

'Red Courier' Claimed as FBI 'Crafty Smear' Tactics

NEW YORK (AP) A Communist Party spokesman Wednesday labeled as a "crafty smear" a newspaper report that depicted Communist leader Irving Potash as acting as a "Red Courier" when he slipped back into the United States.

Potash was arrested for illegal entry Friday night in a Bronxville, N.Y., restaurant. He said he had returned to be with his family.

The New York Herald Tribune Tuesday night published a story saying Potash reportedly was "carrying secret orders to Red leaders in the United States and possibly other countries."

Simon Gerson, Chairman of the Communist Party's Civil Liberties Committee, said the "malicious story" was planted by the FBI in the newspaper, asking "to build up an incredible international courier" aura around Potash.

The FBI spokesman, Gerson, said, has begun a crafty smear campaign to prejudice the fact race developing around the fight of Irving Potash to be reunited with his wife and family.

The real issue in the Potash case is the federal administration policy of breaking up an American family for vindictive political reasons.

Operating under the information Walter McLean Law and the state department policy of withholding passports, the administration has kept Potash from being with his wife, daughter and three grandchildren.

Potash was one of 11 Communist leaders excommunicated in 1950 of conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force. After serving 3 1/2 years in prison he was deported to Poland in 1955.

Atty. Gen. W. Williams said Potash was still a "top leader" in the Communist Party and "in the way of a course."

The Herald Tribune and the FBI declined to confirm or deny the story. There was no FBI comment today on Gerson's statement.

Term Enrollment Sets New High

A record number of winter term students enrolled for the new quarter last week, according to Vice Pres. Thomas Harn, the office.

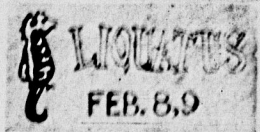

At the close of regular registration, 17,652 persons had enrolled, with nearly another thousand expected to enter late Part-time students and part-time in off-campus programs will bring the estimated total figure to 19,275.

This term's enrollment surpassed the previous winter quarter record set in 1956 but fell short of the all-time record of 20,175 that signed up for the fall, 1956, session.

Eden Resigns as British Prime Minister

 Palace after bidding farewell to his cabinet and top government ministers.

Eden's tenure, 21 months of crisis for Britain at home and abroad, was the second shortest of any British prime minister in the 20th century. Bonar Law served seven months in 1922, also blaming ill health when he resigned.

The Socialist opposition to the government seized on Eden's resignation as signifying a sharp split within Conservative ranks. Herbert Morrison, foreign secretary in the Labor government when Earl Attlee was prime minister, said: "This is an indication that the Conservative Party must be in a bad way."

There is no indication he intends to give up his seat in the House of Commons in the immediate future. But there was

By tradition the ministers who served under Eden carry on their duties until a new prime minister is chosen.

He had made a special journey to see the Queen a day earlier at Sandringham, presumably to tell her privately of his intention to quit.

He undoubtedly gave the sovereign a complete outline of the political picture facing the country.

McDonald Mystery Sheds New Light

Extortion Plot Suspected Says District Attorney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New information indicating the Marie McDonald disappearance might be "some sort of extortion plot" was given to police today by Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson.

McKesson said he got the information from a man who was introduced to him as a person who "might be able to blow open the case." He said the information concerns four or five persons not previously involved.

"From what my informant told me," said McKesson, "this could be some sort of extortion plot." He said the informant was brought to him by an attorney friend.

The District Attorney would not identify the informant or disclose any details he gave Police Chief William Parker.

The shapely blonde actress vanished from her home last week and was found nearly 24 hours later wandering on a desert highway. She says she was kidnapped and released when her two abductors became panicky.

Police today issued their first full-length all-point bulletin giving Miss McDonald's description of two men she said kidnapped her: One was described as a caucasian, 40 to 45, 5 feet 11, 150 pounds, with dark eyes, hair and complexion.

The other was described as Mexican, 20 to 25, 5 feet even, 160 pounds, with black hair and eyes, very dark complexion, a moon-shaped face, full lips, full of hair immediately below his short goatee on chin, an impression in the skin over the right eyebrow.

The car was described as a dark two-door sedan, possibly a 1936 to 1938 Ford.

Police today re-questioned those close to Miss McDonald, Harrison Carroll, Coltonist whom she telephoned while she said she was being held, told officers he had nothing new to say. Also questioned was the actress' ex-husband, Harry Karl. Police said they learned nothing new from him.

Police Chief Parker told newsmen of the McKesson visit. "Bill came over with some confidential information in connection with the McDonald case and we're going to check it out. It's an aspect that involves four or five individuals — some of whom have not previously been involved in the case."

Said McKesson: "The information came to us for investigation and I said that so far we're not in the case so we'll give it to the police. . . . It came to me from persons I have every reason to have confidence in."

Tuesday Miss McDonald signed a police crime report summarizing her account of the disappearance. The signing had some of the aspects of a movie contract signing ceremony.

A police artist was at the Escondido mansion for the second day today, putting the finishing touches on drawings of the pair the actress was abducted by. The drawings were made from Miss McDonald's description plus facial characteristics she pointed out in going through 300 pictures of known criminals.

Auditions for talent needed for the formulation of Senior Council sponsored MSU talent show have been scheduled from 3:30-5:30 Jan. 16, 17 and from 7-9 the evening of the 16th in the Music Room, third floor Union.

The student show, which will feature various state institutions during winter and spring terms, will be comprised of talent from all four classes.

Talent needed for the show, according to Joe Hoffman, Miami Beach, Fla., senior, chairman of the event, includes: singers, tap dancers, instrumentalists, group specialty numbers, a small band and a magician for performances in children's homes.

Boy's Republic, Detroit, Starr Commonwealth for Boys, Albion, Northville State Hospital, Northville, and the State of Michigan Department of Corrections are just a few of the institutions replying favorably to the talent show idea.

One complete show will be organized with the talent recruited, according to Hoffman, and smaller troops will be sent to different institutions, depending upon the size and type of each place.

Final plans for MSU's 1957 J-Hop are being completed by Junior Council.

Contrary to the information on the Union Board winter calendar, formal dress has been planned for Friday evening and semi-formal attire for Saturday. The opposite arrangements were in effect at the 1956 J-Hop.

'Teahouse' Roles Open Geisha Girls: We Need You!

Paging—all Geisha girls on campus.

You are offered top billing in the Tobiki Teahouse for a week in mid-February with a chance for permanent employment. Inquire room 49 Aud Thursday evening.

All this means that the leading role—the part of Lotus Blossom in the winter term play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," has not as yet been cast. Final tryouts will be held tonight. Professor Donn Buell, director of the play, is anxious to meet any South Pacific area students who might be interested.

Also in cast is the role of Mr. H. K. K. K., the heavyweight wrestling champion of Okinawa. The wrestling match in the third act is one of the high comedy points of the play, Buell said.

"We are anxious to cast roles of the Okinawan villagers from among our Oriental students," Buell said. "All of their lines are in Japanese and need the background which these students can offer us. If they are willing to aid us, we'll have one of the outstanding productions of this very popular and beautiful play."

A note of authenticity is being added to the play in the casting of Choset Kabira, Okinawan graduate student, in the role of Sakimi, the native interpreter.

Kabira actually was an interpreter in 1945 for the U.S. army of occupation and has lived through many of the experiences which John Patrick has written into the script.

The Okinawan student is serving as technical advisor on the production and will be teaching the cast members the Japanese dialogue which is used.

Final tryouts will be held in room 49 Aud tonight from 7:15-10.

The Standard price boost also covers kerosene, domestic heating oils and other products including diesel fuels.

"We believe that the members of the United Nations must continue to focus attention on the problem of Hungary," Lodge said. "The valiant Hungarians must not think they have been forgotten. Instead, they must know that they will always be remembered to have as men prize human liberty."

The Soviet Union's Vasily V. Kuznetsov charged that an investigation committee would be illegal. He expressed regret that Hammarstrand suggested the idea.

He said it appeared that Hammarstrand was acting not as an international official but as a party in a dispute among members of the United Nations.

Ceylan, R. S. S. Ganeswarane said Hammarstrand's actions should not have been questioned by the Soviet Union, since U. N. has the right and duty to ferret out information to support its activities.

Inter-City Bus May Continue E. L. Service

A proposal to continue bus service was submitted by the Inter-City Bus Co. to Lansing Mayor Philip Craig's committee studying the bus situation late Wednesday afternoon.

Details of the proposal were not disclosed pending further discussion by committee members. The plan however did not involve fare increases under present circumstances.

Last August Inter-City announced it would discontinue service because of financial losses. Service was reduced on all lines except that of College, Fisher, the line into East Lansing, and Washington Ave.

Service was continued beyond the November deadline because of a slight profit in the preceding two months, according to Lawrence Heller, chairman of the city council's traffic commission, and because of the Christmas shopping season.

Inter-City should discontinue service Heller has the promise of another bus company to have buses on the streets within 48 hours, it was stated.

Thumb Area Hillbilly DJ Found Shot to Death at Home

RICHMOND, Mich. (AP)—Louis C. Baron, 24, hillbilly music DJ and radio disc jockey, was found shot to death tonight in his cottage at the edge of his dance hall.

State Police said they found evidence that Baron had been fired by an intruder who apparently tossed a grenade in the cottage. Baron's body was found. However, one 12-caliber bullet wound in the back was found in his bathroom.

Baron's dance hall is on Grand Road in Mullenville, north of this St. Clair County community.

There was no evidence that robbery was the motive, police said. Some of money were found untouched in the cottage. Police said there was no sign of a struggle. No gun was found. However, one 12-caliber bullet wound in the back was found in his bathroom.

Major Leagues Blast College Proposals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A proposal by college coaches that major league baseball clubs be permitted to sign college prospects with prospective players was given the Wednesday night veto by the National Association of Professional Baseball Players.

Coach Urban Allen of Yale, president of the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches, singled out the Kansas City club in a speech before the group meeting in St. Louis Monday.

Allen told the group the Assn. has their own admission, had signed 322 college baseball players and found them to be the club regarded as prospects.

Allen had cited about the Assn. were correct but said the figure of 322 had been "twisted." He pointed out that some of the college players signed and not now regarded as big league prospects might develop into top players later.

Staff Column Tight Big 10 Race

By JOE HOFFMAN

AFTER many years of hoping and talking, it finally looks as if the Big 10 has come up with a close cage race. Though still early in the season, it doesn't look at this time as if any team will walk away with the title.

Evidence of this was Illinois' opening conference loss to Minnesota. The Illini finished a strong second to Iowa last year and were picked this season as the favorites for the crown.

But the Gophers, along with Indiana and Ohio State now loom as possible champions. And you still can't count out Purdue, Northwestern or even the Spartans.

Ohio State's Buckeyes have been the biggest surprise so far. Having lost Robin Freeman, the Bucks didn't figure to have the necessary scoring punch, but they have already polished off Iowa and Purdue in striking fashion.

My hunch is the Big 10 race won't be decided until the final Saturday in March. It should be that close.

Gymnast Through for Year With Practice Session Injury

One day in an otherwise outstanding performance cost Sophomore gymnast Angie Festa Feary. Tuesday Festa, completing his last event in an invitational meet, slipped while dismounting from the parallel bars and suffered a fracture of the left leg that will keep him out of action for the balance of the season.

Festa had performed brilliantly in the meet, according to coach George Szypula who had scheduled the competition to determine State's entries in its dual meet season opener Friday against Illinois' Navy Pier squad.

Szypula had planned on using the promising New Yorker, who had just joined the varsity at the beginning of winter term, in three events — side horse, parallels and free exercise.

Team physician Dr. James Feuring, who treated the injury, reported that Festa had broken both bones in the lower third of his leg. He was not immediately able to determine how long it would take the fracture to heal, but ruled out the possibility of Festa being able to compete during the 1957 campaign.

Szypula recalled that the last serious injury suffered by a Spartan varsity gymnast came in 1950 when trampoliner Jim Grogans received a compound foot fracture.

Bowling Green Co-Captains Dick Rose and Ralph Fakins will lead the Falcons' attack against Michigan State when the two teams clash in a dual meet in the Jenison Pool Saturday.

Tankers' Spotless Streak Challenged

Seeking 9th Straight Win Over BG Falcons Saturday

By JERRY ROBBINS
State News Sports Editor

Michigan State's swimming team puts two unblemished records on the line Saturday when it hooks up in a dual meet with Bowling Green in the Jenison Pool.

Coach Chuck McCaffree's mermen stand among the unbeaten in dual meet competition this season as they dumped North Carolina State, 54-30.

The Spartans also turned in a good performance in the Big 10 Invitational Relays but no team scores were recorded, and no champion crowned.

The Spartan tankers will also offer Bowling Green a chance to break Michigan State's domination over the Falcons in eight previous meetings.

However, the boys from the Buckeye state aren't to be taken lightly as Coach Sam Cooper has a crew of strong swimmers.

Heading the Falcons will be Freshmen Needed To Manage Track. All freshmen interested in managing the track team are urged to contact Wendell Vincent any day this week at 4 p.m. in Jenison Field House.

Co-Captains Dick Rose and Ralph Fakins. Fakins was undefeated last season in the backstroke and took the Mid-American Conference championship in the 100 and 200-yard events. He is also the key figure in the Bowling Green medley and free style relays.

Rose is one of his team's outstanding freestylers and is a standout in the freestyle relay event.

The Falcons have eight returning lettermen from a 1956 squad that went unbeaten in 11 dual meets, won the MAC relays and conference championship.

Among the returnees are Bill Muir and Don Worsfold, both top-notch freestylers who were the Falcons' top point getters last season.

John Thompson is Bowling Green's big threat in the butterfly and breaststroke events. He was runner-up in three championship races last year.

In posing eight dual meet wins over the Falcons starting in 1943, McCaffree coached teams rolled up their biggest margin in 1953, the last year the two squads met, by a 78-15 count.

Gophers Draw Pardon From NCAA Council

West Coast Punishment Unchanged

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The powerful NCAA Council in a day of voting Wednesday decided not to penalize the University of Minnesota for having used an ineligible player in the 1956 football championships and not to tighten penalties previously indicated on three colleges—Washington, UCLA and Southern California.

The Minnesota case was the first that had come up concerning an ineligible player in a NCAA team championship and resulted in the rather surprising revelation that the NCAA had no general policy concerning such a situation.

The player was Bill Hornung, Minnesota captain and star outfielder, who had signed a professional contract with the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, club while still in high school. He wasn't paid anything and didn't play pro ball and when he entered college baseball he didn't tell university authorities about it.

NCAA rules say that any player who even signs a pro contract isn't an amateur and hence is ineligible. The Hornung case came to light after the NCAA tournament had sprung when runner-up Arizona protested.

The three Pacific Coast colleges, now on probation and barred from participating in NCAA championships and operating "excuse" for varying periods, asked that their penalties be lightened in line with recent action by their own conference.

The conference penalties, inflicted as a result of various discoveries of illegal recruiting and payment to athletes, had concerned only football at Southern California and all sports at UCLA and Washington. At a recent PAC meeting, it was decided to remove the ban against winning championships and post-season and tournament participation in sports other than football.

The council refused to take similar action, sticking to its general policy of institutional responsibility for all violations.

Two Tiger Veterans Fall into Fold Tuttle, Torgeson Ink 1957 Bengal Pacts Wednesday

DETROIT (AP)—Outfielder Bill Tuttle and first baseman Earl Torgeson returned signed 1957 contracts to the Detroit Tigers Wednesday. The club now has 18 players in the fold.

Tuttle, 27-year-old center fielder whose batting average rose to .251 last season, has informed the Tigers he plans to show up early at their Lakeland, Fla., spring training quarters.

The 35-year-old Torgeson will be battling it out with three other players—Ray Boone, Ed Robinson and Jack Phillips, for the regular first base job. Boone will try to make the switch from third base and the Tigers say he has the inside track on the job.

Torgeson, a left-hand batter, hit .264 in 83 games last season.

Dave Lean Wins Medal After Near Miss

By HAL BATEMAN
State News Managing Editor

A Michigan State sophomore who almost didn't go to the Olympic Games picked up a silver medal for his efforts.

Dave Lean, British Empire champion from Tasmania returned to Australia only after the people of his native Tasmania had raised the money through public subscription.

Because he is Tasmania's top male athlete, the state wanted him to return to compete in the Australian Olympic Trials in the middle of October.

The Tasmanian Amateur Assn set the idea to raise the $1,200 for the round-trip fare and the Robert Mercury, a newspaper in Tasmania's capital city, carried on the campaign.

The people responded so well that it only took a week to raise the money.

Tasmania is an island about 300 miles south of Australia that has a population of about 300,000 and an area as big as Scotland.

Lean returned to Australia at the end of September where he stayed at Melbourne, the site of the Trials and the Olympic Games.

During the trials, the lean Aussie placed second in the 400-meter hurdles, but the race was so close that Lean and Geoff Goodacre, the winner, were both given the national record.

In addition Lean was also selected as an alternate on Australia's mile relay team. He had run as a member of the team in the 1954 British Empire Games.

Following the trials, Lean, a 24-year-old student majoring in accounting, began extensive training for the Olympics.

He ran in several meets throughout the country and handed Kevin Gosper, MSU's 1955 track captain, his first defeat at 110 yards since Gosper returned to the last down under.

Gosper, British Empire and three-time Big 10 champion, is now an educational officer in the Royal Australian Air Force.

With the Olympics approaching, the Australian squad moved into Olympic Village in Melbourne where Lean roomed with Merv Lincoln, one of Australia's four-minute milers.

Dave became one of the first athletes to participate in the track and field portion of the games when he ran in the first heat of the 400 meter hurdles, the first running event on the Melbourne track. He qualified for the final where he placed fifth.

Lean picked up his silver medal when he ran on Australia's mile relay team, which placed second to the U.S. The team Tasmanian ran the second leg while Gosper anchored the team.

"It wasn't until the day of the race that Lean learned he was running in the mile relay. The strategy paid off handsomely for the Australians because Lean's relay leg of 46.3 was the second fastest on the team.

"We thought we had only a chance for a bronze medal," Lean said, "but we expected trouble from the Germans. We figured the U.S. and Britain would finish in front of us."

The British finished third and the Germans fourth in the finals.

The track and field events were held before capacity crowds everyday. And the Australians are some of the most rabid sports fans in the world. During the Games, athletes from all nations were invited into the Melbourne homes.

"They adore athletes much more there than they do here," Lean stated, "and they tend to put athletes on pedestals."

Lean fully realized this enthusiasm in one of his hurdle races. He was on the curve just before the stretch when a crowd came from a block of school children in the stands.

"It took a few moments for me to suddenly realize that the race was for me," the unassuming Lean said.

"There was a language barrier to a degree," he said, "but interpreters were available. I wish I could have spoken Russian because they appeared so fully nice."

Yuri Lashov, who ran against Lean, and Vladimir Kuts, Olympic 5000 and 10,000 meters champion, were very friendly, he said. Kuts, he added, was very popular with the crowd. The U.S. team was also very well received and Bobby Morose, winner of three gold medals, was very popular among the athletes.

"I ran beyond myself in the Olympics," the lean Aussie said, "but the Olympics is the best of them all. The atmosphere can't help but bring out the best in you."

Following the Olympics, Lean was given a civic reception in his native Launceston in Tasmania and spent Christmas at home. After the holiday, he took the 50-hour airplane trip back to East Lansing and Michigan State.

Tito Invited to U. S. As Ike's Official Guest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito has been invited to come to the United States as President Eisenhower's official guest, and an April visit is now being discussed.

Officials who disclosed this Wednesday said they understood the White House definitely would go through with plans to invite the Communist Yugoslav leader despite some hot protests against it.

Tito was invited several weeks ago through the American Embassy in Belgrade. They said, with the understanding that a specific date would be set later. This information is far more definite than that casually given by Secretary of State Dulles about a Tito visit at a news conference Dec. 19. He agreed a Tito visit would serve a useful purpose, and said it was being given sympathetic consideration but no formal invitation with a specific date had yet been made.

The White House and State Department are now seeking to determine whether the April visit would fit in with President Eisenhower's schedule.

Like other visiting heads of state, Tito would spend three days in Washington meeting with top officials, following it up with a tour of American cities in the South, Midwest and Far West.

Bitter protests often have been voiced by Americans against Tito's policies, including his treatment of the Catholic Church in Yugoslavia.

Several Congressmen have hotly protested any thought of inviting Tito as honor guest.
