Truman Supports Ike's Plan

Mid-East Doctrine Hearings Begin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Truman gave a boost to the Eisenhower Middle East plan Sunday as House Foreign Affairs Committee Democrats prepared for a special strategy session.

Rep. Carnahan of Missouri, a senior committee Democrat, said he was "delighted" with a Truman statement expressing support for President Eisenhower's Middle East proposal. Carnahan said he does not believe today's closed-door meeting of committee Democrats, called by Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.), will turn the Middle East resolution into a political football.

In a separate interview, Rep. Selden (D-Ala.) said Truman's views gave the Eisenhower request a shot in the arm. He predicted the House group would okay a resolution "similar" to what Eisenhower wants. But he did not rule out the possibility the committee might make some "improvements."

Senate hearings on the middle East proposals will begin today. Secretary of State Dulles is scheduled as leadoff witness at joint hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees (10 a.m.).

Democrats in the Senate generally have been more critical of the Eisenhower plan than their House colleagues.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, described it today as a "go-it-alone" policy.

Rep. Boggs (D-La.), appearing with Mansfield in a television discussion filmed for presentation in New Orleans, said he thinks Eisenhower "is on very solid ground" in principle but added, "It's the lack of explanation that bothers me."

Rep. Vorys of Ohio, a top Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, praised Truman's stand and predicted a majority of committee Democrats and nearly all the Republicans would go along with Eisenhower's resolution.

Vorys expressed this view to a newsman as Rep. Zablocki prepared for Democratic colleagues a rival resolution along lines suggested by Dean Acheson, Truman's former Secretary of State.

Zablocki's resolution would be a simple Congressional declaration, without force of law, of U.S. interest in the Middle East and readiness to act there.

It would not, without separate legislation, provide for use of funds in the strategic area or grant Eisenhower the authority he seeks for use of American troops in case of open Communist attack there.

Truman, in a statement at his home in Independence, Mo., outlined a position toward the Eisenhower plan which was markedly different from the biting denunciation Acheson expressed last week.

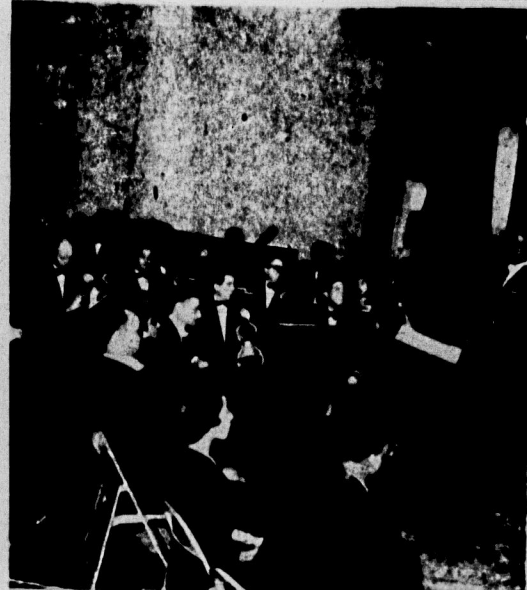

"If I were now a member of the United States Senate," Truman said, "I would support the request of the President for Congressional authorization to use the Armed Forces of the United States against any Communist or Communist-dominated aggressor in the Middle East. And I would quickly approve anything he funds he seeks to help the Middle East nations maintain their independence."

Traffic Court to Check Suggestions

A set of recommendations made by the 1956 Student Congress Traffic Study Committee is now being considered by the Student-Faculty Motor Vehicle Committee.

Recommendations made by the committee will be presented to the State Board of Agriculture for approval before being incorporated into the campus driving regulations.

All campus organizations and groups are urged to give their suggestions to the committee for consideration. The suggestions should be presented through a Student Congress representative or through Tom Kimen, chairman of the congress traffic committee.

As Policy Coordinator

Nixon's Appointment Reported Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Sunday reported delaying a decision on whether to name Vice President Nixon as chief policy coordinator for government departments.

Eisenhower was known to be considering a change in the present system under which the Undersecretary of State serves as chairman of the Operations Coordinating Board.

This little-publicized agency is charged with seeing to it that the broad policies laid down by the President are followed—and not fouled up—in the multitudinous details which must be handled by individual departments, bureaus and agencies.

The job carries with it the implication of intimate association with the President and his ideas. If Nixon were named to the post, it would be interpreted generally as an indication that Eisenhower was giving the Vice President a boost in the latter's expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon is reported to have made it clear he would be available for the job but was not pressing for it.

Some State Department officials have contended that the Coordinating Board's duties involve a great deal of routine checking that the Vice-President might not have time to supervise.

They were said to feel, also, that there was some question as to whether the Vice President was the proper official to be clothed with authority to crack down on departments that wander off the policy path.

With these arguments in mind, Eisenhower was represented as delaying a decision until former Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts takes over next month as Undersecretary of State.

Herter is succeeding Herbert Hoover Jr. in that post and apparently is going to be groomed for the department's top job if Secretary of State Dulles should decide to step out any time during Eisenhower's second term.

White on campus, Ravenholt will conduct two seminars open to the public: a lecture seminar on "Social Organization and Economic Development in Formosa," scheduled for next Monday, at 4 p.m. at 116 Nat. Sci. and a graduate seminar on "The Impact of the United States on the Philippines," scheduled for Jan. 17 and Jan. 24, at 3 p.m. at 312 Ag Hall.

In addition, he is slated to address several undergraduate classes, and to hold staff and individual conferences, according to Dr. Lawrence W. Witt, professor of agricultural economics who has charge of arrangements for the Asian specialist.

Ravenholt has studied and written about Asian affairs since 1940, and served in World War II as a correspondent in China, Burma, India, Indo-China and the Philippines, where he recently spent 18 months. This will be his third visit to Michigan State as an AUSA staff member.

MSU is one of 10 universities and colleges that control and AUSA, a non-profit corporation established in 1951 for help to support activities of the study of foreign nations and cultures.

Ravenholt is one of four AUSA staff members who will visit the Michigan State campus in winter and spring terms this year.

Communists Crack Down On Rebellious Hungarians

Larger UN Forces Suggested

Gaitskell Asks U.S. to Take Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hugh Gaitskell, leader of Britain's Labor party, urged Sunday that the United Nations create a larger police force to patrol all of Israel's borders. He said this could be taken as an immediate step to ease dangerous Middle Eastern tensions.

In a televised interview, Gaitskell said it would be a "wonderful thing" if the United States took the lead in persuading the UN Assembly to build up such an international police force.

He suggested that the beefed up UN force should also occupy the Israeli-held Gaza strip and part of the Sinai Peninsula "right down to the Gulf of Aqaba."

The visiting British leader said such a police force was urgently needed because he believed passions in the Middle East are still at too dangerous a peak to give any real hope of an immediate over-all settlement of problems in the area.

Gaitskell said the United Nations must adopt "a firm line" in dealing with Egypt unless it wants to "create a painful impression on the other side of the Atlantic."

He also said it would be a "very good idea" for President Eisenhower to invite Britain's new conservative Prime Minister, Harold Macmillan, to an early conference.

Gaitskell termed Eisenhower's new Middle East program "a step in the right direction," saying it seems to indicate "a more positive" American role in the Middle East.

But, he said, the immediate peril in the area is no direct Soviet aggression but subversion, and he said any new American program would fail unless it made certain there was at the same time:

1. "No political obstructions" to swift clearance of the ship-clogged Suez canal.
2. A quick start on negotiations for a permanent settlement with Egypt on control of the international waterway.
3. An attempt to make "some progress" in settling the long-standing Arab-Israeli quarrel.

Commenting on former President Truman's suggestion of a Middle East arms embargo, Gaitskell said he did not see how any such embargo could be established "without an agreement with Russia."

In talking about additional Western steps to help Hungary, Gaitskell suggested a vastly increased relief program supervised by the International Red Cross to show the world that Hungarian sacrifices are appreciated.

Even Cupid Is a Communist

China to Guide Love Affairs

HONG KONG (AP)—In China, even Cupid is a Communist, and boy-meets-girl is a carefully supervised process. But not all of China's young comrades are making out romantically under the Marxist system and the Peiping Jen Min daily thinks something should be done about it, preferably in the way of guidance by party leaders and labor unions.

"Love is what makes up the happiness of younger people," the paper proclaimed in a recent issue. "Love lightly handled, however, will only bring them misfortune."

Denouncing the "promiscuity" of too-comradely comrades, the paper cites the case of a salesgirl in Mukden who "maintained romantic attachment" with more than 10 men.

"She was booked solid on weekend dates. The list was so long she had to work out a timetable to schedule them. This kind of careless romantic mix-up has adversely affected the families, work and studies of many young people."

"For this reason, stepped-up guidance on the love life of young people has become a matter of great urgency in the current program for youth."

"Party and trade union organs have the obligation to show concern for the happiness of young people in love and home life," it says. For example, a factory in Kiamisco has more than 1,000 single women on the staff, with the nearest man 20 miles away. The factory management, with its eye on production quotas, likes it that way, but Jen Min doesn't.

"The leadership of the plant has banned social activities. Because of this barrier, many young people have taken the plunge after making the slightest contacts, and there has been a rash of hasty marriages."

The article closed with a plea for bigger and better social contacts in proper Marxist atmosphere.

Harold Macmillan arrives at Buckingham Palace in London Thursday to accept appointment as new British prime minister from Queen Elizabeth.

Few Changes

New British Cabinet Appointments Made

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Sunday reappointed John Selwyn Lloyd, an architect of the Suez invasion, as Foreign Secretary in a new British cabinet with an old look.

With the nation primed to expect sweeping changes, Macmillan called on most key ministers to stay in the posts they held when he succeeded Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister last Thursday. Only four of Eden's ministers were dropped.

Macmillan's chief rival for the Prime Ministership, 54-year-old Richard Austen Butler, was reappointed Government leader in the House of Commons and Lord Privy Seal and given the additional post of Home Secretary.

The new Prime Minister replaced two Armed Forces Ministers who played military roles in the Suez invasion.

Anthony Head was dropped as Minister of Defense and Sir Winston Churchill's 47-year-old son-in-law, Duncan Sandys, was installed in his place. Head's new ministerial assignment—if any—was not announced.

Eden's 49-year-old first Lord of Admiralty, Lord Hailsham, was shifted to the post of Minister of Education. As Admiralty Lord Hailsham was not in the cabinet. As Education Minister he is, Hailsham created a stir during the Suez crisis by saying, "I find it hard to say I am half-American." His mother, who died in 1925, was the daughter of Judge Trimble Brown of Nashville, Tenn.

Kadar Government Issues New Decree

Summary Death Sentence May be Imposed on Strikers

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's Communist regime cracked down on its rebellious people Sunday with a threat of summary death sentences for anybody urging a strike.

With Russian armored cars still patrolling the streets of Budapest, Premier Janos Kadar's government issued a decree going beyond the previous declaration of martial law.

Its terms were so broad that anyone can be brought before a special court and hanged within 24 hours for "disturbing the activity of a factory by his presence or by any other means." These special courts had been established earlier but were to have dealt only with murder, looting, arson and the concealment of weapons.

Sunday's decree, published in newspapers and broadcast by Radio Budapest, was the government's reply to new strikes and demonstrations last week.

The harsh new measures appear designed to break the strikes, to combat increasing sabotage and to forestall the outbreak of another armed rebellion. Death sentences can be imposed upon anyone charged with damaging or endangering public utilities or any other vital enterprise. The government ruled any enterprise employing 100 or more workers is "vital."

The new decree also provided for sentences of life imprisonment but only in limited cases would such "element" sentences as five to 15 years at hard labor be granted.

Evidence of continuing rebellion came from the Budapest press and radio, which reported a Hungarian Police Major was found shot dead in a downtown street of the capital Saturday night and that rebels had held up a train in Western Hungary, wounding the engineer.

Radio Budapest said the new death courts were necessary because "hostile elements" have started up new instigating activity in recent days, after they failed to gain control through armed revolution.

"As a result of strikes and coal and power shortages, production in most factories has been crippled. Now the activity of these enemy elements threatens to spread unemployment and make inflation inevitable. The government has tried to meet the workers' demands and helped farmers by ending compulsory crop deliveries."

"But hostile elements, including criminals freed from prisons during the fighting, ignore these government measures for the welfare of our people. So they must be dealt with by martial law."

The Kadar government and Communist party paper, Nepszabadsag, quoted Dr. Ferenc Nezeval, acting head of the justice ministry, as saying the regime took the new measures reluctantly, "under pressure of circumstances," in order to isolate and unmask counter-revolutionary inciters and other harmful elements.

Morse Attacks Ike Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) Sunday attacked President Eisenhower's request for stand-by military and economic powers in the Middle East and said "I don't propose to sacrifice American blood for Arabian oil."

Morse said on a national television program that if the proposal should come before Congress today, it probably would be approved, but "I'm hoping that after a thorough debate they will not support it."

"I don't believe in pre-emptive declarations of war," Morse said. "The President is only 20 minutes away from Congress at any time."

"The answer is the United Nations, and the United States ought to stop leaning down the United Nations. Dulles always goes around the United Nations before he goes through it," he said, referring to the Secretary of State.

"I'm opposed to the United States being the enforcement arm of the United Nations," Morse said. "Dulles always goes around the United Nations before he goes through it," he said, referring to the Secretary of State.

Morse said the United States should "insist that the judicial processes be used" and that there is nothing in the current Middle East crisis, including the Suez Canal problem and resettlement of Arab refugees, which cannot be solved through international law.

Referring to former President Truman's statement Sunday that Congress and the people should back the President's proposal, Morse said:

"Anybody can be wrong." He added that he believed the former President is wrong on the matter.

Morse said he didn't believe the standby powers are necessary because "I just don't believe things are anything like as bad" as the administration claims.

"I've heard Mr. Dulles cry wolf so many times," Morse said.

UN Gets U. S. Disarmament Proposal

Ike's Plan Submitted By Lodge

To Open Way For Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. will lay new U. S. disarmament proposals before the UN today. He is expected to enlarge on President Eisenhower's idea for an agreement to control space missiles and satellites.

The chief U.S. delegate to the UN will make a 20-minute speech to the General Assembly's political committee at the start of its annual debate on disarmament.

"The United States will put forward new proposals today which are designed to open the way for serious negotiations at an early meeting of the Disarmament Subcommittee," a U.S. spokesman said.

In the subcommittee are Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Lodge suggested to the 12-nation Disarmament Commission last month that the subcommittee resume talks in March, after the Assembly adjourns.

The subcommittee, established by the Assembly in 1953, has held 86 meetings without agreeing on the basis for a disarmament treaty.

The U.S. spokesman told a reporter, any U. S. proposals "would be within the framework of an inspection system adequate to deal with commitments made in every phase of the disarmament program."

He said this meant that not only atomic disarmament but also cuts in conventional arms and armed forces should be subject to verification through a thorough inspection system.

He would not detail the U.S. proposals. But one informed source at the UN said he expected Lodge would range over the whole disarmament field from conventional arms to scientific devices still in the course of development.

The informed source spoke of the intercontinental ballistic missile, which, he said, "is just around the corner if not already here." He added the earth satellite, "has all sorts of scientific and military implications."

One Person Dead

Fairbanks Fire Forces Hundreds to Flee

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A mid-morning fire in this inland Alaska city's largest apartment building forced several hundred persons to flee in 15 below zero weather Sunday and at least one person was dead.

Nearly 300 tenants in the nine-story, modern northward building were trapped for a time as the fire, one of the largest in Alaska's history, sent dense smoke swirling throughout the structure. Some trapped occupants jumped into nets. Others made their way to the ground on lowered bedsheets and blankets tied together. Still others were carried down ladders.

Firemen carried out nine persons either unconscious or in serious condition. The dead man was identified as William Stebbins, owner of the Riverside Bar and a prominent West Coast restaurant man.

Jack Ryan, editor of the Fairbanks News-Miner, reported at 4:30 p.m. Alaska time (7:30 p.m. EST), that the fire was under control.

There were 700 persons occupying the 20 apartments in the big structure in the center of Fairbanks, the nearest large city to the Arctic Circle. About half the number, or 350, were standing at windows when firemen arrived; some were calm, some

Art Exhibit Features Staff Artists

The current art exhibition now showing in the Union Gallery follows a plan begun two years ago by the art department for replacing its all-staff annual show with one or more smaller shows each year by fewer staff members.

In this show, staff artists Margaret Yull, Katharine Winckler, Erling Brauner, John S. deMartelly and Murray Jones are represented by work done, for the most part, within the past year.

Misses Yull and Winckler are distinguished in the show for their work in enameling on copper. Each of these women has earned a reputation in this media within the past several years and Miss Winckler was invited to exhibit at the Modern Crafts Museum in New York City.

Both artists were invited exhibitors in past years at the Los Angeles County Fair show. Their work includes bowls, trays, plaques and jewelry. Miss Winckler includes in her entries six paintings which are abstract and non-objective in style.

Erling Brauner has on display three paintings done in oil and lacquer, as well as two abstract watercolors, a chalk drawing and three bowls.

Ike Visits Southwest Dry Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower travels to the drought-stricken Southwest Sunday for the start of a six-state study of how to ease the plight of desperate farmers and ranchers.

The President, accompanied by Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Secretary of the Interior Scotch, arrived in his first to San Angelo, Tex. In that area, says the Agriculture Department, "the present drought is the worst in history."

Eisenhower's seven-stop, two-day inspection tour will start this morning in the wind-blown central Texas region around San Angelo. Then he will fly on—making an aerial survey along the way—to Woodward, Okla., and Clovis, N.M., for additional ground trips in those areas.

At Wichita, Eisenhower hopes to be able to give farmers and ranchers some idea of what additional aid — both emergency and long range — they can expect from the federal government.

Matmen Stop Hoosiers, Take 5 of 8 Decisions

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Night Editor

Winning five of eight matches, four by forfeit and one by decision, Michigan State's wrestling team downed Indiana Saturday, 17-9, at Jenison Fieldhouse.

Don Stroud, Walt Jones, Norm Gill and LeRoy Fladseth took decision victories while 177-pounder Jim Ferguson won by a forfeit for the Spartans.

Stroud, Big 10 123-pound champion from Lansing, beat the Hoosiers' Paul Bain, 5-2. For Stroud, who was fourth in the NCAA met last year and finished the season with a 12-4 overall record, it was the second straight victory of the season in two matches.

Jones, Spartan 147 pounder, decided Norm Komorowski, 5-4. The Lansing junior who has had no prior varsity experience won in the closest match of the meet with the decision in doubt until the final buzzer.

MSU's Norm Gill, whom Coach Fendley Collins called "the most improved" member of the grapplers before his midseason injury last year, won his 157 pound match over William Gallo easily, 8-4, for his second straight victory of the young season.

Jerry Hoke lost to Indiana's Joe Shook, 3-2 in another close match. Hoke is considered one of State's top prospects and had a 13-5-1 record last year.

Leo Smedley, another of the five former Lansing prep stars who saw action Saturday, was beaten by Indiana's Bob Killam, 8-2, at the 167-pound weight division. But LeRoy Fladseth clinched the victory for State in the final match with a easy 10-3 verdict over the Hoosier's Walt Carnham.

In the only other meet of the season, the Spartans defeated Purdue in a quadrangular meet at Northwestern a week ago.

Joe Picks 'em

By JOE HOFFMAN

Indiana at Illinois: The Hoosiers dropped out of first place last Saturday by losing to Purdue. The Illini bounced back from their upset loss to Minnesota by trouncing Wisconsin. Both teams continue along same path. ILLINOIS.

Wisconsin at Michigan: Wolverines up after one-point victory over Northwestern. Wisconsin going down, down, down - - - lucky to win a conference game all season.

MINNESOTA. Minnesota at Ohio State: Best game of night. Bucks have been surprisingly strong in early season play - only undefeated team in conference. Gophers slaughtered by Iowa Saturday. On most papers, it's Ohio State. On State News it's MINNESOTA.

Northwestern at Purdue: Boilermakers are rough at home. Wildcats are poor on road, therefore simple prediction. PURDUE.

Lindsay's 20th Gets Wings' Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Ted Lindsay scored his 20th goal of the season and assisted in another as the Detroit Red Wings staved off a New York Ranger's last period rally for a 3-2 National Hockey League victory Sunday.

Lindsay, taking a pass from Red Kelly, sent the Wings in front at 7:10 of the opening session.

At 7:20 of the second period Norm Ullman scored after taking passes from Lindsay and Gordie Howe.

Alex Delvecchio put the Wings three up early in the third period, scoring on an assist from Johnny Bucyk at 1:50. Parker Macdonald picked up a loose puck and sent it flying past goalie Glenn Hall as the Detroit netminder came out to block the puck and broke his stick. Bill Gadsby scored the second Ranger goal at 15:49.

The Rangers pulled Worsley out of the net with 1:15 remaining and sent the puck flying at Hall time and again.

MSU Finds Punch, Stops Aggies Twice

Pucksters Belt Canadian Club For 20 Goals in 2 Games

Spartan icers worked up a full head of steam Friday and Saturday to trounce the Ontario Aggies, 14-2 and 6-1. It was the first hockey game of the season for the Aggies.

A crowd of 1023 watched State's forwards use Ontario goalie Wilkes for target practice as the Spartans outshot the Aggies 3 to 1 grabbing their third win in nine encounters.

Coach Amo Bessone used the two game non league series for experimenting with his lines to gain more scoring punch. Skating as number one line were center Ross Farke with wingers Joe Polano and Gene Grazia.

Parke, who set up five of Friday night's goals, remained scoreless until the second game when he scored twice. Second line winger Keith Christofferson was the other two goal man for State.

Fred DeVuono and Toni Bonacci accounted for the final Spartan goals Saturday night. During the Friday night action both DeVuono and Bonacci earned two goals each to account for four of the Spartans' 14 tallies.

Showing an excellent defense, and equally proficient offense, the Spartans slapped in seven goals in the first period of Friday's game.

Ontario remained scoreless until the last two minutes of the second period when Stu O'Neil put one by goalie Aldo Altobelli. O'Neil scored the Aggies final goal at the fifteen minute mark of the third period but by then the Spartans were out in front with 14 tallies.

Saturday was a repeat of the first game as the Spartans grabbed a quick four goals in the first period and added one more point in each of the remaining two periods.

O'Neil again stopped Altobelli from earning a shut-out as he scored his third goal of the series early in the first period with the score 3-0 for State.

Altobelli had an easy time in the nets as the young Ontario forwards were stopped by Spartan defensemen on the blue line. Altobelli turned away 19 shots Friday and 12 Saturday.

Captain Bob Jasson missed action Saturday due to a bruised hip. His injury isn't serious and he will see action against Michigan Tuesday night.

The Ontario defense was ineffective in stopping State's offense and even the defense got a chance to score. Butch Miller, first line defenseman, slapped one in from the blue line during Friday's game.

In the 200-yard butterfly, Tom Kwasny came from behind to nose out Reg Harmon in one of the best races of the meet. Kwasny was clocked at 2:21 flat, which topped the old dual meet mark of 2:29.4 set by John Dudeck in 1953.

Sophomore Don Patterson did well, Patterson, Capt. Jim Clemmons and Frank Parrish, wound up the afternoon by breaking a 10-year dual meet mark. The team's time of 3:30.3 bettered the old 3:33.8 record set by a Spartan foursome in 1947.

Don Morey and John Mason placed one-two in the diving. Morey picked up 262.1 points from the high board and Mason finished with 229.3, better than 40 points ahead of Bowling Green's top diver.

The win marked Coach Chuck McCaffrey's 10th in a row over the Falcons and his second dual meet victory this season. The loss was Bowling Green's first in 19 dual meets.

McCaffrey also entered a "B" unit which outscored the Falcons, 53-43.

The Spartans' next home dual meet is scheduled for Saturday when they take on the Indianapolis Athletic Club in Jensen Pool at 3 p.m.

Veteran Paul Reinke splashed his way home in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:23.5 to establish a new varsity, pool and dual meet record. The old varsity mark of 2:28.3 was set by Reinke last season.

The old pool record of 2:23.7 was set earlier this season by North Carolina State's Dick Paden. Saturday's meet marked the first time the two teams have contested in the event in dual meet competition.

Larry Ellis broke the 50-yard freestyle dual meet mark of 23.2 held jointly by Don Paton and Clarke Scholes, both of Michigan State, with a 23.1.

ENGINEERS...PHYSICISTS...

Here are brief descriptions of the important work performed in the five separate divisions of the Hughes Field Engineering Department. Each of the engineers engaged in these activities holds a degree in electrical engineering or physics. All divisions form a highly trained organization to support the armed services and others using Hughes fire control systems and guided missiles.

How do you check out here?

Check one or more divisions for which you qualify by education and experience...

☐ ENGINEERING WRITING—Engineers in this division work with research and development engineers during formation stages of new equipment to produce clear, concise technical manuals, for use in maintenance and training, as well as specialized handbooks for USAF armaments.

☐ TECHNICAL TRAINING—A completely equipped and staffed school is operated to train qualified military and company personnel in classroom and laboratory programs on advanced systems work in the fields of radar fire control, electronic computers, guided missiles. Instructors are graduate engineers or physicists with backgrounds in development work or university instruction.

☐ FIELD ENGINEERS—Hughes technical advisors are required in the field wherever operational bases are located. They serve military agencies employing Hughes highly complex radar fire control systems for all-weather interceptor aircraft, at home and abroad.

☐ AIRCRAFT MANUFACTURER LIAISON—Engineers are assigned to all-weather interceptor manufacturers whose aircraft employ Hughes fire control systems, and are responsible for pre-installation testing of the systems. They work with airframe designers in cases where their operational knowledge bears on equipment installation problems.

☐ FIELD MODIFICATION—Hughes policy is not only to get reliable equipment into the field promptly and in sufficient amount, but to modify and develop this as soon as field information and test data become available. Engineers correlate information from the field and indicate changes to the Research and Development Divisions. Write...

Gonzales Sure Of Taking Aussie

MELBOURNE (AP) — Professional tennis star Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles flew into Melbourne today bursting with confidence he could whip Australian Ken Rosewall in their opening professional match at Kewpie tomorrow night.

Rechichar Boots 4 Field Goals

Defense Wins for West, 19-10

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four magnificent field goals by Bert Rechichar were more than enough to give the West a 19-10 victory over the East Sunday in the annual pro bowl battle of the finest players of the National Football League.

The Baltimore Colt sent the ball off his right foot for field goals of 52, 44, 42, and 41 yards to give the West 12 points.

Sam Baker of the Washington Redskins also booted a field goal from 52 yards out.

The West scored first, with quarterback Ed Brown of the Chicago Bears sneaking for one yard in the first quarter. Kyle Rote of the New York Giants tied it up for the East in the second period when he recovered a fumble in the end zone.

Rechichar was voted the "most valuable player of the game" award.

The most exciting play of the game went for naught. It came in the third quarter with Tomlin Rote of Green Bay at the helm of the West. The Texan and two great ends, Harlon Hill of the Bears and Billy Howton of Green Bay, got together on a pass play that went for 79 yards.

Rote found Hill in the open for 36 yards. When Hill was tackled, he lateraled to Howton, who went on for 43 more to the East 7 before Dick "Night Train" Lane of the Chicago Cardinals hauled him down.

But the West failed to score and surrendered the ball on the 2.

Breaks figured in both touchdowns. Halfback Ollie Matson of the Cardinals was hit by tackle Paul Miller of the Los Angeles Rams in the first quarter and fumbled the ball.

Detroit's Joe Schmidt recovered on the East 12 and Bear fullback Rick Casares banged out 7 and 4 yards before Brown went the final 1.

Detroit Lions playing were: Charley Ane, Jack Christiansen, Lou Creekmur, Jim David, Yale Lary, Bobby Layne and Joe Schmidt.

How KEARFOTT'S Training Program Works...

A "learning by doing" philosophy is basic at Kearfott. As an assistant Project Engineer, you are given assignments in several engineering laboratories to determine in which you can make your best contributions and find your greatest satisfaction. Under the guidance of senior engineers and specialists, each man takes his project through from inception to final production, thus acquiring a broad experience background. Success depends on individual initiative and resources.

KEARFOTT

is interviewing on your campus

Tuesday, January 15

Make your appointment now with your College Placement Office

Kearfott's leading position in the development and production of aircraft control and navigation instruments makes the company a fertile ground for the young engineer to develop his talents and gain the experience which means success in his chosen profession.

Assisting in the design and development of today's most advanced systems, the graduate engineer quickly gains in knowledge of the functions and applications of the gyro, synchro and other components which comprise systems. You will share in Kearfott's vital role in TACAN, inertial guidance, stable platforms and other service mechanisms for today's most important jet aircraft and industrial development.

In addition to close association with the engineers whose work has set new standards for the industry, you enjoy an educational assistance program to help you further your formal education, supplementing the "learning by doing" program through which you will close your field of special interest.

Decentralized plants provide ample opportunity to become familiar with top management and distinguish yourself through initiative and imagination. Salaries and benefits are liberal, and advancement is based on your own value and contribution.

NOTE: If you cannot attend an interview on this day, please write for more information to Robert J. Speil, Technical Placement Supervisor, Engineering Personnel Office.

Called 'Dangerous' by McCarthy

Ike's Brother Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy Sunday assailed President Eisenhower's official family as "a motley crowd," and said the President's brother, Milton, "tops the list" of those who "are doing this country a great deal of damage."

The Wisconsin Republican told a questioner on a television panel show (ABC-Press Conference) that Milton Eisenhower was dangerous because "he has the President's ear. I don't think he's any more a Republican than you are a Hottentot."

"The President's brother," McCarthy said, "came into the Agriculture Department at the time that extreme radical left wing group—a number of them named as Communists—were in there. He was as left as any of them, he has been as left as any of them since then."

Dr. Milton Eisenhower was an assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture in 1926-28, later director of information, 1928-40.

McCarthy said he did not think the President himself was under Communist influence, and he added, "If let alone he might do a fairly good job. I think the motley crowd around him—the so-called palace guard—are doing this nation a great deal of damage."

Asked to specify those in the official family he thought dangerous, McCarthy replied:

"I'd say Milton Eisenhower tops the list. Then Paul Hoffman, C. D. Jackson, Sherman Adams... Oh, I don't think I will run down the entire list." He had a good word only for Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President, whom he called "a fine outstanding gentleman."

At another point in the program, McCarthy was asked his opinion of what the President has called "Modern Republicanism." He replied:

"If that means the Milton Eisenhower, Paul Hoffman type of Republicanism—part of the palace guard, you understand, who do the advising—I'm certainly not for that type of Republicanism. I don't think they're any more Republicans than I am a liberal Democrat."

McCarthy said he would oppose "wholeheartedly" the President's request for advance permission to use American troops if necessary in the Middle East to stop any Communist aggression there.

"If the President wants certain action to be taken," he said, "the White House is only 10 or 15 minutes away from the Congress. He can come down and put the picture up to us and let the Congress decide."

WKAR-FM Goes Off Air

WKAR-FM was off the air most of the day Sunday due to technical difficulties which occurred at 10:34 a.m.

According to John T. Blake, chief radio engineer, transmitter trouble forced the station to leave the air in order to prevent further damage to expensive tubes.

Though broadcasting resumed temporarily at noon for a fifteen minute period, the difficulty was not entirely cleared up until 6 p.m.

The station is expected to resume regular operations at 8 a.m. today.

The AM station which used separate equipment was not affected by the FM trouble.

Macmillan Discusses Suez Canal

Talks Include European Trade

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's new government plunged Monday into talks ranging from the Suez Canal crisis to setting up a free trade market in Western Europe.

The new cabinet was sworn in before Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace.

Then Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd hustled off to confer with Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon, who had come from Cairo talks with President Nasser of Egypt.

One of the first major tasks of Macmillan's government is to settle the Suez dispute and get ships moving through the canal once it is cleared of wreckage.

From Suez and the Middle East, Lloyd turned to the projected West European free trade plan. He dined with Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, who had arrived to discuss the plan. Spaak is the new secretary-general of NATO.

Detailed discussions opened tomorrow at the treasury under the chairmanship of Britain's new Chancellor of the Exchequer, Peter Thorneycroft.

In his former office as President of the Board of Trade, Thorneycroft pushed the idea of a common European market area.

The talks will center on ways of broadening the plan for a common market so that Britain and other West European countries can take part.

France, Italy, Belgium, Germany, Holland and Luxembourg are well advanced on the plan.

We are ready to go ahead now," Spaak told newsmen. "I want to see if there is a possibility of collaboration. I think the British are ready to do something about it and that we shall succeed."

Spaak lunched with former Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden at Chequers and expects to see Macmillan tonight.

A possibility that Britain will move into intimate and economic and political ties with Western Europe was indicated by an analysis of Macmillan's new cabinet.

Reds Capture U.S. Woman Photographer

BUDAPEST (AP)—U.S. authorities here were told Monday that one missing American was in a Hungarian jail just as they learned another probably has been arrested.

After six weeks the Hungarian Communists acknowledged they were holding Mrs. Gertrude Meyer Chapelle, 36, a freelance photographer from New York.

They told the Americans she had crossed the Austrian-Hungarian border without proper papers. There had been no direct word from her since she left a Vienna hotel Dec. 4 and said she was going to have another look at the border where she had been making pictures of refugees.

It is expected the Hungarian government soon will bring her to trial for crossing the border illegally.

A French reporter and photographer, arrested under similar circumstances, were escorted to the border by Hungarian secret police within a few days.

Official word had not yet reached the U. S. Legation in Budapest of the disappearance of Richard Roraback of Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and Norwegian student Einar Ross of Oslo. They are believed to have been arrested on the Hungarian side of the border near the Austrian village of Andau, where thousands of refugees have crossed.

Bogart Succumbs To Cancer at 56

Academy Award Winner Dies at Peak of Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tough guy Humphrey Bogart finally gave in today to the one foe he couldn't lick—cancer. He died at his home at the age of 56.

The poker-faced veteran of countless action roles, who became one of filmland's finest actors and most noted characters, thought until the last that he would win.

Only last Saturday night he received friends for his usual cocktail hour in the den of his Holmby Hills mansion. He seemed in good spirits.

Early Sunday he fell into a coma and never emerged. His physician, Dr. Maynard Brandeis, said death came at 2:10 a.m. from a general spread of the original cancer.

Last March doctors removed a cancer from Bogart's esophagus, the pipe running from throat to stomach. After that, he underwent extensive radiation treatments. In November he was treated for nerve root pressure due to scar formation from the original surgery.

Bogart was one of a kind in Hollywood, a place where there has become a remarkable sameness about stars in recent years.

He died at the peak of his career. He had won Hollywood's highest prize, the Academy Award, and was one of a handful of stars who could command top money — $250,000 a picture.

Bogart was a hard-drinking, prankish extrovert whose heart was as soft as his screen lies were hard.

He loved to stir things up — "to touch a nerve." And how he hated press releases.

"That stuff stinks," he said. "The only way to get publicity is to be an exciting enough personality."

He was. He explained how he became a character. "By doing as I damned please. I defend my right to cut a caper if I feel like it."

Bogart was always available for a comment on anything from young male stars ("no color, no imagination") to non-drinkers ("I don't trust 'em") to TV drama ("stupid stories acted by guys trying to be Marion Brandeis").

Although the film colony was aware of the gravity of Bogart's illness, it was stunned by his death. Among the comments:

Bing Crosby: "Bogie was a fine person and a superb actor. He will be sorely missed by Hollywood."

MSU English Prof To Publish Third Book

"The Savage Affair," a novel by Dr. Virgil Scott, assistant professor of English, has been scheduled for publication in January, 1958. A study of problems facing the author of an American best-seller, the novel is the third written by Dr. Scott, a member of the MSU faculty since 1947.

Approximately 450 pages long and six years in the writing, "The Savage Affair" is to be published by Harcourt-Brace.

U. S. Proposes Missile Control

Frontier Talks Set By Britain

Arab Peninsula Scene of Dispute

LONDON (AP) — Britain disclosed Monday it has initiated negotiations with Yemen aimed at peace talks to end the fighting along the wild, mountainous and ill-defined Aden-Yemen border.

Britain administrators by treaties the Aden Protectorate on the southwest tip of the Arabian Peninsula dominating the vital Red Sea trade route between Europe and the East.

The Kingdom of Yemen and the Aden Protectorate have been battling over the border for years. Under agreements with 19 scattered Sultanates, Britain has aided Aden troops in fighting Yemen tribesmen and regular forces.

Even as the British Foreign Office announced start of preliminary moves to set up frontier negotiations for a settlement, the Russians and parts of the Arab World kept up a propaganda barrage, accusing the British of "aggression." Britain insists Aden forces have only driven invading Yemenis out of Aden territory.

The vote to talk peace is only in its initial stages. Britain said "Arrangements are under discussion for a meeting between officials of the Aden government and of the Yemen government of the frontier for talks in connection with the recent troubles."

The British announcement said the government of Aden (British) is consulting protectorate sheikhs and other rulers about the proposed peace talks. Britain also has contacted the Yemeni legation in London.

Only reaction so far from the Yemeni legation here was a charge that British military aircraft and tanks attacked a Yemen post on Friday.

Major fault for Yemeni propaganda attacks against Britain has been Cairo. The British charge the Egyptians "steamed up" a vocal "war" against Britain.

Council Plans Talent Quest

Auditions begin Wednesday afternoon for the Senior Council variety show which will tour throughout Michigan during winter and spring terms.

Tryouts will be held from 3:30-5:30 and 7-9 Wednesday and Thursday from 3:30-5:30 in the Music Room on the third floor of the Union.

Talent needed includes singers, tap dancers, instrumentalists, novelty numbers, a magician and a small band. Group numbers are also encouraged to audition, according to the show's director, Joe Hoffman.

Anyone interested in being in the show but unable to make any of the auditions is asked to contact Hoffman at ED-2-1822.

Houses Stenographic Office

Berkey Basement Busy Too

By SUZETTE RAMSEY

There is so much scurry in the upper floors of Berkey Hall that very few know of the activity going on in the basement.

The Central Stenographic office downstairs acts almost as a secretary for the whole university. Dictaphone-transcribed messages come from about 225 dictators from the various departments of MSU.

There are nine dictaphone operators (each using two machines), two stenographers, and three typists in the office. They transcribe and do copy work from such things as letters, manuscripts, and radio addresses. There are a few students employed as messengers.

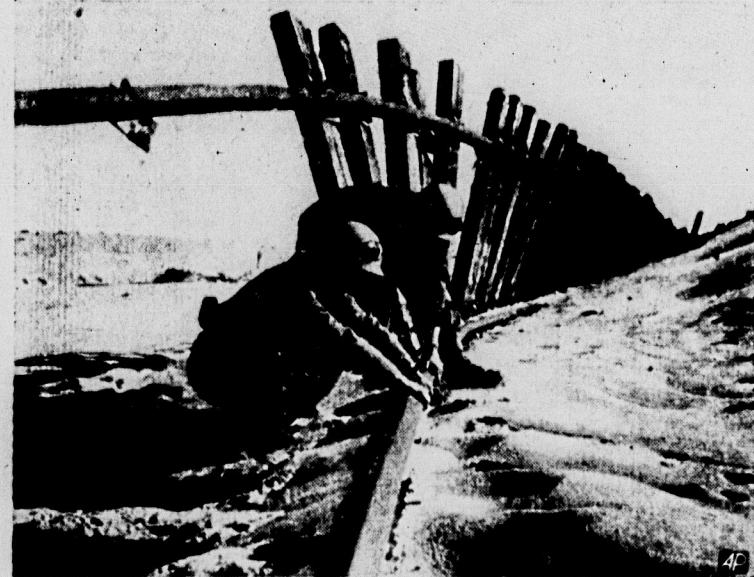

The General Stenographic office also sends girls to other offices when the regular secretary is ill. In the summer, they employ six or seven extra girls who may be put in another office when there is need for more help.

Across the hall is the Mimeographing office which also does work for the departments of the university. The financial end is handled by the Comptroller.

The stencil is the simplest of the three machines used in mimeographing. Form letters, some text matter, forms, and even menus for Kellings Center are made from this machine on mimeograph paper. It is also used for reports, one of them at present being a large one on Civil Defense, and other such booklets.

The printing from raised type, commonly known as "relief," is the type of print that projects above the paper. This is mainly used for the departmental

Dulles: 'We Mean Business'

Congress Urged to Authorize U. S. Troops in Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles predicted Monday that the Communists "will take every risk that they dare to take in order to win the Middle East."

For that reason, he urged that Congress take action now to authorize President Eisenhower to use American military forces, if necessary, to help any Middle East country that asks for help in resisting overt aggression.

Dulles appeared today before a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. The hearing, in the biggest room in the Senate Office Building, was open to the public.

The Secretary rejected suggestions that Congress drop the presidential authority idea and substitute for it a resolution expressing concern over the Communist threat to the Middle East.

Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson has made such a suggestion, but Dulles did not mention Acheson by name in his testimony.

"At the present moment," Dulles said, "the situation is too critical to be dealt with by a mere expression of opinion. I believe we've got to act." He said the United States must show that "we mean business."

In the House today, Rep. Zablocki (D-Wis.) introduced a resolution along the lines of Acheson's suggestion, and Rep. Gordon (D-Ill.) issued a statement urging that Eisenhower be given substantially what he asks.

Gordon is Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and Zablocki is a member of it. Democrats in the Committee held a closed session to discuss the Middle East; they took no action but Zablocki's resolution and Gordon's statement provided proof of a division of opinion. Under extensive questioning gle between Communism and freedom."

To a question by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), Dulles said he had no evidence that Russia is planning aggression in the Middle East.

"But I doubt very much that we'll have advance notice of it," he added.

Vienna Octet To Appear In Music Aud

The MSU Music Department Concert Series presents a well-known ensemble, the Vienna Octet, in a concert beginning at 8:15 p.m. tonight in the Music Auditorium.

The Octet, considered one of the finest small ensembles in the world, has appeared in all the large musical centers for concerts, as well as festival appearances, in Luzerne, Edinburgh, Salzburg, Bordeaux, and many others.

Each of the Octet's eight members is a performing artist in his own right, and years of ensemble practice and performance have made the group both technically and musically a harmonious whole. All are first-chair members of the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra, which appeared in a well-received concert here last November.

The program opens with Mozart's "Divertimento No. 17 in D major." The next work, "Octet" by Tschannauer, will be new to the campus audience. The final composition is Beethoven's "Septet in E-flat major, Opus 20," one of the larger and better-known pieces for small ensemble.

Admittance to the concert is by season ticket, although a few single tickets will be on sale at the door before the concert.

Dulles brought with him a long statement, which he read at the start.

"Soviet ground, naval and air forces are stationed in the areas adjacent to the Middle East—Bulgaria, the Black Sea, the Ukraine, the Caucasus and Central Asia," he said.

"These forces are of a size, and are so located, that they could be employed at any time with a minimum of warning. This fact is nothing new. But it takes on new implications."

The economic situation in the Middle East, he said, could deteriorate into conditions ripe for that type of take-over at which international Communism is most adept.

There is ample evidence of Communist infiltration into certain areas, particularly organized labor, and there are plots of assassinations and sabotage to gain Communist control.

In reply to a question from Sen. Green (R-R.I.), Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Dulles said that if Communist aggression occurred, the Eisenhower Administration would prefer to take the case first to the United Nations before committing U. S. forces.

But he said it would depend on the circumstances. He said that in any event, a presentation would be made to the UN Security Council as soon as possible.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee raised the question of whether refugees from Hungary and other satellite countries could be organized into a volunteer force to counter volunteers that might be sent into the area by Russia or China.

Dulles said the State Department was studying the idea, but he felt it raised serious problems. He said he would want to do nothing that would encourage Russia and China into using their sort of volunteers.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) noted that former President Truman favored the Eisenhower request, and asked how former President Hoover stood on it.

Herbert Hoover Jr., Under Secretary of State, answered that question. He said it was his understanding that his father favored the proposal if Eisenhower felt he must have the authority.

Men's Glee Gets Inaugural Invite

The Michigan State Men's Glee Club has been invited to sing at the inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D.C., this weekend. The invitation was extended by veteran actor George Murphy, chairman of the entertainment committee.

President John A. Hannah will present the invitation before the Academic Council this afternoon for its approval.

Stockpiling Ban Sought By Lodge

Soviet Minister Tables Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States Monday proposed international controls of outer space missiles as part of a new Five-Point Disarmament Plan approved by President Eisenhower.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. in a speech to the UN Assembly's Political Committee also called for controls on the stockpiling of fissionable materials, a limit and eventual ban on nuclear test explosions, a reduction of armed forces of the Powers, and a watchdog system to guard against surprise attacks. All of this would be done under strict and effective international control and supervision.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, said the U. S. plan would be studied. However, he threw the disarmament debate back to the Cold War stage at its hottest by linking a Moscow plan to a slashing attack on the "Eisenhower Doctrine." Finally, he demanded a special UN Assembly on disarmament alone.

Kuznetsov accused the Americans of colonialism, of trying to take the place in the Middle East held by Britain and France and of interfering in affairs of Arab states. He persisted despite three admonitions from the Committee Chairman, Victor Andres Belandier of Peru, and the shouted objections of Lodge that Kuznetsov's speech was a "smear on the United States, irrelevant and impertinent."

After Kuznetsov finished, Lodge, obviously angered, said the charges against the Americans came from "the government which has perpetrated the blood bath in Hungary." He said the United States never has enslaved anyone. He said the American proposals were made in good faith.

"Isn't it really, Mr. Chairman, bitterly discouraging to have the Soviet representative deliberately make the speech we have just heard?" Lodge asked. "It is also contemptuous of the work of the United Nations. This is really a sad thing for us all. But we shall keep hoping and we shall keep trying."

In his opening speech to the committee, Lodge stressed repeatedly that the program he was proposing would go into effect only when an iron-clad system of controls and inspection had been established and there was complete security against violations or evasions. The United States and the Soviet Union never have agreed on what constitutes controls.

He reminded the committee that President Eisenhower is about to be inaugurated for a second term and that the President continues to seek ways to reduce and to spend less on armaments.

He outlined the five principal points of the U. S. Plan and said details would be presented in disarmament subcommittee talks which Lodge hopes will be held in March. The points were:

1. That an agreement be reached that all fissionable materials to be produced in the future be used or stockpiled under international supervision for non-weapon purposes.

2. If this is done, that nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned. In the meantime, the United States is willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.

3. That the Armed Forces of the United States and the So-
