Knowland Threatens to Quit UN

Protests Sanctions Singling Out Israel

Will Vacate Delegation Slot If Reprisals Not Matched

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) Monday night was reported thinking of quitting the American delegation to the United Nations if the Eisenhower Administration backs any move to single out Israel for sanctions.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, was said to have informed State Department officials he cannot go along with any punishment of Israel that is not matched by sanctions against Russia, Egypt and India.

Asked if he would resign his UN assignment in protest against American support of any resolution to apply economic sanctions to Israel for its refusal to withdraw troops from disputed territory, Knowland replied:

"I will make my position known when I find out what the Administration is going to do."

Knowland announced later that President Eisenhower had called a meeting of leaders of both parties in Congress for Wednesday. He said he assumed the President will be ready then to advise the leaders what the Administration plans to do next.

Knowland said he had not been informed of any plans the Administration may have for altering the proposals, which Israel has rejected, calling for withdrawal of its troops from Gaza and the Aquila Gulf area.

The bipartisan meeting with the President will be the first for Congressional leaders since shortly before Congress convened when they were briefed on the Middle East resolution subsequently passed by the House and now passed in revised form for Senate debate.

Secretary of State Dulles said on Feb. 15 the United States would have to give "serious consideration" to applying sanctions if the UN asked for them.

Knowland promptly declared that any punishment of Israel would be "immoral" while Russia continued to ignore several UN resolutions condemning Soviet military intervention in Hungary.

Knowland's position won immediate backing from influential Senate Democrats, as well as Republicans, with indications that any Administration support of a sanction resolution would provoke a storm of protest in the Senate.

Knowland is understood to have sought, thus far without success, information on how the State Department intends to follow up Sunday's statement by President Eisenhower that Israel must withdraw her troops or be "in defiance of the overwhelming judgment of the world community."

Israel's rejection of an American offer to work toward settlement of the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aquila problems has pointed toward new moves within the UN.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, told the Senate Monday he hopes the deadlock over Israel's refusal to withdraw troops "does not revive the talk about sanctions or other methods of coercion."

"An impasse or a deadlock can be broken by one of two methods," Johnson said. "Either the parties will be persuaded somehow to keep on talking or they will go ahead and fight."

Cagers Down Illini For 7th Straight

89-83 Conquest Moves State Into 2nd Place Tie

By JOE HOEFMAN
Special to the State News

CHAMPAIGN—Michigan State put on a great offensive exhibition Monday night to defeat Illinois, 89-83, in a Big 10 basketball game here. The victory moved the Spartans into a second place tie with Ohio State, a full game behind league-leading Indiana.

All-star State starters scored in double figures to lead the Spartans to their seventh straight conference win. Jack Quigley's 26 points led the scoring.

The loss was Illinois' first at Huff Gymnasium in its last 21 games there. Not since Iowa whipped the Illini two years ago had a home crowd seen an Illinois defeat.

A crowded crowd of 6,801 partisans fans never saw their team ahead in the 40 minutes of action. The Illini managed to tie the score twice midway in the first half but they never pulled ahead.

The Spartans played one of their best games in racking up its top conference score of the year. Only a 92-point effort against Marquette tops Monday's spree.

Holding a slight edge at halftime, 46-41, State pulled away early in the second half to maintain a safe edge throughout. The Spartans continued to shine around the boards with John Green, Larry Hedden and George Ferguson continually snatching off stray shots.

Ferguson and Green each hit for 17 points while Pat Wilson hit a personal high with 15 points including a perfect 5-5 at the foul line. Hedden rounded out the double figure shooters with 10 points.

Illinois had a pair of high scorers who depended on the foul line—Hiles Stout hit 8-8 free throws and 26 total points while Don Ohl led all scorers with 28 points, including 6-6 from the line.

Quigley put on a one-man show to start the second half, hitting on six of seven jump shots. He wound up the night with 12 for 20 and a 60 percent average.

The Spartans hit 43 percent from the floor to Illinois' 35 percent.

Saturday night the Spartans put the seven-game string on the line against Minnesota, who walloped Wisconsin Monday night, 85-53.

Actors Lived Parts in Real Life

'Teahouse' Players 'Fully Experienced'

By MARY MARTIN

The MSU players' production of "The Teahouse of the August Moon," beginning a four-day run Wednesday in Fairchild Theater will feature actors who have virtually "lived" the play in their real lives.

Many of the scenes revolve around the sly, humorous interpreter, Sakini, and his relations with the U. S. Army of Occupation on Okinawa. This key figure is played by Kiyochi Kabira, graduate student from Okinawa who was a real life "Sakini" after the war when he served as an interpreter for the U. S. forces in his homeland.

Kabira remembers well the time when U. S. soldiers struggled to understand the Okinawan villagers and vice versa.

"Some Americans had a hard time explaining democracy to my countrymen," the 29-year-old Kabira recalls. "Perhaps the reason is that Americans tend to take their democracy for granted. And as it is difficult to translate new ideas into a language, it sometimes took us five or six minutes to translate a one-minute description.

Evidence of his feelings about Americans is Kabira's decision to study in the United States.

"We on Okinawa found Americans to be practical, hard working and progressive," he states. "We liked their nobility and their ambition."

Now in his fourth year at MSU he is a candidate for a

Gifts and grants of $677,112.03 were accepted Saturday by the State Board of Education.

Also accepted formally by the board was a grant of $268,400 from the Carnegie Corporation of New York City for a study of international programs. Details of this project were announced Feb. 11 by the Carnegie Corporation.

The board also accepted eight grants for scholarship purposes amounting to $10,525.

A six-week workshop for 40 teachers of high school and college level will be conducted this summer at MSU under a $12,500 grant accepted by the board from the National Committee for Education in Family Finance of New York City.

The Colleges of Education, Business and Public Service, and Home Economics are co-operating in the program, designed to improve instruction in the management of family finances.

Michigan State is one of 15 regional centers which will present the summer workshops, reported Dr. Peter G. Haines, assistant professor in vocational education, under whose direction the grant will be utilized.

The Air Force Office of Scientific Research granted $10,337 to be used under the direction of Dr. F. J. Blatt, assistant professor of physics and astronomy, in theoretical research of transport properties of solids. MSU's new electronic computer, MISTIC, due for fall completion, will be utilized in the study.

MSU Bill Introduced In House

By JERRY JENNINGS
State News Capital Reporter

An appropriations bill giving MSU the exact amount recommended in Gov. G. Mennen Williams' budget for 1957-58 was introduced in the State House of Representatives Monday night.

Authored by Reps. Lucille McCullough and Einar Erlendson, the bill covers appropriations for all state agencies' operations. MSU's share would total $29,380,680.

The bill was referred to the House Ways and Means Committee.

Since it was introduced by Democratic legislators in accordance with Williams' budget, the bill has little chance of passage. The Republican majority in the State Legislature will more likely act on an appropriations bill introduced by the Republican-dominated Appropriations Committee.

MSU officials met with the Senate committee last week to ask for larger appropriations than are provided in the Governor's budget. Representatives of the U of M will meet with the committee today.

Committee members have suggested that MSU and other state institutions raise tuition fees, thereby decreasing the amount which would have to be appropriated from state funds.

AWS has reconsidered its former decision and late pers will be granted for both Wednesday and Thursday night's performances. Previously only Wednesday's performance was given special permission.

UN Debate Postponed

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States Monday obtained delay of UN Assembly debate on the Middle East to give more time for Israel to consider American proposals to break the Israeli-Egyptian stalemate. The UN announced an Assembly session scheduled for today had been postponed to Thursday at request of the United States. This was done, informed sources said, so Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban could fly to Jerusalem for consultations with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion on the American proposals for Israel to withdraw completely from Egypt.

Both Seek UN Aid

Britain and Greece Clash Over Cyprus

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain and Greece clashed bitterly in the United Nations Monday over Cyprus. The British asked that the UN call on Greece to stop supplying arms to Cyprus terrorists, while Greece demanded the UN approve the right of Cypriots to chart their own political future.

Both nations, partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but at odds over the future of the strategic eastern Mediterranean island, introduced rival resolutions in the 10-nation UN Security Council.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the British and Greek resolutions were "a direct attack on the UN."

The British resolution would have the UN General Assembly note the charges that Greece had supplied arms, ammunition and money to Greek Cypriot terrorists, and call upon Greece to take "effective measures" to prevent such support or encouragement.

The Greek resolution would have the assembly take note that the situation on Cyprus has "gravely deteriorated," and express the wish that Cypriots be given "the opportunity to determine their own future by the application of their right to self-determination."

Late in the day Greece introduced another resolution proposing creation of a seven-nation committee to investigate the charges of Greek support of terrorism on Cyprus.

Noble declared that terrorist activities on Cyprus a crown colony had killed 265 persons and wounded 850 others since the first outbreak on April 1, 1955.

He declared that of the total killed 119 were Greek Cypriot civilians and added this was "the most heinous crime of the century."

Noble accused the British of "brutal" acts against the Cypriot people and denied that Greece was striving for union of Cyprus with Greece.

He referred to Cyprus as a "concentration camp, the scene of torture and degradation," and declared the name of its military governor, Sir John Harding, "will be written in the history of the people of Cyprus in letters of blood and tears."

He denied charges that Greece smuggled arms to Cyprus.

Jemilo Has Fine Record Rigid Fitness Program Is Key To Boxer's Top Performance

By DICK BUWAY

While more than 1,000 colleges and universities offer 40 colleges and universities boast at least one boxing coach. Jim Jemilo, a 1953 graduate of the Army Airborne, awarded Bob Jemilo the first place trophy for winning the Army-sponsored physical fitness test.

This year's test place at the campus of a Navy field day at Ft. Bragg, N.C., this year's winner, who has spent six weeks of the test consisted of a grueling series of events in which each contestant went to the limits of his speed and endurance.

Jemilo easily outscored his competitors, scoring 451 out of a possible 500 points, while two other college athletes tied for second place with only 378 points.

Physical condition is the key, says Jemilo, while roadwork and weight training are a daily ritual for Jemilo, a lightweight on the MSU boxing squad who has a combined amateur and collegiate record of 57 wins, nine losses and one draw.

Bob owes his start to his high school boxing coach, a tough two-fisted former, Father Francis Conroy, who was an expert fence and fighter before he entered the priesthood. Under his able tutelage Jemilo won the all-Chicago high school championship in 1951, 1952 and 1953, fighting at 105, 115 and 120 pounds, respectively.

In 1953 when a senior at Chicago's St. Rita High School he received the "Most Promising High School Boxer" trophy, a most coveted award in the Windy City.

The CVJ tournaments beckoned, and Jemilo has won two boxing titles in this event during 1952 and 1953.

Not to be outdone, Jemilo went on to the Golden Gloves tournament where he punched and kicked his way to the Chicago featherweight championship in 1953.

Bob, who has trained and sparred with such greats as Tony Zale, Chuck Daves and Ted Black, comes from a fisticaly inclined family endowed with plenty of ring savvy.

His father fought as an amateur in over 80 bouts, and two older brothers threw their share at leather as well, one of them winning the Chicago Golden Gloves in 1948.

What's doing...
at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

New "high-road" to
JET ENGINE FRONTIER
in Florida

Heralding important things to come, work was begun in late summer, 1956, on a wide access road in a remote section of Palm Beach County, Florida. At the end of that road, situated northwest of West Palm Beach, a 500,000-square-foot plant destined to be the newest addition to Pratt & Whitney Aircraft engineering facilities is already well under construction.

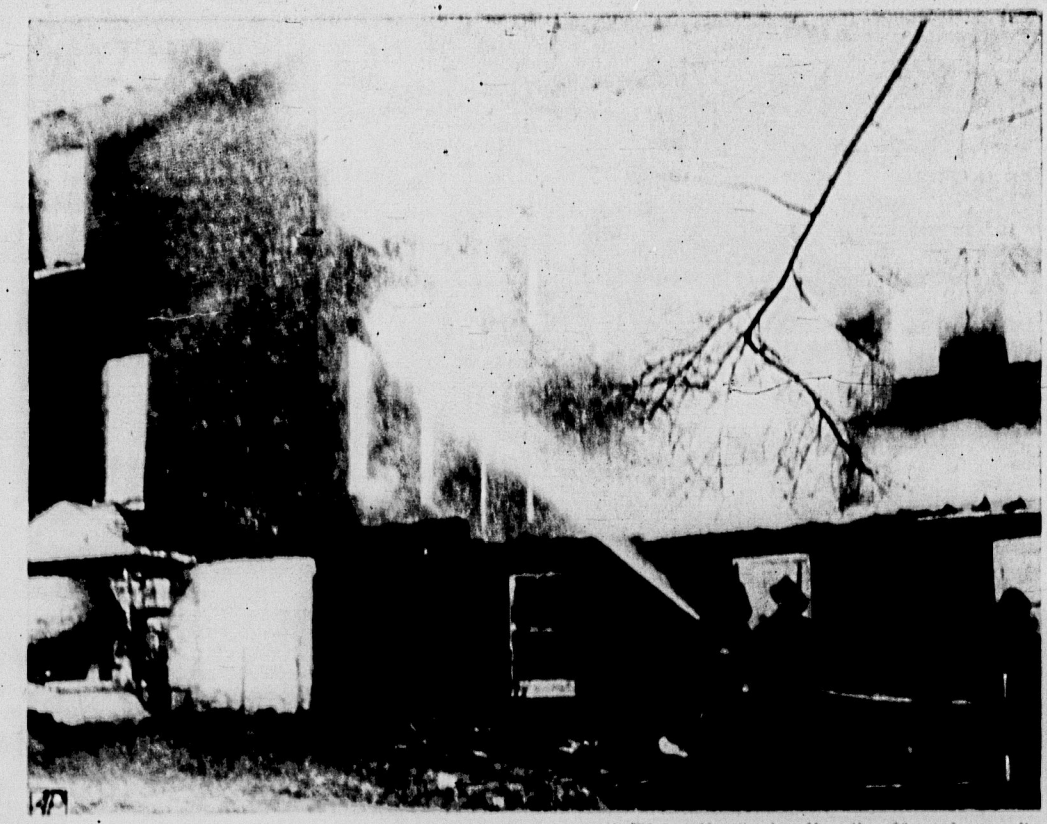

Here, engineers and scientists will soon be hard at work dealing with new and increasingly complex problems relating to advanced jet aircraft engines. Working in close coordination with men at other P & W A establishments — particularly the company's multi-million-dollar Andrew Wilgus Turbine Laboratory in Connecticut — this newest section of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft team will face a challenging assignment. They, too, will be concerned with design, testing and development of highly advanced, extremely powerful jet engines which will join a family already including J-57 and J-75 turbojets, currently playing important roles in the growing military and commercial air power of the United States.

The engineering graduate who begins his career at this Florida facility will have the rare opportunity of keeping pace with its anticipated growth. In an organization renowned for development engineering superiority, he will gain invaluable experience working on vital, long-range projects that are a challenge to the imagination.

12 Bodies Recovered Monday Charred Ruins of Home Probed For Bodies of Missing Patients

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—A search for 12 bodies, including those of patients missing in a fire that destroyed a nursing home in Warrington, Mich., Sunday, was under way Monday.

The bodies were recovered from the charred ruins of the home, which was destroyed by a fire that broke out Sunday night. The fire started in a kitchen and spread rapidly, consuming the entire building.

None of the dead had been identified. Officials were assembling all available information on names, jewelry, dentures, and other items that might be helpful. Many were burned beyond recognition.

The official list of dead included a woman, 71, who was identified as Mrs. Alice W. Warrington. She was the wife of the owner of the home.

Both the cause of the fire and the amazing speed of the flames baffled officials.

Flames spread throughout the old 67 room, two-story brick structure in a matter of minutes, taking many of the elderly and infirm patients no chance to escape.

Two inspectors of the State Department of Health and Welfare checked the 60-year-old building only last Thursday. One of their recommendations was that the electrical wiring be checked by a competent electrician.

Eighty-five of the 135 patients in the building when the fire started had been accounted for. Many carried their lives to quick action by visitors and residents of this East Central Missouri town in 1900.
