Mid-East Program Approved

House to Debate Ike's Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee Thursday night approved without major change President Eisenhower's program to cope with communist inroads in the Middle East.

The committee action, by a 21-2 vote and 1 "present," sent the Eisenhower Middle East resolution to the House floor for debate slated to start next Tuesday.

In so doing the committee approved the Presidential request for authority to channel more foreign aid funds to the Middle East and to use such forces as necessary to halt any Communist aggression.

Chairman Gordon (D-Mt.) expressed confidence the measure will pass the House by a wide margin. He did not disclose who on the 32-man committee voted against the resolution. Five members of the committee were not recorded in the question.

Former President Harry S. Truman said Thursday the Administration's policy is "no more and no less" than that Congress should "help to fill the void" in passing the new Middle East program.

In a statement to the House committee, Truman said he would give Eisenhower the military and economic aid authority he sought, although he said the Administration has no definite plan of action in the Middle East.

The principal change the House committee made in the resolution would place some strings on the $200 million in economic aid. But this change was okayed by Secretary Dulles himself to meet some congressional objections.

The House group also provided that the resolution may be terminated by a majority vote of the two houses of Congress. A State Department spokesman said that as far as the committee changes are concerned, "the executive branch doesn't object to any of them."

The committee action represented a big, initial victory for the Eisenhower resolution on its road through Congress. Both Senate and House have yet to act on it.

Besides seeking power to spend up to $200 million dollars this fiscal year on aid, the Administration contemplates an expenditure of $200 million in each of the following years.

The House Committee knocked down a wide variety of proposed amendments.

One amendment, sponsored by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) and Russell (D-Fla.), was aimed at the placing the military force position more clearly within the framework of the United Nations.

The newly-adopted language says the President is authorized to use armed forces as he deems necessary against open Communist aggression, provided "that the authority herein granted shall be carried out to the greatest extent deemed practicable by the President through the United Nations."

Police Question Tennessean

Search Continues For Girls' Slayer

CHICAGO (AP)—A Tennessean with an Elvis Presley type haircut told police Thursday he went night spot gadding with two girls the night of Dec. 28 but denied they were the Grimes sisters.

Sheriff Joseph Lohman said four other persons have confessed that they knew the missing Grimes girls were the companions of the man, Eugene Bedwill, 21-year-old trail press operator and part-time dishwasher.

Bedwill, who comes from Paris, Tenn., said one of his girl companions that night was named Carol but that he didn't know the name of the other.

The nude bodies of the Grimes girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, were found Tuesday near a ditch southwest of Chicago. They disappeared Dec. 28 after attending an Elvis Presley movie near their south side home.

An autopsy yesterday did not determine the cause of death. Lohman only identified two of the witnesses who he said reported they saw Bedwill with the Grimes sisters.

They are Mr. and Mrs. John Duros, of the D and L Restaurant at 1340 West Madison St., who based their identification of the sisters on newspaper photographs of the girls.

Lohman said Mrs. Duros gave this account: Bedwill, who was a part-time employee of the restaurant, came in with another man and two girls at 5:30 a.m. Dec. 29.

The girl she identified as Barbara "looked drunk, sick or doped" and the other girl "looked like she had been drinking." She said that when the party left the two men were supporting Barbara who "looked as if she couldn't stand."

The Sheriff said Bedwill denied he was in the restaurant at that hour and on that date, insisting it was after 8 a.m. on the morning of the 29th. Bedwill gave this account:

He saw two girls in a West Madison Street bar after he left his job in a metal products company shortly before midnight on Dec. 28. He offered to buy them a drink but they refused.

Bedwill left and returned a few hours later, finding the girls still there. He and another man in the bar went with the girls to a nearby bar and then to the D and L Restaurant. After eating, they visited another bar and the girls wanted to go to a movie. In the theater, the girls left to go to the women's rest room and never returned. He said he never saw them or his male companion since.

Bedwill said the girls did not resemble newspaper photographs of the Grimes sisters. He added that their clothing did not match that worn by the Grimes girls when they disappeared.

Press Association Meets at Kellogg

Far-East Report to Highlight 89th Annual Convention

An estimated 500 newsmen on the Michigan Press Assn. will meet today at Kellogg Center for their 89th annual convention.

The two-day conve will be key noted by Ernest A. Jones, Detroit advertising agency president. He will address the editors and publishers of dailies and weeklies in the Michigan area.

Highlight of the convention will be a report on Far Eastern affairs by Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.). A seven-term congressman, Rep. Judd served 10 years in China as a medical missionary. He has been active on various legislative committees dealing with foreign affairs.

Executive editor of Knight Newspapers, Basil L. Walters will give the third principal talk at noon Saturday.

Two new directors and a president will be elected during the MPA business meeting. Frank S. Woodington, publisher of the Washtenaw Tribune, is the retiring head of the Association. Dr. Paul D. Deutschmann, head of the MSU school of journalism, will give a report on what newsmen think of their jobs.

His report will be based on results of a joint Michigan State and Michigan Press Assn. survey.

The study was launched as the first of its kind in the country. Its purpose is to help employers choose the right type of persons for newspaper jobs and to help educators in counseling students interested in the field of journalism.

Dr. Deutschmann's report will be based on the survey. Journalists will also talk show and view commercial displays. Michigan-wide advertising promotion plans will be discussed by F. Granger Weil of the Port Huron Times Herald.

"The Solid Gold Cadillac" will be presented by a student dramatics group at tonight's banquet. The banquet is jointly sponsored by the state department of agriculture and the MPA.

The editors' wives are taking part in a separate convention program. The Michigan League for Home Dailies will also hold its annual meeting concurrently.

Water Carnival Contest Date Set

The Water Carnival theme contest will begin Monday and will run through February first.

Water Carnival, the annual parade of floats down the Red Cedar, will be held in June.

The winner of the theme contest will receive a $25 gift certificate for clothing at the Style Shop or Ray Leffler's.

Entries should include not only the theme, but various sub-titles to indicate how the theme should be carried out. Also include name, address, and phone number on the entry.

Place all entries in the petition box, located in the Union concourse.

What Would Alphabet Soup Do?

Court Ponders 14 New Letters

LONDON (AP)—Learned counsel asked in Chancery Court Thursday how the phrase "foolishness" might look in the 40-letter alphabet for which playwright George Bernard Shaw left a large sum of money.

The court heard the last of the evidence in an action brought by the Public Trustee to determine how Shaw's estate should be administered. The estate amounts to 716,000 pounds ($2,004,800), and a substantial portion of it was set aside for an inquiry into whether the adoption of a 40-letter alphabet was feasible.

Since Shaw's death in 1950 at the age of 94, the office of the Public Trustee, which he nominated as executor, has been bewildered as to how to carry out the Irish-born dramatist's wishes. The will, many legal authorities complain, is an easy with a hidden meaning.

Shaw left money (the exact sum is hard to determine) to make inquiries into the creation of a 40-letter alphabet, which he thought would be more efficient than the current 26-letter system.

One of Shaw's dictations was that, after the invention of a new alphabet, his play "Androcles and the Lion" should be "transliterated" into it. Charles Russell, attorney for the British Museum which stands to benefit by getting a part of the "alphabet money" if this difficult portion of the will is set aside, called attention to a passage in that play. It is:

"Did you get an awful thorn into your foot?"

"How would it look transliterated?" Russell asked.

No answer was possible because the alphabet which Shaw envisaged hasn't been designed. The money he left was to finance a study, all over the world, into the question of how much money and time might be saved if the English language alphabet might be simplified by being made bigger. He thought at least 14 vowels should be added to the system.

The office of the public trustee threw up its hands and asked the Chancery Court for guidance. Justice Charles Harman has now heard the last of the learned evidence and has taken the matter under advisement.

James R. Metesky, chief of the New York Times' Washington News Bureau, spoke on "Behind the Washington Dateline" Thursday evening in Fairchild Theater.

Metesky Gets Top Legal Aid

Mad Bomber Takes Mental Examination

NEW YORK (AP)—One of New York's top criminal lawyers Thursday undertook the defense of mad bomber George Metesky.

He is James D. C. Murray, veteran of many spectacular court trials. Associated with him in the defense will be Hugh F. Spelman, former prosecutor of New Haven, Conn. in Metesky's native Connecticut.

Meanwhile, there was growing medical speculation that the 54-year-old Metesky may never spend a day in prison for plotting 32 bombs in New York since 1949.

Before he can even be brought to trial, he must be adjudged sane at Bellevue Hospital where he now is undergoing mental examination. If found insane, he would be sent to an institution.

If he is tried, he still could plead insanity. Then it would be up to the state to prove him sane at the time he plotted his bombs.

Beyond that, as far as is publicly known, the state has no witnesses to any of the crimes charged against Metesky. The only solid evidence against him would seem to be his signed admission and handwritten letters he mailed in prison over the years.

Metesky is charged with felonious assault, malicious mischief, violation of a state anti-bomb law, and illegal possession of dangerous weapons.

The charges carry a combined maximum sentence of 42 years on conviction. Metesky thus far is charged specifically in only one bombing—the Feb. 11, 1956, explosion in Pennsylvania station that injured one man.

Metesky said he planted his devices to draw attention to his claim that he had been denied compensation after a 1931 injury in a Conn. Edison plant where he worked. Fifteen persons were injured by his homemade pipe bombs but there were no deaths as a result of the explosions.

'Experts' Arrive With Arms

Russians to Train Egyptian Troops

CAIRO (AP)—New arrivals of Soviet "experts" to train Egyptian troops in use of Russian-supplied arms were reported Thursday. This came as the controlled press lashed out with steadily mounting bitterness at Israel's refusal to yield unconditionally the Gaza Strip and the Sinai area controlling the Gulf of Aqaba.

An official Egyptian source declared the next convoy was up to the United Nations. He added that his country "probably would have been under Suez Canal clearance operations halted as a means of persuading the big powers to bring sufficient pressure on Israel to withdraw."

Representatives said they saw 15 Soviet technicians arrive last night at Cairo airport. They were greeted by Egyptian officials and hustled through passport and customs formalities ahead of other arrivals.

The number of experts is increasing steadily. Most of them are young men all wearing civilian attire. There is no official figure on how many have come here, but unofficial estimates run into the thousands.

The amount of Soviet arms coming into Egypt is a closely guarded secret. Some informants say a trickle has continued without interruption since the halting of the British-French attacks early in November.

On the economic front an informant with the Soviet trade mission said Egypt and the Soviet Union have completed a new trade pact calling for exchange of Egyptian cotton, rice and other products for Soviet steel products, agricultural equipment and timber.

Amwar Sadat, former Minister of War, wrote in Al-Gambura that under the UN Charter Egypt has the legitimate right to defend itself, and seek the aid of foreign volunteers in driving invaders from its territory.

Al-Ahram said if the UN fails to subjugate Israel from Egypt "we would have to resort to our own proper means of defense."

The same question, he said, could have been raised about the Ford gift of the Fairbanks estate in Dearborn to the U of M.

Although he had no objection to a branch college for MSU, Lane said he did feel that the gift should not be accepted unconditionally.

Lane said the $2 million (one-half million) would not pay all outstanding bills for the new branch, and the state would have to bear the remaining costs. He also asked if Dearborn was the best possible location for a new branch office.

Fear More Casualties In Ruins

Firemen Rescue Panicky Women

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A dry and dusty factory left building of 19th century vintage burst into flames Thursday, setting off panic and horror among the women working inside.

Six hours after the blaze, four persons were reported dead. Officials said there was a possibility some more could lay in the smoldering ruins.

Firemen had to pull five women from the fire escape where there was a jam up because their legs caught between the iron steps as they paced hysterically for safety.

Fireman James Curry said four women, with disheveled hair and soot on their faces, were the first to be pulled up the fire escape after the alarm.

"Their clothing was on fire and they were screaming," he said. "Their legs were caught between the steps of the fire escape and we had to pull them apart."

Hospital reported 11 persons injured, none critically.

Four and a half hours after the fire broke out, the side wall of the four-story building east of downtown New Haven collapsed, sending a search for other women on the building would be delayed until morning because the three-story walls were weakened.

Tony Stawarz said he was working in a nearby office and thought he heard women laughing.

"I looked out the window and saw flames and then I realized the women weren't laughing. They were screaming," he said. Thomas Devereaux of New Haven said he was working in the yard when the fire broke out.

"I heard someone yell 'fire' and I ran to the office door. When I opened it the flames drove me away. Then I climbed on a car and some of the women jumped to me and I helped them to the ground."

Then someone found a ladder and others came down that. One man, I don't remember, was found a hammer and requested the part that was heading up the ladder part of the fire escape. There were women on it whose clothing and hair were on fire. How they got out I don't know.

Devereaux, burned and suffering from shock and smoke inhalation, was admitted to St. Raphael's hospital for treatment.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Jessie Morgello, a 42-year-old mother of one child, Mrs. Angelina De Ruzza, 18, a bride three months, Miss Alma B. 46, 113 Bristol St., New Haven; and Miss Grace Pitman, 42, 343 Howard Ave., New Haven.

Chou En-Lai, Georgi Zhukov Get Cool Greeting in New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Two of the Communist world's leading figures—Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai and Soviet defense Minister Georgi Zhukov—arrived in India's capital Thursday.

They came by different planes and their paths may have crossed at coincidence. But it appeared they had the same mission.

Princess Grace Nurses Child For First Time

MONTREAL, Canada (AP)—Princess Grace nursed her new baby for the first time today and got out of bed twice. The doctor said she was "delighted" to find that her first nursing experience was so successful.

Dr. Hevel told a news conference that the baby, Princess Caroline, gets her looks from her handsome father, Prince Rainier. She "has his expression, that of the Grimaldis."

The 36-year-old princess enjoyed her second day of champagne celebration but the mother gets a glass of beer with each meal.

"It's good for young mothers, and anyway she likes beer," the doctor told reporters.

Princess Grace and the baby are in a private room in the personal apartment within the palace. Little Princess Caroline has in a crib which Prince Rainier himself once used.

Dr. Hevel said the little princess was a strong cryer and began life yesterday with a busy rowl.

to help regain ground lost by the Communists as a result of Hungary.

At least on the surface it appeared they were having little success, for they received welcome which were something less than enthusiastic.

Zhukov flew in first, riding a new TU104 Soviet Air Force jet. Two hours later, Chou arrived in an "old-fashioned" Soviet Ilushin-14 Airliner which carried him from Moscow to Afghanistan to New Delhi. Prime Minister Nehru went to the airport to receive Chou, but he let his Defense Minister, K. N. Katju, receive Zhukov.

Zhukov arrived for an 18-day good will visit. It was his first trip here so he drew a sizeable number of Indian reporters and a few dozen other Indian spectators.

The government made no effort to bring crowds to the airport to greet the visitors, as it often has done in the past. Nor did the government arrange to have banners and red flags flying. Nevertheless, Nehru personally received Chou with relative warmth. Nehru was all smiles.

Zhukov, who called on Indian president Rajendra Prasad, is to meet Nehru Friday.

Zhukov, speaking at a dinner given for him by Kathu, defended Russia's role in Hungary and attacked the United States and other Western powers.

He said: "In the Near and Middle East the United States under various pretexts and by means of different ruses are trying to seize for themselves the positions lost by Great Britain and France in order to capture by means of their armed forces the key strategic positions and natural resources of this area."

Tito Protest Bill Given in Senate

A protest against the proposed visit of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to the United States was introduced in the Senate Thursday.

Senators Harold Ryan (D-Detroit) and Stanley Royce (D-Detroit) introduced the resolution which described Tito as "a ruthless dictator whose avowed purpose in life is the advance of atheistic international Communism."

The visit, the resolution said, "will only serve to furnish propaganda to those Communist countries who claim that our national policies are based on materialism and momentary materialistic convenience, and not, as we loudly boast, on moral principles and on lofty ideals."

The resolution asks the Michigan members of the U. S. House and Senate to protest the visit to the Secretary of State. It was referred to the Senate Committee.

A bill introduced by Senator Swainson (D-Detroit) would allow state employees to take off the preceding Friday or the following Monday when certain holidays fall on the weekend.

The holidays mentioned in the bill were New Year's, Christmas, Independence Day and Memorial Day.

Style Show Presents New Look in Fashions

Clothes Will be Modeled
For Every Age Group

Fashions are a favorite topic of conversation for young and old from coast to coast. Thursday afternoon, Farmers' Week visitors and MSU coeds will have an opportunity to see one of the largest fashion shows to be held in the Lansing area in many years.

But there will be a new look this year to this traditional style show, for in addition to presenting styles designed for and made by coeds in home economics, models representing all ages will show clothes for the entire family.

The textiles and clothing department of the College of Home Economics will cooperate with the J. W. Knapp Co. of Lansing in the presentation of wearing apparel for all occasions. The many spring and summer ready-to-wear styles will be modeled by home economics students and staff members and their families.

The Keys to Family Fashion is the theme of the style show, which will begin at 1:30 Thursday afternoon in the main auditorium. Forty freshmen and sophomore retailing majors acting as hostesses will usher the guests to their seats.

This year for the first time, stated Dr. Marion Niederprum, retailing professor, "the retailing majors in our department have had the opportunity of working on the production of this show, from its very beginning. In other years, this work was done by faculty members."

Fashion show commentators include: Marilyn Dwyer, Birmingham senior; Lois Jacobson, Niles senior; and Sue Woz, Detroit senior. The student general chairman for this event is Pat Owens, Chicago, Ill. senior.

Other committee chairmen are Jane Thompson, Monroe senior; and Miss Cecelia Bosch, textiles, clothing and related arts instructor. Arrangements co-chairmen, Ellen Dowling, Detroit senior; Georgia Bassett, Chicago, Ill. senior.

Farmers To Present Program

Livestock Show Highlights Week

This year's Farmers' Week program which will start Monday will be built around the theme, "Blueprint for Tomorrow's Agriculture."

The exhibits and programs are being planned in conjunction with Michigan's leading farm organizations. The theme is in line with the recent publication of the special report put out after three years of work by MSU and over 115 agricultural leaders.

The publication is called Michigan's Blueprint for Rural Progress.

It was evolved to point out the problems and areas of agriculture in Michigan and to come up with recommendations for solving the problems and for attaining the aims.

The Farmers' Week program will aim at the same target of Michigan's rural future.

Among the high points of Monday's program will be the Annual Husbandry department's show at the livestock pavilion.

At 1:30 an international junior six horse hitched or graduated draft horses will perform.

There will be a lightweight team pulling contest among five teams from five states at 1:45 followed by the Little International livestock show.

A heavyweight horse pulling contest with five competing teams starts at 2:45.

The dairy department is sponsoring a series of lectures on the opportunities of the purchased dairy cattle industry and animal breeding place in it. New management, housing and equipment in the dairy business will also be discussed.

Among the speakers will be Dr. N. P. Halston, head of the dairy department.

D. B. Varner, vice president of MSU, will speak at the all-farmers dairy banquet at 6 p.m. Monday in the Big 10 room at Ball State Center.

Boxers Vie for First Team

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Night Editor

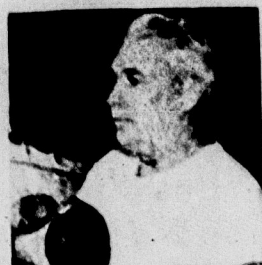

Three first string berths are in the balance as Michigan State's boxing team opens its season Saturday at Jenison Fieldhouse with an intrasquad meet. The first match is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Fighters in the 125, 147, and 175-pound classes will be battling for the right to compete in the Boxing A-Base meet Feb. 18.

While a seven-fight card is scheduled, top positions in the other four divisions are not at stake, according to Coach John Brotmann. The team is without a heavyweight so there will be no bout after the 175-pound fight.

At 125, Howard Lancour meets

Perb Weissblum in what could be one of the best bouts of the evening. The fighters are evenly matched and, according to

Brotmann, there could be a knockout.

Sherald Haynes and Norman Spring are pitted against each other at 147 in another bout.

Macmen in Good Shape Tankers' Big 10 Opener Against Unbeaten Bucks

By JERRY ROBBINS
State News Sports Editor

Michigan State's tankers chew off their biggest chunk of the season Saturday, when they tangle with Ohio State in their Big 10 opener at Columbus.

The Spartans will be out to knock the Bucks from the unbeaten ranks. The Ohio swimmers have not lost a dual meet since 1935. Since 1950 only three teams have turned the trick and the Spartan splashes are among the select few.

In 1953, the Macmen got the better half of Mike Peppe's crew to the tune of 51-39, for their only win over the Bucks in 16 tries.

Couch Chuck McCaffree reported Thursday that both squads are in good condition and it looks as if its going to be a whole of a meet.

McCaffree plans to use Don Nichols, Paul Reinke, Rog Harmon and either Don Patterson, Larry Ellis or Frank Parrish in the opening 400-yard medley relay.

Dennis Baker, Les Lobaugh and Capt. Jim Clemens will carry the load in the middle-distance events and Parrish, Ellis, Patterson and Ken Gest are expected to get the call in the sprints.

In the 200-yard butterfly, Harmon and Tom Kwasny look like a good bet for the Spartans. Divers John Mason and Don Wiley will face some of the toughest competition in the business. The Buckeyes have some of the nation's best in Frank Trauttmiller, Don Harper and Glen Whitten.

The tightest race of the meet could develop when Spartan backsplitter Don Nichols meets Al Wiggins in the 200-yard event.

Lobaugh, and either Wiley, Dobler or Harmon will be used in the individual medley while Reinke and Dee Edgington will see action in the twin-century breaststroke.

Ohio State has been too busy for a "long time," McCaffree said, "it's going to be tough to beat them in their own pool."

Minnesota After Third League Win

Still in search of its first Big 10 victory, Michigan State basketball team is scheduled to leave for Minneapolis this afternoon where Saturday night the Spartans will play the University of Minnesota.

State is hovering in ninth place in the Western Conference with an 0-3 record. Minnesota is in fifth place, 2-2.

The Spartans will also be out to end a four-game losing streak. Since its impressive showing in the Big Seven tournament over the holidays, Michigan State has had its troubles.

The Spartans dropped their first two conference games to Purdue and Michigan, each by one point. In the next two games State was badly beaten by both Notre Dame and Ohio State.

To add to Coach Fordy Anderson's miseries, the Spartans will be without their No. 1 guard Jack Quiggle. Saturday, Quiggle was suspended Wednesday for breaking training rules. A team vote reinstated him for Monday's game with front-running Ohio State.

But Anderson isn't completely discouraged. He said the team has a good chance of beating Minnesota although the Gophers are particularly rough on their home court.

"The boys are just trying a little too hard," Anderson commented. "They're not playing fast ball, just missing shots they'd ordinarily make."

In place of Quiggle, Anderson will start sophomore Dave Scott. Other starters will be Capt. George Ferguson, Larry Hadden, John Green and Pat Wilson.

Minnesota will probably start Dave Kline, Dave Tucker, Jed Dommever, George Hanson and Jerry Lindsay. Kline is the conference's No. 3 scorer with a 20.5 game average. He also leads in field goal percentage with an outstanding .571 mark.

Dommever is fifth in league scoring with a 19.2 mark.

The Spartans will return home Monday night after a three-week absence to meet Ohio State. Game time will be 8 p.m.

Duffy Repeats Denial of Reports

DETROIT (AP)—Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty today again denied persistent rumors that he is considering leaving his post as head football coach at Michigan State University.

Speaking at a meeting of the Detroit Athletic Club Beavers, Daugherty said of the reported offers:

"I can't deny that such offers flattered me. But I owe a lot to Michigan State. The Spartans made me head coach a few years ago when no other school ever had heard of me. It will take me a long time to repay that debt."

Daugherty has been mentioned in connection with half dozen coaching jobs this winter. One of the most repeated rumors has linked him to the University of Southern California.

"They (USC) talked to me," he admitted, "in Florida, at all places."

Daugherty has been working his way back on the banquet trail after coaching the North Team in Miami's North-South game.

Butch Miller Sidelined Pucksters Face Tech In 2-Home Games

By JUNE TURNER

The time has changed but the importance of the Spartan-Michigan Tech two games series tonight and Saturday rivals that of last year when the Huskies rolled on to the Spartan ice determined to win and secured a place in the NCAA playoffs.

The Huskies broke a tie with Michigan for the championship race in the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League by defeating the Spartans 4-3 and 3-1, last season.

This year the invaders from Houghton again have the opportunity to catch Michigan by defeating State.

Winner of only one league game in eight tries the Spartans hope to upset the Huskies, who have a 2-3-1 record to put them in fifth place of the WHL.

State, fighting to get out of the last place, where they are tied with Minnesota, are only 1/2 point behind the Huskies.

Tech plays a hard, fast game of hockey. The Spartans biggest worry will be the Huskies' speed. The ice arena is right up the fast teams alley, because it has one of the largest ice surfaces in the league.

Spearheading the Tech offense is Jack McManus, who made the All-League first team last season and second team All-American.

Working with Cliff Wylie and Ron Stenlund on the first line, McManus lead a fine passing unit and potent scoring attack.

Goalie Selinger will have good competition for defensive honors in McManus' brother Bob, who plays goal for the Huskies. Bob McManus has been selected on the All-League team and is rated one of the top goalies in the league.

Spartan defenseman Ed Pollesel, leading the team in penalty minutes, will face a team that set a hockey record last Friday in the penalty column.

The Huskies will take the ice with a veteran squad of 14 let-

Gymnasts Seek Win at Minnesota

The Michigan State gymnastics team will put its unblemished record on the line Saturday afternoon at Minnesota. The Spartans currently hold a record of two wins without a defeat.

The gymnasts defeated Ohio State last week by a score of 69-43. This win followed a 70½-41½ thumping handed to Illinois Navy Pier the previous week.

Leading Spartan scored is Don Leas who has scored a total of 30 points. He scored 14 in the Navy Pier match and 16 against the Buckeyes of Ohio State. Leas will be after his third straight win on the flying rings and his second on the trampoline, an event in which he placed second behind Ohio State's Don Harper in last week's match.

Although the Gophers are not expected to offer much opposition to Leas on the flying rings, State's Ray Cook who placed second behind Leas last week has been showing much improvement, according to Coach George Szypula.

The Gophers of Minnesota are struggling through a bad season. Last week they dropped a match to Iowa by a score of 68-44. The Gophers suffered heavily from graduation with only two lettermen returning from last year's squad which won nine and lost two. Returning lettermen are Captain Donald Erickson and Paul Lynch.

Erickson specializes in side horse but also competes in parallel bars, flying rings and free exercise. Lynch's best event is tumbling in which he placed fifth in the Big 10 last year. He also enters the free exercise event.

Last year the Gophers downed the Spartan gymnasts by the score of 63-49.

Michigan State has never lost a football game to Ohio State, winning all three clashes between the teams. On the other hand, the Spartans have never beaten Northwestern, losing three straight.
