Virginia Mine Blast Kills 37

Largest Mine Toll Since '51 Disaster

Exact Cause of Explosion Remains Undetermined

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—Thirty-seven miners perished Monday in a rumbling gas explosion deep in the giant Bishop coal mine that burrows under the mountains of the Virginia West Virginia line.

It was the nation's worst mine disaster since 119 died in a blast at West Frankfort, Ill., on Dec. 31, 1951.

There was no immediate report on what touched off the blast that sent great dust laden fumes whirling through the mine 315 feet below the surface. A foreman had reported the area free of fumes prior to the time the midnight shift went to work. Time of the explosion was set at 1:55 a.m. (EST).

At a distance downslope from the disaster site the explosion seemed almost gentle. Charles Vaughan of Bluefield, Va., a survivor, said he heard it "But it wasn't loud at all."

One of Vaughan's companions said it was more like a big puff of wind.

It appeared to many of the rescue workers that the blast

Sorority Adopts Orphan

Korean Youngster Receives Support

Gamma Phi Beta sorority has "financially" adopted a ten-year-old Korean girl, Oh Sook E, through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

The sorority has been contributing $15 a month toward her support plus sending packages of food and clothing. They also correspond with Sook E at least twice a month.

Sook E was left an orphan after her mother died of pneumonia in April 1951. A Pusan city welfare woman found Sook

OH SOOK E... Gamma Phi daughter... E huddled by the roadside one bitter cold morning the following November.

Since that time she has been well cared for at the Keun Wna Yang Yuh Won orphanage.

Sook E was only four years old when the Communists invaded the country south of the 38th parallel and the Oh family home was demolished.

Sook E's father was one of the hostages taken by the North Korean forces on their retreat north from Seoul. No one has heard from him since. He was once Dean of Kum Sam Agricultural College of Cholla Pukdo.

To Force Withdrawal Delegates Request U. S. To Lead Israeli Debate

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Worried by Israel's firm refusal to get out of Egypt without guarantees, UN delegates looked to the United States Monday to take the lead in a new assembly debate, perhaps Thursday, on the deteriorating Middle East crisis.

The view was expressed by several delegates in private talks that it was up to the United States to bring pressure on Israel in order to obtain compliance with six UN resolutions requesting withdrawal.

The U. S. delegation was silent on these expressions but was engaged in extensive consultations with delegations from various parts of the globe.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold called Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban to his office for an afternoon appointment. It was delayed for 30 minutes while Eban held a hurried conference with the UN.

The U. S. delegation was silent on these expressions but was engaged in extensive consultations with delegations from various parts of the globe.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold holds council with Eban... Eban emphasized the importance of things to be done under the second of two resolutions approved by the assembly. They said this gave Hammarskjold a broad field of action.

Eban told Hammarskjold that Israel must know what will happen if Israel complies with the assembly withdrawal demand, contained in the first of the two resolutions.

The spokesman said here was a broad discussion on all aspects of the two resolutions. He said the talk was held in a constructive spirit and will be continued during the week.

The Secretary General started

Joseph Evans To Present Piano Recital

The MSU Music Department presents pianist Joseph Evans in a concert recital tonight at 8 p.m. in the Music Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Evans, a piano faculty member, is recognized for both his technical ability and overall musicianship. He has studied in many musical conservatories in Europe.

Evans' concert will be in three parts. In the first, he will play Mozart's "Fantasy in C minor" and three movements of Beethoven's "Sonata in D minor, Op. 31 No. 2."

The second section of Evans' program will be devoted to two contemporary works; four preludes from "Preludes, Op. 38" by Kabalevsky and Leonard Bernstein's "Four Anniversaries," written "For Felicia Montealegre," "For Johnny McEgan," "For David Diamond" and "For Helen Coates."

The third and concluding portion of the program will feature two compositions by Chopin.

Head Football Coach Devaney Accepts Wyoming Grid Post

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Robert S. Devaney, Michigan state end coach, Monday was named to succeed Phil Dickens as head football coach at the University of Wyoming.

Devaney, 41, signed a three-year contract and said he would install the "multiple offense" at the cowboy school.

Devaney is expected to receive about $10,000 a year in the contract which has a withholding clause.

University officials explained a portion of his salary will be held back each month pending completion of the contract. They note that Wyoming's last two coaches — Rouden Witt and Dickens — were grabbed from the Laramie campus in the middle of long-term agreements.

Dickens recently signed a two-year pact with Indiana University. He took his full coaching staff with him.

Devaney said he has the nucleus of a staff "pretty much in line." Five assistant coaches will be named, including a Wyoming high school coach and a former graduate. Devaney is expected to move to Laramie soon to organize for spring practice.

He said he will use the single wing split T-formation and T-formation. The Cougars ran out of the single wing for 10 years, but Dickens used a few T and split-T plays in 1956.

The new coach has been at Michigan State four years. He coached 14 years in Michigan high schools. He was captain of the Alma (Mich.) College team in 1935 and graduated in 1938.

He was assistant scout for one year and coach the past three years and handled pass defense for Michigan State. In 1955 the Spartans ranked second in the nation in pass defense and last year forced the Big 10.

University officials said Devaney's appointment was made under an "amicable agreement."

Conservationists To Confer Here

Michigan Soil Conservation Service staff members will confer here Feb. 5-8 on new technical standards and specifications for soil and water conservation.

The 225 Michigan Soil Conservation Service workers cooperate with directors of the 23 state soil conservation districts on a year-round program to develop sound soil conservation practices and to explain these practices to Michigan land owners and interested residents.

ROB DEVANEY... new Cowboy coach...

has a winning tradition, a splendidly organized athletic department and plant and the support of a whole state.

His former boss, Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty said, "If anyone deserves a crack at a good head coaching position, Rob does. I don't see how Wyoming could possibly have made a better choice. I'm sure to see him leave Michigan State, and we are going to miss him. He was my No. 1 field assistant on game days and always was a fine influence on our teams every minute."

Tickets for Ballet Available Wednesday

Ticket distribution for the performances of the National Ballet of Canada, which will appear here on February 12 and 13, will be held at 3 a.m. Wednesday, at the second floor check room of the Union. Students will have a choice between the two performances, and must present Coupon D to obtain tickets.

Brownell Sees 'Civil Justice'

New Program Designed To Secure Equal Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell declared Monday there would be no Federal encroachment on states' authority in the Administration's Civil Rights Program. He urged passage of the legislation to "affirm the Congress' determination to secure equal justice under law for all of our citizens."

Brownell, first witness at a hearing called by the House Judiciary Committee, said the program is designed to protect rights guaranteed by the Constitution through civil action rather than by criminal prosecution as the law now requires.

There was every indication the program faces tough odds due to the House as well as in the Senate. Southern congressmen served notice they were ready to use all parliamentary devices to delay it.

Rep. Cramer (D-Miss.) announced in blocking plans of the Judiciary Committee to meet with the House in its hearing, the only thing the hearing will do is to waste time.

Under House rules, all but three exempted committees must receive hearings when the House meets unless given unanimous permission to continue. The three committees exempt from the rule are Appropriations, American Activities, and Government Operations, which are exempted when Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts requested unanimous consent for the Judiciary Committee to ignore the rule, which requests usually are granted as a matter of course.

And still to be heard by the committee were a number of officials from Southern states. Rep. Willis (D-La.) said they will offer "formidable" arguments against President Eisenhower's program.

The program, one of the most important pieces of legislation introduced in Congress by Eisenhower, calls for new laws to protect voting rights, and provide for civil damages suits when civil rights have been violated, as determined by the courts.

It also calls for creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate reported violations of civil rights, and for creation of a civil rights division in the Justice Department under an assistant attorney general.

One of the proposed new laws would permit the government to use injunctive powers to prevent violations of civil rights. Under this law the government could seek court orders in advance of an election to prevent illegal interference with voters. Under present laws the government can only prosecute after the votes have actually been denied his stable an election day.

Rep. Cramer (D-Miss.) chairman of the committee, opened testimony and deliberation on the hearings by calling for all sides to be heard. It was a time called for the bench, meaning of amending the Constitution by changing patterns of life.

Senators Approve Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed and sent to the House a bill to pay former Presidents $25,000 a year for life.

The measure also would provide each former President with free office space and secretarial help and free use of the mails and provide a $10,000 a year pension to their widows.

Passage was by voice vote with Sen. Lister (D-Ill.), Byrd (D-Va.) and Thurmond (D-S.C.) announcing they were voting no because they want to hold down Federal spending. Rep. Willis in the press gallery counted only seven other senators present when the voice vote of approval was taken.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, urged approval of the bill, saying it recognizes a "fact of American political life." That the President of the United States remains a public figure after he retired from office.

He said Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman, the sole surviving former Presidents, "illustrate to perfection the point that I am making."

The city police in background, a Northwest Airlines plane, what little is left of it, is shown the morning after it crashed on Ribera Island at New York City, Feb. 1. With 30 passengers dead and 66 injured, various investigations are under way attempting to find the cause of the crash. The plane, Miami bound with over 100 on board, took off from Lufthansa airport in a snowstorm, crashing minutes later on the island.

Last Minute Cleanup Ouster Charges Belated For Two Accused Unions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Last minute cleanup efforts of two unions facing AFL-CIO ouster proceedings on corruption charges were belated time elements and perhaps inadequate.

That was the way AFL-CIO President George Meany described the cleanup efforts by the district workers and laundry workers of their trial before the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

The council postponed until today a decision on suspending the two groups. The delay was caused by the lengthy defense arguments put up by attorneys for the two unions.

The council did not seem yet to a third ouster proceeding against the allied industrial workers, also on corruption charges. This hearing is to be held today, after which the council is to decide on all three.

The council's verdicts were swayed as an indication of how the leaders of the 15 million member AFL-CIO intend to go in setting up their announced intentions to clean up and restructure out of the federation.

The case against the district laundry and allied industrial workers groups all are based on corruption charges turned up in a 1955 Senate investigation.

Meany disclosed that the laundry workers had announced to the council that the union has requested and obtained the resignation of Eugene C. James, Chicago, as laundry workers' national secretary treasurer.

Williams Outlines Health Need

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Williams Monday evening session in the Legislature was a broad discussion of the health problem of the state, the most fully developed and chronically ill.

Throughout there was emphasis on prevention where this was deemed possible and where it was not, allocation of physical suffering and emotional distress.

His bold suggestions in a special message on health and welfare related to the aging and protected reasonably from taxation, insurance, taxes and need who he said should be dealt.

For he declared the growth of the problem in terms of the increasing number of the average life span and the shift from rural dwelling in the family circle to the congested urban environment that is the rule for the average citizen of today.

To meet this "social obligation" in the regard of society, Williams specifically asked the Legislature to appropriate:

1. Creation of a state council on aging, essentially a coordinating and planning agency with an operating appropriation of $25,000 plus $25,000 in state grants and $25,000 more for consulting services and educational activities.

2. A new 22 bed unit of the University of Michigan Hospital for training of nurses in the care of the chronically ill and a new 200 bed unit there for chronically ill patients.

3. Creation of a geriatric and chronic disease unit at the Michigan Veterans' Facility, with $200,000 set aside to further planning started last year.

4. State aid in construction of county chronic disease facilities under the Hill-Burton Act.

5. Long-term studies of chronic disease and health for the aged with the cooperation of Health Department, insurance and state financial planning agencies and state financial planning agencies and state financial planning agencies.

6. Payment of the so-called "old law" which covers a state by the state to necessary from 1957 to 1960.

7. State level subsidization of existing services for aged persons beyond their own and family resources, including transportation, medical care, and other services.

8. Extended counseling and placement services for older persons by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

9. Construction and operation of two pilot projects, specially designed for housing older persons, each consisting of 20 homes.

Does Du Pont have summer jobs for students?

Water A. Paulson, honor student at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and member of the honorary engineering fraternity, Tau Beta Pi, expects to receive his B.S. in Chemical Engineering in June 1957. He is interested in the professional advantages that a student may derive from technical experience obtained during summer work.

Robert G. Carter received his M.S. in industrial engineering from Ohio State in 1951 and joined Du Pont soon afterward. After varied plant experience, he recently undertook an interesting new assignment in the Polychemical Department at Du Pont's Sabine River Works, Orange, Texas. The major function of his current work is to coordinate cost information as an aid in maintaining cost control.

You bet we do, Walt! They're part of a regular Technical Training Program which Du Pont has had for years.

Ordinarily we try to assign summer employees to work which ties in with their fields of training in college and with their long-range interests. Informal or formal instruction on Company matters is usually provided.

We're definitely in favor of these summer contacts, for they provide students with practical technical experience and make them more valuable to industry when they graduate. And it gives us a chance to become better acquainted, too, with some of the men we'll be considering for permanent employment, later. It's a program of mutual benefit.

In addition to the Formal Technical Training Program, we frequently have a number of vacation replacement jobs and other temporary positions which are available to college students.

Last summer we hired a total of 720 students from 171 different colleges and universities. Most of these were juniors, or were graduate students about one year away from permanent employment.

You can see our program is a fairly substantial one, Walt.

Illinois, Wolves Win In Conference Play

Bon Salle's 27 Points Trip Bucks

Kramer Directs Dawdling Surge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Illinois turned back Ohio State's Big 10 basketball team, 90-80, Monday night in a first 8-inch center court game. Bon Salle, playing his last collegiate game, scored 27 points.

Despite the loss, Ohio State maintained its conference lead with a 4-2 record.

Frank Howard, Ohio State's outstanding forward, scored 20 points for game scoring here, although he played the entire second half with four personal fouls.

The Illini had a commanding 27-10 halftime lead which they never relinquished.

Michigan played the first 10 minutes of the Big 10 season by upsetting the Buckeye, 90-80, with a big rally in the last five minutes.

Tom Kramer, captain of the Wolves, matched the late surge, scoring 12 of his 17 points in the last five minutes.

Until the Wolverines entered the game, Howard scored 14 points. Neither could score more than a three-point shot.

Howard scored 14 points in the attack by sinking 14 shots.

Howard's shooting improved to 12 points in less than two minutes in the second half, in a game without a single foul. Northwestern, 74-68.

Archie Dees, the Big 10 lead in scoring, collected 30 points in the victory.

Nick Mantle of Northwestern scored in a total of 18 points in a non-conference contest at the University of Washington, scored Iowa, 67-54.

Mantle Gets Big Pay Raise

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle officially put his name on the third richest contract in New York Yankee history Monday after quietly but dramatically revealing his intentions at the biggest and best-paid press conference in sports history.

I have reached an agreement with the Yankees and will sign a contract Monday, the 33-year-old triple crown winner told some 1,600 guests at the 84th annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America Sunday night. That ended the press conference. There were no questions, no answers.

Mantle, who received the Sid Mauer Award as "Player of the Year" for 1956, termed the agreement "very satisfactory." He declined to give the figures from another source, however. It was learned that the contract calls for about $60,000—third to the $100,000 paid Joe DiMaggio and the $80,000 to Babe Ruth by the Yankees. Yogi Berra is believed to be close to Mantle with a $55,000 contract for 1957.

Howe received minor and major penalties and five stitches. Detroit won 3-1.

Excellent Choice

Devaney Follows Steps Of Previous Assistants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It came as little surprise at Michigan State University when Bob Devaney was named head football coach at the University of Wyoming Monday.

Devaney, 42, has long since become accustomed to leaving his responsibilities behind as he moves to other schools.

Devaney is only the latest in an impressive list that includes Lowell, Ted Dawson, former head coach at the University of Pittsburgh, Iowa, Forest Evaschewski, Early Edwards, chief mentor at North Carolina State, Steve Sells at the University of Pennsylvania, A. Karcher, former head coach at Washington State, and former Oregon State coach Ken Taylor.

Not to mention Duff Douthett, who moved up to the head post at Michigan State when Devaney was named athletic director.

"We've had a lot of top-flight coaches, but I always like to see my men get ahead," said Munn, who hired Devaney from the coaching job at little Alpena High School in 1953.

"Wyoming has got itself an excellent man and I'm sure they are going to be delighted with him," he said.

In seven seasons at Alpena, Devaney's teams won 52 games while losing only nine. Munn said he had been suggested even then as potential college coaching material.

More Balance

By JOE HOFFMAN

Ten days ago Michigan State's basketball team was thundering around in fifth place in the Big 10 race, today the Spartans are in the middle of the heap and are slowly but surely beginning to press the contenders. They are also riding the crest of a three game winning streak.

Why is Michigan State, after a poor start, suddenly doing so well? I offer four reasons:

1. Balanced scoring
2. Excellent rebounding
3. Strong bench
4. Increased desire to win

The balanced scoring has become very important in that all the burden doesn't rest on a Julius Meeks or an Al Ferrari of recent years. If Larry Hedden has a bad night, Jack Quiggle makes up for it. If Quiggle is off, Capt. George Ferguson throws in 20 points, and if Ferguson can't find the range, John Green or Chuck Demie of Bob Andreego fill in the slack, and so it goes.

The rebounding has turned out to be a blessing in disguise. State has been getting as many as five and six shots at the basket, when in the past the Spartans would shoot once and pray.

In the past two games against Ohio State and Northwestern State has picked off 91 rebounds against 50 for its opponents, and when you control the boards you control the game.

The Spartans have lacked in previous campaigns, a strong bench. If two or three of the starters tired or were in danger because of fouls, they had to be left in. This often hurt.

The situation no longer exists. Behind the starting lineup of Ferguson, Hedden, Green, Quiggle and Pat Wilson, State can turn to Andreego, Demie, Dave Scott and Harry Lux, among others, and know it won't lose much if anything by the substitution.

It has especially helped lately now that the sophomores have gained some necessary confidence and don't suffer any more from big court hitters.

Finally, the team has definitely increased its desire to win. Not that the desire wasn't there before, there's just more of it.

The Spartans took a good look at themselves 10 days ago, saw themselves sinking deeper by the minute, and decided to give their fans something to cheer about.

Where they go from here, nobody knows. My hunch is it will be in only one direction—UP.
